During the first 4½ hours, it was man against fish. The ray was too powerful to permit tying the strong line to the boat. During the last 1½ hours, with the line secured, the devil-fish pulled the 8,500-pound boat and its four occupants backward. Humphreys estimated the speed up to five miles an hour.

When the ray was pulled close enough to the boat, about 100 rounds of .45-calibre ammunition was fired into it with no apparent effect. And just when it appeared the battle was won, the monster whipped sideways and the harpoon came loose.

Humphreys quickly tossed another spear into the thrashing body, and soon the ray was a prized trophy.

The monster measured 13 feet six inches across and was about 12 feet in length. Humphreys estimated its weight at about 1,250 pounds.

"PESKY" JOHNNY — Yankee Mickey Mantle finds Tiger shortstop Johnny Pesky living up to his name as Mantle is forced out at second base in the third inning of the Yankee Stadium game. Umpire Bill Grieve covers the play, which began with Yankee Joe Collins' grounder to Detroit second sacker Al Federoff, who got it to Pesky in time to nab Mantle. Johnny's relay to first baseman Walt Dropo was too late for a double play. Yanks won, 4-2.

Bobcaygeon Girl First In C.N.E. Water Skiing

TORONTO (CP)—Charlie Blackwell of Owen Sound successfully defended his Canadian closed water skiing championship at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday.

The slim 20-year-old youth piled up 765 points in slalom, trick riding and jumps. The slalom course at the waterfront is marked by brilliant plastic beach balls, while the waxed wooden jump, 24 feet long, rises out of the water to a height of five feet.

Russ McIntosh of Bobcaygeon, with a total of 780½ points, missed taking the championship through a Canadian water skiing association ruling which requires a competitor to score in all three events. McIntosh was disqualified in the trick riding and placed ninth.

Second place went to Bob Broad of Toronto and Doug Matheson of Southampton was third.

Marg Gilbert of Bobcaygeon took first place in the women's jumping event, with Joan Fydell of Hamilton second and Jean Thompson of Southampton third.

FORMER PROFESSIONAL ALL-STAR GOALIES, Hugh "Eagle-Eye" Lehman (left) and Dave Kerr (right) visited for a time Tuesday at the Empress Hotel, recalling games out of the past in their professional and amateur careers. Lehman earned his nickname during 20 years of professional hockey between the pipes for old pro teams in Western Canada, Northern Ontario and Chicago, being rated as one of Canada's best for years. Kerr, owner of the Empress Hotel, starred with New York Rangers. Lehman is now president of the Warren Paving Company. Marines Take Series Over Woollens

Blanking Dominion Woollens 9-0 at Quaker Park last evening, Outboard Marines swept the fastball semi-final series in two straight games. They now meet the winner of the Rays-Quaker sawoffs in Industrial League finals. These teams clash tonight.

Doris scattered eight hits on Marines' mound and had find support afield and at bat, his mates getting 17 safe blows as they scored two runs each in the second and fourth innings, one each in the seventh and eighth, and finished off with a three-run splash in the ninth, including Corrigan's homer. Teams:

Marines—Plumpton rf, Wellwood ss, Gordonier 1b, Downer 3b, Corrigan cf, Halliday 2b, Montgomery lf, Mongram c, Doris p.

Woollens—Weichorek 3b, Khilingbeck 2b, Schell 2b, McMillan rf, Hillier rf, Noakes c, Leonard cf, Manbeck lf, Anderson ss, High 1b, Sabourin p.

Royals Subdue Bisons 9-6 In 12 Innings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

To win the pennant these days it seems a team must have a good relief pitcher on hand.

Montreal Royals, moving toward a successful defence of their International League title, have such an ace in 29-year-old Jim Hughes. Hughes made his 41st appearance last night and gained his eighth win as the Royals defeated Buffalo Bisons 9-6 in 12 innings.

Coming into the game in the eighth inning with the score tied at 6-6, the relief specialist proceeded to hurl two-hit ball while fanning five over the last four frames.

In the final inning, Joe Lutz doubled with the bases loaded to send Milt Jordan down to his first defeat in five straight relief appearances. Frank Carswell, the league's leading hitter, whacked his 25th homer for the Bisons in the fourth with a man aboard.

ORIOLES WIN TWO

Baltimore Orioles won a pair of close decisions from Springfield Cubs, 2-0 and 2-1, to move into fifth place. In the opener, the Orioles scored their two runs in the fifth on a single by Dee Phillips, a triple by Danny Schell and an interference play as Schell rounded third. Those were the only two hits Baltimore made. The Orioles pushed across the winning tally in the ninth of the nightcap on Phillips' single with two on.

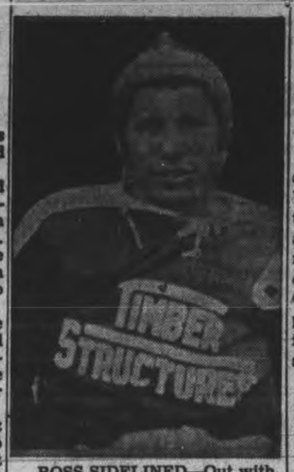
Toronto Maple Leafs, clinging to their fourth-place lead by a game, edged Syracuse Chiefs 3-2 behind the six-hit pitching of Red Fahr. Grover Bowers doubled home the deciding marker with a double in the seventh.

Johnny Metkowich belted a pair of homers, his second climaxing a four-run outburst in the 12th inning, to give Ottawa Athletics an 8-4 win over Rochester.

Walkwoods Crush Fenelon Falls 7-1

LINDSAY. — Harold Williams was the star Tuesday night as he pitched and batted Lindsay Walkwoods to a 7-1 win over Fenelon Falls Indians in the third game of their Tri-county Eastern section finals. Lindsay leads the series, 2-1.

Williams pitched three-hit ball over the seven innings and contributed two hits, a single and a double, driving in two of his team's runs. He also fielded well, having two putouts, and four assists.



Walkwoods blasted loser Mel Junkin for 10 hits and five Indian errors contributed to their downfall.

Tennis Tournament

Plans are proceeding for the Peterborough and district tennis tournament for the 1952 championship. Entries for ladies' and men's singles, doubles and the mixed doubles are to be given to Ron Lye (phone 24474) or Ralph Charlton (phone 6884) before Sept. 2, accompanied by an entry fee of a dollar a person for each event. Consolation rounds are to be played where entries warrant them. Prizes for the winners and finalists are given, as well as consolation winners. This tournament in September is open to any player in the city or district.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It is doubtful if there is a centre this size in Ontario which annually captures as many provincial sports crowns as Peterborough. We've had as many as four and five in one year, taking nine within two years shortly after the second war. We seem to have been averaging about three each 12 months in recent years—and that's really something. So far in '52, Peterborough has won the Ontario curling championship—losing out in Canadian playoffs—and just last week took the O.L.A. senior "A" title for the second straight campaign. Looks pretty promising for the U. E. W. soccer club to repeat for provincial intermediate honors, too. Lots of time yet, also, for several other local clubs to grab off a crown ere the year endeth.

* * * * * *

Only a few more days left in August and then the first autumn month comes in. While summer sports taper off in September, and pro puck workouts begin the last half, football holds the spotlight for the three fall months. Locally, the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" grid Orfuns are drilling nightly in Morrow Park. Coach Tony Kotowski, has had nearly 40 out at times, and should round up a strong squad. A list of names of prospective players has been promised us and should be ready soon. Senior P.C.V.S. coach Bev Goulding is running light morning workouts before the Collegiate this week, but all Collegiate and St. Peter's practicing will commence next week as school re-opens. Within a month there'll be football frays again in Peter's borough.

Playing Out the String

Fergus Thistles and the local Timbermen wind up the O.L.A. senior schedule at 8.45 here tonight, weather being right. And then it's Eastern Canada playdowns for the Thorpe team. First of the best-of-five is Friday eve in Miller Bowl, then they're off on the holiday for St. Kitts and back here next Wednesday. Future dates, if necessary are Sept. 6 there (it's a Saturday) and Sept. 8 here. Meantime, Mimico plays Owen Sound, while Toronto and Hamilton soften each other up—we hope! Whole eastern squabble will be cleaned up during September, and then the Mann Cup finals in Toronto early in October. We expect the Timbermen will make it again.

* * * * * *

Sports editor Jim Vipond wrote in today's Globe: "If the defending champion Peterborough lacrosse team represents the east again, it will be largely due to Moon Wootton, the steadiest net guardian, lacrosse or hockey variety, since Bill Durnan was at his Vezina Trophy winning best." Quite a tribute, but the Moon rates it. St. Kitts' scribe gives Don Ashbee much credit for the locals' fine showing of late. Incidentally, Jim Vipond saw the Timbermen win in Mimico a week ago and was mortified when fans started riding Lu Vipond and remarking that he could neither write nor referee —evidently thinking farmer Luther was the Toronto sports scribe!

Male Softballers Even

A right hefty Bowl crowd last gloaming saw Seabrooke's and U.E. men softballers divide a twin bill to open their best-of-seven city finals. Howie Dalton came up with a four-hitter to give Buck Legrow's crew the opener 5-0, getting good support, while Lefty Doris opposed him. Latter came back to believe Terry Woods in the nightcap and helped Red Sullivan's squad win that one by 7-6 in the ninth inning. Curry and Wade hit homers in a playoff double-header that was full of thrills for the best turnout of customers this campaign. The teams go right back at it in two games Thursday night in the series for the city crown, the Taylor Trophy and the right to hit into playdowns.

Prexy Bob Batley and Secretary John McPhee of the men's loop sent in this letter: "Dear Sir: In regard to certain allegations in the press by Cam Wasson concerning the Lakefield team, attention is drawn to the constitution of the Peterborough Amateur Men's Softball Association which governs the men's city league. Article 4, section B: 'The executive committee shall have control of the affairs of the association and power to amend or alter the regulations of the championship competitions.' Further, bylaw 4: 'Protests arising out of all games must be made to the secretary of the P.A.M.S.A. within 24 hours after the protested game and shall be accompanied by a deposit of $5.00. Such protests shall be decided at a meeting of the protest committee.' This was not done. In the hope that this will help clarify the matter, yours sincerely, etc."

SETS WORLD RECORD

PARIS (AP)—Gaston Reiff of Belgium bettered the world two-mile record yesterday in an international track meet here. His time was eight minutes 40.4 seconds. The listed world mark of 8:42.8 was set by Gunder Haegg of Sweden in Stockholm, Aug. 4, 1944.

Winnie Back To Attempt Swim At C.N.E.

TORONTO (CP)—Winnie Roch Leuszler was back at the Canadian National Exhibition waterfront today as usual—but this time on business.

The 26-year-old St. Thomas, Ont., housewife and mother of three children, who last year became the first Canadian woman to swim the English Channel, is out to take $1,500 first-prize money in the three-mile women's world professional championship swim.

Winnie is expected to find her toughest competitor in Shirley Campbell of Fergus, Ont., 16-year-old Canadian women's amateur champion. Shirley streaked along the one mile C.N.E. course Saturday in 26 minutes and 44 seconds to take the amateur title. The tiny blonde champ displayed a sure-steady stroke that is expected to stand up well against the St. Thomas veteran's 46-to-the-minute.

Interviewed yesterday at the waterfront, her habitual haunt during the first four days of the exhibition, Winnie said she wasn't too worried about the youngsters among the expected 15 starters.

"These kids aren't interested in training once they turn professional," she said. "Why should they for one race a year?"

Defending champion Vivian King, 21, of Winnipeg will not hit the 65-degree water with the starters. She's too busy honeymooning in Vancouver, having married Alex Thompson of Winnipeg Friday.

Lindsay Edges Omemee 3-2

OMEMEE (ENS).—Taking the long end of a 3-2 score, Lindsay Combines edged Omemee Combines to take the second game in the Men's Softball League finals played last night in Lindsay. In the first encounter Omemee came out on top of a 5-1 score, so the best four of seven series is tied one all. They meet again in Lindsay Thursday evening.

Jack Kean, on the mound for Lindsay, turned in a neat pitching efofrt, striking out eight, walking five, and allowing six hits. He won his own game with a two-run homer in the seventh driving in the first runs in the ball game.

Omemee came back in the eighth and tied the score with runs batted in by Roy Crawford and Tom Parsons. In the top of the ninth, Richards, after walking to first, scored Lindsay's third run on a double by O'Donohue, who led the hitting with three for three.

Mitchell, for Omemee, started off the last of the ninth with a single and worked his way around to third base, but failed to score before the side was retired.

Reg. Gordon was in top-match form on the slab for the O's, and it was a pitchers' duel until the seventh, each allowing only two hits in the first six innings. Gordon struck out five, walked two, and was notched for five safeties.

For Omemee, Roy Crawford, with two doubles, was the only man to collect more than one safe hit — Tom Parsons, Ken Bryans, Bill Mitchell and Reg Gordon had one each. Line-ups:

OMEMEE COMBINES—Dracup 3b, G. Bryans cf, R. Crawford ss, O. Crawford 2b, T. Parsons, lf, K. Bryans 1b, Hickson rf, Craig c, Gordon p. Mitchell batted for Hickson in the eighth, Jamieson for Dracup in the ninth.

LINDSAY—Growden cf; Deyell 2b, O'Connell rf, England 3b, Richards 1b, Plumpton c, Kean p, O'Donohue ss, Richmond lf. McDougall batted for Richmond in the eighth.

Seabrooke and U.E. Squads Divide Double-Header To Open Men's Loop Finals

Thunderous applause at the East City Bowl Tuesday night by the largest crowd of the senior softball season, acclaimed the crack U.E.W. and Seabrooke Motors squads as they completed their first two games of a best-of-seven set for men's city honors and the Taylor Trophy. Buck Legrow's U.E.W. Dormer Trophy winners took the curtain raiser 5-0 on Howie Dalton's four-hit twirling; but Red Sullivan's fiery pack came back to edge the shop lads 7-6, in the nightcap, a thrill-tingled hair-raiser that kept each spectator in his seat until Skeeter O'Heron snared Jake Wade's lofty fly for the final out.

Thrill followed thrill as the two top favorites of a sizzling season matched arms and wits in two sparkling duels that saw many stars. But the doughty forms of veteran Howie Dalton and slim Lefty Doris stood out in bold relief for their respective clubs in as dramatic a show as has been seen in many a moon at the Bowl.

DALTON AND DORIS

Dalton opposed Doris to win the opener and the latter came back to salvage the afterpiece in relief, after the Legrow men had shelled Terry Woods from the hill in the first, on four hits and as many runs. Thus, the rivals are all square and renew their battle Thursday night, when several attendance prizes will go to lucky ticket holders in what may be a new record crowd.

U.E.W. took an early lead in the first inning of the opener, when hits by Reg Leether, Buck Legrow and Jake Wade netted two. They added three more in the third, when Legrow reached first on an error, Dalton bunted safely, Wade was safe on a fielder's choice and Jack White singled to left. Doris settled down thereafter, to restrict the heavy hitting U.E. crew to a solitary bingle for the final six. Meanwhile, his counterpart Dalton toiled faultlessly on the rival hill, mowing down the Sullivan gang like new-grown hay. He fanned four, walked three, and faced but 34 men; while his mates accorded him near perfect support, with a single miscue.

LED THE HITTERS

Leether and Jake Wade each hit safely twice, the latter driving in one run; White and skipper Legrow had one safety apiece, the former a double and an R.B.I.; White smashed in a pair. For the losers, Thompson belted safely twice; while Speed Curry with a double and Bill Lewis a single copped the other bingles. The fielding of both clubs proved fine with Williams, Legrow, Thompson and Sullivan particularly good.

The second contest proved a whizz all the way with the issue always in doubt. Terry Woods opposed Jim Driscoll to start; neither finished, though Manager Legrow waited for six frames to replace the latter, whose lack of control militated against him, in the early stages. Woods likewise had early difficulties in an off-night, yielding in the first, with one away.

OPENED STRONG

U.E.W. opened with hits by Leether, Taylor's fielder's choice, Legrow's walk, Wade's homer, and hits by White, Conlin and Taylor. Sparkling putouts at the plate by Russ Scriver, one after a passed ball, nipped Conlin and Robson to give his team spark as they threatened to falter; and the skilful Doris too proved steady as a rock as he stopped the rally.

Seabrooke's tied the score in the fifth on Speed Curry's homer; and went ahead as Spencer scored later after doubling— on a wild pitch. Spencer put Seabrooke's two up driving in O'Heron in the sixth; but U.E.W. came back for two in the home half on bingles by Conlin, Robson, and Leether. The winning run came in the ninth as Lewis and Jaquith walked with one away and fleet Spinner Spencer ran for the injured Lewis— Spencer moved to third and sped home as Howie Dalton's next pitch proved too hot to hold, eluded the catcher, and Spencer slid under the return throw to Dalton and scored.

Redmen Defeat Monarchs 7-6

BELLEVILLE.—Belleville Redmen assured themselves of at least second place Monday night when they came from behind to edge Kingston Monarchs 7-6 in a Central Ontario Baseball League fixture at Exhibition Park.

Trailing 5-3 going into the bottom half of the ninth, the Redmen put together two hits and one Kingston error for two runs to send the game into extra innings. The visitors went ahead again with a single run in the top of the tenth.

In the bottom of the tenth, with one out, Red Carson beat out an infield hit and took second when Huck Reeves went down short to first. Art Wright was purposely passed putting runners on first and second. Pat Gilmour singled scoring Carson to tie the score and then Sam Mulholland slashed out a sharp single to centre scoring Wright with the winning run.

Johnny Mowatt and Art Wright shared the pitching score for the winners. Between them, they gave up 11 hits with Wright drawing credit for the win. Billy Richards went the route for the Monarchs and was nicked for 13 safeties.

Indians Get Thrilling Win Downing Athletics 6-3 Behind Feller's Pitching

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

"Expendable" Bob Feller may have lost some of his mound magic but he is not ready to act as a sacrificial lamb for anyone. The former strikeout king was enjoying the last laugh today following one of his better performances of the year in which he teamed up with three other "expendable" teammates to bring an important victory to Cleveland Indians. Feller came within two outs of winning a hurling duel from the fabulous Bobby Shantz last night before leaving the mound in the ninth inning with the Indians and Athletics deadlocked at 3-3.

WIN IN OVERTIME

The Indians went on to capture a thrill-packed 6-3 decision in 11 innings to remain within one game of the American League-leading Yankees, who whipped St. Louis Browns 6-3 in New York.

A two-run triple by Barney McCosky, a Philadelphia discard, snapped the 3-3 deadlock and gave reliefer Lou Brissie the win. Brissie, who also once wore the livery of the Athletics, retired all eight men he faced and struck out pinch hitter Keith Thomas and the dangerous Eddie Joost with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth after relieving Feller.

Manager Al Lopez not only saw Feller pitch one-hit ball for seven innings, but had the satisfaction of seeing George Strickland, his emergency shortstop, clout a two-run homer in the seventh to break up a scoreless duel. Only two days ago Lopez benched Ray Boone and gave the post to Strickland, a throw-in in a deal with Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn's runaway Dodgers moved a step nearer to the National League flag, sweeping the four-game series in St. Louis with a 4-3 success over the Cardinals. The second-place New York Giants remained 10½ lengths behind, winning a 14-7 slugfest in Pittsburgh.

Boston's Braves blanked the Reds 2-0 and Chicago Cubs eked out a 13-inning 3-2 victory over Philadelphia Phillies.

NATS FOURTH

Washington moved into fourth place in the American League as Bob Porterfield batted in the only run in winning a 1-0 duel from Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox.

The third-place Boston Red Sox continued to trail the Yankees by 3½ games, vanquishing Detroit Tigers 11-3.

Feller had won 239 big league ball games including three no-hitters but few of them have given him more satisfaction than yesterday's dramatic, albeit winless performance against Shantz and A's.

According to a Cleveland writer Feller, assigned to oppose Shantz in place of Mike Garcia, the Cleveland ace, was being sacrificed to the 22-game winning Philadelphia southpaw.

"Feller will be in there tonight because he's expendable," wrote Ed McAuley, sports columnist of the Cleveland News. "If the fabulous little Bobby Shantz is to win his 23rd game at the expense of the Indians, it will hurt less if he wins it from Feller."

For seven innings Bob outpitched the league's No. 1 pitcher, limiting the A's to one safety. In the seventh the Indians moved in front when Strickland smashed his first hit for his new team, a homer with a man on base.

ROSEN HOMERS

After Philadelphia bounced back to tie it up in the eighth, Al Rosen put the tribe in front 3-2 with a ninth-inning homer. The A's tied it in their half on Gus Zernial's single and Cass Michaels' double. Feller gave up a walk and another hit to load the bases before Brissie came in.

The Yankees also had a squeaker, winning in the ninth when Joe Collins smashed a home run with two out and two runners on base to hang the defeat upon Satchel Paige, the ageless Brownie relief pitcher.

Rookie catcher Sammy White batted in five runs with a pair of doubles and a single as the Red Sox unleashed a pair of five-run innings to clinch their 15th victory in 18 meetings against the last-place Tigers.

A two-base wild throw by catcher Del Rice on a dribbler hit by George Shuba just 10 feet in front of the plate allowed two Brooklyn runners to score in the eighth, enough to give the Dodgers a 4-3 decision over the Cards.

BEE WITH HONEY — Carol Emery, 9, of Victoria, B.C., is honey to this pet bumble bee, which crawls on her face and arms and doesn't fly away. Carol and her sister Linda, 7, nursed the bee while its broken wing mended. They feed it on a honey and water nectar, and the bee is an inseparable companion.

Mount Pleasant W.A. Entertains Visitors

MOUNT PLEASANT — The Women's Association of Mount Pleasant United Church entertained the Missionary Societies of Springville and Fairmount and the Guild of St. John's, Emily, at a worship service and afternoon tea last week.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. G. McLean and Mrs. James Fee. President Mrs. G. McLean opened the meeting, and invited Mrs. Murray of Springville to take charge of the devotional service. Mrs. Lytle read the Scripture, Mrs. Murray gave the paper on Zeccheus. Mrs. (Dr.) Mars Westington of Indiana accompanied by the Rev. A. E. Larke, sang two solos.

Mrs. Carmen Bell, president of the Peterborough Presbytery W. A., brought greetings to the society, and urged support of the church training school. Mrs. Earl Garnet acompanied Mrs. J. Hayes of Omemee, who sang "Come all ye weary, heavy-laden hearts."

The guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. (Col.) Ritchie of the Salvation Army, spoke of Jesus, His chief characteristic being obedience to the will of God. She stressed the fact that we must be careful of our personalities and strive to find the spirit of Jesus in our everyday life. Mrs. Ritchie led in several sing-songs with her guitar.

Mrs. A. E. Larke and Mrs. H. McBain, acompanied by Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, sang a duet.

Mrs. Hubert Lowes thanked those who had helped make the meeting a success. Mr. Larke spoke a few words in appreciation of Mrs. Ritchie's address.

Tea was poured by Mrs. T. W. Graham and Mrs. C. Morden.

Mrs. Carmen Seymour on behalf of the guests thanked the Mt. Pleasant ladies for an enjoyable afternoon.

JUDGING IN TORONTO

Frank Andrews, Norwood, was a poultry judge at the recent Ottawa exhibition and is also one of the poultry judges at the C.N.E. and will judge at the Royal Winter Fair.

PIPE GANGS LEAVE

Pipe-laying gangs on the oil pipeline that is to stretch from Toronto to Montreal have left the district north of Port Hope and Cobourg. They have moved farther west.

THREE CUKES IN ONE

A vegetable freak of nature was brought into the Examiner office Tuesday by Miss Clara Dobbin R.R. 2 Peterborough. Her nine-year-old niece, Gwenyth Hancock, found a Siamese triplet cucumber in Miss Dobbin's garden. The two larke cukes and a smaller one, are all joined together on a common stalk, and part of the skin was common to all three.

JUNIOR VISITORS

Hastings county boys of grain and swine clubs are due in Peterborough Thursday for a day's educational outing. There will be about 28 of them. They arrive at Quaker Oats plant at 9:30; go on to the Harry Blewett farm before lunch probably at Nicholls Oval, and they are going on to Canada Packers in the afternoon.

JUDGED AT PICTON

Norman McConkey was judge at the Prince Edward County Black and White Day at Picton. Seventy - nine Holsteins were shown. This was the first of the series of more than 40 county B. and W. days throughout the province. A new class was for a female and one daughter of any age. Dunam Foster was the winner against twelve entries.

RAY POPE HONORED

Ray Pope, until lately district dispatcher at O.P.P. headquarters here, was guest of honor at a party in the Armouries Tuesday night. Present were about 40 fellow-officers from city and provincial forces. Ex-Corporal Pope was presented with a leather gladstone bag. He has left the force and will work for a Peterborough firm.

FIGHT OVER ASSESSMENT

Lindsay and Victoria county will meet Friday in the first round of a fight to settle whether or not the county's decision to raise the equalized assessment of the town $700,000 will stick or not. When the jump was made known, town representatives on the county council objected strongly and the town council started to look into the possibilities of secession from the county. The town appealed the assessment and the first step in the appeal will be taken Friday night.

Phone Numbers Changed, Used In Public Booths

Forty business and residence telephone numbers are being changed by the Bell Telephone Co., to provide more public telephone booth service in the city.

Public phone booths require special equipment that requires numbers in the range from 9501 to 9599 and between 9601 to 9649 and there are some in the range between 9670 and 9799.

During the emergency shortage of telephone equipment, which was only overcome here when new equipment was installed in the company's central office this spring, some of the numbers required for public telephones were given to business and private subscribers.

NEEDED BOOTHS

The company had reached the point where more public telephone booths were necessary and the only way that more could be installed was to assign new numbers to some 40 subscribers who had numbers in the public telephone booth range.

Thirty-one residence phone numbers have already been changed to numbers between 2-4500 and 2-6499.

Nine more numbers still to be changed are either business phones or residence phones, listed under those of business establishments in the telephone directory.

In order not to affect such numbers until the new directory is out, the company is not changing them or business numbers until the new directory is published. However, these people are being contacted and told what their new number will be, so they will know if they are planning any new literature or letter heads and if they wish, the numbers can be changed right away.

The assignment of the new numbers will mean less difficulty in getting dial tone also.

Early in the spring, some 500 telephones were installed in homes that had been on the waiting list for some time. When the new equipment was installed in the central office downtown, these people were given one-way service. That is, they could call out, but they had no numbers and no one could call them.

Now, with 2,000 more numbers available, they will be able to have numbers of their own, and there will be less load on the existing circuits than before.

Honesty Pays Off

Honesty paid off today for two girls who found a wallet in front of a George St. department store which contained $82 in cash.

Sandra Dummitt, 11, 620 Lundy's Lane and her cousin, Jeannie Alsop, 10, of Cannington, found the wallet lying on the sidewalk on Tuesday morning. They took it to the police station where it was claimed by the owner, Mrs. Katherine Skinner of Magodore, Ohio. Mrs. Skinner left a $10 reward with the desk sergeant for the girls.

Anchor Post Slips, Dredge Sinks In Bay

COBOURG (ENS) — When a hydraulic anchor post on a dredge operating in Cobourg harbor slipped Tuesday evening, the craft tilted sharply and began to sink in 24 feet of water.

The Howard Ann, a $300,000 dredge owned by MacNamara Construction Co., stopped settling with one side of the deck awash and submerged half way up the cabins on the top deck.

Cabins on the dredge which is regarded as one of the finest on the Great Lakes were recently fitted out with oak panelling for the crew.

There are three of the "spuds" —hydraulic legs which keep the craft on an even keel when it is in operation—two in the front end and one in the centre at the rear. For some reason, one of the two front ones slipped and the dredge began sinking immediately.

WORK HELD UP

None of the crew was injured but 26 men will be out of work for an indefinite period until a derrick arrives from Hamilton to raise it.

Captain Ted Scott of Hamilton who is in charge of the dredge estimates it will take several days to get the dredge raised and repaired.

The Howard Ann had only begun dredging the harbor and the scow and tug, commanded by Captain Angus Blue of Manitoulin Island which are also engaged in the work will be idle until the dredge can be repaired.

Area Defined For Collegiate

The area from which the new Kenner Collegiate will draw students was today defined by superintendent of schools K. S. Wightman. The collegiate will open Sept. 8.

All grade 9 and 10 students in the general course who live within the following boundary will attend Kenner: south of Charlotte St. from the west boundary of the city to Park St., down Park to Sherbrooke, and east on Sherbrooke to the river.

Grade 10 commercial students in the same area will attend Kenner Collegiate, as well as boys from Confederation and Prince of Wales districts taking the Grade 9 vocational course.

Non-resident grade 9 and 10 students taking the general course and grade 8 students from Confederation Public School will also attend Kenner.

Citizens Seek Water To Escape Heat

To escape Tuesday's heat people donned their swimming suits and went off to the parks to fill the areas more than at any time during the last three weeks. The temperature reached 89.

Three children were pulled out when they got into difficulty in the river. Two were brought to shore in the afternoon—one by a lifeguard and one by another swimmer.

In the early evening a boy got beyond his depth outside the raft and as a lifeguard ran to reach him, a woman managed to bring him to safety.

None of the three were seriously affected by the mishaps.

ONTARIO'S LARGEST MIXED PAIRS lawn bowling tournament opened this morning for a day-long session at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. The couples will be competing for the Black Memorial Trophy, won last year by George Hillson and Mrs. Helen Haig (upper left), both of Agincourt. They're back again this year to defend their 1951 honors. Starting the day's proceedings off were (top, left to right) F. H. Dearborn, secretary-treasurer, and Herb Martin, official scorer, and (back row, left to right) W. W. Jefferies, tournament chairman, and Robert Gamble, committee member. Town's Growth, Heavy Costs Bear Blame In Board's Reply

LINDSAY (ENS)—The board of governors of Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, today released a letter they have sent to the Victoria County Medical Society in reply to the society's criticism, received by the board last week. The board answered the criticisms of the doctors, point by point in the letter, after first complimenting the physicians on their work and expressing the board's appreciation of what they were doing for the community and hospital.

The letter stated, in summary: "The operation of a hospital is a public service which requires the combined co-operation of the entire community, the citizens, the hospital staff, the medical staff and the board, if it is to render satisfactory service.

"The natural increase of population, together with the greatly increased use of hospitals has created a serious shortage of hospital accommodation. A shortage of nurses generally and the tremendous increased cost of everything that goes into the operations of a hospital—salaries, food, fuel, medical supplies of all kinds, to mention only a few, have multiplied the difficulties of operating a hospital and contributed to the recent financial deficits. As you know these conditions are not confined to this hospital alone, but exist in most hospitals across Canada."

The board explained the shortage of beds and cribs by stating that the policy of the hospital had always been to admit anyone who needed hospital care. In the present days, the practice has resulted in serious overcrowding, and one occasion, states the letter, there were 96 patients in the building built to hold 54 beds and 14 cribs.

DENIES CHARGE

The letter denied the Medical Society's charge that supervisors refused to stay at the hospital because of the heavy responsibilities which they were forced to carry because of poor administration. The board pointed out that in the first 4½ years of operation, only two supervisors had been employed, and since 1949, two more had been hired, but had resigned because of poor health.

A permanent supervisor will be commencing duties at the end of September the board promised. With regard to financing of additions to the hospital, the board referred to a survey being made at present by Dr. G. Harvey Agnew of Toronto "the outstanding hospital consultant on this continent," which will be presented next month. The survey is expected to show, the letter states, that the cost of necessary expansion at the hospital will run between $600,000 and $1,000,000, an amount which is almost impossible to reach at present.

The board criticized the doctors for their stand on the nursing situation, and commented: "We think you should agree that our present nursing staff have been giving outstanding service, and the board are very grateful for the co-operation that they have given under the difficult conditions that have existed."

In conclusion the board stated, in defence of the criticism levelled at it by the society, "the board of governors have served voluntarily and have endeavored to the best of their ability to administer the affairs of the hospital efficiently and well and provide satisfactory hospital facilities for those needing hospitalization up to the limit of the available finances. We are prepared at all times to receive and will be glad to consider suggestions from any source that will make for the betterment of this hospital."

Rain Needed To Help In Fall Plowing

Farmers are wishing for rain to make easier the plowing of the fields for the seeding of fall wheat.

That's the report from Harold Inman. "The rain last week that appeared to be soaking the whole countryside, at least from the city's view of the landscape, didn't reach half a mile from the city. That was true on the Otonabee side."

"Most of the farmers around here are threshed out, and are tackling the plowing, but the ground makes it pretty difficult. There is still some threshing outstanding, but the bulk of the job is done."

Children Work All Summer At School Garden

If Melville Johnston had any medals to hand out, one of them would go to Mrs. Ralph Sleep, teacher at S.S. No. 14, Belmont township.

"For interesting the children in their school grounds to such an extent that they have been turning out every Wednesday during the summer to tend the school vegetable and flower garden, mow the lawn, and generally do a fine job.

No. 14 is a log school on the Nephton (Nepheline Mines) Road. They have their own lawn mower, and they're content to have one of the farmers run over the grass with a mower of agriculture.

"When I was passing the other day there were six youngsters with Mrs. Sleep. They had watering cans, and were using the pump pretty steadily on the flowers and vegetables.

SOUP IN WINTER

"They take some of the vegetables home, and, I understand, they keep some of the others for use in school soup during the winter.

"The youngsters are keeping weeds out of their school lot, but best of all they are not just kidding about the school job. They are doing it thoroughly, and the premises show the best of care."

Mr. Johnston said he was impressed most by the evidence of industry.

"If boys and girls do one job well, and keep at it week after week, they are learning what thoroughness does. The effect of that example and leadership by Mrs. Sleep may be of value beyond any estimate some day, because these young people will probably never know, those who retain the lesson, what the school ground work did for them. Any way I would like to compliment Mrs. Sleep and her scholars on the appearance of their school grounds."

Truck Ramp Collapses Man Killed

Lindsay Man Fixing Panel Truck Dies Instantly

LINDSAY (ENS)—An accident took the life of a popular Lindsay man, Peter Silver, as he repaired his small panel truck today on the lawn of his home on Ridout St.

A coroner was not immediately available to establish the cause of death but it appeared that Silver, who is an employee of the C.N.R. here, was under the truck which he had raised on a makeshift ramp. The stays broke loose and the vehicle rolled on top of him. Death was apparently instantaneous.

Lindsay police and fire departments answered the emergency call to the corner of Ridout and Huron Sts., but they could do nothing.

The body was released in the absence of a coroner, Dr. H. G. Metcalfe, to be moved to McArthur's funeral home for disposition.

Silver is survived by his wife, Ruby, an employee of a printing company in Lindsay and their son, Gary, five.

Public Schools Have Full Staff

A full staff of teachers is ready for the fall term in the city's schools, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said today.

Minor difficulties in filling out the teaching staff have been ironed, and the Board of Education is prepared to meet the fall influx of students.

The most pressing job of repair and maintenance in the schools have been completed, although there is still considerable work to do. "We have done more this summer than we did last year, however," said Mr. Wightman.

He confirmed an earlier report that the Kenner Collegiate would not open until September 8.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

SCHOOL CROWDED

Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School will be filled to the limit this fall. Registered for the fall term are 1,270 pupils.

JUDGING IN TORONTO

Frank Andrews, Norwood, was a poultry judge at the recent Ottawa exhibition and is also one of the poultry judges at the C.N.E. and will judge at the Royal Winter Fair.

PIPE GANGS LEAVE

Pipe-laying gangs on the oil pipeline that is to stretch from Toronto to Montreal have left the district north of Port Hope and Cobourg. They have moved farther west.

THREE CUKES IN ONE

A vegetable freak of nature was brought into the Examiner office Tuesday by Miss Clara Dobbin R.R. 2 Peterborough. Her nine-year-old niece, Gwenyth Hancock, found a Siamese triplet cucumber in Miss Dobbin's garden. The two larke cukes and a smaller one, are all joined together on a common stalk, and part of the skin was common to all three.

JUNIOR VISITORS

Hastings county boys of grain and swine clubs are due in Peterborough Thursday for a day's educational outing. There will be about 28 of them. They arrive at Quaker Oats plant at 9:30; go on to the Harry Blewett farm before lunch probably at Nicholls Oval, and they are going on to Canada Packers in the afternoon.

JUDGED AT PICTON

Norman McConkey was judge at the Prince Edward County Black and White Day at Picton. Seventy - nine Holsteins were shown. This was the first of the series of more than 40 county B. and W. days throughout the province. A new class was for a female and one daughter of any age. Dunam Foster was the winner against twelve entries.

RAY POPE HONORED

Ray Pope, until lately district dispatcher at O.P.P. headquarters here, was guest of honor at a party in the Armouries Tuesday night. Present were about 40 fellow-officers from city and provincial forces. Ex-Corporal Pope was presented with a leather gladstone bag. He has left the force and will work for a Peterborough firm.

FIGHT OVER ASSESSMENT

Lindsay and Victoria county will meet Friday in the first round of a fight to settle whether or not the county's decision to raise the equalized assessment of the town $700,000 will stick or not. When the jump was made known, town representatives on the county council objected strongly and the town council started to look into the possibilities of secession from the county. The town appealed the assessment and the first step in the appeal will be taken Friday night.

Phone Numbers Changed, Used In Public Booths

Forty business and residence telephone numbers are being changed by the Bell Telephone Co., to provide more public telephone booth service in the city.

Public phone booths require special equipment that requires numbers in the range from 9501 to 9599 and between 9601 to 9649 and there are some in the range between 9670 and 9799.

During the emergency shortage of telephone equipment, which was only overcome here when new equipment was installed in the company's central office this spring, some of the numbers required for public telephones were given to business and private subscribers.

NEEDED BOOTHS

The company had reached the point where more public telephone booths were necessary and the only way that more could be installed was to assign new numbers to some 40 subscribers who had numbers in the public telephone booth range.

Thirty-one residence phone numbers have already been changed to numbers between 2-4500 and 2-6499.

Nine more numbers still to be changed are either business phones or residence phones, listed under those of business establishments in the telephone directory.

In order not to affect such numbers until the new directory is out, the company is not changing them or business numbers until the new directory is published. However, these people are being contacted and told what their new number will be, so they will know if they are planning any new literature or letter heads and if they wish, the numbers can be changed right away.

The assignment of the new numbers will mean less difficulty in getting dial tone also.

Early in the spring, some 500 telephones were installed in homes that had been on the waiting list for some time. When the new equipment was installed in the central office downtown, these people were given one-way service. That is, they could call out, but they had no numbers and no one could call them.

Now, with 2,000 more numbers available, they will be able to have numbers of their own, and there will be less load on the existing circuits than before.

Honesty Pays Off

Honesty paid off today for two girls who found a wallet in front of a George St. department store which contained $82 in cash.

Sandra Dummitt, 11, 620 Lundy's Lane and her cousin, Jeannie Alsop, 10, of Cannington, found the wallet lying on the sidewalk on Tuesday morning. They took it to the police station where it was claimed by the owner, Mrs. Katherine Skinner of Magodore, Ohio. Mrs. Skinner left a $10 reward with the desk sergeant for the girls.

Anchor Post Slips, Dredge Sinks In Bay

COBOURG (ENS) — When a hydraulic anchor post on a dredge operating in Cobourg harbor slipped Tuesday evening, the craft tilted sharply and began to sink in 24 feet of water.

The Howard Ann, a $300,000 dredge owned by MacNamara Construction Co., stopped settling with one side of the deck awash and submerged half way up the cabins on the top deck.

Cabins on the dredge which is regarded as one of the finest on the Great Lakes were recently fitted out with oak panelling for the crew.

There are three of the "spuds" —hydraulic legs which keep the craft on an even keel when it is in operation—two in the front end and one in the centre at the rear. For some reason, one of the two front ones slipped and the dredge began sinking immediately.

WORK HELD UP

None of the crew was injured but 26 men will be out of work for an indefinite period until a derrick arrives from Hamilton to raise it.

Captain Ted Scott of Hamilton who is in charge of the dredge estimates it will take several days to get the dredge raised and repaired.

The Howard Ann had only begun dredging the harbor and the scow and tug, commanded by Captain Angus Blue of Manitoulin Island which are also engaged in the work will be idle until the dredge can be repaired.

Area Defined For Collegiate

The area from which the new Kenner Collegiate will draw students was today defined by superintendent of schools K. S. Wightman. The collegiate will open Sept. 8.

All grade 9 and 10 students in the general course who live within the following boundary will attend Kenner: south of Charlotte St. from the west boundary of the city to Park St., down Park to Sherbrooke, and east on Sherbrooke to the river.

Grade 10 commercial students in the same area will attend Kenner Collegiate, as well as boys from Confederation and Prince of Wales districts taking the Grade 9 vocational course.

Non-resident grade 9 and 10 students taking the general course and grade 8 students from Confederation Public School will also attend Kenner.

Citizens Seek Water To Escape Heat

To escape Tuesday's heat people donned their swimming suits and went off to the parks to fill the areas more than at any time during the last three weeks. The temperature reached 89.

Three children were pulled out when they got into difficulty in the river. Two were brought to shore in the afternoon—one by a lifeguard and one by another swimmer.

In the early evening a boy got beyond his depth outside the raft and as a lifeguard ran to reach him, a woman managed to bring him to safety.

None of the three were seriously affected by the mishaps.

ONTARIO'S LARGEST MIXED PAIRS lawn bowling tournament opened this morning for a day-long session at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. The couples will be competing for the Black Memorial Trophy, won last year by George Hillson and Mrs. Helen Haig (upper left), both of Agincourt. Town's Growth, Heavy Costs Bear Blame In Board's Reply

LINDSAY (ENS)—The board of governors of Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, today released a letter they have sent to the Victoria County Medical Society in reply to the society's criticism, received by the board last week. The board answered the criticisms of the doctors, point by point in the letter, after first complimenting the physicians on their work and expressing the board's appreciation of what they were doing for the community and hospital.

The letter stated, in summary: "The operation of a hospital is a public service which requires the combined co-operation of the entire community, the citizens, the hospital staff, the medical staff and the board, if it is to render satisfactory service.

A permanent supervisor will be commencing duties at the end of September the board promised. With regard to financing of additions to the hospital, it referred to a survey being made at present by Dr. G. Truck Ramp Collapses Man Killed

LINDSAY (ENS)—An accident took the life of a popular Lindsay man, Peter Silver, as he repaired his small panel truck today on the lawn of his home on Ridout St.

A coroner was not immediately available to establish the cause of death but it appeared that Silver, who is an employee of the C.N.R. here, was under the truck which he had raised on a makeshift ramp. The stays broke loose and the vehicle rolled on top of him. Death was apparently instantaneous.

Lindsay police and fire departments answered the emergency call to the corner of Ridout and Huron Sts., but they could do nothing.

The body was released in the absence of a coroner, Dr. H. G. Metcalfe, to be moved to McArthur's funeral home for disposition.

Silver is survived by his wife, Ruby, an employee of a printing company in Lindsay and their son, Gary, five.

Public Schools Have Full Staff

A full staff of teachers is ready for the fall term in the city's schools, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said today.

Minor difficulties in filling out the teaching staff have been ironed, and the Board of Education is prepared to meet the fall influx of students.

The most pressing job of repair and maintenance in the schools have been completed, although there is still considerable work to do. "We have done more this summer than we did last year, however," said Mr. Wightman.

He confirmed an earlier report that the Kenner Collegiate would not open until September 8.

Must Remove Poverty Coldwell Says

AYLMER, Que. (CP)—M. J. Coldwell said last night not enough attention is being paid to removal of poverty, misery and want in the world or to improving social conditions in countries like Canada.

In a speech to a service club dinner meeting, the C.C.F. leader said the North Atlantic Treaty called for integration of the economies of participating countries.

"Following the outbreak of the Korean war, however," he said, "the scramble for raw materials and the failure of the United States and Canada to encourage sensible trading, relationships with their European allies became, in the main, responsible for the plight of a large portion of the world.

"These are problems which underlie the international situation and, in their solution, lies the main hope of peace through democratic strength."

SEES CONTRADICTION

Mr. Coldwell said newspaper reports indicate the Canadian government may blame Britain's social security program for part of her economic difficulties.

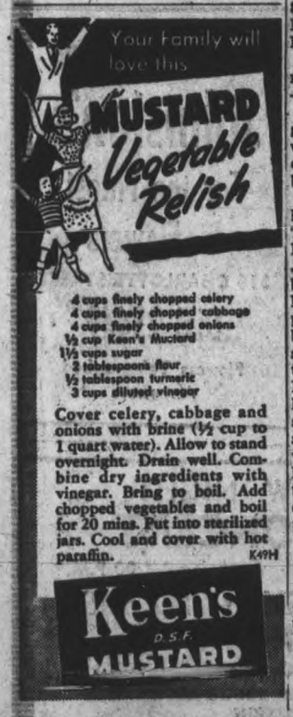
It seemed absurd to suggest this when Canada demanded access to United Kingdom markets and yet maintained "tariff and other barriers against her exports by which alone she can import the raw material and supplies she needs to maintain her economy."

Gives Recipe For Alcoholics

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Albion Roy King, professor of philosophy at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Ia., said yesterday that if you drink to escape from frustration and difficulties, a nagging wife or business failures, your chances of becoming an alcoholic are good.

Dr. King told the Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies conference that most people use alcohol to satisfy four basic psychological needs: Excitement, relaxation, sociability and escape. Escape, he said, was the deepest motivation and led to the heaviest addiction.

"When the alcoholic starts to live in a day dream world then he's really on the skids."



The four needs, he said, could be satisfied in more healthful ways. Dr. King said his own escape mechanism is fishing.

Summer Residents Entertain Friends

APSLEY (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. W. Laurenety of Stow, Ohio, Saturday entertained a group of friends at their summer home on Chandos Lake.

Supper was served on picnic tables on their beach. Later a corn roast and weiner roast was enjoyed.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Hugill and two sons of Stow, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Schumer, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. W. Shakespeare, Stow, (Mr. Shakespeare is mayor of Stow); Mrs. S. Long, also of Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Theo Post, Apsley; Mrs. Burridge, Chandos Lake; Mr. and Mrs. George Woodbeck, Chandos Lake; Mrs. W. Oliver, Bowmanville; Mr. and Mrs. George Thomson, St. Catharines; Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Wilson, Lakefield; Thompson Braden, Lakefield; Mrs. Edna Renwick, Lakefield.

4 cups finely chopped celery
4 cups finely chopped cabbage
4 cups finely chopped onions
½ cup Keen's Mustard
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ tablespoon turmeric
3 cups diluted vinegar

Cover celery, cabbage and onions with brine (½ cup to 1 quart water). Allow to stand overnight. Drain well. Combine dry ingredients with vinegar. Bring to boil. Add chopped vegetables and boil for 20 mins. Put into sterilized jars. Cool and cover with hot paraffin. K49H

Night Workers Have Bad Health

GENEVA (Reuters)—Night workers have more than their pallor to worry about. They are more susceptible to gastric and nervous disorders than day workers.

Experts of the International Labor Organization reported this yesterday after completing a study of the effects of night work.

People who work alternating shifts suffer from these diseases most of all, the report said, probably because they cannot adapt themselves sufficiently to changing conditions.

The report will be submitted to the I.L.O.'s chemical industries committee, which meets here next month. It recommends that every factory canteen should provide hot mid-trick meals for all night workers without loss of pay.

Field Day Held In Plainville Park

PLAINVILLE (ENS) — A very successful field day was held at Plainville Park Saturday afternoon with 300 attending.

Ball games were played between Harwood and Plainville girls with Plainville team winning and Fenella and Baltimore boys with Baltimore winners. A tug-of-war between Fenella and Plainville was taken by the latter.

In the boys and girls races winners were:

Boys 5 and under —Allan Harris and John Woodley; Boys 6, 7 and 8—Garth Gordon; 11 and 12, Tom Hamilton; gents 17-25—Murray King; over 25—Ken Harris.

Girls, 6, 7 and 8—Marilyn Harris, 10, 11—Joan West; 12, 13, 14 —Jean Cole.

The eldest gentleman on the grounds was Mr. John Bowman winning a flashlight and the eldest lady, Mrs. W. Dines, a set of bowls, both from Cold Springs.

Margaret McKinlay won the ladies' shoe kicking contest. Threelegged race was won by W. Herriott and Mrs. H. McKinlay. Joe Harkett took the prize for the baldest head. E. Caddy took the lucky gate prize, a double hot plate and Dr. J. F. Leeson of Cobourg was the winner of the girls soft ball prize, an electric tea kettle on which tickets had been sold. Dorothy Harris had sold the lucky ticket. Most of the race and Bingo prizes had been donated. The bingo tables and booth were an added attraction. The ladies group of the Plainville United Church had a bazaar and home cooking table, both splendidly patronized.

Killed By Train

TORONTO (CP)—Injuries received while crawling under a stationary freight train which suddenly was jolted into motion caused the death last night of Arthur Huckridge, 64. He died six hours after being admitted to hospital with both his legs severed near the hips.

Two Important New Faces Will Appear In Europe

OTTAWA (CP)—Two important new faces will show up in Europe late this year to take command of Canada's Atlantic Pact air and ground forces.

The R.C.A.F. expects to name this fall a commanding officer for the 12-squadron 7,000-man air division Canada has pledged for joint defence of Western Europe by 1954.

Half of the 12 squadrons will be overseas by the end of October and Air Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell, a 44-year-old native of New Brunswick, may be named to boss them.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, 42, is scheduled to leave the command of the army's 27th brigade in Germany before the end of the year and bring up the rear in a homeward trek of 1,900 married members of the brigade.

The army hasn't decided who will succeed him but the name of Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, 44, of Toronto, figures in headquarters speculation.

Neither has the air force finally decided who will get the big job of commanding the air division but conjecture pivots on the name of Air Vice-Marshal Campbell.

He is an expert on the Atlantic Pact generally after a couple of years in Washington as head of Canada's military mission and as Canada's spokesman to the standing group, the No. 1 military body in the Pact setup. His assignment to Washington is due to end this year, making him available for the operational posting.

Brig. Walsh, a native of Brantford, is an engineer and is generally considered to have done a sound job in whipping the 27th brigade into shape out of the thousands of men who came in off Civvy Street in the early summer of 1951. The brigade now is in shape to fight on a few hours' notice.

Brig. Walsh is expected to be named to a post in Canada.

Former Missionary Shows Film Of Work

APSLEY (ENS). — The Rev. George Nicholson of Blackstock showed moving pictures in St. George's Parish Hall, Sunday.

Mr. Nicholson is a returned missionary who has spent several years in both East and West Arctic and was compelled to leave the work due to ill health.

The pictures were all taken by himself and depicted his work there among the Eskimos and Indians, as well as their mode of life. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed the pictures and talk.

No Steaks, No Race

ABERYSTWYTH, Wales (AP)—A team of French cyclists dropped out of the 1,487-mile "Tour of Britain" cycle race yesterday. They complained they could not get enough beefsteaks "to build up stamina for such a race." Meat is rationed in Britain, but meat-starved Britons are in the lead in the race.

TV WEDDING—Half a million pairs of eyes were predicted to be watching Korean war veteran John Gallagher, 23, as he weds Rita McLaughlin. Archbishop Richard J. 12 Papers Agree To Pay Back Wages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve New York newspapers have agreed to pay $125,000 in back wages to non-union pressroom employees, the National Labor Relations Board announced yesterday.

In addition, the announcement said, the A.F.L. Printing Pressman's newspapers have agreed to "cease discriminating" against press room workers who are not union members.

The board issued formal orders based on a settlement reached by the newspaper managements, the union and a representative of the employees who had filed a complaint with the board. The publishers' Association of New York, a party to the action, also agreed to the settlement.

About 100 non-union employees are involved. Most of them are known as "boys" who work at pressroom jobs similar to those of apprentices but who are not eligible to become journeyman pressmen until they have become apprentices.

Membership in the Pressmen's Union, the board said, has been restricted almost entirely to the sons of deceased union members.

The newspapers affected are the Times, the Herald Tribune, the Wall Street Journal, the Journal-American, the Mirror, the News, the Post, the World-Telegram and Sun, the Brooklyn Eagle, the Long Island Star, the Long Island Daily Press and Il Progresso, an Italian language daily.

Big Changes In U.K. 'Political Suicide'

MONTREAL (CP)—Lord Brand, chairman of the North British and Mercantile Association, said in an interview yesterday he does not think Britain's Prime Minister Churchill has enough power at present to make any sweeping changes.

The peer, in Canada on business, said it would be "political suicide" for any British government today to try and cut back social services. The idea of the welfare state had taken such a grip on the British mind that tampering with it would mean defeat at the polls.

He said the "intolerable" taxation the welfare state brought on means that the government cannot reduce taxes unless armament expenditure is cut.

Ex-Mayor In Office

PETROLIA (CP)—Merchant E.D. Fletcher, who served as mayor here in 1949 and '50, was returned to that post yesterday by acclamation when five other candidates for the mayoralty failed to qualify. Mr. Fletcher replaces former Mayor F. T. Portsmouth, whose resignation because of ill health in July forced an unprecedented mid-term nomination meeting.

Jewish Congregations Merge In September

TORONTO (CP)—Precedent was shattered in Toronto's Jewish community yesterday when rabbis and officers of the Goel Tzedec and Beth Hamidrash Hagadol synagogues announced merger of their congregations, two of the largest among the city's Conservative Jewry.

The merger will become effective Sept. 1, the new congregation to be known as Beth Tzedec—House of Righteousness.

Both congregations were founded in the 1880s. The new synagogue is located in the Forest Hill Village district.

Former Merchant Visits Apsley

APSLEY (ENS). — A former businessman, T. W. Eastland of Thornbury, visited the village last week.

"Tommy" was in business here with his father, the late T. G. Eastland, for a number of years. When they sold their business here he started in business for himself in Thornbury over 40 years ago and his is now one of the oldest places of business in that town.

His daughter and son-in-law were with him on the visit.

Men On Holiday Really Striking

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Some 300 Windsor electricians are on a "holiday" which has the effect of a strike, officials of the Electrical Constractors' Association said yesterday.

The electricians stopped work at 3 p.m. Monday to attend a union meeting and did not report yesterday.

The men, members of Local 773, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), are said to be asking a 15-cent increase on an hourly basic wage rate of $2.20 plus additional vacation pay and an improved medical care plan.

The union's contract with the Contractor's Association expired March 31.

THE Ranger PROTECTS THE FORESTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF EVERYONE

Holiday week-ends mean
Danger for the Fire Ranger

The danger of forest fires is multiplied by thousands as people head for cottages and camps on holiday week-ends. It's a danger period, and it's no holiday for the Fire Rangers who must be at full strength with all look-outs manned, patrols covered, equipment and transportation ready for emergencies. You can help by preventing forest fires. See that camp fires are properly built and thoroughly doused before you leave. When motoring never throw cigarette butts or matches from the car . . . and be equally careful when walking or working in the woods. Forest fires are expensive and dangerous. Keep it in mind—keep fire out of our forests.

Scoff At Idea Of Having "Folicemen"

TORONTO (CP)—City officials here today scoffed at the idea of "folicemen" or "policemen" considered yesterday by Timmins' town council in an effort to reduce civic expenditures.

The new civic employee would be the result of a merger of the fire and police departments. One department would take care of both police and fire protection.

The Timmins merger would cut manpower from 60 to 40 and reduce costs from $230,000 to $150,000 annually. Toronto firemen think it would be more likely to reduce the town to a pile of ashes.

NOTHING LEFT

Don Dunlop, president of the Toronto Firefighters' Association, said "We'd have to go around and collect firemen off their beats when a fire started. There'd be nothing left but the post holes by the time we got there."

The departments in suburban Forest Hill Village operate under a single chief, but the jobs are entirely separate. Sherbrooke, Que., and some English cities were forced to abandon the scheme after a short experiment a few years ago.

'Monkey Boy' Pleads Guilty To Shop-Breaking Charges

OTTAWA (CP) — Police have closed their files on the case of an 18-year-old with an amazing ability for scaling walls. He pleaded guilty in police court to six charges of shop-breaking and one of theft.

Remanded for sentence was Robert Lalonde of no fixed address, dubbed "the monkey boy" by police. He was released from a reformatory last May.

Police say he broke into the offices of the National Film Board on Sparks Street. Finding nothing but a projector and film there, he screened a film for himself before going downstairs to ransack a beauty salon of $85.

Two nights later he returned to the same building, gaining entry after leaping across the roof tops of three buildings and entering offices through ventilating windows seven feet up.

His agility finally trapped him. On a newly-painted pipe some 12 feet over the floor of one of the offices, police found a perfect set of fingerprints which matched those of Lalonde in their file.

Say Pro-Red Script Writers Spread Subtle Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate sub-committee report said today that pro-Communist script writers are spreading "subtle" propaganda over radio and television airwaves in the United States.

"The thing is subtle," the report of the Senate Internal Security sub-committee quoted script writer Ruth Adams Knight as testifying at closed hearings.

Miss Knight said pro-Communist writers stop short of "laying down the party line" in their scripts, but skilfully weave into them "a constant derision of the capitalistic system."

In testimony quoted by the sub-committee, Miss Knight and Welbourn E. Kelley denounced Ira Marion, a one-time script writer for Voice of America anti-Communist propaganda broadcasts beamed to Israel. Both swore that in private life Marion is an identifiable pro-Communist.

SAYS GUILD RED

The sub-committee in its own findings, however, treated the Voice broadcasts cautiously. It said simply that members of the Radio Writers' Guild, of which Marion is a former president, "write for the Voice of America and the United Nations radio section," and that the Guild "is controlled by the pro-Communist faction."

In New York the Radio Writers' Guild, part of the Authors' League of America, issued a statement saying it "has never aligned itself with or supported any Communist or pro-Communist organization."

At the same time, Kelley released through the Guild a copy of a letter he sent Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.), the sub-committee chairman. Kelley said not all his statements before the group were published today, including "the premise on which my testimony was given."

TO BE CONFIDENTIAL

Kelley said he used the term "pro-Communist" only at the request of the sub-committee's counsel, "who indicated that all of my testimony would remain in confidence." Kelley added:

"I respectfully ask that the statements made by me which somehow were omitted from the records now be made a part of that record —namely, that I cannot say of my own knowledge that any member of the Guild is a Communist."

Kelley said that in an off-the-record discussion, the counsel asked that for purposes of classification Kelley refer to the two Guild factions as "pro-Communist and anti-Communist." Up to then, Kelley said he had described "a certain faction" as "left-wing."

"I demurred at this, stating that there were people in the 'left-wing' faction for whom it had the greatest respect, and who in my opinion were neither Communist nor pro-Communist," Kelley said, and added:

"However, I agreed to use the terms requested on the assumption that what I had to say was in confidence and would remain so."

Kelley said he allowed himself to make "a mistake" and that he fears he has 'without intention. . . harmed persons who are innocent."

The report came on the heels of one the sub-committee released recently alleging Communist infiltration of youth work—including the Boy Scouts—and dropped a hint that the sub-committee also is studying "use of sex" in the Communist underground movement.

It quoted a statement by Richard Arens, the sub-committee's staff director, that the group planned "interrogation respecting Communist tactics, which will involve interrogation of the question of patronage (job dispensing), use of the blacklist against anti-Communists, use of sex."

The report said that "in 1943, pursuant to orders from Alexander Trachtenberg, a Communist leader, there began a systematic infiltration of the field of radio."

ROLLER-SKATING ROOSTER — Buster, whose Los Angeles owner is teaching him to be a roller skating rooster, glides under a playmate's legs during a practice run. Buster's legs are taped to the skates. His owner, Billy Lehr, gives him a push and Buster rolls along until his momentum stops. Once in a while Buster lifts one skate as if he's almost getting the idea.

Paudash Lake Church Fifth Anniversary

APSLEY (ENS). — St. John's United Church at Paudash, Sunday held its fifth anniversary. The church was filled to capacity. The Rev. E. W. Rowland of Peterborough was guest speaker and music was supplied by summer visitors at Paudash Lake and John Gibson of Peterborough.

Those who attended from the village were Mr. and Mrs. N. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker, Mrs. Stewart Brown and Duncan Brown.

Heavier Gas Tax Up License Fee

TORONTO.—Controller Saunders declared Tuesday that the provincial government should either increase its motor vehicle license fee or the tax on gasoline if it lacks funds to keep abreast of the demands for roads.

Commenting on criticism of the Board of Control in its refusal to contribute to the extension of Spadina Rd. beyond the city limits the controller declared it would be a gross injustice to ask the Toronto homeowner to shoulder the cost.

"Many of the property owners don't even own a car," he continued. "They're burdened as it is trying to maintain their own streets. To ask them to pay for outside roads would be grossly unfair."

The province, he said, claims it is returning more to the municipalities in road grants than it collects on the gas tax.

"If that is the case, Toronto isn't getting its share," Con. Saunders contended. "If the grants were on a proportionate basis in respect to population, we should be getting at least another $8,000,000."

However, if it were true that more money was neded for roads it should come from the people using them.

"The motor vehicle fee could be increased," he declared. "It hasn't been raised in years, yet everything else has gone up."

Municipal Board Reserves Decision

TORONTO—The Ontario Municipal Board yesterday reserved for two weeks its decision on the application of Toronto Township Council to dispense with a vote of the people on a $165,000 addition to the municipal hall in Cooksville.

Construction was halted on the building when it was learned that council failed to obtain the permission of the board to issue debentures for the addition.

Reeve Sidney Smith told the board the council had made an error in going ahead with the project without the sanction of the board or a vote of the people.

The council had first considered paying for the addition out of the current levy but later gave two readings of a debenture bylaw then authorized the work.

But to stop the project, already half completed, until the next municipal election when the residents could vote on it, would add an extra $33,000 to its initial cost, he said.

Council has asked to be allowed to issue debentures for the $165,000 over a 10-year period. Carrying charges and interest would be $48,000, the reeve said.

Can Wind Up Business

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The Communist municipal administration in Shanghai has given permission to the Canadian-owned Aluminum Union, Ltd., to liquidate its business in that city, according to notices in Shanghai newspapers reaching here today.

Here's A Few Ideas For Those Hot Days

Let's not beat around the bush about this Summer; let's call a spade a spade. O.K. This has been, still is, and probably will continue to be a stinkin' hot Summer.

But don't be defeatist about it. There are plenty of ways of beating the heat. Only a soggy weakling sits there in a pool of perspiration and dreams about air-conditioned castles in the air. A real, red-blooded type does something constructive.

For example:

1. You can always move. There's a chap named Higgins used to have an antique store in Upper Cohasset. Hated the heat. Finally got fed up and moved his store, ruby glass and all, to Upper Labrador. He's now starving to death, but he's cool.

* * *

2. Use lots of fans in the house. Not just one or two, but dozens. There's a chap named Higgins used to be a noodle tester in Snake Creek. Couldn't stand the heat. Bought three dozen fans, put them all over. Caught pneumonia. They took him to an air-conditioned hospital. Died smiling.

3. Get air conditioning. It's a little expensive, but worth it. A fellow by the name of Higgins, had a tea room in Coffeyville, wanted air conditioning. No money. Went out and held up a marshmallow factory. Caught him. Sent him to the cooler. Higgins writes that he's content.

4. Drink lots of lemonade. That was the beat-the-heat secret of a chap named Higgins, used to design table tennis balls out in Prairie Paradise. Began drinking lemonade at dawn on hot days. Drank all day and night. Eventually turned yellow. Joined a side show. Paid him off in cold cash. That did it.

* * *

5. Go sailing. It's always cool in a boat. There was a youngster named Higgins, used to be a tree surgeon, specializing in lumbar region. Hated the Summer. Couldn't afford his own boat, so joined the Navy. Drew shore duty in Panama. Melted.

6. Wear less clothes. There was a gal named Grady (later married Phineas Higgins) who was a car-hop in a one-horse town. In Summers, began wearing less and less in effort to become cool. Became cool. Also became strip-teaser. Billed as Red-Hot Rachel.

* * *

7. Eat lots of salt. There's an Englishman named Higgins-Higgins who came to Canada and couldn't stand heat. Began eating salt. Ate a pound a day in Summer. Married a girl he met in a pepper game. Raised shakers.

8. Collect ice. Wealthy chap named Higgins took up ice collecting as hobby. Went all over the world in an old whale-boat (the "Forever Ambergris") gathering odd kinds ice. Had frozen water, frozen milk, frozen daiquiris. Had to give it up. Bank froze his assets.

Those are a few of many possible ways of keeping cool. The chief thing, of course, is to do something. Don't just sit there. Fight it. And remember, it's not the heat, it's the temperature.

Stevenson Stresses Patriotism As He Launches Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Adlai Stevenson in effect launched his campaign today with a fighting speech that blasted Communism as "the death of the soul" and called for a strong national defence.

The Democratic presidential nominee's address this afternoon before the American Legion convention in New York was his first major address since his nomination, and touched off his initial big drive for votes in the east.

It temporarily took the political spotlight away from his political opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who spoke before the same convention two days ago and who today announced his first big campaign trip — a visit to 14 cities in 10 states starting Sept. 2.

The major theme of Stevenson's prepared address was patriotism, with a plea for freedom of thought, a warning to veterans not to exert too much pressure on him with "excessive" demands if he is elected, and a surprise, thinly-veiled blast obviously aimed at Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.)

RAPS REDS

Communism is a threat, he said, but over-zealous patriots are threatening freedom of thought in their efforts to wipe it out. "Do not burn down the barn to kill the rats."

He said the attackers of Gen. George C. Marshall are hiding under a cloak of patriotism — "The last refuge of scoundrels." Although he did not mention McCarthy by name, he left no doubt that the Wisconsin senator was one of his main targets.

McCarthy has accused Marshall, former secretary of state and of defence, of being party to a plot against the security of his own country. Stevenson said such an attack on Marshall was a "shocking example" of the type of "patriotism" he warned against.

Birth: most dangerous experience of life

Too many newborn infants still die needlessly — or are crippled for life — because of oxygen starvation while being born. (Is free use of pain-killing drugs one cause?)

Church To Propose Recognizing Reds

HAMILTON (CP)—A proposal that the United Church of Canada recommend recognition of the Chinese Communist Government will be put before the church's general council, meeting here September 10 to 20.

It is included in a report by the commission on the church and international affairs, headed by Toronto layman Henry E. Langford. The report says in part:

"Our communion believes that now is the time for a larger program of peace-building by the churches. It should be done in a more public way and reveal that Christian bodies have taken the initiative. A vigorous campaign for peace will have the support of many United Church people who believe that this area of Christian work and witness has been left too exclusively to the Canadian Peace Congress and related groups."

Flett-Stewart Rites Held

Baskets of gladioli in George St. United Church provided the setting Saturday for the wedding of Margaret Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Ormiston Stewart of Peterborough and the late Mr. Stewart, and George Montgomery Flett, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Flett of Oxbow, Saskatchewan.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews officiated and the wedding music was played by Harry Northrop.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Stewart, the bride wore a gown of white nylon net over a crinoline fashioned with a lace bodice and a long-sleeved bolero. Her fingertip veil of net was caught by a bandeau of lace and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and baby 'mums.

Miss Mina Stewart was her sister's bridesmaid. She wore a gown of pale green nylon net over taffeta fashioned with a lace bodice and short cape, and a flowered headdress of cream 'mums and rose sweet peas. She carried a bouquet of cream 'mums and rose sweet peas.

Mr. John Flett, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Maxwell Stewart, brother of the bride and Mr. Harold Cunningham.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel, where the bride's mother received in a pale blue crepe dress, black velvet hat and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother received in a rose crepe dress, matching hat and a corsage of white 'mums.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Haliburton. For travelling, the bride chose a printed red crepe dress, black velvet hat and black accessories and carried a cream full-length coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Flett will live in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Great Designers Have Hand In Collection Of Gowns

Several of the great designers of Europe and America are represented in the collection of ball gowns on display in the Manufacturers' Building at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The gowns are included in a collection and were planned and ordered before the great summer showings.

The Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnel, for example, has sent a court dress in ivory satin winging away from the shoulder, the satin encrusted in the court feather design with gold, silver and diamante.

Jean Desses' latest collection is notable for more than 60 tones of pink, red and wine which he calls Moulin Rouge and he has used three of then in a lace sheath with a full back panel. Another Desses has the lower waist line developed in black with jet embroidery.

A bizarre combination of color and fabric makes a masterpiece in the Castillo gown which begins with a slender base of yellow satin with pink violet lame appliques, the whole covered with white Chantilly lace re-embroidered with pearls and diamente. The floating panel called a "back movement" is in pink and violet tulle. The shoulders are covered with a hug-me-tight stole.

The great dressmakers of Rome are represented by Battilocchi, whose clientele has largely been the aristocracy, Contsesa Simonetta Visconti and the Fontana sisters. The first sent a royal sapphire lame overskirted in net with sapphire-studded bodice. Visconti's gown is a light taupe shade in silk organza with feather-like tufts of organza appliqued on the skirt and the Fontana a spiral cascade of net in a color called Nile River Water.

Daytime fashions are set against a wallpaper vista of Italian squares and on a floor of paper printed in great swirls like the cover lining in family Bibles.

They, too, represent a sampling of the cosmopolitan designers and are a forecast of the new autumn style. Desses combines his Moulin Rouge with anthracite in a suit with straight skirt and straight jacket, the neckline suggesting a friar's robe.

Monte Sano, winner of this year's Neiman-Marcus award for his coats and suits, has sent a soft green tweed suit with one of his barrel box jackets in a long haired fabric of matching color, a nutria jacket in the same line and a leopard lined reversible coat.

Sage spread to dry is the color of the autumn costume by Visconti. The full skirt had a midriff hugger top and black jersey blouse, the coat cut straight in front, in Empire line at the back.

Hardy Amies, who also makes many of the Queen's clothes, calls the color of his brown-green suit Fall Leaves. The stole is lined with chartreuse silk.

The other English suit by Peter Russell was designed especially for the C.N.E. exhibit and christened Lah-di-dah by its maker who asked permission to show it in his own collection. The color is Mediterranean plum.

Attend Wedding Berkley Michigan

The wedding took place Saturday in Radio Temple, Berkley, Michigan, of Miss Dolores Windover of Ferndale, Michigan, daughter of Mrs. Luella Windover and the late Mr. Chester Windover, and Mr. Wilbert C. Calhoun of Detroit.

The Rev. H. E. Weinzierl, pastor, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Clifford Spafford. She wore a gown of white tulle and chantilly lace with elbow-lenght veil attached to a beaded headband, and carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and ivy with white orchid centre.

Miss Ann Calhoun, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She was dressed in pale green net over taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of cream color glamellias.

Miss Janet Spohn and Mrs. Robert Modjeska were bridesmaids and wore matching gowns of pale yellow net over taffeta and carried bouquets of orchid glamellias.

Ruth Ann Bortnem niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore white tulle over taffeta with headband and small bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Robert Calhoun, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Wallace Spafford and Bill Hillman.

Mr. Jack Durham was soloist and sang, Through The Years and The Lord's Prayer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall, Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Armstrong and daughter, Iris of Smith township, and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gordon of Peterborough attended the wedding.

Gherkens In Special Class Most Attractive, Tasty To Eat

This is the time of year when you can walk down any street and know, just by sniffing the tantalizing spiciness that wafts through kitchen doors and windows, exactly what kind of pickle is being made in the Jones or Smith home! Recipes, like old legends, have been handed down from mother to daughter and the contents of the recipes guarded almost as closely as their lives.

Pickles may not add much as far as food value is concerned, but like icing on a cake, they add the finishing touch to a meal. This year make some special pickles for those all important occasions when the ladies' bridge club meets or daughter celebrates her sixteenth birthday. Gherkins enter this special class for they are attractive to serve and tasty to eat.

GHERKINS (Nine Day Pickles)

4 quarts small cucumbers
16 cups boiling water (3 quarts plus 1 cup)
2 cups salt
1 teaspoon alum
16 cups boiling water
8 cups blended vinegar
6 cups sugar
1 tablespoon celery seed
2 teaspoons whole cloves.

Wash the cucumbers, scrub well, rinse, drain well and place in a crock. Cover with hot brine made by combining 16 cups boiling water with the salt. Let stand 3 days. Drain cucumbers from brine, bring brine to boiling point, pour over cucumbers and again let stand 3 days. Repeat this and again let stand 3 days. Drain cucumbers and place in crock. Add alum to remaining 16 cups boiling water and pour over cucumbers. Let stand 6 hours, then drain and rinse thoroughly. Pack pickles into sterilized jars. Prepare pickle mixture by combining the vinegar, sugar and spices. Boil mixture for 5 minutes. Strain through cheesecloth and pour over pickles. Seal and store. Yield: approximately 4 quarts.

COOL, CRISP GHERKINS

Pickles, like Rome, cannot be made in a day. Quite often attempts to shorten the mothed results in an inferior quality pickle but in spite of the time taken they are quite easy to make. Here is a recipe from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture for gherkins which they have tested and found very satisfactory.

GHERKINS

4 quarts small cucumbers
16 cups boiling water
1 cup salt
8 cups blended vinegar
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup salt
¼ cup mustard seed
¼ cup mixed pickling spice
7 cups sugar.

Wash the cucumbers, scrub well, rinse, drain well and place in a crock. Cover with hot brine made by combining boiling water and salt. Pour over cucumbers, cover and let stand overnight. Drain cucumbers thoroughly and place in a clean dry crock. Prepare pickle mixture by combining the cold vinegar, salt, the ¼ cup sugar, mustard seed and pickling spice. Pour over cucumbers. Each morning for the next 14 days, add ½ cup sugar, stirring well to dissolve the sugar. When last of sugar is added, remove spices and pour over pickles. Seal and store. Yield: approximately 4 quarts.

Re-cover Folding Screens With Wood Fibre Panel

Folding screens are one of the most functional and basic pieces of furniture around the house. They're handy in the small apartment and by using two of them, a room can be partitioned into two separate ones. They're a boon at summer cottage, too, for they cover a multitude of purposes. They can be used to separate off a section for a little dressing-room. And on crowded weekends they can make extra sleeping quarters.

Because of their many uses, screens usually take a lot of wear and tear, especially at cottages. But here's a way to re-cover them with an all-wool fibre panel which is smooth, splinter-proof and dent-resistant. A panel, an eighth of an inch thick, does the trick.

First of all, remove the old covering and any remaining adhesive or nails. It is also wise to tighten up the framework with corrugated fasteners and check the hinges. Then both sides of the screen section should be covered with this pressed wood.

For a change in pace you can try leatherwood which has an embossed surface similar to Spanish grain leather. This can also be given a tone-on-tone finish and for further dress-up, decorative tacks can be used.

But if you prefer a perfectly smooth panel which is easily decorated with print, enamel, wax, stain, wallpaper or decalcomanias, use the standard pressed wood type of hardboard.

After cutting the panel to the exact size of the framework, bevel the edges slightly with a file, plane or sandblock. Fasten the panels by using a good grade of adhesive; the same you'd use for attaching hardboard panels over old plaster walls. Clamps will assure a good bond. And if the renewed screen is to be papered, be sure to size the pressed wood panels first.

Now if you just follow the suggestions made here, the Home Mechanic in your house can construct the folding screens from scratch. The framework is made of one by two inch lumber and the cross supports should be placed sixteen inches on centre.

DOROTHY DIX

Courageous Girl Decides She Will Keep Her Child

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a single girl, 20 years old, and a secretary to a large firm. Recently I had a baby and, rather than give him up, I am boarding him with a private family. I realize what a mistake I made but the only way to rectify it, I think, is to make my life one that is worthwhile not only for myself but for my child. I have never had a family or home life, and for this reason the baby means a lot to me. Friends have advised me to give him up for adoption, but I'm hesitating to do this because if there is any chance or way at all for me to keep him, I want to.

Do you suppose there is any man who would want to marry me now that I have the baby? This is what I hope I can achieve because I do so want a home. Occasionally I have a date, but none of the men know about the baby. If one should become serious and want to marry me, should I tell him? I certainly am not going to marry anyone for convenience—I would have to love him completely. This would be especially important in my case since the past opens so many possibilities for future quarrels and recriminations. T. J. J.

ANSWER: Your fine letter, which I have somewhat abbreviated, indicates very clearly your repentance over past mistakes and a firm resolution to live a good life in the future. You have made a wise and courageous decision in keeping your baby; you will be amply repaid for it.

You are very young and, since you have no family to guide you, your own standards must be kept very high to prevent another mistake in your life. There will be so many lonely moments, many heartsick ones, but you will always have the comfort of your small son and, in time, perhaps you will have the home you long for.

MAY MAKE HAPPY MARRIAGE

Many, many girls in situations similar to yours have made happy marriages, and there is no reason to doubt that you may be able to, also. Obviously, and as you already realize, you would need a much firmer foundation than would be necessary under ordinary circumstances. A man who will overlook your one mistake and assume the responsibility of bringing up your son needs a more than ample supply of charity, kindness, generosity and consideration.

There is no reason why you should announce to every man who takes you out that you have a child, but certainly, if you see signs of approaching seriousness in intentions of one of them, he must be told. This will not be an easy task for you, since it will mean no more dates from almost all men. However, you can always hope and pray for the one man who will make allowances for human frailty. Don't wait until mutual affections become too strong.

At 20 you have many years ahead for romance and marriage. It will be much better if you devote the next few years to caring for, and bringing up, your baby. You will find much joy in this work. Since it was your own decision to keep the baby, he deserves, and is entitled to every bit of personal care you can give him. Don't compound an error by neglecting him. He is your first obligation. For the time being, at least, outside pleasures are decidedly secondary. You must be first, and always, a good mother to your son.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the type of person who cannot rest until the job at hand is done. My husband is just the opposite. He puts every task off until the last possible moment, even when time is an important factor. He isn't lazy, just negligent. This has been a cause of constant quarreling between us during our six years of marriage. What can be done to bridge the gap between us? EVELYN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The trouble isn't a simple matter of bridging a gap, it is adjusting two entirely opposed natures. To create any sort of harmony from this most discordant situation, obviously someone must compromise. If you haven't changed your husband in six years, the outlook for reformation looks rather grim.

While pursuing your own commendably efficient system of getting things done, can't you learn to put up with his procrastination? If you let his tasks go until he's ready to do them, he may get caught in enough uncomfortable situations so that he, too, will realize the necessity of promptness. Don't nag—for that is the basis of quarreling and can ultimately lead to a broken marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Would you consider it proper for a young, engaged girl to entertain her boy friend overnight while her mother and sister are out of town for the week-end, leaving her alone with him in the apartment? NEIGHBOR.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Emphatically, positively and absolutely no! Such a procedure will earn for the young lady a most unenviable reputation.

What's Right

You dislike writing letters.

WRONG: Figure that should excuse you from writing to friends who live at a distance and sending the social notes you should.

RIGHT: Take care of your letter and note writing promptly and you will find it is much easier, for you won't feel the need of apologizing for not having written sooner. The prompt letter is always easier to write than the one that has been put off.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Start Your Labor Day Picnic With Steak On A Stick

Nine of us, including all available members of my family, my sisters, and Barb's family, wanted to have a picnic on the weekend before Labor Day weekend. Frankly we wanted to avoid traffic, restaurants, celebrations, games, pageants, exhibitions, fairs, tournaments, television, movies, barn theatres. Call the attitude what you like but we wanted "to be alone"—just like G. G.

We were.

We wound up bogged down in a swamp catching—of all things! —frogs! Then to add to the general confusion we found a wild blackberry patch and got ourselves completely snagged in its thorny branches. But it was wonderful fun and the bonfire meal which followed produced food for the gods.

You see we weren't sure we'd catch any frogs. We weren't sure either that the mosquitoes wouldn't eat us alive in the berry patch, so we had brought along enough steaks and peaches to satisfy the appetites of a small army. We ate the works: frogs' legs, blackberries (an 8-lb honey-pail full), steaks, peaches—plus 2 dozen ears of corn, a big potato salad, unnumbered tomatoes, cucumbers and green peppers, and one of Barb's outsize angel food cakes, and of course, gallons of coffee and quarts of milk.

That's the kind of recreation FUN is made of—if you are the out-of-doors type. I love it.

Would you like to plan a meal in the wilds for Labor Day?

LABOR DAY PICNIC

Steak on a Stick
Corn on the Cob
Rolls to Toast
Tomatoes and Cucumbers out of Hand
Wild Berries or Peaches
Angel Food Cake
Coffee Milk More Coffee

DIRECTIONS

Steak on a stick has many variations, but you must have good steak cut in 1½ inch cubes that is at least 1 or 1½ inches thick. On your green sticks or proper barbecue forks or spears put alternately a cube of steak, a small square of bacon, a mushroom and a chunk of onion (slices of onion won't do for the rings separate and are apt to fall into the fire); repeat these four items again. Now turn and toast it over glowing coals until it is done to just the right stage for you—then try and eat it without burning your tongue.

If you do not want to afford steak, use thicker slices of back bacon or fresh pork and sliced chicken livers. Firm underripe tomatoes may be substituted for the mushrooms—quarters of them.

The corn we roasted in the time-honored manner by dipping it in the creek to wet the husks, then tucking them in the coals, turning them over before the bottom burns, and extricating them from the inferno before they are a crisp and when they are at the exact stage of doneness. I judge them by the husk: when it is medium dark brown all over but not black or burned through the corn is cooked. The butter should be in a shallow dish in which you can roll your cob after you have managed to strip it out of the husk.

BARB'S ANGEL FOOD

One and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 2 cups white sugar, 1½ cups egg whites (not cold), ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons cream of tartar, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, 1 teaspoon almond flavoring. Add half the sugar (1 cup) to the flour and sift these two ingredients together 4 times. Sift remaining sugar 4 times. Add salt to whites in large bowl and beat until foamy about 1 minute. Add cream of tartar and beat until stiff but not dry. Slowly add the 1 cup sugar. Remove rotary or electric beater and use wire whisk for remaining time. Sift in flour and sugar mixture, 2 tablespoons at a time, and fold until all is used. Add flavoring. Pour into tube pan 10 by 4½ inches that is not greased. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 60 minutes. Invert on cake cooler for 1 hour, then loosen cake from sides with spatula. Frost if desired, when cold.

Mixed Doubles Trophy Winners

CAMPBELLFORD— (ENS) — Bowling playoffs for the Ross Douglas Trophy for mixed doubles were held on Monday afternoon in the form of a three game tournament.

R. D. McDonald and Mrs. W. H. Brady took the trophy, winning all three of their games handily with a score of 45 plus 5.

Scores among the other contestants were: First Draw—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, 12; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Locke, 6; Mr. and Mrs. Ballantyne, 18; A. J. Meyers and Mrs. G. Palliser, 15; A. E. Burgis and Mrs. R. Douglas, 16; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kingston, 9; R. D. McDonald and Mrs. W. H. Brady, 18; W. S. Wiggins and Mrs. Austin Putnam, 7; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Archer, 16; Mr. and Mrs. George Vice, 9.

Second game — Kingston, 10; Vice, 8; Archer, 11; Burgis, 9; McDonald, 16; Ballantyne, 11; Meyers, 19; Rutherford, 5; Wiggins, 12; Locke, 10.

Third game— McDonald, 16; Archer, 13; Rutherford, 13; Wiggins, 13; Vice, 20; Locke, 8; Ballantyne, 13; Kingston, 10; Meyers, 14; Burgis, 6.

Prizes for two wins went to A. J. Meyers and Mrs. G. Palliser with 44 plus 4 and for one win to Mr. and Mrs. G. Vice with 32 plus 5.

J. F. R. Douglas, local barrister who donated the trophy, made the presentation at the conclusion of the game.

All Shortages Repaid - Auditor

PORT HOPE —Shortages of $3,647 have been paid back to the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland, an auditing company told counties warden H. R. Campbell in a letter.

The counties clerk resigned when discrepancies were discovered in the records of the counties. The auditors reported that the matter was completey cleared now.

They wrote:

"We are pleased to advise you that in the course of our audit of the books of the United Counties in the month of June, we noted that the balance of the unpaid discrepancies amounting to $2,194.02 as reported to you on 22nd March, 1952, has been repaid to the United Counties. The United Counties have therefore now been fully reimbursed for the specific shortages amounting to $3,647.70 as disclosed by our investigation."

Police Give Up Search For Missing Boat

SARNIA (CP)—Search for the Sea Waif, a Detroit vessel five days overdue at her home port, has been closed pending further word on her whereabouts, police said today.

Police said they believe the sailing craft is in port somewhere on the east shore of Lake Huron.

A report earlier this week indicated the craft was at Tobermory, but a dispatch from Owen Sound yesterday said another ship, the Sea Flight, had been mistaken for the missing vessel.

Film R.C. Catechism in 2-Year Project

BOSTON (AP)—A two-year project is under way to film in color the Roman Catholic catechism which for more than 400 years has been taught by questions and answers.

Rev. Michael F. Mullen, professor of educational psychology at St. John University, Brooklyn, N. Y., told the annual diocesan teachers institute yesterday that the project will cost $100,000.

He said the film would bring out, in the study of the catechism, "the elements of imagery, story and drama that has been the Church's heritage."

Report 26 Fires Rage In Ontario Forests

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests today reported 26 forest fires with all but three under control. Five other fires have been extinguished within the last 24 hours.

The department said that continued dry weather is building up a high fire hazard in all parts of the province.

The largest fire covers a 50-acre area on Bell Island in the Port Arthur district.

Fires by districts: Sioux Lookout, 8; Kenora, 5; Port Arthur, 6; Cochrane, 2; Timiskaming, 1; Algonquin, 2; White River, 1.

CUTS TIRE LIFE

Engineers say that "show off" acceleration and speeding may increase gasoline consumption by 50 per cent and shorten tire life.

Walcott Predicts Win Over Marciano

HAWKINSVILLE, N.J. (AP)—The world heavyweight boxing champion said yesterday: "The batteries Sept. 23 will be Jersey Joe Walcott pitching and Rocky Marciano catching."

Walcott, training here for his title defence at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium next month, vowed that Marciano, the unbeaten Brockton, Mass., challenger, "won't hit me with those roundhouse swings."

"They tell me Rocky used to be a baseball catcher," said the champ. "Well, when he delivers a punch, he still looks as if he is throwing to second. I can see the punches from the stands."

Walcott said he hasn't fought a fellow in years as easy to hit as Marciano. The champ, after making his daily battle statement, then drove to Atlantic City to review an Elks parade.

DROPO DRIVE — Off to a slow start with the Red Sox, Walt Dropo caught fire after being traded to the Tigers. The big first baseman ranks among the American League's runs-batted-in leaders.

Marlene, Partner Set Unofficial Record

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—An unofficial record in two-ball foursome play on the Jasper Park Lodge golf course was established yesterday by Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, 18-year-old Canadian women's close golf champion, and John Ballard of Fort Worth, Texas.

They covered the 18-mile course in a sizzling three-under-par 68. Paired against them were Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto and Harold Staff of Cincinnati, who carded 78.

White Sox Obtain Hudson On Waivers

CHICAGO (AP)—Hal Hudson, a 25-year-old lefthander, today was obtained by Chicago White Sox from St. Louis Browns on waivers.

Hudson has spent most of his two years in the Browns' farm system with Toronto of the International League. He compiled a 16-5 record there last year and has a 9-7 mark with Toronto so far this season.

Hudson will report to the White Sox after Toronto finishes play next month.

Border Incident

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Hashemite authorities said a small Israeli patrol crossed Jordan's border today but were beaten back by frontier guards who killed one Israeli and wounded two others. Jordan reported the incident to United Nations authorities, who sent an observer to the scene.

Windsor Royals Hoping Imports To Allow Them Stronger Showing

By JACK DULMAGE

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—In 1951, Windsor's Ontario Rugby Football Union senior entry changed colors, swapped names, named Jack Alexander head coach and set out with all the intentions of ending a six-season failure in making the playoffs.

When the season ended, however, Windsor Royals had gone winless with a paralytic output of 27 scoring points—the most disastrous campaign in the history of the club.

This year's reconstruction isn't exactly sensational, but may produce a stronger gridiron machine. With 21 holdovers from 1951 and six United States imports, training sessions have been going on for almost a month.

TEAM LOOKS STRONG

In addition to Alexander at the coaching helm, the club has Sam Sasso, Ralph Webber and John Dengel helping in the leadership department. Add to this a wing line well in excess of 200 pounds—the heaviest and fastest ever—and a starry import quarter-back and the team presents a formidable array of talent.

Key to the Royals' attack will be 22-year-old Dick Neveux, a passing expert from the University of Detroit. Neveux set a Missouri Valley Conference pass-completion record last season.

Mike Goggins, a speedy running half from the same university, also is high in Alexander's estimation. Other imports include outside Bill Rambin and middles Herb Zalopany and Frank Saunders, all of Detroit, and a one-time Pittsburgh Steeler lineman, Stan Plichta. Plichta and Saunders are holdovers from 1951.

LIKES BACKFIELD

Alexander is much taken with his backfield, which includes such speed artists as Jack Murphy, Lyle Ross, Len Sinasac and Bob Wylupek. Up from Windsor's junior ranks come Cy Todd, Barry Deneau, John Novak, Andy Hamilton and Scotty Bissett.

"We've got the fastest back ever and a top-grade quarter to co-ordinate them," he said. "Neveux has lived up to his press clippings so far. He's a fine passer and a good ball handler."

PROGRAM 'TERRIFIC'

Line coach Sasso was equally exuberant. "I've never coached a line as good as this one," he said. "Just watch out. Our conditioning program is terrific."

Outsides Bill Rambin, Frank LaSorda, Bob Knudson, Bob McDonald and Elex Chistoff will take care of the pass-receiving chores while Bob Hollup, Bob Forester and Irv Farrah are available for the flying wing position.

The Royals have booked no exhibition games this season and will open their regular schedule Sept. 1 at Brantford. Their home opener is against Toronto Balmy Beach, Sept. 13.

Indian School Teacher Proves Best Archer

TORONTO (CP)—Reg Hill, Indian school teacher from the Six Nations reserve at Ohsweken, yesterday set a Canadian record in winning the opening round of archery competitions at the Canadian National exhibition.

He scored 752 points on 126 hits in the York round, a competition of 12 ends of six arrows at 100 yards, eight ends at 80 yards and four ends at 60 yards. He broke the record set at the C.N.E. in 1948 by Bruce MacDonald of Toronto.

Second place went to Bill Frost of Toronto and Milt Obediah of Brantford was third.

Victoria Woman Pulls Golf Tourney Upset

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—Unheralded Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, B.C., pulled one of the few upsets of the first round of the United States women's amateur golf tournament yesterday as she defeated Betty Rowland of Lexington, Ky., one up.

Mrs. Todd joined defending champion Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and most of the other big names today as the 32 survivors whittled each other down in two more rounds of match play.

2 Men Committed For Trial On Rape

SUDBURY (CP)—Two Garson men, Gaston R. Belleville, 24 and Charles Piche, 27, have been committed for trial on charges of rape and attempted rape by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe.

The attacks, involving two women, were said to have occurred Aug. 10 on a lonely road between Garson and Falconbridge just east of Sudbury. Both accused are married and have two children each. Belleville faces a charge of rape and Piche two charges of attempted rape.

262 Cases Of Polio In Ontario So Far

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of health said today that 262 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported in Ontario so far this year, against 797 for the comparable 1951 period.

This year's polio death toll is nine. At the same period in 1951 it was 29.

Pedestrian Killed

HAMILTON (CP)—Kevin Saunders, of Newfoundland, was killed today when struck by an automobile driven by Lewis McKibbon of Georgetown.

Police report he was walking with a friend along Highway No. 25, 1½ miles south of Milton.

Kill 76 Rebels

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—French forces today reported killing 76 Communist Vietminh rebels and taking 998 prisoners in fighting northwest of Hue in the last three days.

Young Ont. Musicians Carry Off Awards

TORONTO (CP)—Young Ontario musicians today continued to carry off awards in competition at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Five-year-old Jan Marie Mustard of Sudbury finished in a first-place tie with Patricia Ann Chadwick, 6, of Hamilton in the piano class for children under seven years. Cherry White, 6, of Woodbridge tied for third place with Irene Fenyuessy, 6, of Toronto in the same class.

In the piano duet class under 17 years, Sheila Black and Lynn Shedden, both 13 and from Port Colborne, tied for first place with Ruth and Bruce Baird of Toronto.

Canadian Freighter Been Commissioned

PORT WELLER (CP)—Canada's largest home-built freighter, the John O. McKellar, officially became flagship of the Colonial Steamships fleet when the 678-foot craft was commissioned here today.

Mrs. John O. McKellar, widow of Colonial's former treasurer, broke a bottle of champagne over the ship's bows.

No date has been set for trials of the $4,000,000 freighter. It has a capacity of 750,000 bushels of grain or 23,000 tons of ore.

Trophies Presented At Bowling Tourney

HAMILTON (CP)—Finals in the ladies section of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association of Ontario were played yesterday on the Roselawn greens in Hamilton.

Skip of the winning triples team, Mrs. W. Hammond, Tottenham, was presented with the Taylor Memorial Trophy. The Lloyd Spalding trophy went to Mrs. E. Cressen, Stouffville, skip of the winning doubles team, and the Knight Trophy for singles was won by Mrs. R. Hinton, Kingston.

Bubblegum Keeps Bat In Its Place

SUDBURY (CP)—A bat botched by bubblegum is the latest peeve of Bill McDonald, city sanitary inspector.

For the past month McDonald has been sending bats to Toronto for virus disease research. Residents of this area have contributed bats in various types of containers.

Recently McDonald received a bat stuck in a bottle with bubblegum. When he tried to free it the bat bounced into the air but boomeranged back into the bottle with a bo-i-ing.

Makes Annual Trip

WATERLOO (CP)—Peter Roose, 86, boarded the bus with the Waterloo Band today for his 69th annual trip to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. He made his first trip in 1883 travelling by boxcar.

To Build Tankers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz said last night an unidentified Japanese firm had proposed to build and sell 26 large oil tankers to Iran.

REMEMBER THE CAKES Grandma used to bake? Well, they came from an oven exactly like the one Yvonne Hutton is shown using in the C.N.E.'s Hydro building. Yvonne, complete in crinoline gown, is wrestling with the problems of old-time kitchens for visitors to see at this year's "Ex." The portrayal should bring back many a memory to family elders.

Firefighting, Steaks, Impress United Kingdom Visitors At Forestry Conference

LAKE OPEONGA (CP)—Some 75 delegates to the sixth British Commonwealth Forestry Conference at this Algonquin Park lake were spectators at an aerial bombing.

The bombs were bags filled with water and they were dropped on a mythical fire. The airborne operation was carried out by Rusty Baldwin and a crew of fire fighters from Cochrane.

The aerial firemen also flew in a pack tractor, developed by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, assembled it on the beach and sent it on its way into the bush with a load of firefighting equipment in less than five minutes.

Baldwin's boys landed in an airplane on the lake, tumbled into a canoe, raced to a fire set on the target float, got a portable pump into operation and flooded the blaze in three minutes. Only hitch in the demonstration occurred when one of the "shock troopers" got stage struck in front of the crowd and spilled an armful of hose. In spite of his slip, the crew had 1,400 feet of hose strung out and their pump going in six minutes.

The visitors agreed that the demonstration was impressive; they made notes and asked innumerable questions. But it must be admitted that they were even more deeply impressed by Lands and Forests hospitality. Their first dinner in camp featured T-bone steak. Lord Robinson, chairman of the United Kingdom delegation, gazed with awe upon his portion, somewhat smaller than a blanket.

"It's a long time," he said with feeling, "since I've seen that much meat all in one piece."

The delegates will presumably have fond memories of Lake Opeongo. A few of them even succeeded in catching fish when the planes and boats spotted them at points that had been carefully scouted by the foresters.

Through the remainder of the week, they will visit Lands and Forests biological establishments, research areas, the forest rangers' school at Dorset, and the research establishment at Maple, the nursery at Midhurst, and the seed separating plant at Angus. Then Toronto and the Ex and back to Ottawa for their conference.

Plan To Release More Steel, Copper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials announced yesterday they plan to release more steel, copper and aluminum for construction by next April at the latest. This will mean:

1. Considerably larger supplies for schools, roads, office buildings, apartment houses, stores and many other types of heavy construction.

2. A lifting of the two-year-old ban on building race tracks, pool halls and other recreational facilities.

George O'Donnell

DOWNEYVILLE (ENS)— The funeral of the late George O'Donnell, who died suddenly Friday was held from his late residence, Downeyville, Monday morning to St. Luke's Church where requiem high mass was celebrated by the Rev. V. J. Lynch of Ennismore. Rev. Father McFadden and Father Kay were in the sanctuary. It was a largely attended funeral.

The pallbearers were all neighbors: Albert Carroll, Michael Harrington, Walter Herlihey, Gene Downey, Timothy Dorgan and Austin Dorgan.

The prayers at the cemetery were said by Father McFadden. Burial was in St. Luke's cemetery.

Polio Deaths Now 63

EDMONTON (CP) — Saskatchewan yesterday reported two more polio deaths and British Columbia one to raise Western Canada's 1952 total to 63. The death count by provinces now is 19 in Alberta, 17 each in Saskatchewan and B.C. and 10 in Manitoba.

Russians Told Names Must Be Simple

MOSCOW (AP)—The idea of a kid with the first name of "Electrification" or a man assuming a name like "Cracking Combine Petrov" brought a sharp editorial protest yesterday in the Literary Gazette. (Cracking Combine is an oil-refining term.)

Fortunately, said a letter writer in the Soviet Union's literary newspaper, there are not many parents who hang such monickers on their children, but there are enough to make it annoying.

There is, for instance, a girl named "Radiola," and a boy named "Detector."

And another thing—some parents with a hankering for elegance hang foreign first names on their kids, like Eleanora, Isolda, Eldorada, Azalea and Ella, the Gazette complained, and many boys are named Edward, Arthur, Alfred, Henry, Emil—and even Harry.

The guy whose handle now is "Cracking Combine" originally was just plain Ivan Petrov to his family. He changed it himself.

"A name should attract one to a person by its naturalness and simplicity, not repel and scare," the letter said.

Link Margaret's Suitor To London Showgirl

LONDON (Reuters) — Society matchmakers are linking the names of lanky Billy Wallace, wealthy bachelor and sometime suitor of Princess Margaret, to Kay Kendall, London showgirl. Wallace was once top favorite for the hand of Margaret but nothing came of the rumored romance.

2,204,363 Work Days Lost In 7 Months

OTTAWA (CP)—Time lost as a result of strikes and lockouts amounted to 2,204,363 man-working days in the first seven months of this year compared with 347,525 days in the corresponding period of 1951.

The Labor Department said yesterday preliminary figures showed there were 143 strikes and lockouts, involving 97,324 workers, in the seven-month period. In the corresponding 1951 period, there were 165 strikes and lockouts with 49,126 workers involved.

Teller Ends New York Fling By Returning $27,800

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Teller John F. Smith Jr., 26, walked out of the Bank of Virginia's main office here at the close of business for his usual weekend holiday. He carried $28,000 with him.

After a round of New York nightclubs, he returned to Richmond and went to work Tuesday, taking with him $27,800 of the bank's money.

Smith told bank officials he flew to New York Friday and, after a night there, decided the right thing to do was return the money. He explained the $200 was spent on the trip to New York.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation checked with the bank after receiving a confidential tip that something was wrong, and an audit of Smith's accounts was in progress when he reported for work Monday.

The teller was taken into custody Monday. He was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner and released under $500 bond on a charge of violation of the Federal Reserve Act.

Hail Insurance Big Item With Saskatchewan Farmers

REGINA (CP)—Farming is a gamble in many respects but not too many farmers gamble with hailstorms, which closely coincide with the growing season of their grain crops.

One hailstorm, hurling down icy pellets ranging in size from marbles to hen's eggs and larger, can flatten a field of grain in minutes, wiping out a year's income for the farmer. Or it can cut serious inroads into his income.

For this reason, about 45 per cent of the crop acreage in Saskatchewan, Canada's biggest grain-growing province, is covered annually by hail insurance.

On the average, Saskatchewan farmers spend more than $3,000,000 every year on about 60,000 hail policies which buy them about $55,000,000 worth of insurance.

The average number of claims filed each year is 15 per cent of the number of policies sold.

HAIL SEASON

The hail season is from about the last week in June until the middle of September. But the worst damage usually occurs between early July and mid-August.

Greatest damage to cereal crops like wheat occurs after the crop is headed out, while flax, clover, alfalfa and peas are more susceptible to damage in early growth.

With favorable weather conditions, good recoveries are common in cereals damaged in the early stages of growth, thus early hail adjustments are deferred to see how well the crop is going to recover.

Insurance men say that the amount of hail insurance written in Saskatchewan in any given year depends upon the prevailing weather conditions, the crop prospects and the weather conditions of the Volume of hail insurance in Saskatchewan began to increase about 1940 after the dry '30s. Farmers now are considered more insurance-minded.

Will Introduce Water Levels

TECUMSEH (CP)—Reeve F. B. Dupont said Tuesday he will introduce the matter of the Great Lakes high water levels for discussion at the forthcoming convention of the Ontario Municipal Association.

He said in an interview he believes that part of the St. Lawrence seaway plan involves maintenance of the Great Lakes at their present high levels.

"I'm certainly no opponent of the seaway but I'm certainly dubious about this feature of it."

Level of Lake St. Clair is at present a record 577 feet six inches above mean tide at New York. Driven by strong winds, waves last March caused heavy flood damage in Essex County.

Tecumseh is a Windsor suburb. The Municipal Association convention will be held Sept. 1 to 3 at Bigwin Inn.

100 Neighbors Battle To Save Dairy Barn

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Reports of a battle by 100 neighbors on a hot afternoon to save a large dairy barn near Norwich, 15 miles south of here, were told today. When a large straw stack on the farm of Irwin McIntyre caught fire, neighbors kept the wall of the barn, less than 20 feet away, soaked with water to prevent the fire from catching.

Inside the barn others toiled in terrific heat to move loose hay from the wall nearest the blazing stack. Rafters inside the building smouldered several times but were promptly soaked with water.

To Launch Big Laker

PORT WELLER (CP)—Premier Frost will be guest of honor here today when the grain-carrier John O. McKellar, largest ship ever built in Canada, is christened and commissioned. The ship, which is 678 feet long and has a carrying capacity of 750,000 bushels or 23,000 tons of ore, is expected to make her maiden voyage to Fort William for grain within a few days.

No Glasses, No Case

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Lockwood of nearby Streetsville didn't bring his glasses to court yesterday, so Judge F. G. J. McDonagh adjourned the case for nine days. Lockwood, trying to get possession of his Toronto home, couldn't read his own signature on a document clearly enough to identify it.

Show Movies Filmed Quarter Century Ago

GORES LANDING (ENS). — Moving pictures of scenery and people from 20 to 25 years ago were shown in Gores Landing Public Library on Friday evening. Mrs. T. D. McGaw kindly gave the entertainment for those who were interested in familiar faces many of whom had passed away in the meantime. Others were grown up, and still others were present in the audience whose pictures were thrown on the screen.

The movies were taken of the villagers by the late T. D. McGaw and the moving picture machine was run by a nephew of Mrs. McGaw from Indiana who is here for a few days with his bride.

M. J. MacDonald counted 25 people whose pictures revived memories and who had passed away in the interval. M. F. Ames appropriately thanked Mrs. McGaw for an interesting evening.

TV Program Plan Strikes Snag

CBC Reports Talks Break Down With 2 U.S. Networks

OTTAWA (CP)—CBC television stations will carry some United States network programs, but negotiations for programs of two American networks have "broken down."

A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said today that discussions have broken down with two networks "regarding the proportion of money paid by the sponsor which would go to the United States networks and the CBC."

He declined to name the networks.

Negotiations with the two networks may be resumed some time in the future.

Because of the breakdown in negotiations, Canadians will not see programs which some sponsors wished to have shown in this country.

The CBC is completing arrangements with two U. S. networks for some of their programs.

The programs mainly will be carried by the CBC's new television station in Toronto, to be opened officially Sept. 8.

There is a network link between Toronto and Buffalo. A network link between Toronto and Montreal, where a station will be opened Sept. 6, will not be completed until early next year.

REPORT SNAG

NEW YORK (CP)—Broadcasting magazine says in its current issue that as Canada's TV-day draws near, there is doubt that many American TV network shows will be relayed to the dominion.

The magazine says that it is "understood negotiations between Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and NBC and CBS networks have struck a snag, while satisfactory arrangements have been made with DuMont and ABC.

Meanwhile, officials of DuMont and ABC in New York said they knew of no breakdown in negotiations between the CBC and their respective companies.

Officials of NBC and CBS, the two other big U. S. networks were not available for comment.

Dissolves Parliament

TOKYO (AP)—In a lightning move to save his political strength, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today forced dissolution of the lower house of the Japanese Diet parliament and set the first post-occupation general election for Oct. 1. The date is at least a month or 45 days before rivals felt they would be ready to defeat the 74-year-old, pro-United States premier. Yoshida, sometimes called by his opposition an "American puppet," left yesterday for a rest in the mountains. He rushed back today to slam through the dissolution, in a manner some observers called a stroke of political genius.

Child Lived On Berries, Badly Bitten

Escapes Contact With Bears Said Roaming Area

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Two-year-old Richard Turcotte was found alive today after being lost three days and three nights in bear-infested bushland 15 miles southwest of here.

Weakened, sunburned and badly bitten by black flies, the child was rushed to nearby Youville hospital. He was also suffering from a skin allergy thought to have been caused by a diet of blueberries.

Weary searchers discovered the child lying in a haystack in a farmer's field at the edge of the bush. They were attracted by his cries of "papa."

Searchers said high temperatures the last three nights helped the boy survive.

WANDERED INTO BUSH

The boy, found by three searchers about 8:30 a.m., wandered into thick bush at Beaudry, 15 miles south of here, Monday. His mother Mrs. Wilfred Turcotte, had placed him on a rock while she picked blueberries in a wild wasteland of rock and muskeg.

About 250 men, aided by an airplane, searched for him. They feared he had been carried off by one of the bears that visit the blueberry patches at this time of year.

Some of the searchers carried rifles and shotguns as protection against the bears.

The boy was adopted. His 29-year-old foster father helped lead the search.

The child was found by a Rouyn garageman, Jean Proenther, and two Beaudry district farmers, Philip and Euclid Tanguay, just as a fresh search party set out with little hope of finding him alive.

The searchers were attracted by the boy's cries of "Papa." A nurse sent to the scene ordered his removal to hospital.

Provincial Constable Ralph Allen of Rouyn said the boy's body had broken out in a rash.

"He's lost plenty of weight, but we're sure he's going to be all right," the officer said.

Grief turned to joy for the child's foster mother when she heard the good news. Neither she nor her husband had given up hope that the youngster would be found.

Neighbors of the Turcottes were determined the search would be continued until the boy was found. One of them, Magloire Belisle, said earlier today that he was going into the bush and not coming out until the child was found.

Egyptian Premier Clashes With Army on Land

CAIRO (Reuters)—Premier Aly Maher threatened to resign yesterday in a behind-the-scenes clash with Gen. Mohammet Naguib. High sources said Maher made his resignation threat in an outright clash with the general who put him in office after a military coup a month ago. The cleavage between Maher and his politicians and Naguib and his army officers is the result of the army's plan to break up large land-holdings and distribute farms to the peasants.

Sources say Maher is against the speed and ruthlessness of the army's attack on wealthy landowners.

As the crisis deepened Wednesday, Abdel Razzak Sanhury, president of the State Council or Supreme Court, was reported as the army's choice as a possible successor to Maher.

Sanhury is believed to support the army's land reform which would break up large estates and limit holdings to 200 acres.

Veteran statesman Maher was hand-picked by Naguib to head the government a few hours after the coup, banishing King Farouk from the country.

Observers here believe the relationship has deteriorated into an uneasy alliance as the army tightened its grip on the country's affairs.

Maher has been walking on a tight-rope, adroitly trying to conciliate the army's revolutionary reforms with a go-slow approach.

U.S. ARMS AVAILABLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department made it plain that large U.S. arms shipments to Egypt depend on that country's willingness to join a Western-backed Middle East defense organization.

A State Department spokesman outlined the American attitude in discussing Tuesday's meeting in Cairo between Egyptian Premier Aly Maher and the U.S. Ambassador. Maher said afterward he had asked the U.S. to provide Egyptian police with the most advanced automatic weapons.

Appoint Smith Anti-Combines Board Chairman

OTTAWA (CP)—C. Rhodes Smith, attorney-general of Manitoba, today was appointed chairman of a new three-man anti-combines commission to help administer tightened-up combines legislation.

The stiffer regulations, adopted by Parliament at the last session, become effective Nov. 1.

Justice Minister Garson, former premier of Manitoba, announced that besides Mr. Smith, members of the new combines body, to be known as the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission will be:

Guy Favreau, Montreal lawyer, who has represented the federal government in several combines cases, and,

A. S. Whiteley of Victoria, B. C., deputy combines commissioner.

Appointment of the new commission follows a general overhaul of the combines investigation organization.

T. D. MacDonald, current combines commissioner, will become known on Nov. 1 as the director of investigation and research.

FOLLOWS OVERHAUL

Appointment of the new commission was recommended by the MacQuarrie committee on combines which spent two years making a general study of Canada's combines laws.

The commission will give alleged offenders an opportunity to defend their actions in private hearings before the director makes a report to the justice minister on the investigation.

U.S. Firm Orders 50 Jet Airliners If 1955 Deadline

LONDON (AP) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker said last night Eastern Air Lines will buy 35 to 50 Comet jet airliners if the planes can be delivered within three years.

Rickenbacker, president of Eastern, told reporters that the delivery date of the 500-mile-an-hour Comets is the biggest snag.

Rickenbacker proposed that the Comets be built in the United States if the manufacturers—De Havilland Aircraft Company—cannot turn them out fast enough to meet Eastern Air Line's requirements.

Eastern's proposed order would give the airline the world's biggest fleet of commercial jet airliners and bring Britain about $75,000,000 in badly-needed foreign exchange.

A spokesman for De Havilland aircraft company said last night the "series three Comet cannot be ready until near end of the 1950s and Captain Rickenbacker knows it."

He said series three—the Mark III—is a super Comet now in the early stages of design. The price is estimated at $1,500,000.

CAN DO BUSINESS

The spokesman added, however, that if Rickenbacker is interested in series two—on test since last February—"then we certainly can talk business and we can speak of quantity deliveries from late 1955 onwards."

He said "we cannot give him earlier delivery than that because all deliveries before that are naturally going to those who had the foresight to order earlier."

The spokesman said series two will be the "world" airliner carrying 44 passengers and freight over long distance hauls of 2,000 miles and more.

Appointed Judge

OTTAWA (CP)—F. G. MacKay Q. C., of Owen Sound, has been appointed a judge of the Supreme Court of Ontario and member of the Ontario appeal court, replacing the late Hon. C. W. R. Bowlby.

The justice department made the announcement today.

Nazi Steel King Gets $125 Million

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—A staggering $125,000,000 is waiting for Alfreid Krupp, Germany's steel king just out of a war crimes prison, if the West German government accepts an Allied plan to reinstate him as one of the world's richest men. Allied High Commission officials indicated this yesterday when they outlined some details of their plan to reorganize the Krupp industrial empire. A huge portion of it goes back to Alfried, 44, as sole heir.

Krupps is the firm that armed Germany for two world wars and which has been a dominant factor in the German economy for three generations.

TO BREAK MONOPOLY

The Allied idea has two aims: To break up the industrial monopoly the name of Krupp has always signified, and to get the Krupp family out of the munitions business for which it has always shown a talent.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government is expected to announce the plan this week and to approve it without major revision.

A yearly income of at least $4,000,000, deriving partly from a 2½-per-cent royalty on the sales of four coal mines the family owned and part from fixed-interest non-voting bonds he will get as compensation for other coal and steel interests, plus his salaries as director of the other firms he will continue to control.

GIVEN SHARES

About $45,000,000 in bonds and shares of the Rheinhausen steel plant at Essen, more coal mines and ore fields, all of which will be taken out of Krupp control.

At least $10,000,000 for a group of iron ore fields in the Sieg and Lahn River areas, which he will sell to the Rheinhausen company.

Despite all this Krupp will not find himself a dispossessed man with only an astronomic bank account to occupy his mind. The collection of engineering firms, locomotive and motor works, shipyards, trading companies and real estate which will be returned to his ownership and management

Death Penalty For Teen Agers

VIENNA (AP)—Western sources reported today that Albania has extended the death penalty to children over 12 years of age.

Only a few weeks ago, large-scale arrests of 'teen-agers were reported from Romania, but sources here said the new Albanian penal code is stronger than in any other Communist land, including the Soviet Union.

The new law is said to provide death for all persons over 12 convicted of "conspiracy against the state, damage to state property or economic sabotage."

Western sources here said the lowering of the death-penalty age limit appeared to be part of an over-all campaign behind the Iron Curtain.

In July, persons in Bucharest saw weeping children taken in open Romanian Army trucks to prison.

Sues Iraq King For Million Dollars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The youthful King of Iraq arrived in southern California last night and was sued for $1,000,000 by a Los Angeles resident.

The damage suit was filed yesterday by Irwin Gielgud against 17-year-old King Faisal.

Gielgud alleged that the King falsely caused his arrest by port authorities in Basra, Iraq, Nov. 30, 1951. The Los Angeles man said he was taken from an airliner on which he was travelling from Karachi, Indial to Istanbul, Turkey, and held for three hours.

Britain Agrees To Answer Iran By Sept. 3

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A government spokesman said today Britain has agreed to reply by Sept. 3 to the Iranian offer to discuss compensation claims arising out of nationalization of the $1,500,000,000 Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The spokesman said this promise was made yesterday during a three-hour conference of United States Ambassador Loy Henderson and British Charge d'Affaires George Middleton with Premier Mossadegh.

The spokesman would make no other comment on the conference. Informed sources in London said Henderson and Middleton sought to break the long-standing British-Iranian deadlock with proposals involving U.S. economic aid to Iran, a lifting of the British blockade on Iranian oil sales abroad and negotiations on the compensation claims. Iran wants prompt payment of $140,000,000 in disputed oil royalties as a condition to opening any talks.

Middleton called on Henderson today shortly after the American Ambassador had an hour - long talk with the Iranian finance minister Bagher Kazemi. There was speculation that Henderson and Kazemi talked about a possible loan.

Fire 4 Guards Left Car Alone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brink's, Inc., yesterday fired the four guards who were lunching while a bakery truck driver made off with $65,000 from the armored car they were supposed to be protecting.

Violation of orders, said Otto Blank, vice-president of Brink's.

The four were at lunch Monday when Ray E. Farmer, 26, a former Brink's guard, unlocked the armored car, took the $65,000 and drove off.

A hunch by Police Chief Robert V. Murray resulted in Farmer's arrest. Farmer, admitted the theft and drove police to the lonely park area where he had buried the money.

Funeral Service

OTTAWA (CP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Mrs. M. Maxwell MacOdrum, wife of Dr. M. Maxwell MacOdrum, president of Ottawa's Carleton College, She died in hospital yesterday following a brief illness.

Interment will be in Brockville.

Planter Declares Sub Story True

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters)—G. K. Whittaker, a New Guinea planter, claimed today that reports of submarines being sighted off New Guinea and other islands north of Australia were "too well authenticated to be brushed aside."

Yesterday he suggested that Russin submarines with Chinese crews were known to have visited these waters. Air Minister William McMahon told a press conference today that all such reports had been thoroughly investigated and all had "low reliability rating."

60,000 Join Search For Missing Lad, 5

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Where's five-year-old Kip Rowe?

Police say some 60,000 persons are participating in this old seaport's largest search in history for the youngster, last seen near his home Monday.

Fisherfolk and citizens dragged harbor waters today while R.C.M.P. and city policemen waived holidays and time off to continue the search.

Plan $3,000,000 Shopping Centre

TORONTO (CP) — A $3,000,000 north-end shopping centre is to be built here by next spring.

Construction of the huge block at Lawrence avenue and Bathurst street will start next week for the Toronto firm of Principal Investments Limited. The area is said to have a population of 30,000.

More than a dozen retailers, including several chain store firms, have already signed for space in the building.

Fresh POW Incidents Will Be Revealed

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The United States Eighth Army indicated today there have been fresh Communist prisoner-of-war incidents or demonstrations in United Nations P.O.W. camps since Sunday. It said it would have an announcement tomorrow.

The Army earlier this week disclosed details of two P.O.W. incidents in July and 10 between Aug. 11 and 24. It said four prisoners were killed and 64 injured in these.

Asked today if there had been further incidents, a spokesman said "We will have another announcement tomorrow. You were covered through Aug. 24, and tomorrow's announcement will bring you up to date."

Germany To Pay Israel $715,000,000

JERUSALEM (AP) — Reliable sources here said today that Israel and West Germany are expected to sign a reparations agreement in Luxembourg during the second week of September.

Representatives of the two countries are expected to initial an agreement soon by which West Germany would pay $715,000,000 worth of goods to Israel over a 12-year period.

The payment would be in recompense for Nazi persecution of the Second World War.

Russia Sends Zorin To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia has named Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Z. Zorin, who staged the Red coup in Czechoslovakia, as her chief delegate to the United Nations. Jacob A. Malik, the present delegate, is going home for "rest and reassignment."

U. N. officials announced last night that the Soviet government told them of the forthcoming chang in a note addressed to the international organization's secretariat. Zorin is expected to arrive by Sept. 15, just a month before the general assembly opens its fall session.

Malik, who has been suffering from a heart ailment for some time, was originally scheduled to return to Moscow on leave early this summer. He cancelled his passage twice, but the Soviet announcement of his replacement came as a surprise which observers could not immediately evaluate.

Zorin has spent most of his foreign diplomatic service in eastern Europe. Born in 1902, he became a deputy foreign minister before he was sent to Czechoslovakia in 1948. He arrived in Prague just before the Communist coup over the Czech government.

U.S. Money Upsets Victoria

Every Firm Has Own Approach to Problem

VICTORIA (CP)—Growing confusion is reported over United States silver coins circulating here.

While a few large stores and hotels are still treating U.S. coins like Canadian money, many other establishments are either refusing to accept U.S. silver or are discounting it, a survey showed.

The Victoria Post Office announced yesterday it will refuse to accept any U.S. coins.

Postmaster John B. Sinclair said the reason was that the banks are charging an eight-per-cent discount on all U.S. silver.

U.S. coins are being discounted at the Canadian Pacific Railway ticket office here at the rate of four cents on the dollar. Express drivers for the C.P.R. however, have instructions to knock seven cents off each dollar in American silver.

Cashiers at Canadian National Railways ticket offices are discounting the U.S. dollar at seven cents.

Tourist silver is being accepted at par at the C.P.R.'s Empress Hotel, and a spokesman for the T. Eaton Company said the store is treating U.S. silver the same as Canadian.

Meanwhile, the general public is refusing U.S. coins in change.

Most small merchants, restaurant operators and taxi drivers said they are taking a seven-per-cent discount.

Bomber Nearly Beat Sun Across Ocean

LONDON (AP)—Britain's record-breaking Canberra jet bomber nearly beat the sun across the Atlantic Ocean, but the three-man crew was too busy flying the 10-mile-a-minute craft to keep an eye on their solar competitor.

The crew did have the startling experience of watching the sun rise over Ireland at the 6:34 a. m. take-off Tuesday, and of seeing it again just peeping over the horizon in Newfoundland at 6:38 a. m. local time.

The sun beat the twin-jet Canberra's Ireland-to-Newfoundland flight of four hours 33 minutes 17.05 seconds by about an hour.

But speeding back to Ireland again, the sleek black jet was helped by terrific tailwinds and actually beat the sun's time by about five minutes.

The entire round trip took just seven hours, 58 minutes, 35.18 seconds flying time.

RIGHT ON DOT

Wing Cmdr. Roland Beamont, 32-year-old test pilot who captained the flight, told reporters: "Everything went off so amazingly to timetable that I don't believe it."

He said the weather forecast just before the take-off was bad. "We were told we must expect to meet headwinds in the form of a jet stream at 40,000 feet blowing at over 100 miles an hour right on our nose for half the 2,000-mile trip," he said.

"We levelled off at 40,000 feet. We never saw the Atlantic either way but had sunshine and a clear sky above the clouds as we scudded along like riding on a magic carpet, averaging 450 miles an hour over the water despite those tremendous headwinds.

"Few aircraft, and those only jet have as yet flown at 40,000 feet on long journeys.

"We tried to contact the two weather ships on our journey. But while there was nothing wrong with our radio, one of the ships evidently was having reception trouble because we heard several other airliners trying to contact it without success."

"But thanks to the skill of Sqdn. Ldr. D. A. Watson, our navigator, the bomber kept dead on course and we made landfall at (Gander) Newfoundland exactly when and where expected. . ."

Beamont said the navigator had estimated four hours 35 minutes for the journey.

"Peter Hillwood, the co-pilot, took over for the homeward run. "We were now racing against the sun, but with this jet stream on our tail we were propelled along at a fine 600 miles per hour and all felt we were sitting pretty on top of the clouds. . .

"The weather thickened as we neared the Irish coast. We began our let-down from 40,000 feet while still 200 miles away. We plunged through the clouds to 10,000 feet and shot across the airfield at Aldergrove just after 4:35 p. m. without seeing the field.

"We were told by radio we were over it and had shot past it and we did a quick turn to come back and cross the finishing line just over 10 hours after we had left it in the morning.

"We ate nothing during the journey in the air, nor did we smoke because all three of us were wearing oxygen masks. All we wanted was a cup of tea."

Spy Ring Inquiry Stymied

R.C.M.P. Can Find No Clue to Montreal Group

OTTAWA (CP)—The R. C. M. P. began a detailed investigation today of a report of an alleged Russian spy ring in Montreal but hit a blank wall on preliminary inquiries.

A spokesman said that so far the R. C. M. P. has unearthed nothing which could confirm the report by the Montreal Gazette.

The Montreal newspaper said in a front-page story that a well-organized spy ring, composed of refugees from Iron Curtain countries who entered Canada in the last three and four years, is operating in Montreal.

The story said that two informants, whose names had to be kept secret to protect relatives still living in Poland and Czechoslovakia, said they had been asked by Russian agents to transmit secret data on Montreal's defence industry.

The defence production and immigration departments said they had no information which would indicate that a Russian spy ring existed in Montreal.

An immigration department official said he had checked with his Montreal office and had been told that no immigrant had ever reported to officials that they had been approached by Russian agents or had been asked to spy on Canada's defence industries.

In Montreal police forces also said they have no knowledge of a group of the spies.

Foreign Trade Surplus Hits $200 Million Mark

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's mounting foreign trade surplus neared the $200,000,000 mark during July as exports continued to outpace imports. Both sales and purchases, however, were a shade down from last year's levels. The Bureau of Statistics, in a preliminary estimate yesterday, reported July's exports at $375,700,000, down slightly from $378,600,000 in July last year. Imports, however, also were down to $342,960,000 from $370,600,000, resulting in a favorable foreign trade balance of $82,800,000 boosting the seven-month total to $197,200,000. The monthly surplus was four times as great as the $8,000,000 favorable balance in July last year.

Probably one of the weakening features of July's foreign trade was the trend in transactions with the United States.

IMPORTS JUMP

Shipments to that country declined to $192,000,000 from $204,900,000 in July last year, but imports jumped to $247,500,000 from $234,700,000. This increased Canada's deficit in U.S. trade to $55,500,000 for the month—almost double the $29,800,000 in July, 1951.

Exports to the United Kingdom also showed signs of slipping. Shipments eased to $69,400,000 from $74,100,000 last year, after significant gains all through the first half of the year.

Imports from the U.K. slipped to $34,000,000 from $43,300,000. This gave Canada an Anglo-Canadian trade surplus of $35,400,000 for July, up from $30,800,000 last year.

Judge Assails Poor Housing

TORONTO (CP)—Judge F. G. S. McDonagh said yesterday during an eviction hearing that within one-half mile of City Hall there are housing conditions no better than in devasted areas of Europe.

The judge granted an eviction order against two old age pensioners, aged 77 and 75, who have been on relief for 16 years. They had admitted that another tenant used the wash toilet in their flat, making their premises a lodging instead of a self-contained dwelling. In the case of a self-contained dwelling six months' notice and a logical reason have to be given before eviction.

They agreed to vacate the premises by Nov. 15. The wife described the place as a "grave." There was only one window in all three rooms and no bathroom.

Mimico Whips Crescents 11-5

TORONTO (CP)—Mimico Mountaineers romped to an 11-5 victory over Owen Sound Crescents last night to take a one-game lead in their best-of-three Ontario Lacrosse Association senior "A" quarter-finals.

The game was a rough affair with three major brawls breaking out in the final half. Five major penalties were handed out and Owen Sound's Johnny Lumley received a match sentence for hitting Mimico's Bob Blakely over the head with his stick.

Mimico's Red Hartley turned in a dazzling display in goal while Ken Dixon led the Mounties' scoring parade with five goals. Bert Barager collected a pair.

Bun White scored two goals for the losers.

2 Men Killed In Accidents

OAKVILLE (CP)—Two men were killed in separate motor accidents near here yesterday.

Leone Sclisizzi, 24, a truck driver, was fatally crushed when his truck overturned in a ditch, pinning him beneath it. He is believed to have jumped or been thrown as the truck overturned. He was a cousin of Enio Sclisizzi, professional hockey player with Detroit Red Wings.

Earlier, Kevin Saunders, 22, from Newfoundland, was killed when struck by a car. Saunders had been in Ontario only two weeks.

Oakville is 20 miles west of Toronto.

Defendant Charges Malicious Proceedings

After a fracas in the Lakefield Hotel last June 10, Mrs. Shirley Rae who lives at the hotel charged elderly hotel clerk Charles J. Davis with assault.

After hearing the evidence in police court June 24, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed the charge.

Now, W. C. Grant who defended Mr. Davis at the trial has written Mrs. Rae informing her he has been instructed "to begin proceedings for malicious prosecution arising out of the abortive efforts you made to have him convicted of assault."

Mr. Grant said he had recommended to Mr. Davis that he accept the sum of $500.

Owner Of Elevator Arrested For Arson

BARRIE (CP)—Robert Millstone, owner of the grain elevator destroyed by fire Monday at Phelpston with loss estimated at $30,000, was arrested here late yesterday on a charge of arson.

Millstone, of Toronto and Churchill, Ont., is scheduled to appear in court at Midland today, together with William Hadad, Toronto cab driver arrested in Toronto Tuesday on an arson charge.

Find Collie Dog Badly Decapitated

HAMILTON (CP)—The S.P.C.A. disclosed today that a collie dog has been killed, skinned and the head, skin and feet scattered within a radius of about 100 feet somewhere near the village of Stoney Creek. No trace of either owner or killer has been found.

The remains were still warm when reported to Stoney Creek police, but the body of the collie has not yet been found.

Describing the slaughter as "shocking" and "the work of a sadist," Charles Napthali, manager of the S.P.C.A. says that it will be just too bad for the killer if he is ever traced. "It is a challenge to us that such people are around," he said.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The American dollar was at a discount of 3 27-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, unchanged from Wednesday noon. The pound sterling was $2.67¾, unchanged from Wednesday.

British Guiana To Get Suffrage

LONDON (Reuters)—The government yesterday announced democratic reforms including universal adult suffrage and more elected members to Parliament for British Guiana, one of the richest colonies in the British Empire. Though the constitutional changes are a step toward self-government in the 83,000-square-mile colony, captured from the Dutch in 1796, British Governor Sir Charles Woolley will remain the power behind Parliament.

British Guiana, on the northeast coast of South America, will have two chambers of Parliament and a Ministerial Council for the first time. But the six ministers, junior ministers and six members of the State Council—the upper house—will be named by the governor.

READY IN 1953

Oliver Lyttleton, Colonial Secretary, hopes to bring the new constitution into force during the first half of 1953. The reforms were announced yesterday by the release of dispatches exchanged between Lyttleton and the governor.

British Guiana is rich in minerals including gold, diamond and bauxite, the ore of aluminum.

In 1951, 14,688 ounces of gold were produced. Diamond exports in 1950 totalled 37,034 metric carats and bauxite exports to the United States and Canada alone last year were worth $16,417,492.

Supt. J. R. Lemieux Succeeds Leopold

OTTAWA (CP)—Supt. Joseph R. Lemieux has been named to succeed Supt. John Leopold as assistant chief of the R.C.M.P.'s special branch, it was announced today.

Supt. Lemieux, 48, from Valleyfield, Que., formerly was in charge of the R.C.M.P.'s criminal investigation branch in Montreal. His new duties involve activities against subversive elements

He will take over Sept. 2 from Supt. Leopold, famed foe of Communists who played a major role in Canada's Red spy investigation of 1946.

Britain Losing Battle Against F.-M.

LONDON (Reuters)—A government report yesterday indicated that Britain is still losing the scientific battle against foot-and-mouth disease.

The Agriculture Ministry has found no alternative to its policy of ordering immediate slaughter of all cattle affected with the disease, it said.

The report outlined the work of the Pierbright research station, set up outside London in 1940 to devise vaccines and cure for the disease which swept Britain last winter and this spring.

END NOT IN SIGHT

At a press conference Sir William Slater, secretary of the Agricultural Research Council, said that though progress had been great "the end of the road is not in sight."

Pierbright has experimented on 5,000 cattle, developing and testing new vaccines during the last 10 years. The best of these provides immunity for only about four months, the report said.

Daley And Fine Attend Meeting

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Labor Minister Daley and Chief Conciliation Officer Louis Fine will attend a meeting here Tuesday in an attempt to settle the seven-day-old strike at the Port Arthur shipbuilding company.

Pickets of Local 11, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) are on 24-hour duty at the main gate of the Current River yards.

Main points of dispute between the Company and the 950 strikers are wages and hours.

The company's final offer is a 42½-hour, five-day week and a $1.55 journeyman's pay rate. The union is holding out for a 40-hour week and pay scales based on a $1.72½ rate.

About 90 American Federation of Labor employees of the yard who signed a separate contract last week are being allowed passage through picket lines along with office employees.

OBITUARIES

FREDERICK A. McBAIN

OMEMEE (ENS).—A section hand with the C.N.R. until his retirement several years ago, Frederick Arthur McBain, 76, died on Wednesday in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. He had been ill for four months.

A charter and life member of L.O.L. 3140 and an honorary member of King Edward Royal Black Preceptory, Mr. McBain farmed in Cavan and Emily townships before starting work with the railroad in 1918.

He was born in Cavan township a son of the late George McBain and Martha Lowes. In Omemee, he was a member of Trinity United Church.

Twice married, first to the late Edith McConnell who died in 1937, he is survived by his widow, the former Ida Heasman (Mrs. Ida Morrison), one daughter, Mrs. Vincent Hickson (Violet) of Lindsay, and six grandchildren.

Mr. McBain is the last of his family; he was predeceased by three brothers, Walter, George, and Murray, and by one sister Mrs. William Thompson (Emma.)

Funeral service will be conducted Friday at the Morcombe funeral home in Omemee at 2.30 p.m. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt will officiate and burial will be in Emily cemetery.

MRS. HARRY ROBERTS

A resident of Peterborough all her life until three years ago, Mrs. Harry Roberts died Monday in Victoria at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Y. Murchison.

Born Ann Feltham Hopkins, Mrs. Roberts lived on Downie St. Her husband was an employee of Canadian Ventilating Shades. They moved to Victoria three years ago.

Mrs. Roberts is survived by her husband and three sisters, Mrs. J. T. Douglas, Regina, Sask.; Miss May Hopkins of Regina and Mrs. Murchison of Victoria.

Funeral services were held today in the Chaplin's funeral home, Victoria.

ALWAYS BUSY

Krupp never has taken his finger from the industrial pulse, even while he was serving his 12-year sentence (later reduced to 2½ years) for exploiting slave labor, looting plants in occupied countries and "illegal spoliation."

He and six of his directors—who were with him in Landsburg's allied military prison—held board meetings regularly, complete with cigars and expensive fruit.

The Allies had confiscated his property, but he was allowed to continue functioning as a "trustee." Officially, his prison job was locksmith, but in addition to his board meetings he made toy pistols out of aluminum.

Mrs. A. J. Vining Dies In Montreal

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Andrew Joseph Vining, 82, widow of a baptist minister, died today. She was the mother of Charles A.M. Vining of Montreal, who resigned June 27 as an officer of the newsprint Association of Canada of which he was president from 1934 to 1946.

Born of pioneer stock in Caledon township, about 35 miles northwest of here, she was married to Dr. A.J. Vining in 1890.

With her husband, she travelled to pastorates in Winnipeg and in Wallaceburg, Windsor, Aylmer and Toronto. She shared her husband's work in the church and became a life member of the Baptist missionary board.

Surviving besides her son are two daughters, Mrs. R. Raymore Scott of Peterborough and Mrs. Lloyd Dingle of Burlington; a sister Mrs. Hugh McDougall of Blenheim, Ont.; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Prices Irregular On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices moved irregularly in early afternoon stock market trading today as industrials and western oils rose and golds and base metals slipped.

Industrials gained strength after an early weakness while western oils rose steadily. Oils yesterday fell to their lowest point on the exchange's index since March 7. Golds slipped from a firm opening and base metals drifted lower each hour.

Trading was moderate and broadened to cover a fairly wide list of western oils and industrials. Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,268,000 shares.

Leading western oil issues held firm and losses outnumbered gains about two to one. Kroy traded heavily for penny gains and Del Rio and New Superior also advanced.

Steels and utilities added strength to the industrial list and agricultures, banks, refining oils and miscellaneous issues also were firm. Foods weakened.

Gold losses were almost balanced by gains with leading issues dropping most. In the junior producers list, East Malartic lost pennies but Anglo Rouyn gained in a turnover of about 100,000 shares.

Electricians To Vote On Contractors' Offer

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A mass membership meeting of Windsor electricians will vote today on contractors' proposals to end their four-day "holiday" which has tied up electrical construction in the Windsor district, union officials said.

Some 300 electricians left work Monday to attend a union meeting and have not reported back since.

Officials of Local 773, International Brotherhood of electrical Workers (A. F. L. - T. L. C.), met yesterday with officials of the Electrical Contractors' Association to discuss demands of the electricians, said to include a 15-cent wage increase on an hourly basic wage rate of $2.20.

Inspector J. A. Stringer Type Of Man In Crack OPP

Forty-three years ago, an order-in-council passed by the province created the Ontario Provincial Police.

They were brought into being to maintain law an order among the rough and ready miners of Ontario's silver fields at Cobalt and the gold mines at Porcupine In Northern Ontario.

A year later, the force numbered 40 men, all located in Ontario's northland. One of these 40 men was William Stringer, now Commissioner Stringer, OBE, head of the Ontario Provincial Police.

In the 43 years since the force's inception, they have been wrought into one of the largest and most efficient police forces on the continent.

INSPECTOR STRINGER

An excellent example of the men who make up the force is James Allan Stringer, inspector in charge of the Peterborough O.P.P. detachment.

Nine years ago at the whistle stop of Navan, 20 miles east of Ottawa, Acting Sergeant James Stringer was working with Constable Harold Dent. Dent entered the station at Navan to question a fugitive from Montreal.

As he went in, the fugitive fired twice, hitting the constable with both bullets. Dying, Dent handed his revolver to Sgt. Stringer.

The sergeant chased the fugitive along the tracks and into some bush. Fired on three times by the outlaw, Sgt. Stringer knelt behind a tree. He took steady aim and shot the fugitive through the head.

For this act, Sgt. Stringer was awarded the King's Medal for bravery. Inspector Stringer is no relation to the commissioner.

GREW LARGER

As the north country grew, and outgrew the ructions of the miners and the lawlessness that accompanies the pioneering of a new part of the country, municipal police forces grew in number and efficiency.

The need of the O.P.P. in the northland was no longer so great and their work centred in other fields.

Today, enforcement of the Highway Traffic Act constitutes 70 per cent of their work, with liquor law enforcement making up another fairly large part.

A staff of 12 inspectors in the Criminal Investigation Branch handles the investigation of serious crimes under Chief Inspector W. H. Lougheed. Anti-gambling squads are directed by Staff Inspector W. G. Tomlinson.

Raids are carried out in various municipalities from time to time and checks are kept on travelling shows, circuses and carnivals.

Another special division of the force is the anti-high grade squad stationed at Timmins district headquarters. In 1951, these squads escorted 30 bullion shipments valued at $3,382,500 as well as investigating thefts from gold mines.

RADIO NETWORK

Commissioner Stringer's efforts have resulted in the establishment of a powerful police radio network, first started in 1947. Important messages are relayed to all parts of the province through 54 stations and five automatic relay stations.

Ten walki-talkie units are used in bush searches and during raids. Of its 400 cruisers, the O.P.P. has 370 equipped with sending and receiving radio sets.

Altogether, there are 1,255 men in the force; 35 are inspectors, 831 are constables, 115 corporals, and 49 sergeants. Other ranks make up the difference.

Training of recruits is conducted at the Ontario Police College in Toronto on Sherbourne St., under Inspector W. H. Clark. The course at the college is six weeks long, and includes study of the Criminal Code, the Highway Traffic Act and Liquor Control Act.

Specialists such as Professor Joslyn Rogers, analytical chemist and pathologist at the University of Toronto, lecture to recruits.

When he completes his course, the recruit is posted to one of the 15 district headquarters where he takes up duties under senior members of the force. The senior members are often given refresher courses, and attend seminars at the Harvard School of Legal Medicine.

Car 22 Years Old Survives Crash

TORONTO (CP)—A 22-year-old automobile was hurled 150 feet across a north - end field and through the wall of a tool shed last night when sideswiped by a car police said did not stop.

But Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen and their five children climbed from the crashed car with only cuts and bruises.

Has Ribs Broken In Truck Crash

AMHERSTBURG, (CP)—Twenty-two-year-old Walter Hammon of nearby Harrow, Ont., suffered broken ribs and internal injuries when a truck crashed into his panel truck after the panel truck turned over at a highway turn five miles east of here.

Walter Serbanivich, 19, of Windsor, driver of the truck, told police he rounded a turn to see Hammon's truck lying on its side in the road. He had no time to stop and his truck crashed into Hammon's, crushing in the cab.

Fergus Girl Only 16, Swim Champ

$1,500 Prize Money To Pay Off Mortgage On Home

TORONTO (CP) — Shirley Campbell, 16-year-old stenographer from Fergus, gambled for high stakes and won yesterday in the women's world professional championship swim at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The $1,500 first prize waiting at the end of the three-mile swim was more than enough to pay off the mortage on her widowed mother's home but, as she told reporters: "I was afraid that if I lost I would lose everything." Besides first-place money she won an extra $150 in lap prizes.

It was the first professional appearance for the pretty Ontarian who in four years of competitive swimming captured many of Canada's top amateur honors. Saturday at the exhibition she won the Canadian women's amateur title in a one-mile race.

U.S. GIRL SECOND

More than 150 yards behind the tiny champion—she stands just two inches more than five feet—as she scrambled aboard the finish barge was 20-year-old Kathleen Clark of Akron, O. The United States long distance champion took $750 as second prize while Lies Putt, 26, of Montreal, finished third to collect $500.

The 7,000 spectators who lined the lakefront course were disappointed by the performance of Winnie Roach Leuszler. The 26-year-old St. Thomas, Ont., housewife, mother of three children, plodded over the course to finish eighth among the 15 starters. The 46-to-the-minute stroke which carried her across the English Channel last summer left her almost a half-mile behind the young stenographer who set a blistering 66-68 pace.

Winnie, too, was counting on that prize money. She planned to put a down payment on a home in St. Thomas where her husband is stationed with the R.C.A.F.

SMEARED WITH OIL

Shirley climbed from the water smeared with oil one hour, 21 minutes and 41 seconds after the starting gun. Her time was 17 seconds short of the record by Lenore Kight Wingard of Homestead, Pa., in 1937.

Ernest Vierkoetter, veteran marathon swimmer and Toronto swimming instructor, said Shirley owed her win to her superb flutter-kick. Shirley practised her kick more than a mile daily during training this summer under the Fergus Club coach, Bert Crockett, who has guided her swimming career since she was four years old.

COACH FEARED WATER

Crockett expressed fear before the race that Shirley would be troubled by the water temperature.

"I don't know how she'll go in three miles of lake water," he said. "She's used to a swimming pool at 75 degrees."

Following her victory yesterday in the 65-degree water he had no doubts of her ability. "There's only one Canadian girl who can beat her and that's Gladys Priestley," he said.

Miss Priestley, 14-year-old swimmer from Montreal, represented Canada in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

Give Details Of Coming Conventions

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Business organizations are announcing details of their approaching conventions.

Here are some of them:

More than 500 textile experts from Canada, the United States and Europe will meet in Kingston, Ont., Sept. 11-13, for the third Canadian textile seminar, organized by the Textile Technical Federation of Canada.

F. J. Knight, of Montreal, general chairman of the seminar, says:

"Our aim is to provide a regular medium through which the world's top textile men can exchange information."

The annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, sometimes called "a Parliament of business men," will be held in Toronto Oct. 21-23, and a Chamber release comments:

"The many problems which have developed over the last two years due to the phenominal growth of Canada's industrial power, plus changes in the development of this continent's economic system, will be put under the microscope by a panel of international experts."

Main topics will be immigration and its relation to Canadian resources, and responsibilities of labor and management in economic education.

Scheduled speakers include Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa and James Rucol, Jr., director of education, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

The Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating will meet at the Seigniory Club, Que., Oct. 20-24; and the Canadian Exporters Association at the same place Oct. 27-28.

Glancing overseas, the International Machine Tool Exhibition, held at Olympic, London, every four years, takes place Sept. 17-Oct. 4.

The Canadian government is sending an exhibit, and will have representatives on hand to answer questions about the Canadian market for machine tools.

4 Men Killed By Sewer Gas

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Four men died today after being pulled from a 25-foot deep hole that police said was filled with sewer gas.

Police said the dead men were Arthur Sink, 40, and Bernard Bauman, 38, both firemen, and Carl Van Schaick,, 46, and Earl Richmond, 37, employees of the sanitation department.

None Of Oil Firms Accept Senate Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate small business committee said today none of seven big oil firms accused of monopoly practices has accepted an offer to appear before the committee and dispute the charge.

The monopoly accusations, detailed in a long-suppressed report written by the federal trade commission, were made public Monday.

Blake O'Connor, of the committee's staff, said the group will decide now whether to order public hearings of its own on the matter, write a report based on the F. T. C. findings, or simply let the report stand.

Exhibitions

This time last year the Peterborough Exhibition was ending its modest run. This year, so the Fair authorities decided, they would hold it in September, hope for better weather, bigger gates, and would avoid competition with the Toronto show. It is a return to pre-war dating and real Fall Fair time. What effect the transition to September will have remains to be seen. Undoubtedly there will be some rain, for that is how local proverb has Peterborough Fair weather. Correlative confirmation of this is the fine weather this week, when the show was not held.

* * *

Ottawa Exhibition has closed (been "put away in mothballs" says the Ottawa Journal —is that the kind of show Ottawa stages?) with a total attendance of 374,759, which was 50,000 below last year's figure. Perhaps there is something to be said for letting the C.N.E. set the stage — the Exhibition mood — and other places not attempting to beat it to the gun, or worst still, run their Fairs in the same weeks. Here in Peterborough we shall watch the attendance figures at the C.N.E., and if they are records, take them as an omen of good attendance at our own show.

Headier Times Ahead?

The signs are pretty sure: Canada is due for another hoist up the boom or up the spiral of inflation, whatever side it is viewed from. Another term, favoured by bankers, is "heightened activity." The rearmament program is in full career. Capital goods industries and export markets continue to be strong. The rate and amount of consumer spending is increasing; and unions are in the midst of bargaining for further wage increases. In fact, the new fillip has already been given Canadian economy and Canadian life.

Defence outlays continue to be important in this shift upward. During the three months to the end of June there was a rise of 62 per cent over the same period last year in the Department of Defence and Defence Production outlays. A further force is United States buying of more Canadian armaments. The magnitude of defence disbursements has become very important in the Canadian economic scheme. We wonder if there were no Red scare and no war in Korea how Canadian business, industry and economy generally would be faring? Under the spur of war and danger of war, this country seems to find the money and the momentum to thrive. Could it find these for peace-time purposes which would use up surplus production and labour for creative, useful things, rather than for shells and guns and warplanes which are essentially absolute waste?

Capital outlays, particularly to develop strategic resources, continue to be heavy. In chemicals, non-ferrous metals, iron, steel, petroleum, coal, rubber, railways, water transport and transportation equipment, outlays this year are exceeding those of 1951. These indirectly as well as directly create new wealth, new jobs, new goods. It is interesting that finance, insurance, real estate, commercial services, forestry, wholesale and retail trades and housing declined in the first part of the year, compared with the first months of 1951. These are not directly related to the defence effort. However, the one influences the other; for instance, retail trade has recently risen after many months of decline; retail sales in May were the highest monthly total ever recorded, according to the Bank of Montreal's review of business conditions.

Foreign trade to the end of June this year showed an increase of twenty per cent over the first six months of 1951, in the value of exported merchandise. However, nearly all of this increase was in markets other than the United States. These markets—for Canadian exports—have been deficit markets. In other words, they haven't the Canadian dollars to pay for all the goods they are getting from us. To keep these markets and maintain a high level of exports with them will require loans from Canada or outright gifts. Whether this is a good and even proper way to finance our exports, we do not presume to say. It seems like a give-away.

These elements we have mentioned, together with pretty high private nest-eggs (savings) and high wages which are becoming higher (as in the meat-packing industry) create buoyant conditions. Lots of goods, lots of money to spend (especially by the Government), lots of demand for goods by consumers, governments and public utilities and by other nations: these seem certain to create another boom. The question is whether it is good for us, that sort of boom. It has been painful in the past.

A Hop Across The Pond

There is no need to ask what our grandfathers of fifty years ago would have thought about it: they would have said it was so ridiculous an impossibility that it was not worth thinking about at all. Even today earth-borne people find it incredible. What the fliers themselves thought was quite casual: to have breakfast in Aldergrove, Northern Ireland, lunch at Gander, Newfoundland, and tea back home at Aldergrove again. What the R.A.F. commander of the plane said was: "We had a very nice trip." What a Trans-Canada Airlines pilot said, talking with the British Canberra jet bomber crew by radio during flight was: "That's a hell of a way to spend a day."

Actually, the three crew members did not spend the whole day at it; only ten hours in a round trip from Ireland to Newfoundland. The outward trip to Gander took four hours and nineteen minutes, an average speed of 480 miles an hour. The headwinds which slowed them on this trip became tail winds on the way back (after a two-hour stop at Gander for food and fuel). They returned in three hours and twenty-five minutes, an average speed of 606 miles an hour. Had the plane been able to reach this speed on the westward flight, it would have arrived. Newfoundland time, five minutes before it took off, British time, for on the westward flight the machine outran the sun.

The achievements of the British jet bomber Canberra (another Canberra set the east-west Atlantic crossing record last year) spotlight the advances British aereonautical engineering has made, and the impulse jet propulsion have given flying and military planning. It will not be long before other nations have bombers that go as fast. How tense must the state of national defences then be, all over the world, to meet almost instantaneous flight of hostile planes?

The Right To Strike

Whether intentionally or inadvertently Mr. Percy Bengough, President of the Trades and Labour Congress, has misunderstood Labour Minister Gregg's reasonable suggestion that Labour should go slow in resorting to the strike weapon. Mr. Gregg was careful not to suggest that strikes should be outlawed altogether. Mr. Bengough, on the other hand, made great play with the proposition that labour would never surrender its democratic right to strike. Admittedly the right to strike has only been won by slow and painful sacrifices in comparatively recent times, and organized labour is still touchy on the subject; but few people today would deny labour's right to use this weapon as a last resort.

These are critical times; the menace of war hangs over us. We need every ounce of production not only for ourselves but also for our less fortunately situated allies. At this moment in Korea men are risking their lives daily in defence of our "rights," including the right to strike, yet that right is withheld from them. In the army a strike is called a mutiny, and mutiny whilst on active service is punishable by death. Under these circumstances it is incumbent that labour leaders show the utmost restraint. Needless to say this applies to management too. Every effort should be made to reach a settlement by negotiation. Strikes not only harm management, they harm workers when the high price of the commodity or service that they render brings about a diminution in sales and throws them out of work. As for the community as a whole they "absorb the cost" in the long run. Experience shows that agreement after a strike is to be found somewhere between the demands of labour and the offers of management; in every case a strike could have been averted by greater realism and more good will on both sides.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The parachute drop at the Toronto exhibition was a big hit, a headline reads. Yes, even with a parachute you can't avoid a thump.

Probably with Labour Day traffic in mind, the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix says that in the old days of carriages there were as many careless drivers, but not as many accidents. Horse sense, it says. Gee haw: what about those runaway horses which used to terrify pedestrians?

With the coming of television into Canada, the problem of terminology arises. We seem to have adopted the American cipher TV; but what of the word "broadcasting"? This term, so intimately connected with radio, seems inadequate for TV. In view of the heavy expense of Canadian TV, we suggest broad*costing*.

Brantford has a Universal Mixed Choir. We are not quite easy in mind about that universal mix, but it must sound all right. It has just arrived back in Brantford from the "Chicagoland Music Festival" where it won the highest award in its class. A good thing, really, to send a Universal Mixed Choir to the city of the World's Greatest Newspaper; it puts Colonel McCormack in his worldly place.

Chou En-lai In Moscow

By W. N. EWER

WHEN Chou En-lai's arrival in Moscow on the night of August 17th was announced it must have taken not only the outside world but the people of China and the Soviet Union completely by surprise. For Communist governments have a liking for secrecy and surprise. They prefer to keep their own peoples very much in the dark about their doings. Decisions may be announced. But neither before nor after is any public discussion of issues encouraged or indeed permitted.

And so even now though the Russians and the Chinese are allowed to know that the Chinese Prime Minister is in Moscow for what, to judge from the number of officials and experts he has with him, is an important negotiation, they are still not given any hint of what it may all be about. Chou En-Lai has announced that the purpose of his visit is "to consolidate further the friendly co-operation between the two countries and to discuss various questions connected with this purpose." Words could hardly say less.

BUT AMONG THESE "various questions" there is one which must surely have a fairly prominent place on the agenda. It is the question of Port Arthur and the Changchun (formerly Chinese Eastern) Railway in Manchuria. Both are due to be handed back to China at the end of this year. Russia's readiness or reluctance to part with them and the amount of compensation she will demand may be an acid test for the future of Soviet-Chinese relations.

The history is a strange and suggestive one. The lease of Port Arthur and the concession for the railway running across Manchuria to Port Arthur and to Vladivostock were extorted by the Tsar's government from China during the near collapse that followed the war with Japan towards the end of the last century. Britain at the same time took a lease of Wei Hai-wei and Germany of Kiao-Chao. Both have long since been given up: Wei Hai-hei voluntarily, Kia-chao after Germany's defeat in the First World War.

But Russia's concessions passed to Japan after the war of 1904 and Japan held on to them until 1945.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN expected that, in accordance with the Cairo declaration of 1945, Port Arthur and the railway would have been restored to the Republic of China; and that anti-Imperialist Russia would have been the first to insist on this. But it was not to be. Stalin, as part of the price of agreeing to join his allies in the war against Japan insisted that they should be "restored" not to China but to the Soviet Union. The allies agreed and Chiang Kai-shek reluctantly but under pressure signed a treaty giving Russia a new thirty years' lease of Port Arthur and an equal share in the ownership and control of the railway. Stalin had recovered the acquisitions of "Tsarist Imperialism".

But when the Chinese Communists came to power they at once asked perhaps a little naively but certainly very insistently for the return of China's lost property. Stalin was in a dilemma. He was reluctant to give up Port Arthur. Had he not proclaimed in 1945 that its recovery had wiped out a "black stain" on the history of Russia? But on the other hand it was difficult and might be dangerous to demand bluntly that Mao Tse-tung should expect no better treatment than Chiang Kai-shek. Stalin characteristically temporarized. The port and railway should be handed back; but not just yet. After a long negotiation it was agreed that the restoration should be not later than the end of 1952. And at the same time Mao agreed to give Russia a half share in the exploitation of the mineral resources of the Chinese province of Sinkiang.

THAT WAS in 1950. Now the end of 1952 is approaching. And it is obvious that one purpose for which Chou En-lai has come to Moscow is to ask for the punctual fulfilment of the 1950 agreement. It may, by the way, be noted that he says that his visit is "on the orders of President Mao Tse-tung" not on the invitation of the Soviet Government. The initiative for the meeting came from Peking. It is the Chinese not the Soviet Government which wishes to discuss "various questions" between the two allies. There are no doubt many others. It is credibly reported that the Chinese Government is more than dissatisfied with the conditions on which the Soviet Union has been supplying military aid for the Korean war. But the questions of the return of Port Arthur and the railway are certain to rank very high. Stalin will be reluctant, Mao will be insistent. The upshot will be more than interesting.

China Tells Plans

By ROBERT FRANKLIN
(In Hong Kong)

ALTHOUGH consideration of the aims and purposes of the Chou En-lai mission to Moscow necessarily must be conditioned by a certain amount of speculation, two recent major developments in China give some pointers to the matters that are being discussed.

With the three-year programme of rehabilitation existing industry now drawing to a close, the Chinese Communists are preparing to launch a great programme of industrial building as a first step towards the eventual industrialisation of China that is the fond dream of its leaders.

But at this time, with its economy greatly weakened by the Korean war and by the long campaign against businessmen that disrupted commerce and industry throughout the nation, China has little to build on—or with. She therefore needs help from the Soviet Union, and the aid will have to be on a much larger scale than apparently it has been until now.

Since Peking lately has been patterning its administration more and more upon the Soviet system, it seems likely that the construction programme will be launched in the form of a five-year plan. There have been suggestions here that if this is so, the Chinese plan may be co-ordinated to some degree with Russia's fifth five-year programme — though in such a way as to avoid offending Chinese nationalistic feelings.

THE SECOND major development in China recently has been the production of a programme for transforming China's fighting

The World's Shortage Of Rice

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

RICE, the staple food of 60 percent of the world's population, is in such short supply that ground is being lost in the fight against hunger. The government of Ceylon says the shortage is more serious than in any other year since the war. President Soekarno of Indonesia declares that even for a subsistence diet his people need another million tons of rice a year. India is buying wheat, and East Pakistan has just announced that its jute-growing area will be cut 75 per cent. to make way for more rice paddies. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations plans to call an international conference on the situation.

What are the causes of the rice shortage? What has been done to meet the crisis, and what more can be attempted? The causes go back, of course, to wartime destruction of transportation facilities and irrigation works. Then came political changes, with internal troubles that have been especially serious in the two major rice exporting countries, Burma and Indo-China. Only Thailand has increased its crop. To make matters worse, rice-eating populations have risen 10 per cent. since the war. And now Japan, deprived of its colonies, is in the market for rice, with dollars and manufactured goods that have made the price soar.

Since 1949, F.A.O. has had an international rice commission at work promoting co-operation in technical matters—in the development of better varieties of rice, higher yields, greater resistance to insects and disease, better storage. More soil specialists are greatly needed. But it will take time for these efforts to produce results.

In the existing situation, Canada might do more to get wheat to South-East Asia, and machinery, like tractors, that could be used in clearing land for rice production. Canada could do more under the Colombo Plan to get new irrigation projects carried out. It has so far shown no real boldness in facing up to the task of helping South-East Asia.

"Red Cross of Cultural Property"

(UNESCO)

Representatives of seventeen States are meeting at Unesco House in Paris, under the chairmanship of Dr. Massimo Pilotti of Italy, to study a draft convention for the protection of cultural property in the event of armed conflict.

M. Jaime Torres Bodet, Director-General of Unesco, in welcoming the experts, said that they had to lay the foundations for what he would call "a Red Cross of Cultural Property."

"There are some," said M. Torres Bodet, "who will regard our efforts with scepticism. But no great undertaking can meet with any degree of success if it is not maintained by great hope. And all hope implies an act of faith in the wisdom of man. If we succeed in uniting to protect the visible signs of human civilization, we shall have accomplished a great task."

States represented at the meeting are: Belgium, Egypt, France, Iran, Italy, Japan, Libya, Norway, Netherlands, Dominican Republic, Switzerland, Thailand, Germany, Honduras, the United Kingdom, Venezuela and Denmark. Observers are present from: Greece, Mexico, Vatican City, the International Council of Museums and the International Council of Archives.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth . . . And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. (Gen. 1:1, 3.)

The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined. (Isa. 9:2.)

Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; he will come and save you. Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert. . . .

And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness. . . And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. (Isa. 35:3-6, 8, 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left. (Isa. 30:21.)

Letter To The Editor

TRAFFIC NOISE AT SOUTH END

Sir: I have often read in the paper about smoke laws, parking laws and anti-noise laws. I have often read where people have asked to have them enforced, but in most cases it is always the west end that can't stand the strain.

In the paper tonight again the west end war-cry comes.

If those people in the west end think it noisy up there let them come to the south end of the town, and after a quiet night's sleep get up for work at 7 a.m. I'm sure Mr. Smellie would stop the noise at 10.30 p.m. instead of 12.30 or 1 o'clock and the police would stop the cars from blowing their horns in farewell salutes and the motorcycles would go away quietly. As for those bad noisy trucks, please Mr. Rehill don't bother Hon. Harold Scott with such stuff; he might think it foolish.

The west end and the residential people are lucky in more way than one.

The kids of the south end can out-jump most of the traffic but any more and they might not be so lucky.

In closing I might add that I feel sure that instead of loading all the trouble on one wagon and everyone taking a small bit of it, there would be much better feeling between the residential section and the rest of people who make up the best city in the country.

Predicted His Own Murder Union Official Found Shot

ST. LOUIS — (AP). — A labor union official was shot to death here Tuesday night—just as he had predicted after the slaying earlier in the year of a fellow business agent.

Joseph F. Gribler, 22, of the Building Laborers' Local 110 (A.F.L.) was shot six times in an industrial company loading lot only a few blocks from downtown St. Louis.

He was the second of the local's three business agents to be shot to death this year. The first, George Myers, was found shot to death in his car last March.

"I'm going to be next," police quoted Gribler as yelling to them after Myers' slaying.

A third member of the Building Laborers' Union was shot to death this year. He was Glenn Joseph Hager, a member of Local 42, whose body was also found in his parked car.

None of the slayings has been solved.

The building laborers and the carpenters district council, also affiliated with the A.F.L., have been involved in a bitter jurisdiction dispute, marked by violence on several occasions.

Gribler was one of several building laborers' officials questioned when the home of a carpenters' union business agent was bombed in the fall of 1950.

Court Adjourns Till Repairs Made

OSHAWA.—Perhaps the most modern police station in Canada was unofficially opened here on Wednesday with the holding of Magistrate's Court in the building. Provincial, and civic dignitaries will be on hand at the official opening in September.

Thirty-five cases were dealt with by Magistrate R. P. Locke, who commented on the fine architecture of the building. He had to adjourn court for a short time while repairs were done to the air conditioning unit.

Fight Korean War In Alberta Fields

By JIM SHERBANIUK

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—To 5,000 soldiers at the Wainwright army camp, the Korean war is being fought on the rolling Alberta wheat fields.

Buffalo 3, one of the largest army manoeuvres in Canada since the end of the Second World War, is testing the next Canadian brigade to see action in the Korean theatre.

For four days, soldiers and equipment have been swarming over the 140,000-acre training camp, largest in Canada.

WAR CONDITIONS PREVAIL

The manoeuvre, culmination of three months of rigorous training, is being carried out under the nearest thing possible to actual battle conditions.

The principal force taking part is the 25th infantry brigade replacement group, commanded by Brig. J. E. C. Pangman. The group includes the 3rd battalions of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd regiment, the Royal Canadian Horse artillery and supporting units.

The object of the scheme is to practise night manoeuvres, defensive actions and withdrawals. No action takes place during the daytime.

Exercise Buffalo 3 officially began last Saturday night with a 20-mile march to mid-battlefield where the main force dug in and set up headquarters. Hardened veterans and green recruits shivered in split trenches and munched meagre rations.

The tactics of the "enemy" forces include sabotage and persuasive propaganda leaflets. Troops moving into a new sector find the territory littered with pamphlets promising cold beer and a clean bed. Others read: "How does your wife look in black?" A honey-throated female voice, nicknamed "Wainwright Rose," tempts the soldiers with visions of civilian luxury.

PLANES HARASS TROOPS

"Superior" enemy air power—two Tiger Moths — harass the troops constantly by day. Anyone violating the strict camouflage order is pelted with bombs filled with flour.

On the battlefield, soldiers are tapped on the shoulder by umpires and informed that they have just suffered serious injury.

Medics rush the soldier off to hospital.

Engineers and mechanics cope with imaginary breakdowns in communications and equipment. Others build and blow up bridges. An airfield was constructed in less than 18 hours.

But the exercise is not all make-believe. The wind and the cold are all real, as well as the gnawing hunger when rations fail to arrive, or an all-night march in pitch blackness over rugged terrain.

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, exercise director, said: "This is a very gruelling exercise for all troops patricipating—it is an endurance test. There is little sleep and much hard work and on some occasions very little to eat."

He added:

"They are beginning to act like well-seasoned troops."

Dawson Creek In B.C. Big Grain Centre

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia may not be one of Canada's top grain-growing provinces, but this rail-shipping town in far-northeast B.C. handles more grain in a season than any primary shipping point in the three prairie provinces.

The Alberta Wheat Pool reports that Dawson Creek, in the B.C. section of the Peace River Block extending into northern Alberta, handled 2,671,409 bushels of grain from farmers in the 1951-52 crop year.

Dawson Creek is at the end of rail lines and is also the start for the Alaska Highway. It is the shipping point for farmers over a large area, and a big quantity comes down the Alaska Highway, with some grain grown 70 miles north of Dawson Creek.

FATTENED THEIR AVERAGES — Three of the Petes' Timbermen who really fattened their scoring averages here last night in the locals' 24-5 final O.L.A. senior win of the season over Fergus Thistles were Ike Hildebrand, left; Curly Mason, centre; and Don Ashbee, right. The latter was in on seven goals, Mason nine, and Ike eight. The official scoring marks have not yet been received from the O.L.A. but it is believed that Curly Mason missed out on the scoring title by five or six points.

Petes Slaughter Fergus In 24-5 O.L.A. Fray To Close Up The Schedule

Peterborough Timbermen trimmed the last-place Fergus Thistles 24-5 here last night to wind up their 1952 O.L.A. schedule. The league champions kept intact their undefeated home record of the year and wound up the season by scoring more goals than a year ago during the gutted-stick campaign. However, Curly Mason did not capture the O.L.A. scoring championship, despite a heroic effort on his part and on the part of his mates, who fed him plenty of passes, the scrappy forward getting three goals and six assists for nine points.

The Thorpe team were away and running in the first frame to rack up a 6-1 lead. They lengthened it to 14-4 at the half and were off by themselves 21-4 going into the last stanza. It was a clean game generally, but Curly Mason hurt his own scoring chances by serving 11 minutes altogether in four penalties. Don Gear, who led the losers, sat it out for a major late in the game for rough language directed at a referee.

A BIG NIGHT

Ike Hildebrand had a large evening for the winners with six goals and two assists. Three goals each went to Mason, Russ Slater, and Al Garbutt; with two apiece counted by Dootch Vitarelli, Harry Wipper and Don Ashbee. Grant Burns, Bill Killingbeck and Gary Robinson each hit the hemp once. Ashbee was hot to aid on five, as well as score a pair. Slater helped on three, as two assists each were marked to Burns, Bob Thorpe and Hildebrand. Bill Killingbeck and Lou Nickle each helped once. For Fergus, Don Gear hit the mark once and helped on another, while Jack Mann had an assist.

The Timbermen, priming for their Friday Eastern Canada playdown game with St. Catharines here, turned in a neat running, passing and shooting game, besides checking well. Goalie Moon Wootton was his usual steady self and he injected some life into it in the final chukker by pulling a dandy rush all the way down the field to almost tally. Ralph Speck, despite the high count, turned aside plenty of hot rubber. Teams:

Fergus — Goal, Speck; defence, R. Dobbie and J. Dobbie; centre, Burr; wings, R. Gear and D. Gear; rover, Chambers; alternates, Mann, Carter, Proctor, Steele and Irvine.

Petes — Goal, Wootton; defence, Wipper and O'Hearn; centre, Mason; wings, Slater and Burns; rover, Garbutt; alternates, Killingbeck, Nickle, Thorpe, Vitarelli, Ashbee, Hildebrand and Robinson.

Referees—Burrows and Thompson. the summary:

Petes—Hildebrand 4:46
Petes—Mason (Ashbee) 5:15
Petes—Ashbee 6:08

Confusion By The P.W.S.U. Over Burtol Girls' Series

The Provincial Women's Softball Union has reversed itself and ordered a sudden-death playdown game between Oshawa Lakesides and Peterborough Burtol's this evening in Cobourg, on neutral grounds. The Peterborough team has refused to abide by the ruling and has sent a registered letter of protest to the P.W.S.U., accompanied by the $25 protest fee. This leaves the weekend Burtol playdown activities uncertain at the moment, as they had been advised by the P.W.S.U. president, Joan Rapsavage of Hamilton, by wire that they had been awarded the intermediate "A" series with Oshawa and would be meeting Hamilton in the next round there on Friday and back here in two games, if necessary, on Saturday evening.

HOW IT STARTED

The mixup started when Oshawa protested Burtol's first win over them, claiming two ineligible players, M. Behan and E. Whittaker of Marines. Burtol's had not realized that these two city league players must qualify for provincial playdowns by playing in three games with the Burtol squad. The P.W.S.U. upheld the Oshawa protest and awarded the game to Oshawa. Burtol's then went to the Motor City and won the first game, but lost the second, to apparently lose the round.

However, Mabel Gillen discovered that Oshawa had used ineligible players in those two games in that city, whereas Burtol's used their qualified players. The P.W.S.U. had advised Miss Gillen after the first game of the series that "your team must abide by the rules." Miss Gillen presented her information to the Union president and, after it had been checked, Miss Rapsavage advised local league president Bill Flint by wire that Burtol's were awarded the series.

PRESSURE, MAYBE?

Since then, perhaps pressure from Oshawa was brought to bear upon the P.W.S.U. president, because Wednesday she ordered Burtol's to play a sudden-death game in Cobourg with Oshawa to settle the series. When asked why, she said that actually those two last games in Oshawa were the same as if they had not been played, since Oshawa was using two ineligible players. Reminded that the same thing would then hold true of Burtol's first win—later awarded to Oshawa—Miss Rapsavage said "You should be a sport about this and play it off." This the Burtol squad flatly refused to do, through their manager Phil Macks and sponsor Miss Gillen. They said they weren't given any break on the first game, so why give Oshawa a break on the other two.

The Examiner sports editor phoned the P.W.S.U. president on Wednesday evening to get the facts, but was brushed off. Miss Rapsavage kept repeating "I cannot discuss any aspect of this case until the Burtol protest has been received and dealt with." Like that.

Ashby's Capture Girls' Series From Belleville

BELLEVILLE (Special)—Peterborough Ashby's downed Belleville Northern Electrics by a 14-3 count here Wednesday night to sweep the intermediate finals of the Peterborough Girls' Softball League in two straight games and take the title. They had won 7-6 previously in Peterborough to open the best-of-three series.

Timely hitting by the visitors, plus a raft of Quinte errors, made for the one-sided score. The winners really wrapped it up with a seven-run drive in the eighth inning to break up a fair game up to that point. Each side had 12 hits, but Belleville kicked in with eight bobbles while Ashby's fielded in fine style with but one miscue. The pitching was fairly even as served up by Brown of Ashby's and Morgan of the Electrics.

Boyce of Ashby's pounded out a homer and single, as teammates Smith and Partridge also hit safely twice each. Butler was the main Belleville sticker with four solid smashes. Line score:

Ashby's .... 102 030 170—	14	12	1
Belleville ... 000 110 001—	3	12	3

Lakefield Club Objecting To League Rule

The following letter was received by the sports editor today from Manager Cam Wasson, of the Lakefield entry in the men's City Softball League:

"Dear Sir—Bob Batley's statement in the paper last night is nothing but a glib and high-handed reference to a rule that he has suddenly and frantically pulled from the moth balls. There is still no direct reference to a rule which would in any sense of the word cover his action against us on Saturday.

"We never have received a copy of the constitution, and I wonder how many team managers have.

"How many of the executive were attending the game on Saturday? I fail to see how Batley and Red Sullivan would constitute a quorum of that executive. These two decided behind my back that we should forfeit the series! The first our team knew of this decision was when it was announced over the loudspeaker.

"We have no other recourse than to believe that these two saw a chance to get rid of our team without jeopardizing East City's chances of making the finals. They took advantage of this opportunity believing that Lakefield, being outsiders, bushers and dumb clucks, would lack the gall to question the decision of a big executive in the city of Peterborough.

"How could we possibly know the proper procedure for protesting if the constitution was not available to us? As for the $5.00 fee, that is out of the question, for we've been buying bats, balls, gloves and gasoline out of our own pockets all year, also entry fees."

Buffalo Trips Montreal 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who said pitchers can't hit? Ken Johnson of Buffalo Bisons disproved that old saw last night.

Not only did the 29-year-old hurl brilliantly in defeating the front-running Montreal Royals 3-2, but he drove in the deciding marker with a double in the seventh inning.

Johnson struck out 13 Royals and scattered nine hits. He fanned everyone in the line-up at least once with the exception of his opposing moundsman, Ed Roebuck.

The Montreal right-hander clipped Johnson for a triple, double and single. It was Johnson's third win without a defeat.

Rookie Bill Tuttle led the Bison attack on Roebuck by smashing a double and an infield out netted the first two runs for Buffalo in the second. Royals ruined the Bison left-hander's bid for a shutout in the eighth by pushing across a pair of runs.

LEAFS WALLOP CHIEFS

Johnny Hetki fired a three-hitter and struck out nine as he blanked Syracuse Chiefs for an 11-0 Toronto Maple Leafs victory. Ed Stevens cracked a home run as he led the Leaf offence with three hits. Lynn Lovenguth, the starter, gave up six of the 11 passes issued by four Syracuse pitchers.

Mario Fricano, ace of the seventh-place Ottawa Athletics, turned in a five-hitter in stopping Rochester Red Wings 4-2. The right-hander registered his 14th triumph. Jack Littrell and Neal Watlington pounded homers for the A's and Steve Bilko connected for the Wings.

Wades In Creek To Get Golf Shot

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joe Leblanc of Montreal sliced off the 15th tee in the Canadian amateur golf tournament yesterday, the ball landing in a shallow creek.

Leblanc removed his pants, waded in and blasted out. His opponent won the match 2 and 1.

There were no spectators.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

A colorful character may be missing from C.O.B.L. playoffs next week, according to this item from Belleville: "Manager Jack Carson announces that Vern Goyer is suffering with a spine injury and may be out of the game for the rest of the season. It appears a vertebra has been affected and X-rays will be taken to ascertain the extent of the injury. If Goyer is out for the season, it will be a distinct loss for the Redmen." That's for sure. The big 26-year-old athlete has a lot of hustle whether catching or playing the outfield, and he is a potent clouter. Vern — or Jumbo, as he is often called, after an elephant—shines as well on the gridiron or in a hockey arena as he does on the diamond.

Petes presently have 13 wins and 10 defeats in the C.O.B.L. race, with a game to play against Kingston here Saturday night. The Reds of Bella Villa have 12 and 11, with one more 'gainst the K's. Latter have nine victories and 13 defeats, so cannot finish higher than third. But the Redmen have a chance yet of tying for first spot if they should win their remaining joust and the Stewart squad should drop a decision Saturday. Club ending on top has a bye into loop finals while the other pair battle it out in best-of-five semi-finals. This series goes next week, commencing Tuesday. So the Petes have to hustle right to the wire.

Shocking Thought, Huh ?

Chap in a barber shop the other aft said to us: "Wouldn't there be a lot of tears dropped into beers around this town if the A's should pull an upset and eliminate the Timbermen?" The thought was so shocking that we've broken out several times since into a fit of shakes! But sports are full of upsets, and so let's not take anything for granted. St. Catharines' scribe says the A's have a chance if they can check the Petes extra closely, hang onto 'em like leeches, and get a few breaks. Well, maybe. Their Eastern Canada playdown series opens at 8.45 here Friday night, next game being in the Garden City on Labor Day. Some fans from here may take that one in.

It was 24-5 for the local lacrossers here last night over the cellar-dwelling Fergus Thistles. A so-so crowd seemed more interested in Curly Mason's efforts to take the senior scoring title than in the result of the windup scheduled tilt. Curly came pretty close with a nine-point effort, but is believed some six points off the pace—though official figures haven't been released by the O.L.A. Ike Hildebrand, Don Ashbee and Russ Slater were other point snipers in the romp, and even Moon Wootton tried hard to get on the score sheet with a late solo rush. Don Gear had a five-point effort for Thistles, who now drop back to senior "B" playdowns.

Ashby's Take The Series

Congrats to Ashby's on ousting Belleville on Quinte terrain last gloaming to win the intermediate title of the Girls' Softball League. Beat 'em 14-3 after taking a close win here to open the best-of-three finals. This young club has stuck together for some years now and annually comes up with a classy performance around playoff time. Burtol's were senior loop victors earlier, and there was no junior competition in the circuit, so that trophy was loaned out to the playgrounds' champ by Prexy Bill Flint. Outside loop clubs Belleville, Lindsay and Cobourg failed to put the clutch on either senior or intermediate crown here this semester.

Quite a rhubarb has developed over the Oshawa-Burtol P.W.S.U. intermediate "A" playdowns, as shown in a story elsewhere this eve. After advising Burtol's that they were awarded the protested series o'er the Motor City maidens, the P.W.S.U. has reversed itself and wants a sudden-death game betwixt the clubs. Burtol's naturally have refused to play it, after winning the series, and they've lodged a protest to protect themselves. Too many odd things happen in the P.W.S.U. We couldn't get any satisfaction from their president, Joan Rapsavage of Hamilton, in a phone call yester aft. Meantime, we guess Burtol's weekend games with Hamilton are off for the time being. Tch, tch, tch.

The game, sponsored by the Kiwanis International, replaces the annual rugby football game previously staged between two well-known Canadian football squads.

OLSON STOPS HAIRSTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Olson, Hawaii's high - ranking middleweight contender, racked up his sixth straight victory last night by pounding Gene (Silent) Hairston into a bloody mess and stopping him in six rounds of their 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Olson, a 12-to-5 favorite, weighed 160 to the New Yorker's 160½.

Dizzy Trout Hurt Out For 10 Days

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox yesterday lost the services of pitcher Dizzy Trout for about 10 days as the result of an ankle injury in a locker-room accident.

The veteran right-hander said his spikes caught in the flooring, adding:

"If I'd fallen I'd have been all right. But the spoke caught and I felt something snap."

Raybestos Gets The Series Over Quakers

Raybestos defeated Quakers 7-5 last night to sweep their fastball semi-final series in straight games, and they will now meet Outboard Marines for the league championship.

They scored four runs in the second inning, adding one next time to bat and two more in the fourth, using 11 hits and taking advantage of seven Quaker miscues. Quakers collected eight hits but, despite four Raybestos errors, could only break out in one inning, scoring all five runs in the fifth frame. Sargent and Jensen got two of their hits, Caccavelli leading the winners with three for four, and Crary and Giles each clouting two for five. Teams:

Rays — Crampton, Caccavelli, Batley, Crary, Giles, Greenlaw, Northcott, Fennell, Nichols.

Quakers—Floyd, Prescott, Horton, Byers, Ash, Sargent, Jensen, McClaggen, Lomax, Hillier.

Bo-Sox, Indian Chiefs Blush As Scarborough Leads Yanks To 12-7 Win

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

It would not be surprising to find the faces of General Managers Joe Cronin of Boston Red Sox and Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians a bit red today. Their discomfiture can be laid to Ray Scarborough, a 35-year-old pickle salesman from Mt. Olive, N.C., who is currently employed as a pitcher by the American League's pace-setting New York Yankees. Fans in Boston are asking why Cronin sold Scarborough to the Yanks. Those in Cleveland must be wondering why Greenberg passed him up.

TRIMS BROWNS EASILY

Scarborough embarrassed the front office chiefs yesterday by gaining credit for the Yanks' 12-7 victory over St. Louis. The triumph enabled the Yanks to stretch their lead to two games over the second-place Indians.

The Indians dropped back by bowing 6-5 to Philadelphia. Boston's third-place Red Sox remained 3½ games astern as Mel Parnell shut out Detroit 5-0. In the remaining American League game, Chicago White Sox defeated the Senators 4-1.

Brooklyn stubbed a toe in its march to the National League pennant by dropping a 10-5 decision to Chicago Cubs while the runner-up New York Giants sneaked by Pittsburgh 5-4 to reduce the Dodgers' advantage to 9½ games. In night games, Philadelphia smeared St. Louis 7-2 and Boston downed Cincinnati 12-7 in 10 innings.

Scarborough was obtained by the Yanks from Boston Aug. 22 for the $10,000 waiver price. All other clubs in the American League had a chance to hook him before the Yanks, but none nibbled.

Scarborough's record with Boston made one wonder if he wouldn't be better off selling pickles all year round. He started eight games and gained one victory in six decisions.

RELIEVED REYNOLDS

The latest Yankee entered the game in the third inning in relief of Allie Reynolds, who was tagged for five unearned runs in the second inning. Scarborough limited the Browns to three hits in four innings and was awarded the victory when the Yanks came up with four runs in the sixth to take a 10-6 lead.

Yogi Berra slammed a pair of homers to boost his output to 27 and tie Cleveland's Larry Doby for the league lead.

The A's spotted the Indians a 4-0 lead in the first inning and then roared back with one in the fourth on Gus Zernial's 25th homer and five more in the fifth to beat Mike Garcia.

Indian Teacher Breaks Record For Archery

TORONTO (CP)—Reg Hill, Indian school teacher from the Six Nations reserve at Ohsweken was busy smashing archery records again yesterday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The Indian marksman scored 1,660 for 240 hits to break the mark of 710 points for 80 hits set by Bruce McDonald of Toronto in 1948. Second place in the Canadian men's double round went to Milt Obediah of Brantford with 1,539 points while Frank Bonnett of Winnipeg was third with 1,267.

Skitch-Stevens Duo Wins Black Memorial Cup In Lawn Bowling Tourney

The Phillip Black Memorial Trophy was won last evening at the local lawn bowling greens by the veteran Percy Skitch of Lindsay, strongly supported by Mrs. W. D. Stevens. Mr. and Mrs. M. Galt of Kingston were runners-up. So completely did the visitors dominate the day's play that only three local pairs reached the money department. The sixth annual mixed doubles tournament was a most successful one, the day was ideal, and how the bowlers, especially the women, withstood that sizzling heat.

In presenting the prizes to the winners, Mr. A. Black, on behalf of his family, thanked everybody.

President J. D. Fitzpatrick in a neat address also thanked all for the splendid co-operation.

Chairman Bill Jeffries and his committee came in for a lot of well-deserved praise.

TWO ACCIDENTS

Although the tournament was a big success, the accident at Springville, early Wednesday morning, to four Belleville bowlers gave the day a bad start and then later in the afternoon, when a popular member — Robert Gamble collapsed on the green, it sent a deep gloom over all. Mr. Gamble was rushed to the Civic Hospital and it is believed he is very ill.

After the prizes had been distributed the 1952 Black Memorial tournament passed into history.

A LINDSAY PAIR, Mrs. W. D. Stevenson and Percy Skitch, District 14 chairman, won the Phillip Black Memorial Trophy Wednesday when the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club held its annual mixed pairs tournament. Aaron Black (centre, above) presented the trophy, won last year by George Hillson and Mrs. Helen Haig, of Agincourt. This tournament is the largest of its type in the province. During the day, Bob Gamble, a tournament committee member, suffered a heart attack and was rushed to Civic Hospital. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

Locke Wins Championship

But U.S. Golfers Take Cup With 20½ Points

MONTREAL (CP)—Bobby Locke won what was heralded as the world's golf championship and the United States ran up a point total of 20½ to Canada's 6½ yesterday in the first international meeting between professional golfers of the neighboring countries.

Locke, the South African who holds the British Open title, won what ordinarily would have been a 3-and-2 victory over Julius Boros, United States Open champion.

Playing for the Canadian six-man team, Locke had a two-hole margin for the full distance of 36 holes. For scoring purposes and bonus money prizes for low-medal scores, all holes were played out.

3 UP IN MORNING

Locke finished his morning 18-hole round with a three-hole lead. Boros had a one-hole margin in the afternoon. Through the 34th, Locke was still three up but lost the 35th, the odd hole in five won by either player in afternoon play.

Six singles matches wound up the two-day competition. The United States scored heavily in Tuesday's four-ball matches, 7½ points to 1½ for Canada.

Locke came out of his tussle with Boros with two points for Canada, but Stan Leonard of Vancouver bettered this with the drubbing he gave Doug Ford.

Leonard, with only average luck in putting but hitting some of the best shots he ever pulled off in major competition, romped off to a seven-hole lead in the morning round and grabbed off two more holes in the afternoon.

He was the only player on the Canada team to collect a maximum of three points, one for each 18-hole round and one for the 36-hole match.

Jack Burke, Jr., American team captain, shot the low medal score of 132 yesterday in the singles. It was 12 under par for 36 holes over the Beaconsfield course. He also won $300—in addition to the $750 each player received—as low-medal man for the 72 holes. He had 272 for his play in the four-ball matches and singles. Locke was closest with 274, two strokes off Burke's 16-under-par.

In the singles yesterday, Burke ran wild over Jules Huot of Montreal, cutting loose with 12 birdies, an eagle and 21 pars. He had Huot five down after the morning round and added eight more holes to his collection in the afternoon.

Three other Americans scored three points in the singles but their job wasn't as easy as that of Burke's.

BRYDSON FIGHTS HARD

Gordie Brydson of Toronto fought out each round bitterly with Ted Kroll, losing out by a hole in the morning and by the same margin in the afternoon, shooting a medal 145 to Kroll's 142.

Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Canadian Professional Golfers' Association champion this year, hung grimly to Cary Middlecoff after a morning-round deficit of two holes. He caught up with Middlecoff once but lost out by another two-hole margin in afternoon play.

Dave Douglas took three holes from Stan Horne of Montreal on each round and was never behind in the match.

Rough Riders Clip Montreal 32-28

MONTREAL (CP)—The defending champion Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League got off on the right foot in the league's opening match with Montreal last night, dropping the Alouettes 32-28.

Ottawa led 6-5 at the end of the first quarter and showed a 26-11 advantage at half time. The Als put on the pressure in the second half and the score at the end of the third quarter was Ottawa 28, Montreal 22.

In the last quarter, each team scored a converted touchdown to wind up Ottawa 32, Montreal 28.

TURNER, O'QUINN SCORE

Howie Turner set the pace for the victors with a pair of major scores while Red O'Quinn crossed the line twice for the Alouettes.

All in all, the teams were fairly even in the statistic line: Ottawa made 28 first downs and Montreal 25; the Rough Riders completed 24 passes in 43 attempts and Montreal completed 41 of 59 attempted. Ottawa gained 573 yards on the ground, Montreal 328.

Bill Stanton sent the visitors into the lead in the first quarter, taking a 43-yard pass from Tom O'Malley to cross the Montreal line standing up. Buck Rogers converted.

Montreal then marched up the field and Ed Salem carried the ball over. The convert didn't click.

In the second quarter, Tommy Manastersky was caught and a safety touch resulted. Then came the first of Turner's two majors. O'Malley next hurled a pass to Turner who went 65 yards for a touch. Both were converted by Rogers.

O'Malley then set Bob Rumball up for another major, Rogers again converting.

Montreal came back with Sam Etcheverry sending O'Quinn over, Salem adding the extra point. Etcheverry then crossed the line himself on a quarterback sneak, Salem converting, and Virgil Wagner scored a major before the quarter ended.

Al Baldwin put the Rough Riders further ahead with another major, converted by Rogers, a score wiped out when O'Quinn got a converted major.

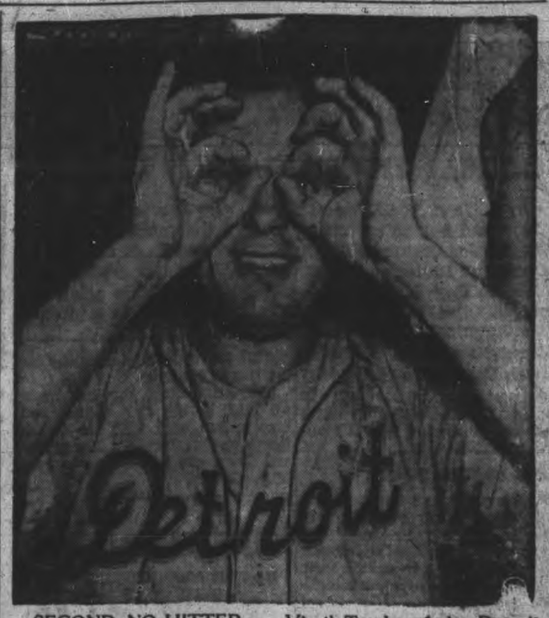
Montreal Girl Captures Junior Title

OTTAWA (CP) — Mariette Laframboise of Montreal and Stephen Gottleib of New York City yesterday captured the top titles of the Canadian junior tennis championships.

Miss Laframboise, 16-year-old daughter of a Montreal policeman, won a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Carol Turcotte of Ottawa to take the women's singles.

The husky blonde captured the title for the second year in a row with a barrage of drop shots and terrific placements. She teamed up with Vonnie Davis of Toronto to take the women's doubles championship.

Gottleib, 16, ousted defending champion Dudley Johnston, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla., 6-0, 7-5, 6-2. Lighter by 20 pounds than Johnston, the New Yorker had it all over the top-seeded American with well-planned volleys and a good net game.



Earlier in the day Carl Nargauer, 15-year-old Yonkers, N.Y., player, swept the boys' singles title from Jim Ionidis of Winnipeg, 6-1, 7-5. Ionidis was no match for Norgauer's serves and overheads.

Raul Karman of Havana, Cuba, and Gerald Dubie of Hamtramck, Mich., combined to take the boys' doubles championship in the final match against Ionidis and Frank Kanowsky of Winnipeg, 6-1, 6-4. Earlier in the week Dubie captured the juvenile boys' singles title.

Joyce Pniewski and Phyllis Saganski, both Hamtramck players, won the girls' doubles title, ousting a Toronto team of Joan O'Brien and Carol Barton, 6-2, 6-2.

This rounded out an impressive showing for the Hamtramck players, entered in the tournament for their first year. Earlier this week Miss Pniewski won the girls' singles and Miss Saganski the juvenile girls' singles.

Miss Laframboise and Miss Davis ousted a Halifax team of Judy Bryson and Ann Stacey, 7-5, 11-9, in a hard-fought final for the junior women's doubles title.

SECOND NO-HITTER — Virgil Trucks of the Detroit Tigers peers out from behind a "double zero" signifying the fact that he's just completed his second no-hit, no-run game of the 1952 season. Trucks became the third hurler in modern baseball history to toss two mound masterpieces in one season by blanking the New York Yankees, 1-0, at Yankee Stadium.

Series Of Incidents Cost Track $58,236 In Refunds

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A broken drain under the surface of the Yonkers raceway trotting track touched off a series of incidents last night that finally cost the management $58,236 in refunds to customers. Some 34 spectators got out on the track and held up the program 38 minutes.

A hole developed in the track over the drain at the finish line just before the first race, but workmen patched it up and a soft spot was marked by a stake. Drivers were warned to avoid the spot.

However, four drivers apparently crowded, and Rhythm Withem fell about 40 yards from the start, causing the favored Prince Donna, to break stride. All but Rhythm Withem finished and winner May Cardinal paid $7.00.

ANNOUNCE REFUND

Although the track announced a refund would be made on the horse which fell, several spectators jumped over the rail and refused to clear the track.

The State Harness Racing Commission ordered a refund on Prince Donna, but the track said it would go further, and give refunds to holders of all losing tickets on the race.

Track police later arrested one man, the first to go onto the track.

Balmy Beach Putting Emphasis On Canadian Players This Year

By DON PEACOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Balmy Beach is putting the emphasis on Canadian players this season.

When Beaches open the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union season Saturday night in Brantford, they will use only two United States players, a reduction of three from last year.

Club President Sam Shefsky says Beaches "would like to develop Canadian kids."

HAS GOOD TEAM

He feels that despite a preponderance of Canadians, Beaches "look just as good—or better—than last year" when they finished in the runner-up spot behind Sarnia Imperials.

Americans in this edition of Beaches are quarterback Gerry Tuttle, back to double as coach as he did in 1950 and 1951, and Dale Doland, chunky six-foot inside from Miami University in Oxford, O.

Playing his first year in Canadian ranks, Doland also will handle line coach chores.

Tuttle hesitates to praise his crew. He calls them "very green—a lot of good young Canadian boys, but inexperienced. They may take a game or two to get going. But they've got lots of spirit."

Shefsky is somewhat smug about Ollie Mandryk, who will be the Toronto club's second-string quarter. The young ball tosser who performed for Varsity last year in the Intercollegiate Union came to Beaches last spring.

ARGOS SEND WAGNER

Good news arrived this week when Toronto Argonauts, parent club of Beaches, sent down Ken Wagner, McGill University fullback last year.

Beaches lost two good men to Cobourg Galloping Ghosts of the intermediate O.R.F.U., now coached by Art West, who was fired as Toronto coach last season. Tony Horvath, hefty middle, and hard-plunging halfback Bruce Alexander went with West.

But holdovers from last year such as inside Andy Gilmour, halfbacks Bill Haddleton and Bernie Bird and middles Jim Scurr, Elgin Hirst and Jerry Turner are expected to help Tuttle forget their loss.

Newcomers to the team include Marvin Yakimicki, Dan Shaw and Merve Collins, all middles from Toronto high school ranks, as well as Joe Suttie, speedy Toronto halfback.

Another new name in the Beach line-up will be Frank Cawkell, son of Scotty Cawkell, outstanding secondary halfback with the original Balmy Beach team when it last won the Canadian championship in 1931. Young Frank played with Notre Dame juniors in the Catholic conference last year and will fill a halfback slot.

DURHAM ENTERS PLAYOFFS

DURHAM (CP)—Durham Huskies last night defeated Mount Forest 8-2, winning the series 4-1 and the Western Ontario Athletic Association intermediate A baseball championship. Durham now enters the Ontario baseball playoffs, probably meeting Mitchell or Clinton.

The first Parade of the 1952-53 training season for the 50 HAA Reg't RCA will be held at 2000 hrs. 9 Sept. 52.

Dorothy Kirby Beaten, Race Now Wide Open

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Youth takes over for the departed champion today as eight players hook up in the quarter-finals of the women's national amateur golf championship.

Dorothy Kirby, the 1951 winner, left the ranks, beaten 4 and 3 by long-hitting Edean Anderson, the current Canadian champion from Helena Mont.

Dorothy's departure left the championship wide open, and the field dominated by young golfers.

The age ladder listed 17-year-old Barbara Snook of Portland; three 19-year-olds, Pat Garner of Midlnd, Tex., Barbara Romack, Sacramento, and Pat Lesser of Seattle, Shirley McFedters, Long Beach, Calif., 21; Miss Anderson, 22; and two more mature players, Claire Doran, Cleveland, and Mrs. Jacque line Pung, golfing mother from Hawaii.

Pretty Miss Garner knocked off two of the best golfers in the country—Marjorie Lindsay, 4 and 2, in the second round, and Mary Lena Faulk, of Thomasville, Ga., in the afternoon, on the 19th hole

Miss Faulk had ousted the last Canadian, Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, 4 and 3 in morning play.

GOLFER GETS THE BIRDIE

SALISBURY, England (AP)—E. I. Hobden got a birdie yesterday on the 12th hole of the High Post golf course—but not until the birdie almost got him. Hobden said the bird, a falcon, repeatedly divebombed him, attempting to slash his eyes with its talons. He finally swung on it with a mashie and scored a fatal hit.

Doug Silverberg, Westlock Seen Best Hopes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Six Canadians, most of them outsiders in the pre-tournament betting, joined 10 Americans today as the Canadian amateur golf championships neared the pay-off stage.

By tonight, there will be only four competitors left, paving the way for tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals.

Canada's chief hopes in today's fifth and sixth rounds are tall, amiable Doug Silverberg, 19-year-old former Canadian junior champion from Red Deer, Alta., and Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont.

The other four Canadian survivors are Bob Gray of Winnipeg, Colin Brown of London, Ont., and Herb Jantz and Jack Reynolds of Vancouver. Judging how the mighty have fallen in the tournament so far, some of them could still be in there at dusk.

Silverberg ran up against Sad Sam Urzetta, 1950 U.S. champion, who, with other U.S. entrants, has given the Capilano course par a beating this week.

WESLOCK HAS CHANCE

Weslock was drawn against Larry Bouchey of Inglewood, Calif., probably the most unorthodox golfer in the lot.

Gray, who stunned favored Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, 3 and 2 yesterday, was pitted against Jantz, a weekend golfer who scored two mild upsets in the third and fourth rounds.

Reynolds, son of a millionaire lumberman, drew Ray Weston of Spokane, Wash., and Brown, who dumped veteran Tom Riddell of Montreal yesterday 4 and 3, ran into Robert Roos of San Francisco.

Four Americans were left alone in the first quarter of the draw and the battle for the one semi-finalist berth there was expected to be stiff.

Bill Campbell, the U.S. Walker Cup player who can flick a ball 300 yards as easily as most people putt, goes against Jim Blair of Jefferson City, Mo., and Bill Shields, New York State champion, takes on Gord Haskell of Seattle. Shields fired nine birdies in 14 holes yesterday in whipping Lorne Smith of Dartmouth, N.S., 5 and 4.

128 In U.S. Tennis

NEW YORK (AP)—A record field of 128 players, including 35 foreign stars, was drawn yesterday to fight it out for the men's singles title in the United States tennis championships starting tomorrow at Forest Hills and continuing through Sept. 7.

For the first time in the long history of the event, there will be no byes for the seeded heroes in the opening stages of play. Even Frank Sedgman of Australia, the defending champion, and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the No. 1 ranking American whom he defeated in last year's final, will be required to stretch their legs in the first round.

Sedgman, as befitted his unmatched status in the amateur tennis world, was seeded No. 1 among the foreign contingent, followed by Ken McGregor, Australia; Mervyn Rose, Australia; Philippe Washer, Belgium; Kurt Nielsen, Denmark; Felicissimo Ampon, Philippines; Ken Rosewall, Australia; Lewis Hoad, Australia; Gustavo Palafox, Mexico, and Jacques Brichant, Belgium.

Brendan Macken of Montreal will be the only Canadian.

Actress Ahead $66,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Bette Davis is $66,000 ahead today. The government said she owed that amount as income tax for 1942-43, but Judge Ben Harrison yesterday ruled in Bette's favor.

Refugee Priest Describes Life In Romania

MONTREAL (CP)—A refugee Romanian priest said yesterday religious freedom is non-existent in his homeland.

Father X—he asked that his name be withheld because he feared reprisals against his relatives—said all 12 Romanian Roman Catholic bishops now are in prison along with many priests. A few churches are allowed to remain open, but police take the names of all who enter.

Father X said only three of 3,000 priests escaped Romania after the Communists confined them to their convents in 1948.

He is the head of a four-man refugee Romanian delegation to the 22nd World Congress of Pax Romana, an international federation of Catholic student and intellectual associations, being held here.

Father X now teaches religion and history at a seminary in the Laurentian mountains north of here.

Rubber Strike Ends Agreement Accepted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Representatives of B. F. Goodrich Co. and the C.I.O. United Rubber Workers last night announced an agreement to end a strike of 16,000 rubber workers in nine cities.

The agreement, which must be submitted to the various union locals for ratification before the 10-day strike ends, provides:

A 10-cent-hourly general wage increase, bringing such pay to $1.95 an hour; provision for a full union shop; an improved provision which the parties believe will reduce illegal work stoppages; and double time for holidays.

U.S. Legion Demands Acheson Dismissal

NEW YORK (AP)—For the third time in as many years, the American Legion yesterday demanded the dismissal of State Secretary Dean Acheson. The legionnaires said they want it done right now.

"Our patience is exhausted," said the organization of approximately 3,000,000 war veterans.

In a report adopted at its annual convention, the legion also called for removal of all others in the State Department "found wanting in the proper activation of their duty to their country."

UK Buys Danish Bacon

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—Danish and British negotiators yesterday concluded a new two-year agreement to supply Britain with bacon. Britain undertakes to buy not less than 90 per cent of Denmark's exportable surplus. Starting price is $35.35 a hundredweight, a reduction of about eight per cent on this year's average prices.

Flier Suffocated

BERLIN (Reuters)—An R.A.F. flier killed in a crash last week died—not from injuries—but from being buried alive in a pile of earth thrown up by the impact. A coroner's court reported yesterday that Flt. Lt. Frederick Pickard, 33, was found with only his feet protruding from a heap of loose dirt.

Polio Toll 69

EDMONTON (CP) — Western Canada's 1952 polio death toll soared to 69 yesterday with the report of six more deaths, five in Alberta and one in Saskatchewan. The case totals by provinces are: Saskatchewan 368; Alberta, 289, B.C. 174 and Manitoba, 157 confirmed and 95 suspected.

— Hollywood is buzzing with reports that actress Rita Hayworth may have her next husband picked out. Rumored candidate as successor to Aly Khan (who is also in Hollywood) is singer Bob Savage.

Discover Leper Aboard Ship

MONTREAL (CP)—A Chinese leper spent five days in Montreal harbor last week aboard a Swedish ship but authorities kept his presence secret to avoid public panic, it was disclosed today.

Officials of the Swedish consulate identified the leper as Su Sung Fu, who joined the vessel as a sailor two years ago. It was not until the vessel's last voyage that the ships doctor discovered he was suffering from leprosy.

The Chinese was refused admission to Canada and the ship, the Sven-Salem, sailed for Hamburg.

Canada has eight lepers under treatment in isolated hospitals, three on Bentwinck Island near Vancouver and five at Tracadie, N.B.

Lack Of Driving Tests Blamed For Accidents

MONTREAL (CP)—Speed, negligence and Quebec's method of issuing driving licences without tests are blamed for 92 deaths and 4,000 injured in 10,661 traffic accidents this year in Montreal and district.

That was the toll here a week before the Labor Day holiday weekend. For the whole of 1951, the count was 89 deaths and 6,421 injured in 20,866 accidents.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard of the Provincial Police says motorists are careless. "They pay little attention to road signs and think every highway is a straight thoroughfare with no turns and crossings," he said.

City police say the main cause is speeding.

NO TEST NEEDED

But Jean-Claud Provost of the Quebec Safety League says failure to give driving tests or physical examinations makes it possible for anyone to get a driving permit. And he believes the Quebec driver, besides needing education in driving, has little courtesy on the road.

G. A. McNamee, manager of the Royal Automobile Club, blames the failure to impose driving tests, but says that education also plays a major role.

"Many people don't know how to drive, even though they have licences," he suggested. "Education is the only way to stop such accidents. Sane and practical law enforcement would also help."

Dies In Father's Arms

BEAVERTON (CP)—A 62-year-old man died in the arms of his father, 91, yesterday. Wilmot Brent who collapsed while entering his car, was helped into his summer cottage by his father, where he died. Beaverton is on the eastern shore of Lake Simcoe.

Can Hear Tunes At Every C.N.E. Corner

TORONTO (CP)—Wooden platforms today mushroomed throughout the Canadian National Exhibition grounds for a musical invasion.

Dozens of bands and choirs swept into the fair and set it rocking to the rhythms of marches and European folk songs. National groups in Ukrainian, Finnish, Latvian, Lithuanian, Dutch and French costumes stamped out native dances.

GUEST SPEAKER

Every corner became a stage as the some 200,000 fairgoers paused in their tours of the busy grounds. Troubadors in groups from three to five persons wandered along the paved streets singing as they went.

One of the most popular events on Music Day is the Old Time Fiddlers' competitions. Age groups for the contest run from under 30 years to 75 and over. Charles Dyer, 82, was back to defend his honor as top hoedown artist. Large crowds were also expected for the cludes a class for dancers more than 50 years old.

Dr. Leslie Bell, noted Toronto musician and director of the Leslie Bell singers, will be the guest speaker at the daily directors' luncheon.

Sheep and cattle judging opened for the Oxford Downs and Lincolns; Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein Jersey breeds.

Some 209,500 persons visited the exhibition yesterday for Food Day. Although one of the largest crowds in the first five days of the fair, there were some 65,000 fewer than turned out on the same day last year.

May Excommunicate

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Roman Catholic Church authorities have placed the threat of excommunication over natives who join anti-white secret societies, it was disclosed yesterday. The action was directed at Mau-Mau, the largest of the societies in this East African crown colony. Mau-Mau wants to drive the whites out of Kenya and has been held responsible for terroristic acts.

New Russian Claim

LONDON (Reuters)—The helicopter has been added to the list of inventions claimed by Moscow. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported last night that the 10th volume of the Soviet encyclopedia claims the idea of a vertical-flying machine was considered by the 18th-century Russian scientist Lomonosov. His ideas were put to work in 1930, Tass said.

Arrest Busload

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A bus driver and 41 passengers yesterday were sentenced to 72 hours in jail for insulting a motorcycle cop. The passengers and the driver were having an argument when the cop tried to intervene. All then turned on him. The cop took the whole load to court.

Indian Leader Pro-Russian

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian Government spokesmen today shied away nervously from official comment on a statement by Vice-President Sir Saravapalli Radhakrishnan describing western rearmament as " triumph of Hitlerism."

In a surprise pro-Russian speech in Bombay yesterday, the Indian vice-president told a women's organization: "If Hitler were alive today, he would regard the current tendency of western nations to seek salvation of the world through destruction of Russia as a supreme triumph of his philosophy."

Radhakrishnan, chairman of the executive board of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, was former Indian envoy to Moscow and was once received personally by Prime Minister Stalin.

Jap Court Denies Appeal For Sailors

KOBE, Japan (AP)—The Osaka higher court last night denied a request for release on probation of two British sailors convicted here on robbery charges.

Lawyers said they will abandon efforts to get the two tars out on bail, and instead will go to Tokyo soon to frame their appeal of the 30-month sentence pronounced by a Kobe court.

The sailors — Derek Smith and Peter Stinner — were convicted of stealing a taxicab and about $5 from the driver.

Britain contends the Japanese courts have no jurisdiction over them.

Lake Flagship Christened, Biggest Built

PORT WELLER (CP)—The John O. McKellar, flagship of Colonial Steamship Lines and the largest ship ever built in Canada, was christened and commissioned at this Lake Ontario terminus of the Welland Ship Canal yesterday.

Charles A. Ansell, president of the Port Weller Dry Docks which built the freighter, announced at the canal-side ceremony that construction of a ship for Colonial larger than the John O. McKellar will start soon.

Premier Frost told the 2,000 persons at the ceremony:

"This ship is a forerunner of great things for Canada.

"The S.S. John O. McKellar has been built to take advantage of the St. Lawrence Seaway when that project is completed."

He said the ship will carry grain from the Lakehead to Sept Isles in the St. Lawrence, returning with Labrador iron ore.

BIG STEP FORWARD

"This vessel represents one more step in Canada's economic development," the premier said.

The 678-foot carrier, which has a carrying capacity of 750,000 bushels of wheat or 23,000 tons of ore, was sponsored by Mrs. John McKellar. The vessel is named for her late husband, long-time partner of Capt. Scott Misener, president of Colonial.

The vessel will soon make her maiden voyage to Fort William.

More than a year ago, the Scott Misener was commissioned here at a similar ceremony. Then the largest Canadian ship built, she has broken several grain-carrying records in the last year.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Stevenson Asks Attacks On Public Officials End

NEW YORK (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson called bluntly yesterday for an end to "poison gas" attacks on U.S. public officials as Communist sympathizers.

The Democratic presidential nominee told the American Legion convention that those he said had hidden behind a cloak of patriotism to attack Gen. George C. Marshall have sought "the last refuge of scoundrels." Marshall was U.S. Chief of Staff in wartime.

In his first major address in the east since he was nominated in Chicago, Stevenson took sharp issue with his Republican opponent, Dwight D. Eisenhower on the progress of U.S. preparedness.

The Illinois governor, conceding that "all is not perfect," said "it is true that today the fight for preparedness is going well."

GAVE WARNING

Eisenhower had said from the same platform three days ago that the U.S. is in "dire peril." He blamed "a dismal decade of false starts, fractional measures, loud policies and faint deeds" under Democratic administrations for losing many American friends in the world.

In an obvious thrust at Eisenhower's proposal that the Kremlin be told the United States will not rest until the enslaved countries are freed, Stevenson said "security cannot be won cheaply by some clever diplomatic manoeuvre or by propaganda."

On the Communist issue, Stevenson said public officials always will make enough mistakes to "keep our critics well supplied with standard ammunition," adding:

"There is no need for poison gas."

Bolivian Head Fires Whole Supreme Court

LA PAZ (AP)—President Victor Paz Estenssoro Wednesday fired all nine members of the Bolivian Supreme Court. He replaced them with nine new justices sympathetic to his national revolutionary movement.

A presidential decree said the ousted court members had backed the usurpation by the army which seized power in a coup May 19, 1951, following Presidential elections. Paz Estenssoro has a plurality in the presidential balloting, but the constitution provided that Congress must decide unless any candidate had a majority. The military coup intervened before Congress could consider the election question.

Public Dancing Banned

THREE RIVERS, Que. (CP)—If you want to go dancing in nearby Louiseville in future, you'll have to do it at home or in a friend's house. The town council, on the petition of religious bodies and social organizations, has banned all dancing in the town's public places except for particular events, such as weddings, birthdays, banquets and conventions.

Producing Coal In Area Around Equator

WANKIE, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The roar of lions and the trumpeting of elephants are lost amid the clatter of modern industry as miners seek to expand production from the Wankie colliery, one of the richest coal deposits in Africa.

Eighteen degrees south of the equator and 2,000 feet above sea level, this mining town of about 18,000 white and native inhabitants is hemmed in by the African bush.

Coal was discovered in the area late in the last century by A. Giese, a free-lance prospector, and in the first full year of production in 1904 Wankie produced 51,599 tons of coal. Last year production was 2,401,596 tons, and it is hoped that by the end of 1955 production will have reached 5,000,000 tons annually.

WATER PROBLEM

To combat the problem of water supply, the company recently spent about £700,000 on a scheme to pipe 2,500,000 gallons a day from the Zambesi River.

Two collieries now are being worked, and preparations are being made to sink a third shaft. But because the coal is mined at a depth of about 200 feet, the Wankie mines lack the familiar pit headgear. Miners here descend to work on a gentle incline, and the coal is brought to the surface by a conveyer belt or on small trucks.

FULLY MECHANIZED

Underground, mechanical cutters carve great slits in the coal walls and big electric drills drive deep holes in which explosives are placed to blast out the coal. Mechanical loaders fill the conveyer belts.

Off duty, the miners live in large, airy houses, built by the Wankie Colliery Company. These are of uniform design, costing between £2,000 and £3,000, with an electric stove as standard equipment.

Miners' families living in these homes include many who formerly lived near the coal mines in England. Their letters to colleagues back home are bringing hundreds of applications from British miners for jobs at Wankie.

Open Spaces Still Male Preserves

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wide open spaces still are male preserves.

The Bureau of Statistics said yesterday the 1951 census showed there are still more men than women in Canadian rural areas. The situation is the reverse in urban areas.

The rural male population totalled 2,866,611 in 1951 compared with 2,821,766 in 1941, an increase of 44,845. The rural female population totalled 2,514,565 compared with 2,432,473, an increase of 82,092.

The urban male population totalled 4,222,262 compared with 3,078,770, an increase of 1,143,492. The urban female population totalled 4,405,991 compared with 3,173,646, an increase of 1,232,345.

MAKE RECORD JET FLIGHT — The crew of a new British Canberra jet bomber is greeted in Aldergrove, Northern Ireland, after completing a record round-trip crossing of the Atlantic between sunrise and sunset. The plane flew from Aldergrove to Gander, Newfoundland, and back in 10 hours and two minutes. Left to right, above, are: test pilot Peter Hillwood, navigator D. Watson, chief test pilot Roland Beamont, and two R.A.F. flying officers who were on hand to congratulate them.

Ready For Emergency Spotting In Ontario Within 4 Months

TORONTO (CP)—Wing Cmdr. J. A. Wiseman said yesterday that within four months Ontario will be organized to meet any emergency requiring the spotting of aircraft. He is responsible for setting up the Ground Observers' Corps, "the eyes and ears of the R.C.A.F."

He has been working with Bell Telephone Company engineers developing the observers' corps in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and part of British Columbia. He said that by the end of 1952, or early in 1953, there will be thousands of civilian volunteers ready at a moment's notice to scan the skies and report their findings.

Volunteer ground observers, trained by the R.C.A.F., will be located eight miles apart in designated posts. They will supplement the work of radar screens. Filter centres in Ontario have been located at London, Barrie, North Bay and Brockville.

JUST BEGUN

Wing Cmdr. Wiseman said the recruiting of civilian volunteers has just begun and the response has been "encouraging." Sixty-five per cent of the inquiries received by the R.C.A.F. have been from women.

"This has nothing to do with civil defence," he said. "We are keeping the Ground Observers' corps out of big centres like Toronto and Montreal, because we have no wish to compete for personnel."

Northern Vandals

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Vandals sometime during the last year have mutilated historic writings and inscriptions dating from 1741 to late in the 18th century. On one case brown paint was daubed over the signature of Samuel Hearne, famous northern explorer.

Fire Breaks Out In Vessel's Hold

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire which broke out in the hold of the Canada Steamship Line's City of Kingston while a consignment of sugar was being unloaded, kept firemen from four stations busy for several hours last night.

Cause of the fire was said to be sparks from acetylene torches used by welders shortly before the outbreak. Intense smoke was produced by the sugar and firemen had to don masks to enter the hold.

Too Hot; No Speeches

HALIFAX (CP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey climaxed a one-day whirlwind visit to Halifax last night by attending a state dinner where no speeches were made because of the "unseasonable heat." Premier Angus L. Macdonald told the guests, sweltering in 90-degree temperatures, that speeches had been waived because of the heat.

VOL. CV. No. 49 THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

RESURFACE GEORGE ST.

Resurfacing of George St. from King St. S. to the C.P.R. tracks started this week.

TRAIN LATE

The C.P.R. noon passenger train from Toronto was 42 minutes late today. It had four freight cars, two passenger cars, one mail car and the usual coaches.

WARM AUTUMN

It's a blistering 83 in downtown Peterborough today, but in the Apsley district, the first signs of autumn have appeared. There was frost on two of the cool nights last week, and already a few leaves are beginning to take on their first tinge of fall color.

5-POUND SMALLMOUTH

The Rev. Edward Davis, of Beulah Beach, Ohio, landed a 20 inch, five pound smallmouth bass Monday afternoon, while fishing in the Trent River at the mouth of the Ouse River.

REZONE CORNER

City Planning committee has agreed to rezone the property at the southwest corner of Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Road. A permit for a gasoline service station is recommended if the building conforms with revised grading of Monaghan Road.

DETOUR SIGN ADDED

Another detour sign has been added to the number steering motorists clear of the section of Charlotte St. being resurfaced. Incoming drivers were turning east on Sherbrooke St., then turning north on Albertus Ave., and running into the part being worked on. The new sign was put in at Sherbrooke St. and Albertus Ave.

LOCAL RAGWEED

As this is said to be the season of the ragweed pollen, it could be wagered that specimens of that weed can be found about 60 or 70 feet from the Examiner's door. It may be that a lot of it grows unrecognized on city streets and in city gardens.

NEW INDUSTRY

Port Hope is going to get a new industry expected to employ about 30, but no one apparently knows what it is. Rumors are that it is an automobile manufacturing concern, that will build on 12 acres just bought by Chartered Trust Co. of Canada, acting as an intermediate agency for the company.

SAILS ON QUEBEC

O.S.S. Johnny Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Thompson, R.R. 2, Lakefield, is a member of the crew of the cruiser Quebec which is taking Governor-General Vincent Massey to St. John's, Newfoundland. After leaving Newfoundland, the Quebec will sail for Europe, accompanied by the aircraft carrier Magnificent.

HAMPERED

"Cribbed, confined and bound in," more or less, by barriers on the west side of George St., on and off for about a year, Arnold Deyell is probably hoping for eventual completion of building and digging around his store premises. The latest improvement comes right on the eve of sales surge in school books.

NEW SPEEDWAY

Paving of a street does not always add to the comfort of the residents. Recently, Parkhill Rd. was paved from Aylmer St. to Reid St. The result has been that this street has been turned into a speedway, especially the section between Aylmer and Benson where cars speed down the hill 40 and 50 miles an hour every night. A most dangerous intersection has been created at the corner of Parkhill and Aylmer Sts.

Truck Traffic Not Wanted On Lansdowne

"The solution of the truck traffic through Peterborough is set out in the Master Plan which the city bought and paid for, and hasn't done much about ever since," said a Lansdowne St. resident this morning.

"That diversion of traffic as shown on the Faludi map might be a luxury, or perhaps we have only to wait for the new provincial highway, but right now we are getting too much heavy traffic along 7-A Highway.

"I am not blaming Ald. Rehill for trying to get that kind of traffic off Charlotte St., but why should anyone wish more of it on to Lansdowne St.?

"There is a whole string of big trucks that don't travel into down town Peterborough at all. They just roar through on that cut off from No. 28, and I'd bet you can hear them up on Charlotte St. especially between midnight and 2:30 a.m.

ROLLS DOWN HILL

"This heavy traffic rolls down that long hill from No. 28, a lot of it catches the green light at the C.P.R. and coasts through to Bark St. They shriek their way through the city.

"As a ratepayer of the city I'd like to suggest to the council that some steps be taken to make that traffic slow down on the hill and quit coasting, and give us just as much consideration as the people on Charlotte St. I'd like to see the council go at making both street better.

"So this is one matter in which I cannot agree with the editor of The Examiner in his leader last night."

Festival, Sports On Labor Day

A full menu of organized holiday fare is offered this weekend. The U.E. Labor Day Festival, scheduled for Riverside Bowl on Monday, is the only non-sports show offered.

C. S. Jackson of Toronto, president of District 5 of the U.E., will be the main speaker. Free ice cream, chocolate milk, balloons and candy sticks will be given the children.

For the adults there is a draw for a complete chesterfield set valued at $250 and a $10 attendance prize.

SPORTS EVENTS

Sports events over the weekend include the opening playoff game of the lacrosse league with St. Catharines Athletics meeting Peterborough at Miller Bowl at 8:45 Friday night.

Saturday night the senior Petes meet Kingston Monarchs in a game where victory will mean the C.O.B.L. championship for Peterborough.

Junior Petes meet Oshawa in the first O.B.A. playdowns at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Riverside.

United Church Display Coming To City

A United Church pageant depicting "Triumph of the Faith" will begin an Ontario tour Sept. 10 that will bring it to Peterborough Nov. 13.

Other centres to be visited are Windsor, Sept. 19; London, Oct. 2; Brantford, Oct. 15; Ottawa, Oct. 23; Montreal, Oct. 30; and Kingtson Nov. 20.

Travelling by truck, the exposition will open at the church's general council in Hamilton Sept. 10.

75% Of Garage Operators Petition For Closing Hours

More than 75 per cent of the gasoline service station operators have signed a petition renewing to the council a request for a bylaw to regulate the hours of that business. For the four months of June to the end of September it is proposed that service stations be closed from 12 p.m., midnight, to 7 a.m., and from October to May, inclusive, from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Provision is made for the issuing of permits between October and May for gasoline outlets to remain open on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. at designated stations.

Rotation of these permits will be on the basis of one-third of all the operators remaining open to 11 p.m., one week at a time. Signatures are attested in the petition which has been submitted at the city hall by A. L. Elliott, of Elliott and Chandler.

Dr. F. Harrison Dies At 81

MONTREAL (CP)—Word was received here today of the death in England of Dr. Frank Charles Harrison, 81, noted scientist who once taught at McGill University and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Born at Gibraltar, he came to Canada at 18 to study at Guelph and later became assistant to the professor of biology and then professor of bacteriology after postgraduate study in the United Sates and Europe.

He continued his studies at McGill in 1905 and became principal of Macdonald college, McGill's agricultural wing. He later served McGill as dean of the faculty of graduate studies and research and professor of bacteriology.

On his retirement he went to Florence, Italy, and with the outbreak of the Second World War to England.

He is survived by three daughters.

Two Cars Collide Driver Slightly Hurt

Two cars and an unidentified truck figured in a two-car accident on Highway 28 about four miles north of Peterborough today in which one of the drivers was injured slightly.

Miss Grace Millage, 21, of Water St., Lakefield, was given outpatient treatment at Civic Hospital for cuts to her head and right leg.

She was driving south toward Peterborough when the collision occurred as a northbound car driven by John C. Allan, 49, R.R. 4, Peterborough, was making a left-hand turn.

Allan told O.P.P. Constable Wally Mohns who investigated that a truck had just passed him before he began making the turn.

An estimated $750 damage resulted to the two vehicles, $250 of this amount being to the Allan car, and approximately $500 to the car driven by Miss Millage.

TO VISIT VICTORIA

Peterborough County Council will be the guests of Victoria Council Thursday, September 4, on a tour that promises interesting features and hospitality. Victoria County Council will be hosts at luncheon at the Benson House in Lindsay and dinner at Gilmar Lodge, Sturgeon Lake. Tour will include a visit to a Lindsay industry and Home for the Aged, road and bridge inspection trip, the county building and offices in Lindsay, and here and there a comparison of notes on problems common to both councils.

NIGHTLY VISITOR

Jimmy Skunk fat and with the slickest coat you ever saw makes a nightly visit to the homes in the section of Aylmer St. and Aberdeen Ave. Every night he is seen by the residents making his rounds using the driveways and the walks to get into the back yards searching around the garbage pails and the baskets filled with leavings and clippings.

3 Men Named To Morrow Trust

New members of the Morrow Trust, administrators of Morrow Park on Lansdowne St., are W. Ross Thompson, John A. Harstone and Max Comstock. The two other members are T. J. Carley, K.C., and Herbert L. Bradburn.

The board of trustees of the property and its gift to the community was reduced to two members by the deaths within the last year of Frank Bradburn, R. M. Glover and Harold A. Morrow.

The original trustees were: Harold A. Morrow, Roland Denne, Frank Bradburn, William G. Thompson and R. M. Glover, all deceased.

Ross Thompson is a son of the late W. G. Thompson. Nominations are made by the surviving members of the Trust.

Appointments are made singly or one at a time. The two members, Mr. Carley and Mr. Bradburn, were authorized by the deed to nominate one trustee. Then the three invited a fourth, and finally those four named the fifth member of the board.

Mr. Carley is chairman.

Tells Of Seeing Strange Disc

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Windsor man told today of seeing a luminous disc-shaped "object" 30 feet in diameter in a field south of this city.

Gabriel Durocher said he was walking home about 1.30 a. m. when he saw the object in the field. "It was sort of blue all over and glowed like phosphorus."

He ran to within 30 feet of the object and "started yelling at it," he said.

"Then I saw these sparks come out of one part of the sides. They were blue and yellow and red. The saucer started spinning and there was a sort of blue mist formed under it and it went straight up and away."

Four other persons said they saw "something" hovering over that area of the city where Gabriel said he saw his object.

Council To Buy Screens For City Hall Windows

Ald. H. S. Longhurst and City Clerk Outram were deputed by the finance committee Monday to list departments at the City Hall which should be provided with aluminum screens.

Police Department will probably head the list as their lights are turned off only in the day time. Staff presence is required around the clock. Provincial laboratory and well babies' clinic are others to be considered, and perhaps the committee rooms, although the gnat season will be changing to cool nights and early September frosts before long. Type of screen recommended by the architects, Marani and Morris, received the finance committee approval.

Bob Gamble Stricken By Heart Attack

Stricken with a heart attack while bowling in the mixed pairs tournament here Wednesday, Bob Gamble, a member of the tournament committee, was taken to Civic Hospital, where he spent a "fair" night.

Mr. Gamble complained of a severe pain in his chest and stopped bowling immediately. He went into the clubhouse, and waited there until the arrival of Dr. Russell Morgan, who took him to hospital.

Homing Pigeons Provide Sport For Keen Breeders

Wheeling in lazily graceful figure eights over their loft, Ivan Ellicott's homing pigeons are a familiar sight to his neighbors on and around Sunset Blvd. The two-dozen odd birds make up the loft Mr. Ellicott has established since the last war, when he turned over his stock to the government for defence purposes. Disregarding the years he was without pigeons during the war, Mr. Ellicott, a comparatively young man, has been keping homing pigeons for 25 years.

Mr. Ellicott, a sign painter by profession, has long waited to see the formation of a pigeon racing club in the city. There has been no club here since the days of Police Chief Sam Newhall, who was one of the forces behind an earlier racing club.

Chief Newhall was a large scale fancier, and owned a large loft of birds. Since his death, the number of fanciers in the city has declined to the point where a racing club could not be considered.

In Canada, there are several thousand men and women who keep lofts of racing pigeons. They are scattered from coast to coast.

Birds are worth anywhere from $10 a pair up to $25 each. Mr. Ellicott recalled four he bought from a Winnipeg dealer at the latter price. But if a person wants to start his own loft, a fancier may sell him a pair of birds for $3 or $4.

TRAINED YOUNG

The problem of training the birds is not too great a one. Young birds are ready for their first training flight when they are four months old.

The owner will take them, crated, in a car a mile or so from the loft, then release them. Young birds are taken away hungry on the short flights so that they will go right into a loft upon arrival.

As the birds become more and more experienced in getting their bearings, they are taken for longer flights from five miles eventually to as far as 75 miles from their home loft.

"A young bird on its first flight," said Mr. Ellicott, "will circle around the spot where he's released. He may do that for an hour before he finally gets the idea that he's to fly for his loft."

After training flights are finished—it may take several months to train them—the birds are ready for scheduled races.

TAKE-OFF POINT

Incidentally, Peterborough serves as take-off centre for homing pigeons from other Ontario and Quebec cities and towns. Birds from London and Montreal have been released here for races this summer.

The procedure is this: the birds are expressed, say from Montreal to Peterborough. Each crate of birds has instructions on it as to when to release the birds. Here the station master enters into the plan. He follows the instructions and lets the pigeons free, marking the exact time of their departure on the crate befor returning it.

Races for young birds are seldom longer than 300 miles, ranging down to 75 miles. Adult homers race fairly frequently at distances as great as 600 miles. A good bird can fly 600 miles in a day.

In the shorter races, homing pigeons can speed along at as much as 60 miles an hour. Their speed is measured—by fanciers at least—in yards per minute. Sixty miles an hour is 1,760 yards a minute. Good speeds on long races would be 800 to 900 yards a minute.

POPULAR IN EUROPE

European nations are attracted more strongly to pigeon racing than are Canada and the United States. Mr. Ellicot staid he did not know the exact number of fanciers in this country.

In the United States there are about 15,000; in England, 300,000, and in Belgium, 350,000. Belgium's national sport is pigeon racing, and prizes for a single race may amount to nearly $4,000.

Mr. Ellicott is hopeful that in the next year or two enough people will own racing pigeon lofts to form a racing club.

As far as the reason for "homing" goes, he says it is not really known, although almost every fancier has his own theory.

"It's an instinct they have," he said. "I don't think you can explain it any more clearly than that."

Boy On Bicycle Hit By Car Seriously Injured Rushed Here From Apsley

Lost Blood Before Help Arrived
Leg Fractured, Scalp, Abdomen Lacerated
Trees, Bushes Obscure Intersection

Seriously injured Wednesday morning when knocked down by a car as he rode his bicycle out of a township road onto Highway 28, seven miles north of Apsley, Ernest Trotter, 14, R.R. 4, Peterborough, regained consciousness in St. Joseph's Hospital today. O.P.P. Constable Bert Howden of Apsley who investigated said the boy rode his bicycle out of the sideroad just as a northbound car, driven by Robert Phillips, 28, of Holloway, was approaching.

A nurse from the Apsley Red Cross Hospital accompanied constable Howden to the scene and the boy who lost considerable blood before medical assistance arrived, was taken to Apsley in the police cruiser. After receiving emergency treatment there, he was rushed by ambulance to hospital in Peterborough.

Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield who attended him said todsy his condition is fair. He received a fractured leg, and lacerations on the scalp and abdomen.

Trees and bushes near the intersection obscure oncoming traffic and the boy was following his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCauley, who were just ahead of him.

THROWN OVER HOOD

When the bicycle and the right front of the car collided, the impact threw the boy up over the hood. The right windshield was smashed in and his head shattered the glass on the driver's side. The top of the car was also buckled, causing an estimated $250 damage to the car.

The driver was unable to avoid the accident, although he swerved sharply to the left. After the impact, the boy was carried on the hood and fearing that the car might overturn and injure the boy worse if he applied his brakes fully, Constable Howden said, the driver took 146 feet to bring the car to a stop on the left hand side of the road.

The injured boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter who have a cottage near Apsley.

Council To Consider Hydrants At Civic

As directed by the finance committee Monday, Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman of the fire and light committee, has consulted Fire Chief George Smith about two additional hydrants at Civic Hospital.

Chief Smith has made a test of pressures and other aspects of this proposal and agrees with the recommendation of the Fire Marshal that the extra hydrants are necessary.

Although the hospital is fire proof, it was said that there is always a possibility of fire hazard to contents. Ald. Burrows will have a report for the council.

Confused House Set On Property Bought In 1845

The property at 85 Hunter St., where the house on the south side faces east instead of north, between Queen St. and the bridge, was obtained from the Crown in 1845 by William Weller.

The identification of William Weller is obscure, but there was a man by that name who operated a line of stage coaches out of Cobourg. His primitive means of transport was chiefly to Toronto, and probably easterly, too.

Weller coaches are believed to have come to Peterborough as a feeder line.

Presumably, the deed of the property apparently was transferred by gift to Charles Weller. That date is unknown, but Charles Weller sold the property in 1872 to William H. Rackham.

Mr. Rackham was the father of Mrs. A. J. McClellan, King St. He held it for a year and in 1873 sold it to David W. Dumble who was for years police magistrate in Peterborough. His home was at London and Reid Sts., now a Braund apartment building.

In 1876, Mr. Dumble sold the Hunter St. lot to Robert H. Green, and in 1883 it was bought by Patrick and John Heffernan. Probably it was in those years the house was built, and the explanation of its prospect is perhaps its easterly view of the river.

In 1927, house and lot were sold by Miss M. J. Heffernan to Joseph Madill, and by him in 1928 to James B. Brown. C. W. Holland became the owner in 1929, and finally it was purchased this year by Chas. J. Ray.

Removing Trees Plan To Widen Street

Parks department workers are cutting down trees on Aylmer St. to prepare for the widening of the street from Brock St. to McDonnel St.

The city engineer's department would not say when work would start on the widening, but said it would be after the resurfacing job on Charlotte St. was completed. Aylmer St., 30 feet wide at present, will have another six feet added to the west side.

November Vote Hinted In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun Wednesday forecast a provincial general election early in November in a dispatch from Victoria that said the date could be the second or third Monday of the month.

The story said that Premier Bennett, heading the Social Credit Government elected in the June 12 election, had construed a statement by C.C.F. Leader Harold Winch as a general charge against the validity of the entire election.

Mr. Winch, however, denied that he challenged the validity of the whole election, and said he was only commenting on the situation in Vancouver-Burrard where the courts denied a recount because the Election Act had not been complied with in the handling of ballots.

Present standing in the legislature is: Social Credit 19, C.C.F. 18, Liberal six, Progressive Conservative four and Labour one.

The Sun dispatch said: "Undoubtedly the Bennett Government hopes the old parties would not care to contest many seats in a new election—leaving the fight between the C.C.F. and Social Credit.

23 Policemen Escape Reds

BERLIN (Reuters)—Twenty East German policemen — the biggest group yet to seek asylum in West Berlin — arrived here yesterday, police headquarters announced today.

So far this month 168 East German policemen have sought refuge in the west. More than 1,600 have fled to West Berlin since January, 1951.

Most of the recent police deserters are under 25. They complained of increased military training and other "unbearable conditions."

List Dupont Estate Worth $75 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The late Lammot Dupont, once head of the Dupont industrial organization, left an esate estimated to be worth $75,000,000 in personal property and $325,000 in real estate. He died July 24.

An affidavit filed in the register of wills office here set the estimates. Inheritance tax, according to unofficial estimates, would be $61,138,200.

This document creates for the widow, Margaret F. Dupont, a marital trust made up of approximately 50 per cent of his adjusted gross estate.

The will outlines two trust funds set up for two of Lammot's sons, David Flett Dupont and Willie Harrington Dupont. For Willie, some 6,873 shares of Noranda Mines Ltd. are set aside. These shares are currently valued at $5,700,000.

Raise Property Liability For Plane Crash Damage

MONTREAL (CP)—The International Civil Aviation Organization plans to make it more expensive, so far as property liability is concerned, for planes that crash and cause damage to property.

But it also proposes to outlaw damage suits arising from the noise or normal flight of an aircraft.

Officials said yesterday these two recommendations will be placed before a special I.C.A.O. conference opening in Rome Sept. 9.

I.C.A.O. will ask the conference to approve a new draft replacing the Rome Convention of 1933 covering damage to property or persons on the ground by aircraft and the liability of the operator of the plane.

BOOST LIABILITY

The proposal is to boost the operator's liability to 10,000,000 gold francs—equivalent to $663,360 in United States funds—from the maximum of 2,000,000 gold francs established in 1933.

The operator still will be liable for damage to third parties on the ground. All the injured party has to do is prove that the damage was caused by aircraft.

As for noise, I.C.A.O. plans to ask the conference to provide that the victim has no right to compensation for damage from noise or the normal flight of a plane. Nor would there be compensation for indirect damage, such as if a crashed aircraft burned and set fire to a building. The building owner would have no claim.

Two Escapees Get 21 Months

BRAMPTON (CP)—Two youths who escaped from the reformatory here Aug. 15 were sentenced yesterday to an additional 21 months.

Robert Gagne, 19, of Sarnia, and Frank Hehr, 20, of British Columbia, pleaded guilty to charges of escaping custody, auto theft, breaking and entering and theft of clothing.

The pair, who fled while on a kitchen detail, were due for release next January.

Expect Forces To Be 100,000 In Two Months

OTTAWA (CP)—The three regular armed forces should be 100,000 strong within a month or two.

Official figures for the end of July, released yesterday, showed they topped the 99,000 mark by 67 at that time despite the fact the army lost strength because of heavy discharges of Special Force men.

Official statistics for August won't be out for several weeks but the word is that it hasn't taken the total over the 100,000 mark.

At the end of July, the picture on the Special Force men back from Korea and able to take a discharge was this:

Joined Active Force, 2,711; discharged, 4,048; still making up their minds, 3,372.

Another 500 have been classed as deserters since the brigade was formed in the summer of 1950 and have never been written off army rolls.

The three forces as a whole recruited 2,314 men in July—270 for the navy, 804 for the army and 1,204 for the air force. It was the best recruiting month since April but the net gain over the strength at the end of June—98,359—was just about 700. That is, for every three men they took in they lost two.

The strengths of the forces at the end of the month were 14,133 for the navy, 49,586 for the army and 35,348 for the air force.

Loss Of Memory Can Be Due Lack Of Food

LONDON (CP)—Dr. John Matheson, medical officer of Brixton jail, reports that new tests are being tried on criminals who claim loss of memory at the time of their offence.

The test is based on a theory that if certain persons go without food for some hours, the amount of blood sugar falls to an extremely low level.

As the brain depends on blood sugar for nourishment, the doctor's report states, after a period of hunger these people may suffer blackouts and behave abnormally.

As a result of some tests, Dr. Matheson stated, some criminals have been given lighter sentences. Some have been acquitted. In several cases of minor fringement of regulations at Brixton jail, said the report, it was found that the rules had been broken after the men had been without food for a period.

The report referred to a murder charge of a year ago when a man was found guilty but insane. He had committed the crime after two days without food and authorities were able to establish, to medical satisfaction, that lack of sustenance was a major factor. In the legal sense, said the report, it was considered the man was insane.

Religion Sparks School Strike

RUTHERGLEN, Scotland (Reuters)—Protestant and Roman Catholic mothers, with their children, faced each other from opposite sides of the street here yesterday on the third day of a school strike instigated by Protestant parents.

Protestant parents stopped 208 children from attending the school after 80 Catholic youngsters were transferred there Monday.

The Catholic children are occupying two classrooms because of overcrowding at their own school. They have their own teachers.

Decision to move them was made by the county school board.

At a mass meeting Tuesday night, Protestant parents declared that they objected to Catholics being accommodated in the same school as their own children.

Longer Paid Vacations Trend In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Labor department today reported the trend towards longer paid vacations is continuing in Canada.

A report from its economics and research branch says an annual vacation of at least a week now is almost universal practice in manufacturing. There appeared to be a trend towards two weeks' vacations after a year or less of service.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, August 28th—Like every woman, I like to be actually in the store, trying on the new Fall clothes—not on the outside looking wishfully in. And, this year, thanks to Personal Planning, I can afford some lovely new things! Yes, the wherewithal for my new autumn outfit is in my Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. And my savings are mounting all the time! Yet my income's the same—the secret, you see, is that Personal Planning helps me to set aside a definite amount for clothing every month—in such a painless way! Of course, I've been a Personal Planner for quite some time. At the beginning it takes a bit of working at—but finally it becomes a happy part of one's life. It's so good to know that you've really saved up the money you need for pretty new clothes—as well as for more important things, too! Want to try it? The booklet called "Personal Planning" is yours for the asking at your nearest B of M branch.

Are You In A "Pretty Pickle" now that pickling time is here? I hope it's not too late to tell you about the thriftiest way I know to buy your favourite pickling vinegar. Buy it in the big gallon jug. Yes, HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR in the gallon jug saves you 2½c on every cup as compared with smaller containers. And of course you get more than economy when you buy this vinegar packed by the folks who made pickles famous! You get the full-bodied flavour and uniform strength so necessary for preserving the crisp texture and fresh taste of your pickles. So order Heinz White Vinegar by the gallon jug—and if it doesn't have the free recipe booklet, "Pickling Success", attached—write to me for it—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

"I Wouldn't Dream Of Cooking Without It!" I've heard those words said hundreds of times—about AC'CENT. And no wonder! Ac'cent, the new "master seasoning", does wonderful things for food. Salads and meats—vegetables and soups—their flavours fairly "sit up and sing" with a touch of Ac'cent "magic". Ac'cent (pure monosodium glutamate) brings out the good, natural flavour already in foods, yet adds no flavour of its own. Use it along with the salt and pepper (it's the new "Third Shaker"!). Discover this seasoning "secret" that famous chefs have known for years! Ask your grocer for Ac'cent and watch hot-weather appetites perk up in a jiffy!

Something To Look Forward To when you wake up in the morning . . . flavourful, satin-smooth "CREAM OF WHEAT" for breakfast. Top it with brown sugar or raisins—and milk—and give the folks as much as they want, for 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is good for them. It provides Iron for good red blood—and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. So do as so many families do—make "Cream of Wheat" a breakfast habit. It's quick and easy to prepare—takes just five minutes of boiling to cook to m-mmm! — delicious smoo-othness.

After The Ball Is Over . . . do your feet hurt so much you say you'll never dance again? Then here's good news. Phenylium is a new wonder-working ingredient in BLUE-JAY Corn Plasters and Callus Plasters . . . and, believe me, it does work wonders to give relief from corns and calluses. It took ten years of scientific research by Blue-Jay to develop Phenylium. And now they've perfected it to the point where it works faster and is effective in 95% of the cases tested. I can vouch for its effectiveness, too. No more worries about corns or calluses—I just rely on Blue-Jay with Phenylium to keep my feet forever happy.

When You're Preparing the onions and cucumbers—the tomatoes and other vegetables for pickling . . . be sure you have plenty of WINDSOR PICKLING SALT handy! I'm sure you know that in the kitchen and at the table, Windsor Salt brightens the flavour of food—makes all the difference between "dull" and "delicious". But did you know about this special Windsor Salt to use when you're making pickles? Windsor Pickling Salt is the first, and only pickling salt in Canada. It assures you of a clear brine and crisp, natural-colour pickles that are the best you've ever tasted. So, whether you're buying salt for pickling or for table use—be sure to look for the name Windsor on the familiar red, white and blue packages.

Looking Forward To A "Full House" over Labour Day week-end? Here's something you should have for comfortable, relaxed entertaining . . . INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. It's delicious. That's because it's made by real coffee people. There's flavour, body and a real lift. And it's as easy to make ten cups as one. Takes no longer than boiling the water! Another thing you'll like about it is that it saves you up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. The small-size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn holds almost the equivalent of a pound of ground coffee—and just look at the difference in price! So take my tip and get a supply of Instant Chase & Sanborn for Labour Day entertaining!

Pretty Important To A Man —snow-white shirts! So you can take a bow when your husband raves about the whiteness of his. But give some of the credit to Blue. For Blue does the best job of all in keeping clothes from turning yellow. Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinsing—that's all there is to it. And Blue is so safe for even the fine fabrics in your wash. Those wonderful sheets you got for your anniversary . . . the luncheon set that's your pride and joy. Don't take chances—use Blue to keep them white. Costs just a few pennies a month—and that makes good sense, doesn't it? Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S BLUE!

Percy I. Bentley Cavan Clerk Widely Mourned

MILLBROOK (ENS).—The funeral of Percy I. Bentley, clerk of Cavan township and for many years a prominent citizen of this village was held on Wednesday evening at the MacPherson Funeral Home. Mr. Bentley suffered a heart attack while attending a ball game here on Monday evening and died shortly after entering hospital in Peterborough.

PERCY I. BENTLEY

The rooms of the funeral home were filled to capacity for the service and many overflowed onto the lawns outside. The Rev. A. L. Sisco of Tweed, a former pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, where Mr. Bentley served for many years as recording steward, conducted the service and he was assisted by the Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian church.

The funeral was under the auspices of the Millbrook I.O.O.F. of which Mr. Bentley was a Past Noble Grand. He was also a Past District Deputy of the I.O.O.F. Marshall Larmer, Noble Grand and Jacob Isbister, a Past Grand conducted the service.

The eight pallbearers were: Herbert Kerr, representing the Millbrook J. B. Hall Lodge, A.F.-& A.M., of which Mr. Bentley was a Past Master; Allie Payne, representing St. Andrew's Church; Wilfred Elson, T. W. Belch, Lavergne Fallis, representing the Oddfellows; J. H. McKnight, representing the Cavan council; Harry Brooks and Charles Brooks. Honorary pallbearers were: Fred Fallis, David Fowler, Delbert Olan, Harold Tate, Arthur Fallis and J. W. Hanbidge.

In his address Mr. Sisco paid tribute to Mr. Bentley's friendliness, his willingness always to lend a helping hand, and to his steadfast character.

Oddfellows attending from Peterborough, from Cairo No. 110, Zuanna L.O.T.D., Golden Link Rebekahs No. 81, Kawartha Encampment No. 6, Peterborough Lodge I.O.O.F. 111, Gyzicas Sanctorum No. 24, and Otonabee I.O.-O.F. No. 13. Members attending from Masonic Lodges included Peterborough No. 155, Corinthian No. 101, and Royal Arthur No. 523. The local Rebekah Lodge, the Golden Sheaf, was also in attendance.

Graduated Here F. J. Bell Dies

A graduate of the C.G.E. electrical engineering course here, Frederick J. Bell, 79, died Tuesday at Guelph. He was a former vice-president and manager of C. A. Parsons Ltd., from which he retired two years ago.

Born in St. John, N.B., he worked two years on the C.G.E.'s construction staff in Montreal after leaving Peterborough, then joined the firm's sales department.

In 1907 he was secretary-treasurer of Canadian Crocker-Wheeler Ltd., two years later was general manager of the British Canadian Power Co. in Cobalt, and in 1912 was made general manager of Canada Wire and Cable Co., Toronto.

From 1914 to 1921 he was president of the company and for three years was a director of Laurentian Power Co., Quebec. In 1924 Mr. Bell became Canadian representative of C. A. Parsons & Co., and Howard Grubb, Parsons and Co.

A member of several manufacturers' and engineering organizations, he was once president of the Electrical Manufacturers' Association, Toronto. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Henderson.

Wandering Tots

MAIDSTONE, England (CP)—When Mrs. Phyllis Dawson woke up recently there was no sign of her children, Madeleine, 7, and Barry, 4. Then she remembered Madeleine had promised her brother a day at the seaside. They were found on the beach at Rye, 35 miles away.

Senseless Smokers

REGINA (CP)—Smokers' carelessness was responsible for more fires in Saskatchewan in 1951 than any other cause, resulting in 372 outbreaks with damage of $170,000, the provincial fire commissioner's office reported.

Cheaper Furs Highlighting Autumn Suits

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Fall fashion shows in London and Paris have turned the winter spotlight on fur. Not mink and sable; but common mole, natural fox, brushed beaver, lamb and sealskin.

Throughout the world, it seems, the best customers are the working millions. So for myriads of women in London, Paris, Rome and Frankfurt, the winter fur trimmings are those that do not boost the price of garments out of reach of a moderate bankroll.

Pierre Balmain of Paris and Hardy Amies of London show the glamor affected by cheaper furs.

Mink, chinchilla, sable and lynx are used in both cities, but none achieve the unanimous popularity of mole and sealskin and the slightly more expensive Persian and Indian lamb.

Amies, designer to the Queen, lines a black corded velvet swagger with black moleskin. Balmain lines a big-sleeved, loose grey tweed coat with yellow lamb, and Peter Russell uses moleskin linings to tone with materials.

Russell favors fine Scots tweeds in everything from tiny box jackets to big travel coats—all lined with moleskin.

LOOSE STYLE POPULAR

Most designers use fur trimmings for lose and fitted suit jackets. Digby Morton designed a loose pegtop jacket with black sealskin collar and put-out front trimming that gives the effect of an inner fur lining. Many fitted suit jackets have peplums completely covered or tipped with fur.

Attractive collars and cuffs include blue, grey and natural red fox. One coat with face-framing fox collar forming a deep "V" to the tight waistline, slim sleeves and flaring hem, has a 1926 line.

An olive green velour tent coat, with red fox cuffs that form a huge muff, is typical of many loose styles.

Even the Elizabethan ruff could not escape the full influence. More than one designer produced a ruff in black or white baby seal.

Of Interest to Women

For Eczema— Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. Go to any good drug store and get an original bottle of MOONE'S EMERALD OIL—it lasts many days because it is highly concentrated.

The very first application will give you relief—the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped—eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Itching Toes and Feet, Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum and other skin troubles.

Remember that MOONE'S EMERALD OIL is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue. Complete satisfaction or money back.

NUGGET SHOE POLISH AND LEATHER PRESERVATIVE

TWIST-IT'S OPEN

TO POPULAR SHADES

TO MAKE YOUR OWN FABRIC LAMPSHADES with a custom look, you've only to follow simple directions. Make a pattern (upper left), using wrapping paper and with seam of the shade facing up. Next, cut the fabric after the pattern (upper right) making sure that the centre fold of the pattern is straight up and down on the fabric as you cut it. Now, use clothespin clips (lower left) to fit the fabric along the top of the shade. This is the way the finished shade looks (lower right) in a medallion pattern, a hand-printed over-all design on antique satin.

New Lampshade-Making Tricks Save Your Time And Money, Provides A Hobby

Any woman who wants to turn interior decorator on her own will, with a small investment in time and money, be able to produce lampshades with a custom look for her living room.

Most women, at some time, eye with envy the lampshades that can be ordered made up in a fabric matched to their own drapes, upholstery material or even slip-covers. But since these shades are necessarily expensive, the average woman forgets about them and settles for plain old vellum.

Tips on transforming this very vellum shade into the fabric-covered type with a custom look come from interior decorator Harriet Sherry. To get the right results, you'll need these things: fabric, lampshade, wrapping paper, piece of cord, clothespins, milliners' glue, and braid or ruffles for finishing.

Start by marking off equal halves of the shade. You do this by holding a piece of cord at the bottom of the seam, bringing the cord straight up along the seam and across the top, down the opposite side of the shade and back to the beginning of the cord at the bottom of the seam.

Now, using the cord as a guide, mark a straight line from top to bottom opposite the seam.

Next, divide an uncreased piece of drapping paper in half, vertically, and place the paper flat on a table. At this halfway mark on the paper, hold the bottom of the shade horizontally, seam upward and perpendicular to the edge of the paper. (The portion of the shade containing the bisecting line you just drew will be face down on the paper.)

Starting at this bisecting line, draw short, straight lines on the paper along the top and bottom edges of the shade. Without lifting the shade from the paper, roll it to the right and draw two more lines. As you do this, you'll see that the short, straight lines are rising into two arcs.

Continue these arcs until the seam of the shade is face down on the table and the bisecting line upright, facing you. End the arcs about half an inch beyond this point. Connect the two arcs with a straight line.

Now then, remove the wrapping paper from the table. Fold the left half under the right and cut a pattern after the lines you just drew. Then, holding the pattern across the fabric, selvedges at the sides, cut the fabric after the pattern.

Use the centre fold of the pattern as a guide to be sure it's straight up and down on the fabric (parallel to selvedges) as you cut it.

With clothespin clips, fit the fabric to the base of the shade. Adjust the fabric to fit the top. If the top fits correctly, any slight deviation at the other edges can be corrected when you overlap the fabric to finish the shade.

You're almost through. Starting at the seam of the shade, glue the fabric to the vellum base with milliner's glue. But sure that the fabric is perfectly smooth as you go. Glue the beginning of the fabric flush to the shade, overlap the end, and glue to the first part of the fabric.

Trim the raveled threads at the top and bottom edges. Finish with braid, ruffles or bias binding.

Women Are Not Asking Ordination Into Priesthood Anglican Church

QUEBEC—There will be no women clergy in the Anglican Church during the next few years.

This information was released by the Rt. Rev. Walter Bagnall, Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Niagara. The Hamilton clergyman gave an address here aboard the Empress of France on his return from a visit to the United Kingdom. While there, he visited his 91-year-old Irish mother and several young Canadian clergy of the Anglican Church who are gaining experience in British parishes.

In his discussion of the role of women in the Anglican Church, the Bishop said, "I don't know of a case of a woman seeking to be ordained, but women are beginning to play an important part in church councils."

ON COUNCIL

(The Anglican Church apparently has no plans for training women to become clergy but last year the Toronto synod voted to allow women to sit on the council.)

Were there any women on the council of the Niagara Diocese? "No," said Bagnall, "but I am heartened by the tremendous work the women do in the church and I am sure they will play a larger part in the church's councils in years to come."

Bishop Bagnall, one of the youngest bishops in the Anglican Church in Canada, added that a "very high type of women" was being attracted toward deaconess service. Said he, "Our Anglican Women's Training School in Toronto is full and there's a long waiting list." He said deaconesses are concerned chiefly with religious education, women's church work and women's visiting. "Our whole missionary work, too, would be nothing without the help of our women," he said.

YOUNG PEOPLE

Bishop Bagnall reported he was "most impressed with the interest of the young people in England. I was overjoyed," he said. "Rumors of lagging interest in the Church in England have reached Canada. I was extremely pleased to find the opposite true. The young people are flocking to church."

Bagnall also proclaimed another rumor false which held that Britain still contributed to the work of the Canadian Anglican Church. "Since 1944 or thereabouts when the Anglican Church in Canada officially asked the mother church to stop contributing to Canadian work, no money, except special bequests by individuals, has been received."

Special Quilted Dress For First Day At School

Starting school for the first time is a red-letter day in a little girl's life. It is one time when she loves a new dress. Mothers who make their children's clothes usually try to choose something to increase the child's confidence. This exciting day is often quite an ordeal for a six-year-old.

Because a child's confidence depends on comfort, the dress should be simple and loosely fitting. It should not be too unusual in design or material. A six-year-old is often self-conscious. She could become embarrassed if other children were to notice her clothes too much. A little quilted skirt and weskit is a sturdy, hard-wearing outfit. Material, which sewing centres advise should be chosen from preshrunk, washable fabric, can be quilted with very little time and effect with the quilter attachment. Instruction on the use of the quilter is available in sewing centres, too. The machine rows add reinforcement and prolong wear. The little blouse can also be changed often.

Quilting is something familiar to young children. If they have been used to quilted bed coverlets or dressing-gowns, they will associate their costume with the reassuring atmosphere of home, when wearing it in the strange, new school.

Here are a few other pointers on dressing six-year-olds. It is a good precaution to sew hems on the machine so that the child does not catch her fingers or toes in the stitching when dressing herself. Of course, it is easier for the child in dressing, when clothes open down the front. Three-quarter inch buttons have been found the easiest size for a child to handle. If buttonholes are also done on the machine with a buttonholer, they will resist fraying better when tugged at. Any torn hem or buttonhole worries a child and increases her self-consciousness. The regular home dressmaking courses at sewing centres will help a mother make wider use of her machine in sewing. Points learned in making an adult's dress can be applied to problems in dresses for children. If special problems in making children's clothes come up, mothers may enroll in any one of the single open session classes held from time to time in all sewing centres.

Little girls are also just as self-conscious about being fat or too thin as their mothers. Don't put a V-neck on the dress of a thin-faced child, and don't lengthen the skirt of an over-chubby child with wide bands of contrasting material. Use a soft, round neck for the thin-faced youngster, and put in tucks which can be let down for the plump child.

vinegar in the morning, boil for 10 minutes and again pour over pickles. Let stand 2 hours. Now boil pickles in syrup for 10 minutes when they will become firm and bright. Cool as quickly as possible in covered pan. (A good idea is to stand the pot containing hot pickles in ice water to hasten chilling.) Pack pickles in jar, cover with spiced syrup, and seal.

For those who haven't the time and patience for this I will give a short-brine process tomorrow.

Royal Regalia Dictated For Coronation

LONDON (CP) — When Queen Elizabeth II returns from Scotland in October, final decisions will be made on the royal regalia for the coronation next June.

Many believe that the purple velvet robe of state in which the Queen leaves Westminster Abbey to drive through the streets will bear emblematic gold embroidery like that of a queen consort.

Kings do not wear embroidered robes of state, leaving this to their queen and her mistress of the robes —traditionally a duchess.

Such embroidery is dictated by national and Commonwealth traditions, and its form is settled by the Coronation Council. The six-yard-long robe worn at her coronation by Queen Mother Elizabeth was embroidered at the Royal School of Needlework.

FABULOUS ROBE

Lined and bordered in ermine, it is worth several thousand pounds and was recently placed in Kensington Palace museum, together with the coronation robes of the late king.

It is customary for Her Majesty to arrive at the abbey in a crimson parliamentary robe. For crowning, the sovereign wears cloth of gold. The Queen, however, may decide that the gold mantle worn by her father is too heavy. First worn by George IV, it is richly embroidered with Tudor roses, shamrocks, thistles and silver eagles.

Like Queen Victoria, the present queen may have a lighter one made, in which case the cloth of gold must be specially woven.

Persecution Complex Leads Woman To Lose Her Jobs

DEAR MISS DIX: For several years I have been forced out of position after position, due to people's personal opinions and dislikes. It has come to a point where it is impossible for me to obtain steady employment. I have received very high marks on pre-employment tests and am very careful of my grooming, but people simply don't like me. Because of these experiences, I have developed a dislike and fear of people. MILLY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have developed a persecution complex and, unless you can effect a cure yourself with simple measures, you had best seek expert medical and psychiatric treatment.

There definitely is some reason for your continual loss of employment. No one can so constantly be the object of personal dislike unless there is an underlying cause somewhere. Obviously, it must be within yourself. It is up to you to discover and eradicate the basis for your unpopularity. If you can't do this alone, see a doctor, as I have already suggested.

ANALYZE YOUR SHORTCOMINGS

A thorough analysis of your own shortcomings is in order. You state that you are careful of your grooming, but are you sure the care is completely adequate? Soap and water cleanliness often isn't enough. From head to foot you must be immaculate—scrubbed and polished to the nth degree.

Having eliminated the possibility of personal offense as a reason for your unacceptability, take stock of your disposition. If you are a caustic, sarcastic individual, look no further. No other type person is so thoroughly disliked. Are you more apt to see the bad points of your fellow workers than their good ones? Do you embark on a new job with the assurance that you already know everything about the work, in fact, know more than the employees who are already on the job? If you proceed to let everyone know that you consider yourself superior, popularity will fly out the window. Perhaps you have nervous mannerisms that are distracting to those who work with you.

Whatever the cause, be assured that very few people dislike others for no reason at all. The number of misanthropes in the world is small. On the contrary, most folks are very anxious to make new friends and acquaintances and are inclined to be most cordial to a newcomer in the office. It is scarcely plausible that you have unfortunately come in contact with the entire gamut of truculent people.

Whatever your difficulty stems from, the cause is undoubtedly curable. You are not at peace with the world yourself, and this peace must be acquired before you can face people with confidence.

Constructive reading will also offer remedies. You live in a city noted for its fine libraries, and a local librarian will be glad to assist you in locating helpful literature. Also in your city are churches of several denominations, whose pastors specialize in helping the distraught. Your civic information centre will help you locate them.

You are an intelligent woman. Stop blaming others for your trouble; ferret out the reason why you make such a poor impression and overcome it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have known Bob for two years. He recently returned from overseas and wanted me to come see him at camp before he was discharged. My parents didn't think it right for me to go, and I agree with them. However, Bob cannot understand it. He is 24, and I am 21.

Would it be wrong for me to go see him at his home on my vacation? His parents, of course, would be there. J. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You and your parents are perfectly right on the camp question. After his long absence from home, Bob is understandably anxious to see the people he loves, and just cannot see any reason why the most apparent solution to his problem isn't feasible.

If Bob's parents invite you to their home, it would be proper to accept, but don't go on the boy's invitation alone. It should be seconded by his mother.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I get along fine except for one thing—television. After a day's work I like to watch television, but my wife wants me to discuss the happenings of the day. I do devote some time to her, but she doesn't consider it enough. HORACE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Television has created the same problem in many, many homes. Your wife should be grateful for a husband whose only vice is watching TV, and you should be grateful for a wife who is so interested in your day that she wants to know everything you do in it. Try to effect a compromise and realize that television, if allowed to monopolize your attention, can ruin a happy marriage.

Care-Worn Folks Can Forget Their Worries

COCHRANE, Alta. (CP)—Tucked away in the southern Alberta foothills, 30 miles from Calgary, is an unusual hideaway where care-worn folk come to forget their worries and take stock of themselves.

The Mount St. Francis Retreat House, operated by the Franciscan fathers of Cochrane, was a guest ranch until the Franciscans took it over.

Now, two retreats weekly are held at the attractive home. They alternate for men and women and are open to anyone over 18 years of age, Protestant or Roman Catholic. The house accommodates 32 in summer and 24 in winter.

Occupants must observe 50 hours of silence, a quiet sometimes described as mental therapy. The restful atmosphere soothes frayed nerves and offers an opportunity to think quietly over problems.

The guest book lists occupations from pastry cook to doctors. Some retreats are for business girls, others solely for teachers. Some of the big names in sport attend frequently.

There is no set charge. Guests are given blank envelopes and they may leave whatever they wish.

Model Farm To Make Way For Housing Development

TORONTO (CP) — A 600-acre farm on the northeast outskirts of Toronto, where pigs once were bathed with toilet soap and cows lounged in white tile stables, has been sold to make way for a housing development.

The "model farm" was built by David Alexander Dunlap, a Mattawa, Ont., lawyer who amassed a fortune after he scraped together $2,400 to buy a share in a mining venture at Cobalt. He later became vice-president and treasurer of Hollinger Gold Mines and at the time of his death had a fortune of $5,759,558.

His wife died in 1946, leaving the estate to her son, Moffat Dunlap, her only heir.

The farm was established 40 years ago and during its peak years attracted visitors from many parts of the world.

Dr. R. M. Jenkins, an agricultural expert, was employed as farm manager. Music was provided in dairy barns and chicken houses. Farm workers said the animals found soft, classical music most enjoyable.

The pigs were bathed twice a week with warm water and toilet soap and then rubbed down with olive oil.

Until 20 years ago, each cow was given a daily going-over with a vacuum cleaner. The nearly 100 employees on the farm all wore white clothing. Horses drank from enamelled basins, and their stalls were of polished maple.

Making Of Pickles Real Science

You've got me in a tizzy. When I opened the mail this afternoon 18 of your letters asked for pickling instructions. Some of you want all the dope on long process brining and curing. Others of you want quick methods that don't take all summer. Others have shrivelled pickles, soft pickles, hollow pickles. . .

First thing I want to say to all pickle makers is that it is a science and you have to obey all of the principles if you hope to have bright, crisp pickles in your jars that are comparable to the wonderful products we can buy in the store.

Now brace yourselves: the pickle makers cure their cucumbers for from 6 to 8 weeks. Can you take it? Actually it is very simple—for all you need is patience and a firm belief that you will live that long! Your undivided attention is needed for the initial step, but the succeeding steps take only a matter of minutes once per week.

These are long instructions and the newspaper hasn't the space to give me to print this more than once a year, so be smart and cut this out if you are pickle-minded.

HOW TO BRINE CUCUMBERS FOR PICKLES

Cucumbers which have been cured in brine from 6 to 8 weeks make better-flavored, crisper and darker green pickles than those brined for shorter periods.

1. Select firm cucumbers that are 2 or 4 inches long, wash them and dry them.

2. Place in clean stone crock or new wooden keg.

3. Cover with a brine made of 1 cup non-iodized salt and 10 cups water (preferably soft water—clean rain water strained through triple cheesecloth). Be sure to use a measuring cup for your measurements.

4. Cover with plate or clean round board inside rim of crock or keg and put heavy weight (clean stone is fine) on top to keep cucumbers submerged.

5. Pour 1¾ cups salt on centre of plate or board the second day after putting cucumbers in brine. Do not put salt directly in brine.

6. Place ½ cup salt on centre of plate or board on the 7th day, and each succeeding 7th day for 5 weeks. Skim off scum from brine as it forms at top. Keep cucumbers under brine.

7. At end of second week test brine by placing an egg on it—if egg does not float a little more salt than the amount mentioned should be placed on plate or board.

8. At the end of the 5th week test with blue litmus paper. (Buy this at the drug store.) If the litmus paper turns pink the brine is acid enough for the cucumbers to be removed. If the litmus paper does not turn pink leave cucumbers in brine and test each day until it does turn pink. The pickles will then be olive green throughout.

They are now ready to process into any number of types of pickles. The one you ask me for most frequently is:

SWEET CUCUMBER PICKLES

Place cured, processed cucumbers in a stone or glass jar, cover with a 4 to 6 per cent vinegar. (This is indicated on the bottle—it reads "40 to 60 grains.") Too strong vinegar causes shrivelling; too weak vinegar causes softening. Let stand 10 days. Drain. To 6 cups of the vinegar drained off add 2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon whole mace, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 2 tablesponos stick cinnamon. Boil this vinegar syrup 15 minutes gently. Strain or not just as you wish and pour over pickles and let stand overnight. Drain off

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL FOR SCHOOL SECTION NO. 5 IN THE TOWNSHIP OF SMITH.

BY-LAW NUMBER 4

A By-law to authorize the issue of Debentures in the principal amount of $50,000 to pay the cost of construction of a two room school at Bridgenorth.

WHEREAS The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School for School Section No. 5 in the Township of Smith have decided to issue Debentures in the principal amount of $50,000 bearing interest at the rate of Six and one-half per centum (6½%) per annum to pay the cost of construction of a two room school located at Bridgenorth, which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that the principal of the said debt shall be repaid in annual instalments of principal during a period of twenty years, namely during the years 1953 to 1972, both inclusive, in the respective amounts set forth in Schedule "A" hereto attached;

AND WHEREAS it will be necessary to raise during each of the years 1953 to 1972, both inclusive, the respective amounts set forth in column 4 of said Schedule "A" for payment of the principal and interest of the said debt.

THEREFORE, The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School for School Section No. 5 in the Township of Smith enacts as follows:

1. THAT for the purpose aforesaid money shall be borrowed on the credit of The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School for School Section No. 5 in the Township of Smith by the issue and sale of Debentures of the said Board in the principal amount of $50,000. The said Debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 6½% per annum payable annually and shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest.

2. THAT the said Debentures shall be dated the 2nd day of September, 1952 and shall be payable in twenty annual instalments on the 2nd day of September in each of the years 1953 to 1972, both inclusive, and the respective amounts of principal and interest payable in each of such years shall be as set forth in Schedule "A" to this By-law which is hereby declared to be and form part of this By-law.

3. THAT the said Debentures as to both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of Canada at the principal office of The Bank of Nova Scotia in the City of Peterborough.

4. THAT the Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer of the said Board shall sign and issue the Debentures and the Debentures shall be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the said Board. The interest coupons attached to the Debentures shall be signed by the Chairmand and Secretary-Treasurer and their signatures thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

5. THAT in each of the years 1953 to 1972, both inclusive, the respective sums set forth in the fourth column in Schedule "A" hereto shall be levied and collected annually by a special rate sufficient therefor over and above all other rates in the same manner and from the like persons and property by, from, upon or out of which other separate school rates may be levied and collected.

6. THAT the said Debentures in the principal amount of $50,000 and the interest thereon shall be and the same are made a charge upon the school house property and premises and the real and personal property vested in The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School for School Section No. 5 in the Township of Smith and upon all the separate school rates until such and every one of them, together with all interest thereon, shall have been fully paid and satisfied.

7. THAT the said Debentures may contain any clause providing for registration thereof authorized by any Statute relating to Municipal Debentures in force at the time of the issue thereof.

READ a FIRST, SECOND and THIRD TIME and FINALLY PASSED this 11th day of August, 1952.

M. SEIDEL, Chairman.
(Mrs.) MARGARET O'BRIEN, Secretary-Treasurer.

Row Brewing Over Coronation

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—Premier Joseph Cahill of New South Wales today squared off for a row with the federal government over the allocation of seats for the Queen's coronation ceremonies in London next year.

Cahill's complaint: each Australian state should get its own block of seats instead of having to apply for them through the Australian government.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies told a press conference today that the Commonwealth will be allocated 28,000 of the 100,000 seats along the route of the coronation procession. Australia was to get 7,000 of those.

Menzies said he expects between 200 and 300 seats in Westminster Abbey will be allocated to Australia.

At Ottawa a spokesman for the secretary of state's department said discussions regarding the number of coronation procession-route seats to be alloted to Canada are still going on. Neither has it yet been decided how Canada's share of the space will be allocated to various Canadian parties.

The spokesman said he believed, however, that a large Canadian seating stand will be erected in front of Canada House in London, which is on the procession route.

New Refueling Method Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of an in-flight refueling method for carrier-based aircraft was announced today by the U.S. Navy.

In-flight refueling of relatively short - range fighters will give considerable tactical advantages, the Navy said.

Long - range offensive missions, made up of carrier-based attack and bomber aircraft, can be escorted all the way to and from target areas. Combat air patrols can be kept going for long periods, and armament loads can be increased if fighter aircraft carry minimum fuel at takeoff.

The Navy said the in-flight refueling is modelled after the British "drogue and probe" method. The pilot fighter flies his plane, equipped with a refueling lance, to engage a probe in a funnel device at the end of the hose on a tanker aircraft.

Umphrey Appointed G.M. Vice-President

OSHAWA (CP)—Appointment of E.J. Umphrey as vice-president of General Motors of Canada Limited, was announced today by William A. Wecker, president of the Company.

Mr. Umphrey has been connected with the firm 32 years and has served as its director of sales since 1942. He will continue to direct sales and advertising in his new position.

Archaeologists Seek To Curb Pilfering Relics

Pilfering of Ontario's historical graves and Indian camp sites and shipment of artifacts out of the country has gone far enough say the province's amateur archaeologists. They are asking the province to prohibit it by law.

As things stand now private individuals can take artifacts, antiques and historical documents out of the province any time they have a mind to.

Many of the province's relics and artifacts have been dug up by American archaeologists and shipped to U.S. universities.

STAY IN ONTARIO

The digging around Peterborough at Hiawatha and other parts of Rice Lake was done by scientists from the University of Toronto and none of the material they dug up has gone out of the province.

But the archaeologists of Canada are not concerned with the work of professional or sincere amateur archaeologists of the United States. Because they often have more funds, they are able to do more than Ontario men to sift knowledge from their digging. For instance, Americans use the carbon isotope method to learn the approximate dates of the campsites they uncover.

No Ontario expedition has the money to use this method.

The findings of the Americans are made known to the Ontario and other Canadian people and they thus benefit from the Americans' work.

At the same time provincial archaeologists would welcome laws that would curb commercially minded grave diggers who, like scavengers follow along after archaeologists and often secretly take artifacts of al sorts, arrowheads, flint knives or wampum. These they ship out to sell to tourists.

Their indiscriminate scuffling through campsites' diggings makes it difficult for archaeologists to learn anything from what is left.

These are the people amateur archaeologists want to curb.

Move Bodies Of 2 Monarchs

MARBURG, Germany (AP) — The bodies of two former German monarchs were removed from their temporary resting place in St. Elizabeth church here today and taken to the state of South Wuerttemberg for burial in the family plot.

The bones of Frederick the Great, who died in 1786, and King Friederich Wilhelm I, who died in 1740, were taken from a sarcophagus beneath the church floor.

Thus the last wish of Crown Prince Wilhelm, who died last year, was fulfilled. He had asked that the bones of his ancestors be brought to the family burial ground. Prince Oskar, last living son of the late Kaiser Wilhelm II, attended the exhuming, carried out without ceremony.

Sharp Earthquake Recorded Off Peru

NEW YORK (AP)—A "fairly sharp" earthquake, probably in the Pacific off Peru, was recorded today on the Fordham university seismograph.

Rev. Joseph Lynch, seismologist, reported two shocks: at 7:02:22 and at 7:10:17 a.m. edt. He said they occurred about 3,780 miles from New York, "probably off Peru."

17 Forest Fires Now Under Control

TORONTO (CP)—Seventeen forest fires are being brought under control throughout Ontario today, the department of lands and forests announced.

Nine fires have been extinguished during the past 24 hours. Sioux Lookout reports seven fires; Kenora three; Port Arthur two; Algonquin four and Cochrane one.

Hazard ranges from medium to high.

Africa Studies Reactions Of Hens, Chimps To Jets

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Do jet planes cut down on a hen's laying powers and do chimpanzees have special ability to detect a jet's approach?

These questions are agitating South Africa since the Air Force has been equipped with jet fighters and Britain's jet Comet airliners have been swooshing in from London three times a week.

Chicken farmers near airports claim their hens aren't laying so well since jets came. Some blame the noise; scientists aren't sure it isn't supersonic waves set up by the jets.

Scientists also are studying the behavior of Jack and Jill, chimpanzees at the Pretoria zoo.

Long before humans can see or hear approaching jets, the chimpanzees utter wild cries, climb to the top of their cages and scan the still-empty sky.

Sun Spots Sighted

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sun spots, one 10 times as long as the earth's diameter, were reported yesterday from Mt. Wilson observatory. Such spots frequently affect communications, but observers declined to predict the effect of the current crop.

Kept In Confinement

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Radical party, only sizeable opposition to President Juan D. Peron, said yesterday political prisoners were being kept in solitary confinement for refusing to mourn the death of Eva Peron.

Poor Salaries Delay A-Plans

LONDON (AP)—Britain's atomic arms program is being held up because the government's atomic scientists don't make enough money, a parliamentary committee reported today. Qualified scientists prefer to work for private industry at higher wages.

The report of the select committee on estimates, a watchdog group to see that the taxpayer gets his money's worth, urged the government to raise salaries and improve working conditions for its atomic experts.

A top government scientist can get £2,000 a year. Industrial companies offer ordinary research men £3,000 or more.

Seeking Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Jack La Rue, 42, filed suit for divorce yesterday, claiming his wife married him only to obtain a United States citizenship and permanent residence. He said he met Edith von Rosenberg, 35, in London while working in a British film.

Truman's Farewell Gift Huge Government Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's farewell gift to congress will be a government budget the size of a big city phone book, important sections of which are likely to become waste paper within three days.

It isn't Truman's idea. A 1950 law requires him to give Congress a detailed estimate of federal income and outgo within 15 days after the opening of a regular session.

The new, 83rd congress, most of whose membership will be determined in the November elections, convenes next Jan. 3. The budget message must be at the Capitol by Jan. 17. At high noon on Jan. 20 a new president takes his oath.

At the same moment, the odds are heavy that key sections of the Truman budget will start heading for the Congressional waste baskets. Regardless of who wins the presidency, it is unlikely he will agree 100 per cent with his predecessor's fiscal plan for the government accounting year which starts next July 1.

LONG UNDER WAY

This particular financial estimate has been under preparation by the Budget Bureau since last May. It was instructed by the White House Long before that, each department to state its needs for fiscal 1954.

A vast number of items represent continuing appropriations which cannot be cut.

However, i tis the appropriations and authorizations for such matters as defence, foreign aid and veterans' benefits that add on the top billions, that the incoming president would find the most fertile ground for revision.

Atomic Civil Work

LONDON (Reuters)—About 60 per cent of Britain's atomic research work is devoted to civil applications of atomic energy, a report issued yesterday showed. Sir John Cockroft, research chief, made the estimate in a report to the government expenditure committee.

PTE. RUSSELL GARDINER, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gardiner of Mount Pleasant, who is in Korea serving with the Royal Canadian Regiment. Pte. Gardiner enlisted in November, 1951 and went overseas in May '52.

By Dynamite Blast Blown Over Fence

STRATFORD (CP)—Herbert Scott, 64, of Stratford was seriously injured Wednesday when he was blown over a fence in Downie Township by a blast from 10 sticks of dynamite.

Thinking his first attempt to light fuse had failed, Scott had approached the charge to relight it when the explosion occurred. His injuries include a possible skull fracture.

London Paper Praises Canadian Soldiers In Korea

LONDON (CP)—In an editorial page feature on "The Commonwealth Division" today, The Times refers to the composition of infantry brigades in Korea and says: "These Canadians have seen plenty of action and their performance has been unsurpassed."

The Times special correspondent mentions the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd Regiment, and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. He also talks of gunners of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and tankmen of Lord Strathcona's Horse.

Speaking of the attitude of the men in the line, The Times reporter says: "Although they tend to think that they deserve more place in the minds of their countrymen—as indeed they do—this 'forgotten army' continues to strengthen Commonwealth links and traditions at the same time as it serves the cause of nations."

Hollywood Finds John Payne Good Salesman

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Perhaps you think of John Payne as the bare-chested gent who slices up pirates while grasping the heroine with a protective arm. Well, the same guy is perhaps Hollywood's most accomplished salesman.

He spent three months on the road last year, visiting 62 different cities. In three years he has touched 225 United States cities, selling films such as "Caribbean" all the while.

He performs these chores as principal star of William Pine and William Thomas, the "dollar bills," producers who are both former press agents. They and their stars hit the hinterlands with hoopla to hoist the profits of their epics.

PAYING APPRENTICESHIP

"It has been great experience for me," Payne admitted. "I've learned how a picture is exploited, and I'm going to make it pay off. I'm making two pictures as partner with Edward Small. I'll be out there on the road selling 'em, believe me.

I've learned that two-thirds of this business is not in Hollywood . . . Hollywood has neglected the selling end too long."

MUST BE GOOD

Aside for a distaste for downbeat stories, the public has no particular concern about cycles, Payne said.

"I read that musicals are on the way out right now," he observed. "That's nonsense. A good musical will always sell tickets, and so will a good western or a good adventure. But they have to be good. That's the difference between the business done by a five-day western and something like 'Stagecoach or 'High Noon.'"

Student Flies From Yukon For Art Prize

TORONTO (CP)—A tall blonde schoolgirl has flown from the Yukon to the Canadian National Exhibition here to receive on behalf of her school the $100 prize for the best Canadian mural painted in a high school.

On her way down six-foot Margaret Hewitt of Whitehorse had her first glass of milk from a bottle in two years, and her first pineapple sundae in that time. Another near-novelty was the sight of green grass in British Columbia.

In the Yukon, she explained, there is no pasture and residents use powdered milk.

Before going to the Yukon Margaret attended schools in Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia, moving around because her father's job as a flight-sergeant in the R.C.A.F. keeps the whole family on the hop.

The prize-winning mural depicts Eskimo fishermen against distant mountains.-

Before Drilling Well Cow Is Sacrificed

CALGARY (CP)—William Holdrinet, 41-year-old Dutch oil man who arrived recently to work in Alberta, will find oil drilling here less complicated than in the Indonesian jungles where he spent 21 years.

In Indonesia the oil men had to respect native rituals. "We used to take part in our native laborers' religious ceremony to keep bad spirits away," he said. This ceremony performed before drilling started involved the ceremonious sacrifice of a cow.-

Gas, Heartburn, Headache So Bad Couldn't Sleep

"Had Stomach Trouble For Years," Says This Woman —Sour Acidity, Bloating, Nerves On Edge. Tells Of Relief She Got By Taking Syntona.

So many people suffering from common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels have found relief by taking Syntona Herbal Compound that every person who is troubled similarly should try Syntona without delay. Results such as reported by Mrs. Eva Derbyshire, 35 Cooper Street, Hespeler, Ontario, are experienced by many who use this medicine.

"It was 10 years ago that I began to have gas, awful heartburn, and sour acidity after my meals. Gradually this kept getting worse until often at night the gas, stomach distress and heartburn were so bad I couldn't sleep. I felt sick and nauseated and became very nervous. I would get bad headaches, backache, pains in my joints and muscles and felt weak and worn out.

"I tried many different things without relief, but from the first bottle Syntona helped me. As I kept on taking this medicine the gas, heartburn and sour acidity cleared up, headaches went away and the pains in my back, limbs and joints disappeared. Now my nerves are calmed down, I sleep well and feel better than I did in many years. I give Syntona full credit for this and want to urge others who suffer this way to give this medicine a trial."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too. (Advt.)

Built Highways For 40 Years

REGINA (CP)—When H. R. MacKenzie cleaned out his desk and left his office this month he let behind 9,232 miles of highways.

Retiring as deputy highways minister after 40 years of Saskatchewan government service, MacKenzie has been connected in some way with virtually all the road construction in the province.

In 1918 he drew up what might be called the province's first road map, although Saskatchewan had no trunk highways then. He joined the highways department in 1912, serving as highways inspector, chief field engineer and chief supervising engineer before his appointment as deputy minister in 1939.

Most travel was on horseback when he started with the department. The first time he went by car to Winnipeg it took 2½ days. Now Saskatoon is only four hours from Regina by road; Winnipeg eight or 10 hours.

He is moving to the Pacific coast this winter, but doubts whether he'll stay there. "I have too many roots here," he explained. "I don't think I'll be able to stay away too long."-

Need Women As M.P.'s - Drew

KITCHENER (CP) — George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said yesterday that more women are needed in the House of Commons to "assure good housekeeping in government."

He spoke at the Waterloo-North Progressive Conservative Association annual picnic in support of Elizabeth Jansen, party candidate in the riding for the next federal election.

Mr. Drew said the Petawawa army camp "theft scandal" would not have occurred if there had been better housekeeping in the Defence Department. He noted that the thefts were finally discovered on the information given the R.C.M.P. by the wife of a non-commissioned officer.

Polio Death Rate High This Year

LONDON (CP)—The number of proven polio cases in southwestern Ontario this year is only about one-tenth as great as in 1951 but since most cases are the extreme bulbar type, the death rate is "very high," Dr. C. A. Harris, medical health officer, said yesterday.

The death at Victoria Hospital Tuesday night of a 24-year-old Lions Head district housewife was southwestern Ontario's fourth fatality.

Dr. Harris said there have been 10 or 12 cases altogether.

"With four deaths though, the death rate is very high," he said.

Says C.N.E. Profitable

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition has made a profit each year during the last 73 years, General Manager Elwood Hughes told a service club here yesterday. Mr. Hughes said the C.N.E. is a $50,000,000 plant which has not cost the taxpayers of Toronto 25 cents.

3 Allied Raids Leave Red Capital In Ruins

Nephew Of Wheat Pioneer Celebrates 98th Birthday

Peterborough's oldest man, Hugh Fife, celebrated his 98th birthday today at his Barnardo Ave. home. His uncle was David Fire, the Otonabee township farmer who developed Red Fife wheat. Mr. Fife, although hard of hearing and lacking the full use of his eyes, has a keen memory for his younger days. His life has been a varied one, spent partly as a merchant, partly as a farmer, and latterly as a grain tester with a Peterborough cereal mill. Mr. Fife retired in 1925, and until five years ago kept himself busy with his garden. "All I can do now is think about the past," he said rather wistfully. "All my old school friends are gone, and so are the friends I made while I farmed in Otonabee."

Apprenticed to a merchant when he was 12, Mr. Fife completed his apprenticeship four years later, then spent three years in the United States. When he returned, he worked at Stevenson and Best's hardware store, located on the present site of Grafton's.

FATHER RETIRED IN 1862

When William Fife, Hugh Fife's father, retired in 1862, Hugh came to Peterborough with him to live. He attended the city's first school, the Union School, built on the ground now occupied by Central Public School.

In 1879, William Fife died and left his farm on lot 26, concession 1, Otonabee township, to Hugh. Mr. Fife farmed there until 1916, when he turned over the farm to his son George Henry Fife, who still lives on the farm.

The same year that he left the farm, Mr. Fife came to Peterborough and bought his present house at 219 Barnardo Ave. He was one of the first residents of that part of Smith township and commented today: "There were mighty few neighbors when I came here."

Mares Declares Reporter Distorted Spy Ring Story

OTTAWA (CP)—Superintendent George McClellan of the R.C.M.P. subversive branch today denied a Montreal newspaper report alleging the existence of a Russian spy ring in that city. In a press conference he disclosed that one of the sources of the story published by the Montreal Gazette was Dr. Jiri Mares, former Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal who broke with the Communists and decided to seek refuge in Canada. He visited Peterborough recently and accepted a position.

Dr. Mares appeared at the press conference in a very agitated state and said the story as far as he was aware was "utterly false."

Dr. Mares said one of the reasons for the story was an apparent distortion of statements made to the Gazette reporter, Karl Gerhard, by Dr. Mares and his wife, Juliette.

Dr. Mares also said another reason lay in the fact his wife was under high mental strain and had made statements to Mr. Gerhard which were in themselves exaggerated.

The story published in The Gazette yesterday alleged that a Russian spy ring had asked immigrants for information about Montreal defence plants.

Dr. mares explained to newspaper men that last Tuesday he invited Mr. Gerhard to his home to talk about the Gazette attitude toward the resigned Czech consul-

Fishing Fleets Causing Worry

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Navy Minister William McMahon disclosed today that two foreign fishing fleets attended by motor ships had been sighted outside Australian territorial waters near the Solomon Islands.

The Sydney Daily Mirror said the fleets were believed to be Japanese. But McMahon told reporters he could not say what their nationality was.

The Navy minister said that naval officers reported the "fishing vessels are operating legitimately outside Australian territorial waters."

The Mirror referred to the report as a "disquieting disclosure of the presence of foreign fleets off the Solomons," and said: "If the identity of the fishing craft is confirmed, it will mean the Japanese have returned to their prewar haunts in Australia's unguarded northern approaches."

Australia has no jurisdiction over fleets outside its territorial waters.

All Races, Creeds Attend Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—Practically all races, colors and creeds will be represented here at a conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Sept. 8-14.

Before the meeting delegates, who arrive in Montreal today, will visit Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. After the discussions, first in Canada since 1928, they will visit Ontario and Western Canada.

Migration is the first topic slated for discussion, then economic and financial relations and international affairs and defence.

All sessions will be closed to the press and public. At the end of each a summary will be issued to newspapers.

Brockville, Toronto and North Bay are among the points that will be visited in Ontario at the conclusion of the Ottawa meetings.

Making Some Changes

Navy Names Rear Admiral In New Promotions List

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy today added a new rear admiral to its list with announcement of the promotion of Commodore James C. Hibbard, 44, D.S.C. and bar, of Victoria and Ottawa, to be acting in that rank.

Defence Minister Claxton announced that the elevation of Commodore Hibbard, chief of naval personnel, will be effective Sept. 1 along with the promotion of three other senior naval officers to the rank of acting commodore.

Promoted to acting commodore are:

Capt. B. R. Spencer, 45, of Port Alberni, B.C., and Ottawa, superintendent of the dockyard, Esquimalt, B.C.

Capt. W. H. G. Rogers, O.B.E., 50, of Hamilton and Halifax, electrical engineer-in-chief at naval headquarters, Ottawa.

Capt. Rowland Baker, O.B.E., 50, of Ottawa, naval constructor-in-chief, naval headquarters Ottawa.

GOOD WAR RECORD

Rear Admiral Hibbard is a native of Hemison, Que., who joined the naval volunteer reserve in 1924. During the war he commanded the destroyer Skeena and won the D. S. C. for fighting U-boats on convoy work. In September, 1941, his convoy was under attack for 66 hours and 17 ships were lost.

Later he commanded the destroyer Iroquois and took part in the Murmansk run. In action before and after D-day the Iroquois participated in the sinking of 21 enemy surface craft in the English Channel and Bay of Biscay and her commander was awarded the bar to the D. S. C. He also was decorated by France and Norway.

U.S. Giving Arms Order Worth Billion

U.K., NATO Countries Will Benefit, Nothing For Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States tentatively plans to order $1,000,000,000 worth of weapons, military equipment and supplies from North Atlantic Pact countries during the year ending next July 1.

The orders will cover planes, tanks, ammunition, electronic equipment, auxiliary combat ships and other gear, mostly for European armed forces.

No part of the $1,000,000,000 will be spent in Canada, officials said, but the armed forces probably will continue to purchase in Canada items for U.S. defence.

BRITAIN GETS SOME

Informed officials disclosed the size of the new procurement program after special ambassador William H. Draper revealed in a report to President Truman that orders totalling $683,800,000 have already been placed. The $1,000,000,000 program now being drafted would be in addition to this.

Draper's report disclosed that some of the new orders will go to Britain for production of its famed Centurion tank "for certain N.A.T.O. countries."

In addition, the United States plans to contribute "slightly more than half," officials said, of the $400,000,000 aircraft production program for European factories.

These officials declined for security reasons to divulge what other weapons would be produced overseas. But it is believed that the bulk of the money will go to build up ammunition factories needed for Atlantic pact armies.

Draper told President Truman drastic changes in economic and trade policy are needed to keep from wrecking North Atlantic defences.

Draper said it is imperative for the United States to buy far more European exports and invest more dollars in Europe's industries.

"The existing dollar gap threatens not only our own export trade," he said, "but if not reduced may unfavorably affect the mutual defence effort as well."

Interest Rate Up

OTTAWA (CP)—The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation today announced that its interest rate on new joint loans approved Sept. 1 will increase to 5¼ per cent from 5 per cent. Interest rates on other types of loans under the National Housing Act will also be increased by one-quarter of one per cent. The announcement said the increase "reflects the upward movement in the general interest rate structure."

Hon. F. McCurdy Financier Dies In Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Hon. F. B. McCurdy, a Nova Scotia farm boy who rose to become a leading Canadian financier, died today in hospital here. He was 77.

Although shunning public life after a successful entry into the financial world, Mr. McCurdy was elected as a Conservative-Unionist member of the House of Commons in 1911 from the constituency of Shelburne-Queens.

Five years later he was named parliamentary secretary of the military and defence department and in 1918 took over the same post in the newly-created department of soldiers civil re-establishments.

He was re-elected by acclamation in 1917 as a member for Colchester and re-elected in a by-election in 1920. Then he was appointed public works minister. He was defeated in 1921 and never re-entered public life.

STARTED AS FARM HAND

Mr. McCurdy started his working career as a farm hand receiving 50 cents a day. He joined the old Halifax Banking Company in 1890 and 10 years later opened a private banking firm bearing his name. He became the first non-resident member of the Montreal Stock Exchange and his company rapidly became one of the leading investment houses in eastern Canada.

He became a publisher when he took over the old Liberal Chronicle and Star from his brother-in-law, the late G. Fred Pearson. The Chronicle and Star were merged with their long-bitter rivals—The Herald and Mail—in 1949.

A government statement following merger of the two newspapers said the Chronicle lost "substantially more than $1,000,000 in the 15 years before the merger."

While publisher of The Chronicle, Mr. McCurdy opened radio station CJCH in 1944 and retained control of it until his death.

Survivors include his widow, the former Florence Pearson. They were married in 1902 and had two sons, Pearson, who survives, and Donald, who died several years ago.

Jets Too Big Jump For Fliers

LONDON (CP)—More than 70 fatal accidents involving jet aircraft this year have convinced training experts that the jump from Harvards travelling 200 miles an hour to jets doing 500-600 m.p.h. is too much for students.

The gap, they say, should be bridged by 300-400 m.p.h. low-powered jet trainers specially designed for basic training.

The toll of jet students has caused concern in official circles lately, although the air ministry claims the accident rate is lower than it was when slower planes were used.

Young men selected as pilots receive their original training in piston-engined Prentices and advanced training in piston-engined Harvards.

All of a sudden, observe training experts, the young men are behind the controls of jet craft with an intensely stepped-up speed. The pilot must be able to make split-second decisions in emergencies.

The experts say a piston-engined craft responds at once to the throttle while the jet lags slightly. This adds to the pilot's responsibility in having to anticipate emergencies. They think the meteor trainer is too big—that a smaller, slower machine should be developed to overcome the high rate of accidents.

English Channel Full Of Eager Egyptians

DOVER (Reuters)—The English Channel was full of Egyptians today, all swimming manfully in the direction of France.

Six of them formed a relay team and took turns at churning their way across the 10-mile gap. They are trying to beat their record of 11 hours 11 minutes.

Another Egyptian, said Al Arabi, 36, is trying to make the crossing solo. He set out a few minutes behind Dr. George Brewster, 61, a Londoner who is making his 16th attempt to swim the tide-ripped Channel.

Does Parachute Jump On His 84th Birthday

PARIS (AP)—Bernarr MacFadden, 84-year-old physical culturist who laughs at old age, made a parachute jump here today to celebrate his birthday.

The wiry United States publisher missed the Seine river and landed on dry ground on the west bank.

Form Committee Aid Ottawa With Library

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent yesterday announced that a committee has been formed to advise the government on restoration of the Parliamentary library and on the construction of a national library.

Many books in the Parliamentary library were seriously damaged by water during a recent fire.

As for a national library, legislation was passed at the last session of Parliament authorizing its construction.

"There are many questions that have to be considered in relation to both libraries before definite decisions are taken," said Mr. St. Laurent.

The committee will be headed by Dr. W. Kaye Lamb, Dominion archivist. Other members will be F. Desrochers, general librarian; library of parliament; F. A. Hardy, parliamentary librarian; Edouard Fiset, consultant to the national capital planning committee; E. A. Gardner, chief architect, Department of Public Works, and R. G. Robertson, assistant secretary to the cabinet.

420 Planes Smash Huge Plants

Important Buildings Knocked Out; Civilians Get Warning

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Planes from four Allied countries today hit Pyongyang, capital and largest city of Communist North Korea, the mightiest blow of the war.

Three waves of land and carrier-based fighter bombers bombed and strafed the big Red nerve centre in a record 1,403 individual flights, the United States Fifth Air Force and Navy said.

Black smoke poured from the factories, supply dumps and troop billets at the outskirts of Pyongyang, forewarned of the raids by radio and leaflets.

A returning United Nations pilot said the city "was blowing up all over."

Planes from three U.S. aircraft carriers off the east coast of Korea flew 210 sorties over the Red capital.

HEAVY ATTACK

Some 420 planes poured 4,000 gallons of flaming gasoline and 597 tons of high explosives on more than 40 Communist targets during the dawn - to - dusk raids. They sprayed 52,000 rounds of machine-gun bullets on the area, the Air Force said.

Until today, the biggest single air blow of the war had been July 11, when more than 500 fighter bombers and Superfortresses poured 1,400 tons of bombs on Pyongyang during 1,063 sorties.

Today's first wave of jet and prop-driven planes battered Communist anti - aircraft defences, which pilots said threw up a heavy curtain of flak. Other waves concentrated on stockpiles, barracks, industries and airfields used to bolster the Communist war effort.

South African, South Korean and Australian planes joined U. S. Air force, Marine and Navy pilots in this fifth attack on the Red capital since Aug. 1.

HIT VITAL TARGETS

Four large explosions ripped the area after the bombs hit.

In the afternoon, 345 planes went back to hit the Reds again.

The Air Force said pilots destroyed 24 troop and supply buildings, damaged 30 buildings and destroyed or damaged 14 gun emplacements.

Boy 10 Pledges He'll Come Back

LIVERPOOL (Reuters)—A lonely and disappointed arrival on the liner Empress of Canada here today was 10-year-old John Sibley, who thought he had said a permanent goodbye to England when he sailed for Canada two months ago.

He went to stay with his uncle and aunt at Peterborough, Ont., to start a new life in the Dominion but they had to move to the United States. So John once again travelled the Atlantic alone.

"I'm going back home to my mother," said John, who lives at Bromley, Kent. "I've got four sisters but no brothers—I'm unlucky."

With a last look at the liner, John climbed aboard the boat-train to London and said "one day I'll go back to Canada."

A Rare Occasion

Big Four In Agreement On Rejecting Austrian Law

VIENNA (AP)—The Big-Four powers have vetoed an Austrian law which would have permitted pre-war "Aryanizers" to lay their hands for a second time on Jewish property they gained under Hitler.

The rare agreement among Russia and the western powers was reached by the executive committee of the four-power Allied Control Council for Austria, it was announced today.

The vetoed law was one of seven recent Austrian statutes which have come under fire from much of the world's press and Jewish leaders.

The four occupation powers approved three other laws aiding certain victims of Nazism, but asked the Austrian government to broaden them to include thousands of Nazi victims who no longer hold Austrian citizenship.

Still awaiting Allied Council action are three other controversial laws granting amnesties and returning property to 34,000 former Austrian Nazis. Jewish leaders have termed these a "reversal to Nazism."

The "re-acquisition law" rejected by the occupation powers would have permitted courts to reopen all cases of property restitution since the war, thus threatening Nazi victims who lost property under Hitler and got it back after the war.

Move To New Job Within Industry, But Keep Pension

TORONTO (CP)—A pension scheme, which allows an employee to move from one job to another within the industry without losing his pension rights, is being put into effect by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and employers in the men's clothing industry in Toronto and Hamilton. The plan will apply to workers in the two cities, now numbering about 4,000. Under it, all workers with 20 years' service in the industry and 10 years' membership in the union are eligible for pensions of $40 a month at age 65.

The plan is industry-financed, out of contributions by employers of three per cent of their payroll, and is government-approved. Payments into the fund began April 4, 1950.

RETROACTIVE TO MARCH

It applies from March 1 last and, in addition to current and future retirements, applies to those who left their jobs in the last five years because of illness, and to those who retired after Jan. 1, 1951.

It was inaugurated last night at a dinner at which 75 old-timers in the trade, some of them in their 80s, received their first pension cheques.

A statement from the Amalgamated Clothing Workers said inauguration of the plan "marks a new high in the 33 years of amicable, strike-free relations between the union and the Associated Clothing Manufacturers."

At a press conference preceding the inaugural dinner, representatives of both employers and union were asked to give their explanations of the 33 strike-free years.

Max E. Enkin, president of Coppley Noyes and Randall, Hamilton, for the employers, said:

"Perhaps it stems from a common background of hardship. The role of the clothing manufacturer was not an easy one, and the role of the worker was tough.

STRIKES FUTILE

"We learned the futility of strikes—that they were not the way to solve problems. I think there has been sound leadership on both sides, based on an understanding of the problems of both sides."

Sol Spivak, speaking for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said:

"The project is based on a scheme which has been worked on for a long time with the full co-operation of employers. The union does not claim full credit. There was leadership on both sides. I would call it 'the glory of the industry.'"

Problem Of 20 Cows Goes On UN Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A tribal farmer in Central Africa piled 20 or more cows today onto the United Nations agenda, already burdened by complaints of donkey-cart owners in Somaliland fighting high taxes and licence fees.

In letters signed by thumb-print, the complaints have made their laborious way here from Bigiraneza, a former chief of the Mwami Mwambusta tribe, in Usumbura, Belgian Ruanda-Urundi.

Bigiraneza says he left the cattle in the care of a fellow tribesman named Vyambambi, who later died. Relatives refused to return them.

Citing other misfortunes in a second letter, the farmer wound up:

"If you can do nothing for me, say so and I shall commit suicide rather than die. . . stripped of all my goods and seeing my high-born children reduced to poverty."

Hold Stepson 17 For Murder At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Carl Alexander Bell, 17, was charged with the murder of his stepmother early today after Mrs. Dorothy Bell, 32, died in hospital shortly after midnight.

Police said Mrs. Bell, mother and stepmother of nine children, had been stabbed in the back.

Bell was arrested as he wandered along a street, four blocks from the scene of the stabbing.

Mrs. Bell, second wife of trucker Alan Bell, was found by police face down on a couch in the living room of the Bell home. She had a deep knife wound in her back. Police were sent to the home after an anonymous telephone tip from a neighbor that there had been a stabbing.

HEAR ARGUMENT

Neighbors told police there had been sounds of an argument within the Bell home just before the boy and Mrs. Bell ran out of the front door.

Police found a knife with a six-inch blade in the living room.

Mr. Bell was not home at the time of the stabbing. He is the father of six children, one of them the youth who is charged with the stabbing, by his first marriage and three by his second marriage.

All the children live at home and several of the younger boys and girls were asleep upstairs when the stabbing took place.

US Bus Strike Strands Citizens

DETROIT (CP)—Drivers and mechanics of the Dearborn Coach Company went on strike today leaving 60,000 to 70,000 residents of Detroit suburbs without transportation.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway and Motor Coach operators (A.F.L.) said the strike is a protest over the firing of a driver employed by the coach company for 27 years.

It was a "spontaneous and unofficial" strike, the officials said.

Bus service linking Detroit, Dearborn and seven other Wayne county communities was cut off. The coach company employs about 400 drivers and mechanics but it was not known how many joined the walkout.

Maher, General Deny Difference

CAIRO (Reuters)—Premier Aly Maher and army chief Gen Mohammed Naguib declared last night there are no differences between them.

Any reports to the contrary, they said in a joint statement, are "untrue and without foundation."

Their statement followed persistent reports of disagreements between the premier and the strong man who put him in power five weeks ago after forcing King Faouk's abdication last month.

Say Home Building Will Drop 25 P.C.

VICTORIA (CP)—Home building in Canada this year will drop almost 25 per cent below the 1950 level because of financing difficulties, W. H. Grisenthwaite of Hamilton, president of the National House Builders' Association, said here yesterday.

He explained that money sources, such as insurance companies, find that their returns from corporation bonds and other securities almost equal those from mortgage financing, without the bother of delinquest accounts.

"As a result," he said, "we expect to build from 60,000 to 70,000 homes in Canada this year. In 1950 we built 94,000."

Second Plane Takes Soldier On Mercy Flight

NEW YORK (CP)—A Coast Guard mercy plane today plucked a soldier from a troop transport in the Atlantic to help speed him to his tragedy-filled Nebraska home.

The two-engined seaplane—the second to attempt the mission—flew to the side of the Navy transport Gen. Alexander Patch, about 500 miles northeast of New York, and about an hour later began its return flight to the coast guard air station at Salem, Mass.

Heavy Atlantic waves yesterday crippled an Air Force plane sent to pick up Sgt. Charles R. Buggy and fly him to his Winnebago, Neb., home.

One of his two children is dead of polio, his other child lay ill of the same disease, and his wife—suffering from a serious spinal ailment—faced critical surgery.

HIT LIFEBOAT

The first mercy plane landed near the transport but collided with a lifeboat lowered from the ship to secure a line between the two craft. The plane's propeller was damaged.

Two of the transport's crew were reported injured after plunging overboard in an apparent effort to aid fellow seamen in the lifeboat.

Buggy has been stationed in Germany. His four year-old son Charles Jr. died two days ago at Sioux City.

Four Muskies Taken One Day On Buckhorn

Dog days? Fishing poor? Nonsense.

Things are really swinging into stride at Buckhorn Lake off Scotsman's Point. On Thursday four lunge were taken by four different people, all visitors, and though they were not large fish they were comfortable keepers.

L. H. Hoffman of Hamerville, Pa., boated a 33½ incher and a friend from the same home State, another 33 inches long. Two Ohio ladies went a little better; Mrs. Howard Burnley of Barberton, O., landed a 34-incr lunge and Mrs. Milton Richardson of Chardon, O., topped the list of small muskies with one 37 inches.

A party of bass fishermen came home with nine nice ones and another group had four bass and four pickerel to show for their day's outing. If this sort of luck holds in that area it looks bright for fishermen this coming long weekend.

St. Laurents Visit Shrine

ORILLIA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mrs. St. Laurent arrived here today on a visit to the Martyrs' Shrine and other historic sites in this Georgian Bay district.

Their daughter, Mrs. Frank Lafferty, was also a member of the party.

Driving in an open car from their railway coach parked at nearby Medonte junction, the St. Laurents were greeted by Mayor Austin Cook and escorted through crowd-lined streets to Couchiching Park for an official welcoming ceremony.

Mr. St. Laurent's visit is strictly an informal one, a pattern which he intends to follow on the rest of his tour which will take him west to Victoria.

The Prime Minister is scheduled to visit Coldwater, Victoria Harbor and Port McNicoll and then go to the Martyrs' Shrine for luncheon.

The tour will resume this afternoon with visits to Midland, Penetanguishene and Lafontaine. The prime minister will speak briefly at each stop.

Magistrate Gives Newlyweds Present

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Magistrate Atkinson yesterday contributed — in a left-handed sort of way — a $90 wedding present to a pair of local honeymooners.

Charged with being in illegal possession of liquor, Stanley Makuch, Kirkland Lake pleaded ignorance of wrong doing. He said he had purchased the liquor — in Quebec — to take on his honeymoon.

The magistrate first said that would be a $100 fine but then relented, saying: "I'll let you off with a $10 fine. Consider the extra $90 a wedding present."

U.S. Inspector Shoots Calves

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — An "international incident" was in the making today after the shooting of two calves on Canadian soil by an inspector of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Animal Husbandry.

Because of the foot-and-mouth embargo on Canadian cattle, U.S. inspectors have orders to shoot any animals, Canadian or American, which wander on Canadian soil and return to the U.S.

The calves were shot a few minutes after they left their mothers and wandered outside a fence. Owner Val Haynes claims the fence is 30 feet from the international boundary. Two empty shells were found close to the fence.

Haynes has protested to Washington.

In 1906 President Theodore Roosevelt set aside a 30-foot strip along the international border in the U.S. as a public domain. Canada took similar action.

Panel Truck, Two Cars Damaged In Collision

Extensive damage resulted to a panel truck and two cars involved in an accident on Hunter St., east, just west of Mark St. Thursday afternoon.

The accident occurred as a panel truck, driven by Miss Eileen Morley, 521 Chamberlain St., was travelling west, and a car pulled away from the curb.

The two collided, and the panel truck bounced off the left front fender of the car, and struck the rear of a car parked along the north curb, sending it 43 feet six inches into a hydro pole.

Miss Morley said she saw no signal from the car pulling away from the curb, but the driver, Oscar Dunford, R.R. 3 Peterborough said he looked for traffic before pulling away and saw none approaching and also signalled.

An estimated $100 damage resulted to the front of the Dunford car and $450 to the panel truck.

An undetermined amount of damage resulted to the front and rear of the parked car, owned by Charles Hobbs, 214 Westcott St. The car was equipped with an automatic transmission which was in a locked position for parking and the impact, shoving it ahead damaged the mechanism.

Patrol Sgt. Claire McGillen and Constable Wilfred Perry investigated.

R. H. Childerhose Sales Engineer

A former Peterborough man, R. Hedley Childerhose, has been appointed sales engineer of the newly formed Canadian subsidiary of Hallcrafters Co. of Chicago, manufacturers of precision radio and television equipment.

Organization of the Canadian branch of the firm was announced today by William J. Halligan, president of the company.

Prior to the outbreak of war, Mr. Childerhose operated a radio and electrical appliance store on King Street, just west of George Street, in the old Peter Hamilton Building.

EDUCATED IN CITY

He was born in Fort William, and came to Peterborough with his parents, the late J. R. Childerhose and Mrs. Childerhose. Mrs. Childerhose is now living at 285 Wolfe Street.

After graduating from public school here, Mr. Childerhose went to work for Robert Haddow, manager of the former Heintzman store on Hunter Street. Later, he went into business for himself and joined the R.C.A.F. in 1940.

During the Second World War, he was an instructor in wireless and radio for the R.C.A.F. in Ottawa.

When he was in business here, he was a distributor for Rogers-Majestic products, and after his discharge, he became associated with the company in Toronto. He has remained with the firm ever since, until his appointment today to the newly formed Canadian subsidiary of the Chicago company.

Only Base Metals Firm On Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices slipped today in early afternoon stock market trading and only base metals held firm.

Industrials opened weakly and continued to slip and western oils slipped slowly during the first three hours. Base metals and golds fluctuated between small gains and losses.

Trading picked up slightly after a slow opening and broadened to cover a fairly wide list of western oils but share volume fell below recent brisk sessions. Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,031,000 shares.

Leading base metals issues were mixed but a number of lower-priced stocks drew good support. American Yukon, Ascot, Eastern Metals and Eureka gained pennies in active trading. Silver Miller attracted selling interest for a penny loss.

Steels, manufacturing and miscellaneous issues led the industrial decline but utilities, liquors, refining oils, banks and constructions strengthened.

Senior golds and prospects weakened while junior producers gained strength. Anglo-Rouyn, Donalda and Hugh Pam traded actively.

Belleville Wins 6-5, Could Force Playoff

Belleville inched closer to another chance at Peterborough Petes in the C.O.B.L. senior loop by defeating Kingston Thursday night 6-5 with a tenth inning home run by Huck Reeves.

If the Petes should lose to Kingston Saturday night, they will be tied with Belleville and a sudden death decider would be played Monday in whatever city won the toss.

Belleville worked hard for their win. They were trailing 5-3 in the top of the ninth when Tony Pettit hit a home run with one on to tie the game. Reeves homer in the tenth turned the trick.

Two UE Locals Plan Festival

A festival is being sponsored by Locals 524 and 527 of U.E. on Lagor Day at the Riverside Bowl.

The children are going to have a real windup of their holiday season: Ice-cream, candy sticks, balloons, chocolate milk and peanuts given free of charge to all children on the grounds.

The merchants have contributed very much to the success of the festival, and many worthwhile prizes are set aside for the winners of the races.

Races for young children, 'teenagers, grown-ups are on the program. Horseshoe pitching and novelty racing are included also.

An exhibition softball game will be played at 8 p.m., between an All-Star Negro team from Toronto and an All-Star U.E. team from Peterborough.

Hot dogs, corn on the cob, and ice-cold drinks will be served afternoon and evening by a voluntary staff of the U.E. executives, stewards, and the U.E. Ladies' Auxiliary.

C. S. Jackson, president of the U.E. in Canada, will speak.

The festival will start at 1 p.m. and will continue until 10:30 p.m. at which time the grand prize will be drawn, as well as an attendance prize.

In case of rain the festival will be held on Saturday following Labor Day. The entire arrangements committee is under the supervision of Len Velleman, U.E. organizer. The sports program is under the management of Art Hunter and Howie Dalton.

Mares Declares

general.

Dr. Mares said it seemed to him that while the interview was going on Mr. Gerard "raised questions in a sort of private conversation to which my wife and I listened."

STORIES DISTORTED

"Then my wife told stories of previous experiences and these were completely misinterpreted and distorted by Mr. Gerhard."

Dr. Mares said his wife told the reporter of an alleged kidnapping last spring when she was taken by two men to the Montreal harbor and detained there for political reasons.

However, Dr. Mares said he himself had believed this story had been exaggerated and although he did not pass this information along to the reporter, he believed it was evident to the newspaperman that the story was not entirely true.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE

The Gazette story spoke of a Polish immigrant employed at Canadian Vickers Limited offering one of the newspaper's informants, a girl, data on defence orders for transmission to "headquarters."

Dr. Mares said that during the interview, the reporter was told of how a German acquaintance of the Mares family had stated that the security of the plant was so lax that anyone could sneak secret plans out of it.

But that was all the reporter was told. Dr. Mares said he knew of no Russian spy ring in Montreal. And though, since his resignation, he had received several phone calls from anti-Communists doubting his deflection from the Reds, he had no fear of reprisals from the Communists themselves.

"The montreal report is completely false," he said.

At another point, Dr. Mares was questioned about a Montreal Gazette story appearing in today's issue saying that despite lack of information from the R. C. M. P., and Ottawa sources, the news of the existence of a Russian spy ring operating in Montreal was given new credence by former members of the Czech foreign office.

Dr. Mares said the report seemed to indicate that again the source was the former Czech consul-general. This report, he said, appeared to be "extremely exaggerated."

MAKES APOLOGY

He said he wanted to apologize to the Canadian government and to the Canadian people for what had occurred. He hoped it would not compromise his status in this country.

Since his resignation, he had found a job as a trailer salesman for a Peterborough firm. He planned to live and travel in a company trailer in the West, selling vehicles wherever he could.

Superintendent McClellan told the conference that when he first read the Montreal Gazette story, it did not seem to fit in detail with "any information we had."

With the assistance of Dr. Mares' explanation, "we were able to put our finger on one or two incidents in the story which we were unable to identify until his explanation," Superintendent McClellan said.

"The story had been investigated by us and not substantiated."

He said he noted The Gazette's second story on the Russian spy ring today and it appeared to him that the two stories were "inconsistent."

"I have no information which would substantiate the existence of a spy ring as reported in The Gazette. I hate to use a strong word, but the story is false."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The American dollar was at a discount of 3⅞ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon. Thursday's noon rate was 96 5-32 cents. The pound sterling was $2.67½, against $2.67¾ Thursday.

NAME OMITTED

In the list of pallbearers appearing in Thursday's paper at the funeral of Percy I. Bentley of Millbrook, the name of Charles Garside was omitted.

No Prosecution To Be Launched

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson announced today no prosecutions will be lodged under a combines report charging 13 members of a Winnipeg trade union with violating the Combines Act.

Combines Commissioner T. D. MacDonald, in a report July 18, taxed officials of the Winnipeg Local No. 1 of the Canadian Bakery Workers' Union (C. C. L.) with breaking the Combines Act by conspiring to hold up bread prices.

Mr. Garson said today the federal government, after the issue has been put up to it by the Manitoba attorney-general's department, had decided not to prosecute.

The finding of the combines commissioner, which set up a precedent by holding union members guilty of engaging in an illegal combine, was that executives of the union violated the Act by ordering members to shut off bread deliveries to a grocery chain that had cut prices.

300 Electricians Back On Job

WINDSOR (CP)—Three hundred Windsor electricians were back on their jobs today after a four-day "holiday" which had the effect of a strike.

Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) said terms of a settlement reached with the Electrical Contractors' Association will be released later.

Meanwhile, Chrysler of Canada officials announced that because of the electricians' work stoppage, some 800 men will be laid off today for an indefinite period.

The work stoppage had held up supply of engine blocks from Walker Metal Products Limited, Chrysler officials said. It was not known when supply could be resumed.

The electrical workers' were said to be asking a 15-cent boost on an hourly basic wage rate of $2.20.

Atlantic Storm Becomes Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The erratic Atlantic storm developed into a full-fledged hurricane today as it swirled towards the Atlantic coast with increasing speed and intensity.

Aircraft checking the course of the storm located the centre about 280 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., at noon.

The weather bureau said the upper Florida east coast, Georgia and South Carolina were in the path of the Hurricane at present.

Storm warnings were displayed from Vero Beach, Fla., north to Wilmington, N. C.

Nine Forest Fires Fought In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Nine forest fires are being fought in Ontario today.

Eleven have been extinguished during the past 24 hours.

The nine fires are located as follows: Algonquin 2; Cochrane 1; Sioux Lookout 3; Port Arthur 2; Kenora 1.

The hazard is medium across the province.

Recover Youth's Body

SARNIA (CP)—The body of Stanley Hotz, 21, drowned in Lake Huron Aug. 24, a month after he was married, was recovered from the St. Clair river today by the Sarnia fire department. A United States Coast Guard patrol boat spotted the body as it was swept into the mouth of the river.

TORONTO (CP)—A. Wally Diestlmeyer, Kitchener figure skater who represented Canada at the 1948 Olympics, will be married Sept. 27 to Bette Wrinch of Toronto.

Turning pro after the Olympics, he taught at Regina for four years and conducted a summer school at Niagara Falls. He will teach at Oshawa this winter.

Chops Cable Has Lucky Escape

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Angelo Tomellato of Merritton escaped with only a mud bath and a slight burn when he chopped into a 13,000-volt cable with an axe.

Tomellato, employed on a construction work at the Ontario Paper Co. in Thorold, was digging in a trench when he discovered a plank which protected the 13,000-volt cable. In attempting to dislodge the plank with an axe, he cut into the cable.

An explosion of fire occurred and Tomellato was thrown to the ground. The wooden handle of the axe and his heavy shoes saved him from electrocution.

Flow Of River Stopped 24 Hours

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Flow of the Thames river north branch has been stopped for the past 24 hours.

Only water in the river between Fanshawe dam and the forks is the low summer flow from Carling Creek, Medway Creek and smaller streams.

Since bulldozers blocked off the diversion channel at Fanshawe dam yesterday the river has been forming a lake to get high enough to run out a temporary hole in the base of the dam.

First water through the dam was expected early this afternoon.

Will Hold Inquest

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An inquest will be held Sept. 4 into the death of Nellie Wranich, 18, who died in hospital Aug. 24, Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge said today.

A post mortem disclosed the girl died of poisoning.

Ike Prepares Tougher Talks For Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower closed his doors to visitors today to write speeches he hopes will have the punch his supporters are demanding.

The Republican presidential candidate plans to spend three days on the addresses he will deliver on a southern tour starting Tuesday.

Some admirers have said his campaigning so far has been too soft. Others have said he was saving his knockout punches for those last vital rounds just before election.

MAY BEGIN SWINGING

But with his Democratic rival, Governor Adlaie E. Stevenson, throwing increasingly sharp jabs in his direction, the General's aides predict he might begin swinging, himself, earlier than he had planned.

Previously, he had been scheduled to start his oratorical slugging Sept. 4 in Philadelphia with his first "major political" speech.

One of the first shareholders in the Peterborough Milling Co., Mr. Fife worked in Peterborough for Archie Campbell, who bought the milling company. It passed from Mr. Campbell's hands about 1923 to the Maple Leaf Milling Co.

For seven years, Mr. Fife worked under Mr. Campbell, then for two more years before his retirement in 1925 for the Maple Leaf Co. His occupation was that of grain tester.

Mr. Fife was married to Margaret Ann Johnston, a daughter of Robert Johnston of Lakefield. They had five children, two boys and three girls.

Their eldest daughter Gertrude, who trained as a nurse, died in 1934, 11 days after the death of Mrs. Fife. Still living are two sons, William W. of Emily township, George Henry on the homestead, and two daughters, Miss Maud Fife, who keeps house for her father, and Mrs. Hazel Spilsbury of Detroit.

"I worked in my garden until five years ago," said Mr. Fife. "I had to have something to do after I stopped work.

"You know, I never aspired to any great work; I just did my little bit."

The secret of old age? Mr. Fife laughed: "Hard work, I guess."

TAKES IT OFF — Mother's rolling pin comes in handy at reducing unwanted pounds on thighs and hips of Miss Canada who enters the Miss America contest at Atlantic City next week. Marilyn Reddick, 18-year-old talented blonde from Agincourt, near Toronto, was a mite heavy in the Miss Canada contest but the pounds have been taken off. Her fame, too, is spreading. A United States marine squadron in San Diego, Calif., has asked her for a pin-up picture to take with them to Korea.

Cobalt Bomb On Way West, Built In Ottawa

WINNIPEG — A radioactive "Cobalt Bomb" for the treatment of cancer passed through here Thursday on its way to Vancouver where a British Columbia clinic will shortly begin using it in the fight to kill cancerous growths on human beings.

The bomb, housed in a massive 7,000-pound structure built by an Ottawa firm, is being carried in a sealed C.N.R. car under special orders. If the Cobalt were not shielded and controlled it would give off 100,000 times the radiation a person standing two feet away could safely absorb.

ONE UNIT A MONTH

The huge machine which is sold for $48,000 only contains the weight of Cobalt equal to that of ten nickels. It is the first such therapy unit built by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. in the Ottawa suburb of Eastview but within a year the company plans to produce the units at a rate of one a month.

X-ray equipment which has been used in the fight against cancer up to now costs from two to five times as much as the Cobalt 60 beam therapy unit. Demand for these units is heavy and orders have been pouring in from Canadian and United States hospitals.

Only two other similar machines are operating in Canada at the moment. One is housed at the University of Saskatchewan the other—built to Atomic Energy of Canada specifications but not by it—at a London Ont. cancer clinic.

THE NEW C.G.E. ADDITION exterior was completed this week and a flag was hoisted to indicate the construction work had all been done without an accident. This newest building of the Peterborough industry is built along Monaghan Rd.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Grade 13 To Be Easier Will Shift Curriculum

TORONTO (CP)—Grade 13 in Ontario schools will be less tough this year because part of the curriculum will be shifted to grade 12, Education Minister Dunlop said yesterday.

The change had been made by moving part of the content of several subjects, particularly history, back a year. He said he does not think there is any danger of grade 12 being overloaded, but will give students a better rounded course.

Dr. Dunlop also said that there would be a record enrollment of 832,400 pupils, a jump of 38,000 more than last year. There is, however, a shortage of 800 to 1,000 teachers, but schools would be able to manage without having to close any classrooms.

Normal school enrollment will be up, but a slight decrease is expected at Ontario College of Education which trains teachers for secondary schools.

Elementary school enrollment is expected to increase at the rate of 35,000 per year for several years and an additional 1,000 teachers, exclusive of those needed for replacements, will be required each year.

Because of high construction costs, the department has urged local boards to give priority to classroom accommodation and eliminate, wherever possible, less essential accommodation such as playrooms.

NO TEACHER SHORTAGE

There is no shortage of teachers at the secondary school level, although in some subjects—commercial courses, girls' physical education, home economics and vocational shopwork—there is a scarcity.

Because of the relative abundance, department officials are not worried about the fewer number of applications received so far for admittance to O.C.E.

The picture is different at the elementary school level, partly due to the increased birthrate since the end of the war and partly as a result of immigration.

Expected elementary school enrolment is 696,400, an increase of 35,000 over last year. Over 1,000 new classrooms will be ready for the increase, making a total of more than 2,065 new classes in two years.

Dr. Dunlop is hopeful steps taken by the department to meet the shortage will head off a crisis. In the first place, the new training course for elementary teachers attracted 500 students this summer and they will be going out to teach this year.

In addition, more than 1,600 teachers graduated from the regular course in Normal School. Since this is the last year students will be able to get into Normal School with five Grade 13 subjects — eight will be required from next year on—a last-minute rush of teacher candidates is expected.

EMERGENCY COURSES

The emergency course requires students to attend summer school for six weeks after they finish Grade 12, teach for two years with another summer school between, then spend a year at Normal School.

In areas where no qualified teacher can be found, letters of permission have been granted to people with no teacher training to take over classes. Dr. Dunlop said fewer letters have been issued this year than last. He noted that more married women teachers are coming back into the classroom, which is helping the situation.

The news of the Grade 13 curriculum shift will be welcomed by students just starting their final year in high school. Grade 13 is generally considered to be as tough as anything encountered between kindergarten and university graduation, climaxed as it is by the departmental examination.

Dr. Dunlop said the change has been made by shifting part of the content of several subjects, notably history, back to Grade 12. He added there is no feeling of danger that Grade 12 will now be overloaded.

Prohibited Area

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The Australian government last night declared the Rum Jungle uranium field in the Northern Territory a prohibited area. Unauthorized entry photographing, sketching, or making notes carries a penalty of seven years in prison.

Cut Out Assistance

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Assisted passages to Southern Rhodesia for British immigrants are no longer being granted, a government spokesman said yesterday. He said that because of an "alarming increase" in the colony's adverse balance of payments the number of immigrants was to be limited temporarily to 900 a month.

Dulles Attacks Gov't. Termites

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—John Foster Dulles today attacked "termites" in government and declared a greater measure of patriotism is needed among all in authority as "we look into the awful abyss of atomic and hydrogen war."

In a prepared speech the Republican party foreign policy advisor declared:

"Termites can destroy the noble edifice that our forebears built. They must be rooted out, and the loyalty which qualifies their successors must be something more positive than the negative virtue of not being a known member of the communist party."

To win the cold war, Dulles called for a greater measure of patriotism, vision, boldness, strength and dynamism.

Maher Decides King Educated In Egypt

CAIRO (Reuters)—Prime Minister Aly Maher announced today that the infant King Ahmed Fuad II will be educated in Egypt so that he will grow up among his people.

"The return of King Fuad is of vital importance," the announcemen said. "He must learn to understand and love the people he will one day rule."

The seven-month-old king now is at Capri, Italy, with his father, former King Farouk, forced into exile by Gen. Mohammed Naguib in a coup that established Maher as premier.

Under Islamic law, Fuad will remain with his mother until he reaches the age of seven.

Last of Reparations

HELSINKI (Reuters)—Finland sent her last carload of war reparations to Soviet Russia today. The freight car was the 343,700th to leave since September, 1944, when the Finns started sending Russia $300,000,000 worth of reparations under the armistice treaty that ended the little "war within a war."

Would Ban Nylon

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Burmese legislators were asked today to ban flimsy nylon jackets favored by their womenfolk. A bill has been submitted proposing a ban on such garments which "reveal rather than conceal."

Fine Cattle Show Opens At Exhibition In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Perfect weather today promised another record attendance as the Canadian National Exhibition rolled into its seventh day.

Almost 200,000 persons streamed into the grounds yesterday as the temperature climbed to 91, and the weatherman predicted more of the same. More than 1,000,000 persons have visited the fair in the first six days; exhibition officials are hoping for three times that number before the two-week show closes.

Music was the main attraction yesterday. More than 1,200 singers, dancers and instrumentalists wandered through the grounds performing on improvised stages. Competitions ranged from an old time fiddlers contest to square dance tournaments.

CATTLE SHOW OPENS

Dairy cattle, sheep and breeding horse judging opened with a record number of entries in each class. Exhibitors from all parts of Ontario have brought some 300 holsteins to the fair.

Some of the men and women who helped boost the exhibition to its present prominence were entertained today to mark the annual press, radio and advertising day.

Guest speaker at the director's luncheon is the representative of one of Canada's newest media, Mavore Moore, director of CBC television.

Yesterday, Selwood Greta's Burton, owned by Stansell Brothers of Aylmer, was named grand champion Ayrshire bull while Aurchenbrain Battle Flame, owned by Ellen Bompa of Bell Corners, took the reserve title.

Holstein grand champion bull was Spring Farm Fond Hope, owned by J.M. Fraser of Streetsville, Ont. Trey Home Lochinvar, exhibited by the Grey County Home at Markdale, was reserve champion.

Williams S. Brooks' Double Romulus from his Paris farm was named grand champion Guernsey bull and the entry of Joyce Brothers, Milton, and Jack Fraser, Concord, Fraserdale Merry Admiral, was reserve winner.

FIRST SHOWED IN 1931

Mr. Butcher first exhibited his Jersey cattle at the C.N.E. 21 years ago when he entered four animals. This year he is back with 22 animals, 17 the progeny of one sire—Edglea Basil Butterboy.

Mr. Butcher this year carried off the grand champion Jersey bull titles at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto and the International Fair at Waterloo. His entry was the first Canadian-bred bull ever to win the title at the international show.

PRETTY PROUD

"We're pretty proud of the fact," Mr. Butcher said, "that all the animals we have at the C.N.E. we have bred ourselves."

The Butchers indicated that they intend to stay in Canadian Jersey competition for a long time. Mr. Butcher's 11-year-old grandson, Kent, son of Grant Buutcher, exhibited his first winner, Bell City Butter Boy's Fawn, first in the heifer junior calf class.

In Leicesters sheep judging, Ephraim Snell of Clinton made almost a complete sweep of the awards. He took the champion and reserve ram and champion ewe titles. Another major award winner in the same class was Ralph Young of Caistor Centre, who exhibited the reserve champion ewe. Third largest winner was Emke Brothers of Elmwood.

Harvest Dale, owned by John Campbell of Georgetown, was named grand champion stallion in judging of standard bred horses. Reserve champion was Van Lee, owned by A.B. Weber of Kitchener. Harvest Dale also took the senior champion title while Van Lee was declared junior champion. Reserve junior champion was Van Har, owned by Mr. and Mrs. N. Smith of Brampton.

Grand and reserve champion general purpose mares were exhibited by Alden Craven of Ailsa Craig. Mr. Craven took firsts in every section of this class.

Campbellford Players Plan Tennis Tourney

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Arrangements have been completed for an inter-club tennis tournament with Madoc, to take place on September 3. The tournament will give experienced players a chance to get together, and it is expected many old acquaintances will be renewed when the delegation from Madoc, believed to be about a dozen strong, arrive.

Campbellford News

Alfred Cassan of Peterborough has been visiting at the residence of George Potts, here, for several days.

Mrs. Eric Bythell and daughter, Margo, have returned to Montreal after visiting relatives in Campbellford and Lake Placid, N.Y. Miss Bonnie Bythell is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyers at their cottage at Trent River.

Mrs. F. Ballinger of Marion, Indiana, was a guest this week of Misses Lillian and Winnifred Hay. Mrs. Ballinger was formerly Miss Marjorie Bruce of the Campbellford High School staff.

Token Payment To The Jews

The pain, anguish, hunger, terror, humiliation, deportation, and extermination suffered at the hands of the Nazis, and which Jews in all German-occupied countries underwent, can never be recompensed nor expiated. Time may dull but never wipe out the world's memory of this most awful chapter in any modern nation's history. No nation can make up for such treatment of a people by pay. The West Germans know this. Their offer to pay the Jews $822,000,000 in money, seized property and produce is a recognition of guilt and shame more than payment of a debt. The Germans do not owe the Jews a debt; they owe what can never be repaid: ten years of time and tens of thousands of lives.

* * *

Only after delicate approaches last winter and five months of negotiation on non-German territory, has an agreement been reached between the West German government and the surviving Jews, represented by Israel officials and officers of international Jewish organization. In exchange for this token payment of more than three-quarters of a billion dollars, Israel will diplomatically recognize the state of West German, and have trade relations with it. It is significant that the terms of the draft agreement are in the English language, and not in German, with which both parties in the conference are familiar as a mother-tongue. The Jews want no family relationship with Germany.

* * *

Still mindful of the German treatment of the Jews, we can applaud the German gesture of recompense. The West German offer shines in a white light compared with the Communist East German complete disregard and seeming unconcern for any kind of expiation.

Unhappy Trieste

The principle that the boundaries of states should so far as possible coincide with linguistic frontiers seems to many to be eminently fair; yet it has not worked well in practice. After the First World War the first wholesale attempt to reorganize Europe into linguistic unities was made. New countries such as Czechoslovakia were carved out of the ramshackle Austrian Empire, while older states such as Poland were resurrected. The general principle that all Polish-speaking areas should be incorporated into the Polish state, all French speakers into the French state and so on was followed more or less, though with notable exceptions. For example there was a German-speaking fringe on the borders of Czechoslovakia known as the Sudeten Germans. Later on Hitler invoked the principle of self-determination to incorporate these people into the German Reich, and it was difficult to object to this without undermining the whole basis of the Versailles Treaty.

The case of Trieste is significant. An Italian-speaking port at the Northern end of the Adriatic, it is backed by a Serb-speaking hinterland. Before 1914 it was part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and acted as the main trade outlet to the Mediterranean for the entire Danubian area. Under the terms of the Treaty of St. Germain (1919) Trieste, together with an area round it was awarded to Italy. Under Italian rule its trade languished. The old Austro-Hungarian Empire had broken up and the mutual jealousies of the succession states could never again create a favourable economic climate for Trieste, which was eminently badly located for Italian commerce. Moreover Genoa and Naples and other Italian cities were much more favourably located and had for long been rivals of Trieste.

After the war of 1939-45 Trieste was several from Italy. Most of the surrounding territories were given to Jugo-Slavia, then a Moscow satellite state under Tito. A small corridor of coastal territory connected her by land with Italy. The city itself has been split into two zones: Zone A, occupied by an Anglo-American force, and Zone B, occupied by Jugo-Slav forces. This highly unsatisfactory state of affairs persists today. The Western powers are anxious to turn the whole city over to the Italians, and a joint declaration was made in 1948 by the governments of the United States, Britain and France to that effect. It is hard to see how this could result in any noticeable economic benefit to the city except insofar as it would put to an end the uncertainty that is paralysing it. Nevertheless the majority of the inhabitants urgently desires reunion with Italy, even if it harts them.

The stumbling-block is Jugo-Slavia. During the Fascist regime the Italians tried to efface the Slav character of the whole territory which they held. Place-names of villages were Italianized, surnames underwent the same treatment, and even gravestone inscriptions were altered. The Slav language was forbidden in churches, and school-children were told not to speak to their parents in any other language but Italian. Thus the Jugo-Slavs have some basis for their assumption that there are really more Slays in the district than appeared in the statistics obtained under Italian auspices. Nobody, however, except the Jugo-Slavs, doubted the predominantly Italian character of the city itself, apart from the rural hinterland, which is admittedly more Slav and has in fact been awarded to Jugo-Slavia.

Since Tito's tiff with Moscow he has drawn towards the West in many ways. But he still maintains an intransigeant attitude towards the Trieste question, which is poisoning Italo-Jug-Slav relations. It is felt in Washington that a concession regarding Trieste might have been exacted from Tito in exchange for aid which was furnished with no strings attached." The State Department is working hard at present to bring the two countries together over the conference table. We prophesy that Tito will drive a very hard bargain. Trieste was actually captured from the Germans by Tito's forces, and its retention is a matter of prestige. The Marshal is by no means universally popular in his own country, in fact his position is precarious. If he were to hand Trieste on a platter to the Italians it might prove his downfall. Meanwhile Trieste is dying.

Another School For Crime?

So asks the Ottawa Citizen, discussing the new reformatory that is to be built near Millbrook.

Much of the blame for rioting at the Guelph reformatory last month was placed on a seemingly incorrigible element among the prisoners. The decision announced by the Ontario government this week to segregate these troublemakers therefore makes sense. But is Ontario to abandon hope for the hardened minority? The type of segregation proposed gives the impression of a defeatist attitude.

The Citizen, waxing humane about the "new cell-block jail, walled and towered like the old-fashioned federal penitentiaries" (where it found the towers, we cannot say; Mr. Foote did not tell us anything about these battlements when we asked him for details; architects have no plans at all yet) points to a seeming contradiction in the Minister of Reform Institutions' statements. There will be 'no recreation facilities and no frills,' the Citizen says Mr. Foote said, and yet 'there will be nothing lacking in modern treatment.' These statements sound as if Mr. Foote had accidentally put on a recording of Mr. Dunlop, the Minister of Education.

We had this statement from Mr. Foote, too, and also, as we reported last week, this amplification: "We're not trying to be brutal. We do not mean that no effort will be made to understand the prisoners. There will be nothing lacking in modern treatment, but there will be strict discipline." Although Mr. Foote said that there will be no recreational facilities, the fact is that there must be. The Germans even had them in Belsen. There will at least be a courtyard to air and walk the prisoners.

When reformatory inmates "will not react to the training program we have at Guelph and Burwash and they make it impossible for us to operate it for others"—we quote Mr. Foote's words—then a new institution is necessary. So Millbrook reformatory is to be built, to which the toughies will be sent after a trial period at Guelph or Burwash. This Province cannot tolerate having its reformatories damaged for a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars by inmates who have not merited the right to mild treatment. Nor should it permit other inmates amenable to the training at Guelph to be deprived of their opportunity of reform by really bad yeggs who are a contaminating influence on types suitable to Guelph and Burwash.

The Ottawa Citizen's humanitarian concern does more credit to its heart than to its head. We hope that reform will be possible at Millbrook, but events have demonstrated that the Guelph system is not the right kind for some of the characters now sent there. We hope that Millbrook will not be a jail, a school for crime, that turns out hardened criminals; but recognize that before they are sent to the new institution, the prisoners will already be hardened. That is why Millbrook has been necessary. The best that can be hoped for is some measure of reform among them, without damage to the processes and property at Guelph and Burwash.

Josif Never Takes A Holiday

By G. E. R. GEDGE (In Vienna)

ONE OF THE EARLIEST exports from Soviet Russia to her newly-acquired satellites in 1945 was the Stakhanov system of exploiting the workers. It was introduced in the form in which it was originally started in Russia—as an honourable distinction, with appropriate financial rewards, conferred on exceptionally successful workers. It rapidly degenerated into a spur for universal application to the workers of Russia's newly acquired colonial possessions. For what a Stakhanovite could do, his fellows could also do, or die in the attempt. If they could not or would not be sweated individually, they could be forced by Communist overseers to submit to collective exploitation in Stakhanovite "brigades."

✧ ✧ ✧

BASED on their achievements, "norms" were fixed which all workers had to fulfil if they wished to avoid being penalised. These norms once achieved, meetings of workers were summoned and "rigged" to produce resolutions "demanding" a raising of norms—i.e., "insisting" on still harsher tasks being imposed on themselves for the same pay. Today the Stakhanov system has taken on forms in the various People's Democracies which are often laughable—save for the workers subjected to it.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN HUNGARY, for instance, a system of "Stakhanovite marriages" has been introduced, by which intending brides are coerced into raising industrial output. It works like this: When the Communist key-man in a factory or workshop discovers that a girl is hoping to get married, he has a confidential conversation with her. In the course of this she learns that her future husband's record is not all that it should be. Sometimes a "wrong social origin" is hinted at; sometimes it is "slacking" at the machine; sometimes "consorting with enemies of the people." When the terrified girl breaks into tears of protest, she is told that the Communist Party can be merciful towards one who gives practical proof of repentance. It is within her power to save her intended from exposure by making it a pre-condition of marriage that he gives a written promise to increase his output by so much per cent. The price of forgiveness is that the alleged sinner should attain "Stakhanovite standards."

✧ ✧ ✧

IN POLAND the Stakhanovite system has been carried further than in any other satellite country: there are schools where instruction is given in attaining Stakhanov standards in ten distinct categories, the titles of which have been taken over from leading Soviet exponents of the "art." These are:

Tchutkichniki—Stakhanovites of general high quality output.
Bykovniki—Stakhanovite lathe operators.
Nasarovniki—Stakhanovite machine-tenders (female).
Utkinzys—Stakhanovites of personal economy in materials.
Matrossnoviki—Stakhanovite tailors.
Shavljuginzys—Stakhanovite bricklayers.
Kovalyovniki—Stakhanovites of new processes of production.
Korabelnikovniki—Stakhanovites of general economy in use of materials (Female).
Shidirovniki—Stakhanovite multiple loom tenders (female).
Yakushinzys—Stakhanovites of reducing waste.

The categories are now to be introduced into all the People's Democracies. Local heroes in each class will be created in such non-Slav countries as Hungary and Rumania, to give a more homely air to the Russian system of "classified exploitation" which is to be applied.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNDER THE SUPERVISION of the Polish Communist Youth organisation, a number of Stakhanovite schools have been established, notably at Tarnovsky Gory, in the Bydgoszcz machine tool concern, and in the Zyrardov works. Polish Socialist emigres assert that they achieve little, that those who attend them are the butts of their comrades, and that the regime complains that such schools are "mere drops in an ocean of indifference."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS IN a Rumanian publication, "La Viata Romaneasca", that one finds the apotheosis of Stakhanovism in the person of one Josif Imreh, declared by his eulogist, the Communist writer Josif Mira, to be the champion norm-raiser of the nation and a model to all employees.

"The eight-hour day means nothing to him. His greatest delight is to work for three successive weeks without leaving the factory, as he did when the Electro-Precisia concern was established in 1948. All night long he planned the tasks which he put into execution the following day. In 1948 he refused to take any holiday until the Completion of the Five Year Plan. He now says that, after this has been achieved, he may take whatever holiday is decreed. But he may change his mind, and work on without a break through a new Five Year Plan."

✧ ✧ ✧

A SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT light is subsequently cast on the performances of this super-robot of Rumania by his adulator. For Mira records that the works manager, urging that Imreh should think of his health ("You are getting thinner") and of his paternal duties ("You are not a good father—you should want to rest and be with your son"), added: "In 1948 and 1949 it was different; then we could not allow you to have a holiday"—a curious admission in view of the legal provisions under which factory managers are responsible for seeing that regular holidays are taken by all employees.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN ANOTHER LYRICAL passage, Mira describes the Imrehs as the perfect Stakhanovite family. When the husband fails to return home at nights, the wife takes the baby son, Aurica Imreh, to the factory that he may watch his father's prowess. She herself, it seems, has only two dreams; to attain Stakhanovism herself, and to see Aurica himself norm-breaking in fifteen years' time. Little woner, then, that Imteh should declare that he could not take a vacation if he would, for fear of alarming his family.

An American View: ON YOUR MARK, GET SET...

Fewer Potatoes In Ontario

(FARMER'S ADVOCATE)

REPORTS from far and wide indicate a serious shortage of potatoes this year on the North American continent and prices may be correspondingly high. In dry weather only a few tubers set on each plant and a considerable part of the North American continent, where potatoes are grown commercially, has been dry this year.

There may be several reasons why a smaller acreage is now devoted to potatoes in Ontario, when the population is 4,000,000 than when only 2,000,000 were living here. The first reason one would logically advance is that potato growing has not paid well enough and that other crops have been more profitable or more easily produced and handled. The high prices this year may cause an upsurge in production and the time is ripe to promote the cultural practices that will produce good yields of high quality.

There has been too much talk about the quality of potatoes deteriorating and not enough sound, energetic extension work advising growers how to get good yields of the right kind of potatoes.

Preparation for next year's acreage should begin right now and the quality of the 1953 crop will be determined to a large extent by what is done to the land in August and September of this year.

The practices of the most successful growers in this and other provinces should be compiled in simple form for distribution to growers everywhere.

A misguided effort in the direction of increased acreage will be unprofitable and disappointing.

Hedges At Street Corners

(Charlottetown Guardian)

A report to the Summerside town council indicates that good progress is being made in cutting down or getting rid altogether of hedges at street corners. Property owners are co-operating with the town officials although in nearly every case the sacrifice must be felt. The gain in safety and in reducing traffic confusion is by far worth the shortening of the corner hedges.

Other island communities, not excluding Charlottetown, are faced with the same problem with which Summerside is dealing. The view of cross-traffic at street corners is frequently obscured to a driver until he has almost or actually entered the intersection. Where the obstruction is in the form of a house built too close to the street lines there is nothing that can be done short of razing or moving the house.

More often, however, the view of approaching traffic is obscured by a fence or hedge which, usually a source of enjoyment to the owner, can be dispensed with without materially affecting the value of his property.

Scorned $2 Tip

(St. Catharines Standard)

A St. Catharines business man on a visit to New York City last week had a story to relate about tipping. He put on a luncheon for four—nothing special at all about it — and when paying his bill tendered in addition a two-dollar tip to the waiter.

Whereupon the waiter remarked: "What's this for, the bus boy?" The answer to that was: "If you don't want it it's all right with me." The money was taken back.

The cost of tipping has become a scandal to all who travel on business or pleasure. Here, there and everywhere, there is the hand out, and behind the hand, there is lot of insufferable impudence.

"Well, not quite; but one of the neighbours nearly got her last night."

✧ ✧ ✧

"Say," said the neighbour, "I hear you had an accident with your car last Saturday and you had to collect from the insurance company. Did it do much damage?"

The man behind the plow looked furtively around.

"Not so loud," he whispered. "Not last Saturday! Next Saturday!"

✧ ✧ ✧

"These are hard times for actors, laddie," remarked the veteran.

"They are indeed," agreed the younger man. "I must say you're looking very seedy."

"Seedy!" exclaimed the veteran. "I tremble every time I pass a canary!"

An old native of New England and his wife were known around their district as being the best-tempered couple around.

"However do you manage to exist without having a few 'family jars'?" asked a friend one time.

"Well," replied the husband, "I just telled Lena when we was wed that if she saw me getting angry-like, she must go to the bucket and fill her mouth with water; and if I saw her getting out of herself, I'd go to the bucket and fill my mouth with water. So we never had any quarrels, for you can't quarrel alone, and another can't quarrel with you when his mouth is full of water."

Bible Message

Now when Jesus saw great multitudes about him, he gave commandment to depart unto the other side . . . And when he was entered into a ship, his disciples followed him. And, behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, insomuch that the ship was covered with the waves: but he was asleep. And his disciples came to him, and awake him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish.

And he saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm. But the men marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him! (Matt. 8:18, 23-27.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lord God of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee? Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waves thereof arise, thou stillest them . . . .

Thou hast a mighty arm: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand. . . . .

Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance. (Ps. 89: 8, 9, 13 15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

But when Jesus perceived their thoughts he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts? Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.

And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God. (Luke 5: 17-25.)

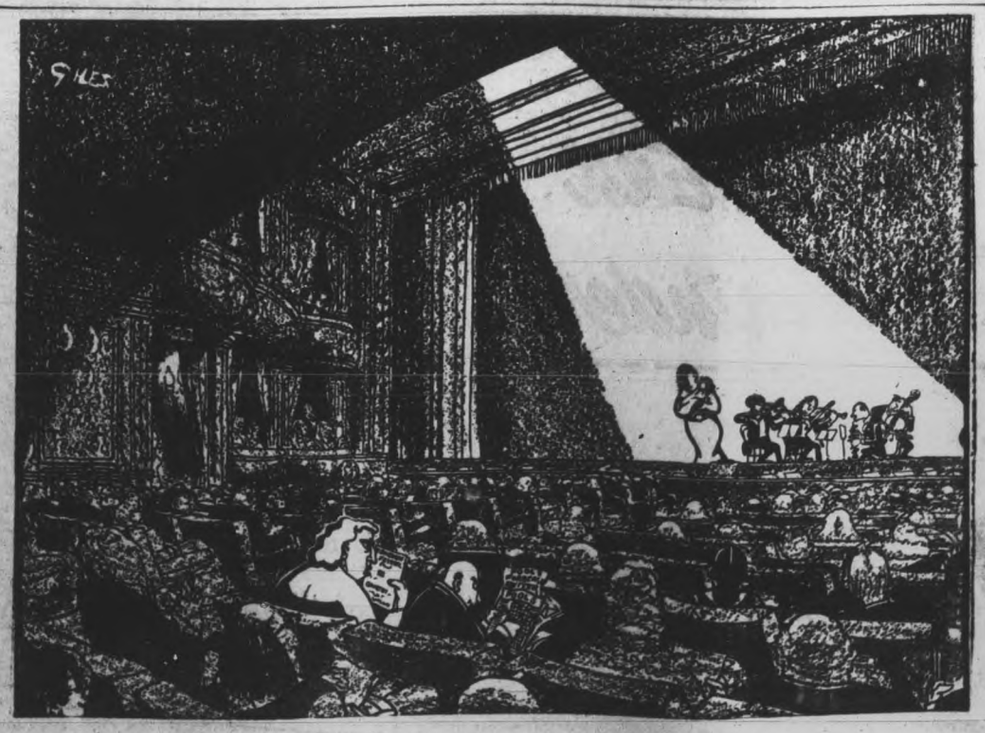
✧ ✧ ✧

Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker? Behold, he put no trust in his servants; and his angels he charged with folly; how much less in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which are crushed before the moth? . . . Doth not their excellency, which is in them go away? They die, even without wisdom. (Job 4:17-19, 21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord. (Rom. 12:9-11.)

Wishful Thinking



(Le Matin, Montreal)

It is remarkable that almost every summer—no doubt because news becomes less abundant—a rumour gets going about the gradual decline and eventual collapse of the Soviet regime. According to the current ones coming from countries lying behind the Iron Curtain the U.S.S.R. is losing more and more of its prestige in the satellite countries upon which it has imposed its dictatorial authority. All things come to pass, it is true, and it is known that some day Stalin is certainly going to die. In the same way, no one doubts that Communistic tyranny will end up by arousing such hatreds that it will collapse under the weight of its crimes. But there is nothing to guarantee that that will be tomorrow.

Keeping Out Names

(Guelph Mercury)

People who are convicted in courts of justice on anything but minor charges must be ready to suffer the resulting publicity. They have no business to come to a newspaper or have anyone else come on their behalf, to have their names kept out of the press. Publicity has been, and always will be one of the best crime deterrents.

"Edward! Put those papers away at once!"

BRIDGE COLLAPSES — The 240-foot bridge at Espanola, 50 miles southwest of Sudbury, collapsed under a 50-ton tractor trailer, throwing the truck and two men into the Spanish River. The men, Clark Cameron, driver, and Ted Polden, operator of the trailer, freed themselves and swam ashore. The bridge had a five-ton limit sign posted. Engineers from the highways department will repair the structure and a Bailey bridge will be erected temporarily.

Too Many Gadgets Slowing U.S. Defence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate defence investigators said today an excess of gadgets and top-level indecision had slowed military aircraft production and prevented the development of adequate air defences for the United States.

The highly critical report was the latest of a series from the Senate Armed Services Preparedness sub-committee headed by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas democrat.

In order to speed aircraft production to meet a possible Russian atomic attack, the report suggested appointment of a full-time production czar by the president and an overhauling of present basic defence legislation.

INDECISION 'AMAZING'

Johnson said the airpower build-up has been slowed by a "capacity for indecision which at times has reached amazing levels."

Although the Defence Department did name a production czar, Johnson said, "he did not receive the necessary authority and eventually was reduced to the status of a job holder part-time."

Aides of Johnson said this was Clay Bedford, industrial leader who was named special assistant to the Secretary of Defence.

The report was critical of constant changes in models and additions of gadgets and gimmicks to aircraft designs. It said there was a need for design freezes and mass production.

"A tendency toward 'gimmickerie' has loaded some of our planes with gadgets to a point where their effectiveness has been decreased," the report said.

No such delays face Soviet Russia, the report indicated.

Churches Fail To Map Unity Blueprint

LUND, Sweden (AP) — The world's divided churches failed in their efforts to map a blueprint for a united christendom, their representatives said today at the conclusion of a two-week conference.

"We have not resolved our differences nor brought forth before the world a simple method of achieving unity," the report to the Third World Conference on Faith and Order stated.

Some 230 theologians from 40 countries assembled to see whether they could make any headway toward unity. In the main the talks were on deep theological levels, behind closed doors. The conference was sponsored by the World Council of Churches, an organization of 158 Anglican, Protestant, Catholic and Orthodox churches.

Coldsprings Has WI Flower Show

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — The regular meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute was held Tuesday night at the Coldsprings hall. Mrs. K. Harper presided. The secretary, Mrs. H. McKinley, reported $326.46 on hand.

An invitation was read and accepted to be guests of the Roseneath W. I. on Sept. 4.

Mrs. C. Davidson donated a large flower basket for the hall.

At the September meeting Bethesda South and Garden Hill Institutes are to be guests and supply the program.

Silver teaspoons were presented to Misses Norma Lang, Dorothea Bowman, Mesdames B. Jibb and L. Bowman, members of the Girls' Garden and Sewing Club, respectively.

Barbara Tyson, Baltimore, and Elaine Minifie, played a piano duet. Mrs. A. Willis sang a solo, and a reading was given by Mrs. W. Maughan.

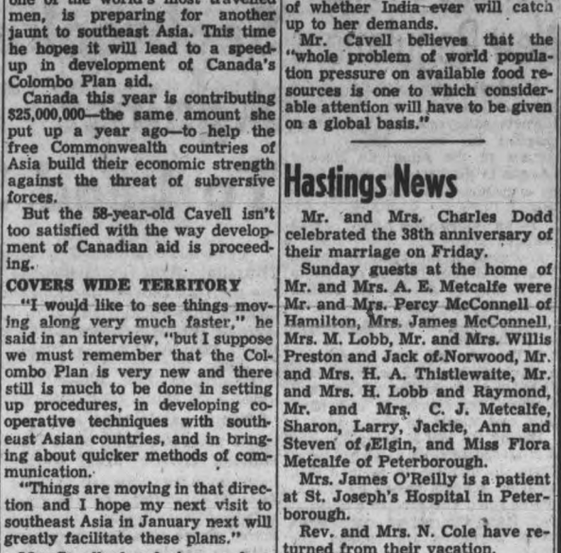
After the program everyone went to the basement where Mr. A. Lescard of Cobourg had judged the flower show. The prize winners were as follows:

Basket gladioli—Mrs. N. D. McIntosh.
Best 3 spikes—1 Mrs. A. Jamieson, 2 Mrs. K. Harper.
Bouquet dahlias (common)—Mrs. A. Jamieson.
Cactus dahlia—1 Mrs. A. Jamieson, 2 Mrs. A. Taylor.
Bouquet asters (8)—1 Mrs. Roy Bray, 2 Mrs. Hilton Minifie.
Dwarf marigolds (8)—1 Mrs. J. Beedham, 2 Mrs. A. Jamieson.
Bouquet zinnias (8)—1 Mrs. M. Dines, 2 Mrs. A. Jamieson.
Rosy Morn petunias (8)—1 Mrs. H. West, 2 Mrs. A. Jamieson.
Snapdragons (8)—Mrs. H. Minifie.
Double petunias—Mrs. F. Eagleson.
Table bouquet—1 Dorothea Bowman, 2 Mrs. K. Harper.
House begonia—Mrs. Ernest Bowman.
Baby Tears—1 Mrs. E. Bowman, 2 Mrs. C. Baptist.
Flowering African violet—1 Mrs. E. Bowman, 2 Mrs. Carl Bowman.
Basket of assorted flowers—Mrs. A. Jamieson.

The girls garden club entered their vegetables which were onions, carrots, corn, tomatoes and beets. All first prizes were captured by Elaine Minifie. Second prizes went to Dorothea Bowman and Joan Smith.

Mrs. Melville Dines moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Lescard and all who helped on the program. Mrs. Hilton Minifie was the convener.

Plan Shopping Centres



TORONTO (CP)—Three large shopping centres, costing $7,000,000 will be built in Toronto suburbs by Principal Investments Limited, it was announced yesterday. A start will be made on the biggest in North York within 10 days. It will cost $3,000,000 and will have 1,050 feet of store frontage, enough for 40 stores. The other two will be in Etobicoke and East York.

Escapes Two Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—John Wilson, 2½, fell 20 feet from a bedroom window yesterday and then was involved in an automobile accident en route to hospital. The youngster ended with a small bruise on his cheek. The police car in which he and his father were riding was in the collision. The father suffered slight injuries.

Many U.S. Visitors

TORONTO (CP) — Traveller's vehicle permits issued to United States tourists entering Ontario during July totalled 313,798, the largest number for that month in the history of the province, travel Minister Cecile announced yesterday. The total was just short of the all-time record of 325,419 set in August last year.

TO MARRY ACTRESS—British actress Audrey Hepburn and James Hanson, of Hamilton, whose family operates several haulage and bus companies in Canada and England, will be married September 30 at Huddersfield parish church in Yorkshire. The day after the wedding the couple will leave for New York where Miss Hepburn is to resume her role in the Broadway play "Gigi." She now is making a movie in Rome. They will live in England and in Hamilton.

R. Cavell Seeks To Speed Up Development Colombo Plan

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—R. G. Cavell, one of the world's most travelled men, is preparing for another jaunt to southeast Asia. This time he hopes it will lead to a speed-up in development of Canada's Colombo Plan aid.

Canada this year is contributing $25,000,000—the same amount she put up a year ago—to help the free Commonwealth countries of Asia build their economic strength against the threat of subversive forces.

But the 58-year-old Cavell isn't too satisfied with the way development of Canadian aid is proceeding.

COVERS WIDE TERRITORY

"I would like to see things moving along very much faster," he said in an interview, "but I suppose we must remember that the Colombo Plan is very new and there still is much to be done in setting up procedures, in developing co-operative techniques with southeast Asian countries, and in bringing about quicker methods of communication.

"Things are moving in that direction and I hope my next visit to southeast Asia in January next will greatly facilitate these plans."

Mr. Cavell already has made a 40,000-mile tour of Burma, India, Pakistan and Ceylon to find out the actual need for development and how projects under the six-year $5,000,000,000 Commonwealth plan are being tackled.

This is in addition to the travelling he's done as an Indian cavalryman, South African sheep rancher and journalist, and British industrialist expanding electrical business in Europe, Russia, China, Japan and Manchuria.

He came to Canada 18 years ago to build up an electrical manufacturing business and since has become a "thoroughly integrated" Canadian, travelling from coast to coast.

He gave up his business interests to tackle the Colombo Plan problem at the request of the Canadian government.

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY

To him, Canada's contribution to the plan presents a "wonderful opportunity" for Canadians "to expand the free world."

"Southeast Asia and particularly India, Pakistan and Ceylon, our Commonwealth partners are standing today at the crossroads," he says.

"The terrible poverty of their people is the first concern of their governments. . . They have evolved plans for their future development which they will carry forward with or without us—without us it will take them longer but they will still go forward.

"If we assist them to get on their feet quickly, to alleviate the worst of their poverty now, we are adding strength to the free world and hastening the day when they can trade with us and assist in the establishment of a more stable world."

But the problems of southeast Asia are complex. Famine, for example, always seems to threaten some parts of India. Even in a good year, India grows about 5,000,000 tons less than the 50,000,000 tons of food she needs to feed her people.

Here again, the Colombo Plan is helping. Part of the money is going into big irrigation projects which will help increase the food supply. But there is a pressing question of whether India ever will catch up to her demands.

Mr. Cavell believes that the "whole problem of world population pressure on available food resources is one to which considerable attention will have to be given on a global basis."

Man's Heart Stopped 2 Minutes, Lives

LATROBE, Pa. (AP)—A man whose heart quit beating two minutes on the operating table is recovering today, his doctors reported.

Marcus G. Riddell, operator of a candy distributing firm, expects to be back at work, with a normal heart, within a year.

Riddell underwent two operations in a Philadelphia hospital to relieve closing of the mitral valve which helps pump blood through the heart. It was during the second operation, on July 23, that his heart stopped. Doctors re-entered the cavity to provide life-saving finger massage.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Clayt Browne of St. Catharines wonders audibly how Oshawa Merchants can finance their high-priced ball club. Says first-sacker Roy Zimmerman, formerly of N.Y. Giants, gets $3,000 for the season, playing manager and pitcher Mike Mellis must draw hefty pay, and all the other imports are drawing at least a decent living out of their diamond activities in the Motor City. They played 32 Niagara Loop scheduled games, plus playoffs, and should total 60 tilts all told, including many exhibitions with Inter-County League and C.O.B.L. clubs. Also some touring U.S. nines have appeared there during the summer.

* * * * * *

'When a club has that much money tied up in talent," says he, "they have to play thrice a week anyway, maybe more, to make it pay profits. No one around these parts can go into the business that steeply, but it is a tribute to Harris-Bint-Little & Co. that they can supply a little city with a crackerjack ball club and operate successfully. There's scant sentiment with that club for Mike Mellis well earns his pay and the boys under him know what it is to feel the lash." Yes, the Merchants had a powerful pack last season, too, when they knocked off the Petes in playdowns following the viaduct League schedule. It's practically a U.S. minor pro club.

Diamondeers Do Or Die

Baseball blossoms out on the local scene again this weekend in senior, junior and minor tussles. C.O.B.L. schedule concludes for the Petes at eight p.m. Saturday in Riverside when the Stewart squad will try to knock off Kingston Monarchs and clinch first place. A loss for the locals could prove plenty costly. Young Petes prance into O.B.A. junior "A" playdowns here Saturday aft at 2:30 with Kingston the opposition. First of a best-of-three sawoff with the loser eliminated. Bantam finals this e'en at Quaker Park, and peewee finals listed for the Bowl tomorrow morn. That'll be all the baseball seen around here then for possibly two weeks, who knows?

* * * * * *

Coach Bob Thorpe and club prexy Bob Peirson of the lacrossers aren't writing St. Catharines A's off yet. They expect a rather stiff series as the Eastern Canada playdowns open here tonight. True Timbermen should take it, but overconfidence on their part and a desperation drive by Athletics could make it quite a scrap ere one bows out. If the Peterborough pack play as they have been in their stretch drive, they'll proceed along the path which ends at Mann Cup finals in the Maple Leaf Gardens. But one hurdle at a time, eh? A huge crowd should welcome playoff lacrosse as the season draws toward a close. Next game is in the Garden City on Labor Day

* * * * * *

Lacrossers Want Bye

At a lacrosse meeting last evening, the Timbermen decided to take a semi-final bye, if they oust St. Catharines, thereby going right into the Eastern Canada finals. The players felt that the week's layoff would put them into the important series to follow in better shape than if they had no letup in the gruelling playoff grind. Sounds sensible to us. Club will form a committee to make playoff ticket arrangements, etc. Unofficially, Bunny Morganson says the O.L.A. scoring title goes to Jack Dorney with 110 points. Mimico beat Owen Sound 11-5 and can take a firm grip on that series tomorrow. Hamilton invades Toronto to open their set this eve. Brampton boys are but a game away from the O.L.A. junior "A" crown now.

* * * * * *

A whopping crowd whooped it up at lively men's softball action last eve at the Bowl d'Ashburnham. Seabrooke's took a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven City Softball League finals by edging U.E.W. 3-2 in the first of the twin bill and then dumping 'em 8-5 in the nightcap. Lefty Doris and Howie Dalton pitched fine ball in the opener, with the latter and Speed Curry leading the hitters. Other was more of a slugging bee with homers hit by Dalton, Red Sullivan and Neil Thompson, latter having two other hits, also, and shining afield. Taylor thumped out three bingles, as well. Terry Woods pitched steady ball while Howie's support slipped. They resume the keen series next Tuesday night.

Parkdale Lions Oust Petes In Midget O.L.A.

Parkdale Lions beat the Peterborough midgets 16-3 here last night to capture their O.L.A. midget "A" round by a 29-5 score, before the local players' next of kin in Miller Bowl. The Lions took the first tilt 13-2 earlier in Toronto. Peterborough boys played a disappointing game for their coach, Lou Nickle, and manager Bill Post. They trailed 5-2 in the first quarter, were down 8-3 at the half, and in arrears 9-3 going into the fourth. Simmons drey a match misconduct in the third for throwing his stick angrily after a slashing penalty, and majors were given Boone and Hunt for a brief fight in the third.

Devine led the winners with four goals, Madgett and Pulford getting three each, and Collen, Davenport and Laughton two apiece. The losers' markers were by Heffernan, Simmons and Sutherland. Teams:

Parkdale — Mansen, Boorne, Davenport, Laughton, Pulford, Devine, McDougall, Madgett, Formeco, Cycle, Collen.

Peterborough—Robbins, Lagana, Heffernan, Kent, Simmons, Saunders, Chambers, Floyd, Ketcheson, Blodgett, Forestall, McGinnis, Hunt, Sutherland.

Hornets Protest New Regulations

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John H. Harris, president of Pittsburgh Hornets, said yesterday he has telegraphed his seven fellow co-owners of the American Hockey League to discuss new regulations he considers injurious to the Hornets.

Three rules Harris wants changed are:

1. Denial of the right of parent National Hockey League owners to recall players during the A.H.L. season and playoffs.

2. Reduction of squads from 16 to 13 members.

3. Team budget limit covering in a package sum all such outlays as salaries of coaches, players and trainers, transportation and hotel bills and meals on the road.

During the 1951-52 campaign, the A.H.L. operated on a fairly liberal basis. In addition to their A.H.L. salaries, players owned by N.H.L. teams could also receive additional pay from the parent club. Such extra payments are banned this year.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

When our good friend and pal, Robert Gamble, was stricken on the greens during the Black Memorial tournament Wednesday, Aaron Black immediately stepped into the breach and paired up with Mrs. T. Doughty, and finished out the tournament. And then when Mrs. Gamble retired to be with her husband, Brock Sproule was left without a partner, and once again our bowlers rose to the occasion. Mrs. L. Bearne, who had just finished a hard 15-end game, went over and played with Mr. Sproule for part of the game and then Mrs. T. Doughty who also had finished a 15-end game, stepped in and finished the game with Mr. Sproule.

With such consideration, sportsmanship and co-operation as this, is it any wonder the tournament was a success?

These deeds were not overlooked by the spectators or the bowlers, and the tournament committee appreciated these gracious acts.

Tonight: Mixed rinks, draw from the board.

The winners of the prizes donated by Mr. A. Black on Wednesday were: Mrs. J. Hickman, London; Mrs. R. Penrose and Mrs. H. Northrop, both from Peterborough.

At Stirling on Wednesday, R. Knox, R. Payne, and G. Hortle came in for high two wins.

Mrs. R. Dyer and Mrs. C. Renaud playing in Toronto Thursday in the Globe and Mail doubles, won their first game but were eliminated in the second game.

On Monday (Labor Day) we are holding a mixed rink tournament. Draw from the board at 1:30 p.m. Two games in the afternoon and one in the evening. Fee 25 cents.

Seabrooke Captures Two Against The U.E.W. To Lead Series By 3 to 1

Feverish excitement gripped the largest crowd in many years at the East City Bowl on Thursday night, as Seabrooke Motors and U.E.W. continued their best-of-seven series for the men's senior city softball championship and the Taylor Trophy in two star-studded battles that rocked the air. Red Sullivan's bombastic band edged Buck Legrow's sturdy crew of skilful battlers 3-2 in the opener, a tight duel, with Lefty Doris opposing artful Howie Dalton, U.E. ace. They went on to cop the afterpiece 8-5, after nine innings of hectic battle that saw one thrill after another until Red Sullivan stabbed Jack White's hard grounder to his left to force Jake Wade at third for the final out; but not before U.E. had scored thrice in a last desperate rally to nearly salvage victory. Fate ruled otherwise, and so the yellow and black East City lads hold a 3-1 edge in the finals which will be renewed Tuesday night.

GOOD PITCHING

Lefty Doris twirled steadily on the hill for Seabrooke's in the curtain-raiser, despite early difficulties in the first, when two costly bobbles enabled the Legrow men to tally twice. He pitched shutout ball for the final eight frames, and in all, allowed but five hits, struck out one and walked nary a man, in a fine control display. Dalton on the opposite hill proved equally skilful, scattering five hits, all singles, and fanning five men. He walked none.

Seabrooke's scored one in the second as Curry reached first on an error and later scored on Scriver's out. They added one in the fourth, when Skeeter O'Heron singled through second and scored on Curry's hard rap to centre. This tied the score and fans gasped as fielding features by Jake Wade, Spinner Spencer, Neil Thompson, Doris, Leether, Dalton and Taylor shone afield. Seabrooke's tallied the winner in the seventh when Speed Curry rapped out his second safety, advanced on Spencer's sacrifice, and scored when Russ Scriver drove in his second run with a hard single to right.

Dalton and Harold Grafstein each hit doubles for the only extra base blows of the game, the former driving in a run; and he alone with Curry had two hits in the game. Thompson starred afield with give putouts and six difficult assists.

WOODS STEADY

The sizzling nightcap found the old meal-ticket Terry Woods displaying his better form once more for Seabrooke's opposing indomitable Howie Dalton, who due to the illness of pitcher Jim Driscoll, undertook to stem the Seabrooke tide, single-handed. Howie toiled courageously, but errors proved disastrous to his cause without detracting from the victors. His mates kicked in with five costly bobbles to wreck his possibilities.

Woods allowed 12 hits in the second duel, including Dalton's homer over O'Heron's head in centre, and doubles by Robson, White and Legrow. But he scattered the bingles well over the route, to escape disaster. In addition, his mates, led by Thompson at short (who gave the greatest fielding display seen at the Bowl for some time) accorded him fine support in the pinches, to ensure victory.

Dalton twirled well also for seven frames, after which both hurlers had difficulty. Five hits off either pitcher came in the eighth and ninth innings as the veterans tired a little. Thompson, the individual star of the night, hit a long three-run homer over the right centrefield fence to score Lewis and Woods ahead of him in the final frame for the pay-off wallop that gave the Sullivan gang their margin of triumph. Pilot Sullivan himself smashed out his ninth homer of the campaign, in the first inning with Thompson aboard. The latter had three hits for five, the former two, while Curry and Spencer copped a bingle apiece and an R.B.I. For U.E., Taylor with three for five led in percentages; Legrow had two for five; Robson two for four; Jack White a double and one batted in. Fielding honors additional went to Skeeter O'Heron in a grand display, Leether, Spencer, Curry, Dalton, Robson, and Sullivan.

128 Players Set Sights On Sedgman's Tennis Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The 10-day scramble for the United States grass courts tennis championship gets under way today with 128 players setting their sights on the throne occupied by ferocious Frank Sedgman.

'Probably the only surprise that could take place in the 71st renewal of the event would be Sedgman not winning the title for the second time in a row. The Australian Davis Cup ace has been head and shoulders over the rest of the amateur tennis world for the last year.

Sedgman and Vic Seixas, the United States' No. 1 standard bearer, get into action on the first day's play.

AGAINST BUNNIS

Frank, top-seeded among the foreign talent which embraces players from eight countries, is drawn against Alvin Bunnis of Cincinnati. Seixas is scheduled to go against Frank Okey of Rochester, N.Y.

Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, Lorne Main of Vancouver and Felicissimo Ampon of the Philippines also are to play. Only Main figures to have any trouble. In fact, he is the underdog in his match against Lewis Hoad, one of Australia's 17-year-old whiz kids.

Main's Canadian Davis Cup team mate, Brendan Macken of Montreal, drew Mexico's Joaquin Rey as his first-round opponent.

In the women's division, Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto faces a tough opening assignment in third-seeded Louise Brough of Beverley Hills, Calif.

Women's Golf Has Surprises

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Four favorite daughters from Hawaii and Washington, Texas and California tee off today in the semi-finals of the women's amateur golf championship.

Victors in yesterday's quarter-finals at the Waverley County Club, the line-up read like this for today's 18-hole play:

Mrs. Jacqueline Pung of Honolulu vs. Patricia Ann Lesser of Seattle.

Patricia Garner of Midland, Tex., vs. Shirley McFedters of Long Beach, Calif.

They arrived in the semi-final stage after a round of golf that produced its share of surprises and golf good and bad.

Mrs. Pung defeated Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., the Canadian women's open titlist, 2 up; Miss Lesser won from the California champion, Barbara Romack of Sacramento, 3 and 2; Miss Garner ousted 17-year-old Barbara Snook of Portland, 2 and 1, and Miss McFedters defeated Claire Doran of Cleveland, last year's runner-up, on the 20th hole.

Tomorrow the winners meet at 36 holes for the title won in 1951 by Dorothy Kirby. Two days ago Dorothy lost to Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Pung is 29-year-old mother of two young daughters, the wife of a Chinese fireman and a jolly soul who likes to shed her shoes as soon as possible after a match.

She will also go into a hula dance—barefoot, of course—on the green following a victory.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brooklyn Dodgers announced seven years ago today that they drew more than 1,000,000 fans to their home games for the fourth season. And Leo (Lippy) Durocher became the highest paid manager in baseball with a salary of $55,000 a year, counting bonuses. Durocher now handles New York Giants.

Urzetta Ousts Last Canadian In B.C. Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four American belters today trek over 36 holes on the cliff-hanging Capilano course in West Vancouver in the semi-final round of the Canadian amateur golf championship.

Ousting of the last Canadian yesterday from the week-long marathon assured the first all-American final since New Yorkers Eddie Held and Gardiner White met in 1929. Last American champion was Dick Chapman of Osterville Mass., who won over Joe Stoddard of Hamilton in 1949.

Silent Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N.Y., 1950 U.S. champion, takes on Billy Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., a U.S. Walker Cup player, in one semi-final.

The other semi-windup puts advertising man Ed Meister of Cleveland against car salesman Larry Bouchey of Inglewood, Mass.

Urzetta and Meister looked the more impressive yesterday as they swept through the fifth and sixth rounds of this 48th Canadian amateur golf show.

TRIMS FOUR CANUCKS

Urzetta, 26-year-old lumber salesman, whipped Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., and Bob Gray of Winnipeg by identical 4-and-3 scores. Urzetta knocked out four Canadians en route to the semis.

Meister mastered Eddie Draper of Seattle, Washington state champion, 2 and 1 and Robert Roos of San Francisco 5 and 3. Roos, in a fifth-round match against Colin Brown of London, Ont., double eagled the par-5, 447-yard 10th when his second shot, a No. 4 wood, rolled in.

Campbell had trouble getting rid of Jim Blair of Jefferson City, Mo., in the fifth round, finally winning 1 up. He had easy sailing in the quarter-finals, thumping Gord Haskell of Seattle 6 and 5.

Bouchey had two narrow squeak winning both his matches 1 up. His victims were Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., last year's finalist, and Jack Reynolds of Vancouver.

Port Hope Captures Lakeshore Title

PORT HOPE—Scoring two runs in the eighth inning, the Port Hope Ontarios won the intermediate B championship of the Lakeshore Baseball League by edging Colborne Dodgers, 2-1, in the eighth game of the best-of-seven final. Two previous games ended in ties and Port Hope held a 3-2 lead in games prior to this contest.

The Dodgers looked like winners when they broke a run tie in first of the seventh with single run on one hit and two Port Hope errors. However, with darkness settling fast the Port Hopers reached Colborne's Negro import hurler, Karl Higgenbotham, for two hits in the eighth. They worked them with two errors to bring two runs across the plate, enough to win.

PRESTON GOLFERS WIN

GALT (CP)—Preston scored a 64-stroke victory in the annual Preston-Galt golf match at the Waterloo County Golf and Country Club yesterday.

Royals Crush Buffalo In 9-1 Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals need only five more victories to sew up their second straight International pennant.

And a loss by Syracuse Chiefs will make the task that much easier for the Royals.

With 17 games left, Montreal leads Syracuse by 11 games, The Chiefs have only 13 games in which to make up the lost ground

Time for Rochester's Red Wings also is rapidly runing out. They are in third place, 13 games off the pace. Three Montreal wins will eliminate the Wings.

All of the three top teams won last night. Royals downed Buffalo 9-1 as they completed their schedule against the Bisons with a record of 16 wins in 22 starts. Syracuse whipped Toronto 3-1 for the Chiefs' 15th conquest of the Maple Leafs in their 22 games. And Rochester downed Ottawa 9-4 in the circuit's only other contest.

10 FOR COLEMAN

Hamp Coleman scattered seven Buffalo hits in wrapping up his 10th mound success against three losses for the Royals.

Bobo Holloman gave up only three hits in defeating Toronto for his 14th triumph. Four of the chiefs' eight hits were for extra bases, with Carden Gillenwater's triple setting up the tie-breaking run in the sixth.

Red Wings scored four unearned runs in the first inning and then went on to post their easy victory with lefty Jackie Collum going the route for his eighth win.

Mary Gay Defends Long Trophy Title

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Kitchener's Mary Gray, 21-year-old Ontario ladies golf champion, successfully defended her Long trophy title here yesterday, touring the nine-hole Oxford Golf and Country Club layout for an 18-hole score of 82.

Miss Gay put together identical rounds of 41 to win again the title she took in last year's tournament in Galt. Mrs. Rose Kampman of Brantford and Mrs. Evelyn Sutherland of Woodstock tied for second with 87s.

The tournament is open to the women of clubs in the four counties of Norfolk, Brant, Waterloo an Oxford.

Tigers Upset Applecart For Cleveland By Splitting Twin Bill

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

The schedule favors Cleveland Indians in their quest of the 1952 American League pennant, but one disturbing factor in the otherwise serene picture is Detroit Tigers. Cleveland is due to meet the tail-end Tigers nine times before the curtain falls Sept. 28. The marooned Tigers have a nasty habit of beating the Indians at inopportune moments. Detroit, then in fifth place, upset the Indians' apple cart last year by sweeping a three-game set from the Tribe late in September to kill Cleveland's chances of overhauling New York Yankees.

The spectre of 1951 haunted the Indians again last night as they missed a chance to pick up ground on the front-running Yankees by splitting a twi-night twin bill with the Tigers.

Early Wynn coasted to his 17th victory in the first game, won by the Indians 9-3, But Hal Newhouser turned back the Tribe 4-1 for the 198th victory of his major league career in the second. As the Yanks were idle, Cleveland remained two games off the pace—but dropped a game in the important "loss" column.

The Indians have 27 games left to play—including 20 of their last 22 at home. The Yanks also have 27 games left but 18 of them are on foreign soil. Third-place Boston has 31 games to go but 22 are away from home.

Al Rosen drove home four runs on four singles to ease Wynn's task in the opener at Detroit. Wynn permitted only six hits in posting his seventh straight triumph over the Tigers over a two-year span.

Rosen provided Steve Gromek with a 1-0 lead by socking his 24th homer in the second inning of the second game. But Cliff Mapes homered with one aboard in the Detroit half and the Tigers remained in the van for keeps.

The Red Sox also blew a chance to gain by dropping the first game of a doubleheader to Philadelphia Athletics 6-4. Cass Michaels' three-run double in the eighth won it for the As. The second game was rained out.

Brooklyn, meanwhile, continued its march to the National League flag by dumping Chicago Cubs 9-6 to remain 9½ games ahead of New York Giants. The Giants swamped Pittsburgh 14-7 while Cincinnati edged Boston 5-4 in 11 innings and Philadelphia outlasted St Louis 10-6 in the circuit's only night game.

Rubber-armed Joe Black, making his 44th appearance of the season, gained credit for his 11th victory for Brooklyn. Black relieved Clem Labine in the fifth and checked the Cubs on one run the rest of the way. The Dodgers broke a 5-5 tie with four runs in the seventh to win. Gil Hodges' two-run double was the big blow of the outburst.

Little Dave Koslo had a picnic as the Giants drubbed five Pittsburgh pitchers for 16 hits, including a home run by Whitey Lockman and three hits each by Al Dark and Bobby Thomson.

Roy McMillan broke up the extra inning battle at Cincinnati by singling home Hank Edwards from second base in the 11th, and in second base in the 11th, and in St. Louis Robin Roberts staggered to his 21st victory of the season as the Phils lambasted the Cards.

Omemee Defeats Lindsay Leads Series

OMEMEE (ENS). — Omemee Combines (Whitmore-Weir) defeated Lindsay Combines 9-8 in Lindsay last night to lead the Town League final series two games to one.

Early in the game it looked like a walk-away for the O's as they hammered Kean for five runs and Eakins for four in the first two innings.

With the score standing at 9-0 Reg. Gordon for Omemee held the Lindsay crew to two hits until the sixth inning when a walk and three hits scored three runs. Lindsay finished up the seventh with five runs, two coming in on a circuit clout by Bill Cummings.

Kean started on the mound for Lindsay but after allowing three runs in the first, and two in the second, he gave way to "Haddy" Eakins. Two walks and a double hit by Gerry Bryans had loaded the bases and Orlie Crawford, the first Omemee man to meet Eakins banged out a double that drove in three runs. A fielding error stretched Orlies' hit to a triple and Tom Parsons' single brought in the ninth run for the O's. Eakins held Omemee to six hits, struck out two and walked three. Kean allowed five hits, struck out one and issued two passes to first. Reg. Gordon went the distance for the O's, giving up 10 hits, whiffing six and walking two.

Tom Parsons led at bat for Omemee with three safeties and three R.B.I.'s. Gordon and O. Crawford each hit two, the latter driving in three runs. Dracup, G. Brans, Jamieson and K. Bryans each collected one hit.

For Lindsay, Deyell with three singles was the only man to get more than one safety.

Omemee Combines: Dracup 3b, G. Bryans cf, Jamieson 2b, O. Crawford c, T. Parsons rf, K. Bryans 1b, R. Crawford ss, Mitchell lf, Gordon p.

Lindsay Combines: O'Connell lf, Deyell 2b, Cummings cf, Richards 1b, Plumpton c, Kean p, O'Donoghue ss, McDougall lf, England 3b, Aikens batted for McDougall in the second.

Umpires: Plate, Henry; bases, McIntosh.

Brookdale Roses Clip Whitby 9-4

BOWMANVILLE— Bowmanville Brookdale Roses, defending Ontario Intermediate "A" champions, kept playoff chance alive in the Lakeshore league baseball finals Thursday night when they defeated Whitby Merchants, 9-4. Whitby leads the best-of-five series, two games to one.

Bunny Legree, Roses hurler who hasn't lost a game in 18 starts over a two-year stretch, came on in relief of Jack Buttonshaw with two out and a runner on second in the second inning and retired the next batter. He allowed only four hits the rest of the game.

Ted Bagnell led the Bowmanville attack with a homer and single while Maxie Yourth, Frank Hooper and Legree all had two hits. For Whitby, Len Yuill and Hank Sarnovsky had two hits each and Freddy Bidgood blasted a home run.

BUTTON TURNS PRO

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Button, world and Olympic figure skating champion, turned professional yesterday and will appear in the Ice Capades opening in Madison Square Garden Sept. 11. Button plans only limited engagements until he completes his college education. He returns to Harvard this fall.

FOR KEEPS — On an attempted steal of second base, Dale Mitchell, of the Indians, crashed into Billy Martin at full force, spilling the Yankee second baseman dramatically in the last series between the American League pennant contenders in New York this year.

TENNIS FAVORITES BEATEN

OTTAWA (CP)—John Swann of Vancouver and Gerald Parchute of Hamtramck, Mich., joined forces last night to win the junior men's doubles tennis title in the closing match of the Canadian junior tennis championships here.

Swann and Parchute, who hadn't been able to click in singles matches during the week-long tournament, ousted the United States favorites, John Maclean of Buffalo and Joe Jacinto of East Rockaway, N.Y., 3-6, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-1.

Seventeen-year-old Parchute, who started off the match with two double defaults, steadied his play and sparked the win with near-perfect overhead shots.

Jacinto took the other championship decided yesterday. The 16-year-old Filipino teamed with Joyce Pniewski of Hamtramck to win the junior mixed doubles. They defeated the Nova Scotia duo of Dave Piers, 18, of Truro, and Ann Stacey, 17, Halifax, 8-6, 8-6.

Spanish-Portugal Friendship Always Lost On Sport Field

By LUIS TEIVES

LISBON (Reuters)—Just when it seems that Spain and Portugal have made friends, along comes an international soccer or hockey game, and the Spaniards and Portuguese start acting like Giant and Dodger fans at a ball game.

Handshakes and amicable exchanges are the order of the day in diplomatic relations between the two countries, but these give way to hisses and hoots when the Spaniards and Portuguese meet in the sports field.

Diplomats of both countries are coming to the conclusion that there can be no lasting bond between Lisbon and Madrid until Spanish-Portuguese sports contests are banned.

The issue came to the fore again recently at Oporto over the game of hockey on roller skates, which is becoming almost as popular as soccer in both Spain and Portugal.

Spain had won the roller-skate hockey title from Portugal in last year's championship at Barcelona, and Portuguese fans were determined that their team should regain the crown.

PORTUGAL WINS

For weeks before the game, newspapers and radio stations implored Portuguese fans to be sporting and applaud the Spaniards. But when the big event took place, the crowd of more than 50,000 shouted abuse at the Spaniards and Portugal's 2-1 victory was celebrated as a national event.

As a result, the pro-government newspaper "Diario da Manha" of Lisbon commented:

"Are sports matches between Portugal and Spain worthwhile? We gain only mutual ill will. Is it fair that the permanent work of two governments should be impeded among the masses by an annual football match in Madrid or Lisbon, or by a hockey game in Barcelona, Oporto or Lisbon?"

The policy of strengthening the ties of friendship between Spain and Portugal started in 1936, during the Spanish Civil War, when Portugal gave full support to Franco.

This was followed by a treaty of friendship and non-aggression between the two countries in 1939, which was renewed for another 10-year period in 1948.

Friendly relations between the two countries have increased in the last few years—except on the football field and the roller rink.

Find Redskins Same Old Team Moulded From Hamilton Panthers

By ALAN ROSE

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford Redskins make their debut into the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union this season with an almost-complete roster of players who won the Canadian intermediate championship last year.

The Redskins, coached by Frank Gnup, have been moulded from Hamilton Panthers, 1951 intermediate titleholders.

The Panthers, anxious to step up into higher company since they became a powerhouse in the lower-category competition, moved to Brantford and changed their name because they couldn't hope to compete at the gate against the Big Four Tiger-Cats in Hamilton.

Team Manager Ernie Churchhouse believed they were ready for senior football with a bit of strengthening and he got Gnup, who has had experience in coaching and playing in the O.R.F.U. and the Big Four, to take over as coach.

Like Balmy Beach, Toronto's O.R.F.U. entry who are a farm club of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, the Redskins will play a dual role in being the grooming ground for future Big Four players. They have signed a working agreement with Montreal Alouettes, who provided financial assistance and in return will have first call on Redskin players ready for the big time.

Gnup won't predict a freshman-year championship but he says the club will be anything but a doormat for the circuit.

"We're shaping up very well," he said. "Balmy Beach says Sarnia Imperials are the team to beat, but they'll find we've got a pretty good team here ourselves. We'll be rough for any of them."

The Redskins, who have had more than 40 men working out for the last four weeks, open the season here tomorrow night at Lions Park against the Beaches.

Gnup has bolstered the pick of the 1951 Panthers with former college, high school and junior players. Although Gnup has yet to sign a United States import, Al Dekdebrun, the former Argonaut quarterback, has been working out with the club and he may be signed to a contract if he can get his release from Toronto.

Bill Anderson, an American Negro who played baseball with St. Thomas in the senior Intercounty loop this season, has also asked for a try-out. He is an outside wing who played all his former football in Paterson, N.J.

It is also understood that Gnup will take a regular turn in the quarterback slot. A native of the United States, Gnup has qualified as a Canadian by playing more than four consecutive years of football in this country. He played with and coached Hamilton Wildcats of the O.R.F.U. from 1946 to 1949 before going to Toronto Argonauts. He coached the intermediate Peterborough Orfuns last season.

Frank Moroz and Glen Dawson have also been mentioned for the quarterback position. Both played with Panthers while Moroz also played under Gnup with the Wildcats.

The half line is made up of former Panthers from front to back. Gildo Corsini, Frank Holland, Francis Grandby, Joe Melnick, Ernie Allard, Ron Lewington, Bill Brady and Don Toms are available. All are natives of Hamilton.

ONLY ONE FULLBACK

Boris Kotoff, a 24-year-old six-footer, is the only fullback listed on the roster while George Turnbull and Leo Guay will take turns at flying wing. All three played with the Panthers last year. Joe McFarlane will handle the kicking chores.

Jack Beatty, Andy Marshall, George Mennicannin and Pete McIntyre are available for the middle wing positions. Bill Hamilton, John Fabian and Jim Styres will work at inside wing. Marshall is heaviest man on the squad, tipping the scales at 235 pounds while standing six-foot-two.

Ray Jones and Tom Moran are the only outside wings signed. Jones played with the Panthers last year.

Campbellford Boys In O.B.A. Junior Set

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — The opening game of the junior Ontario Baseball Association playoffs between Shallow Lake, a community in the Owen Sound district, and Campbellford will be held at the local high school diamond on Saturday afternoon. It will be a best-of-three-game series with the second game slated for Shallow Lake the following Saturday. No arrangements have yet been made for a third game, should one be needed.

This is the first time Campbellford has fielded a team to take part in O.B.A. competition for several years. The Shallow Lake team has built up an enviable record as baseball champions in

Yankees Take Blackwell

NEW YORK (AP)—The mystery of the seven National League clubs passing up Ewell Blackwell for the $10,000 waiver price was only partially explained today as baseball executives gave their reasons for allowing the former Cincinnati ace to go to New York Yankees.

"Blackwell's through! He can't help us."

That was the concensus among the National League moguls. Apparently the world champion Yankees don't agree or they would never have shelled out some $50,000 plus four players to get the 29-year-old righthander.

OUTBID SOX, INDIANS

Conceding that Blackwell is not the pitcher he once was, he still is far from finished, at least in the opinion of some American Leaguers. For it was learned General Managers Hank Greenberg of Cleveland and Frank Lane of Chicago White Sox made overtures for him but were outbid by the Yankees.

The Yankees gave up a pretty fair pitcher in southpaw Johnny Schmitz and three players from fields Jim Greengrass, Bob Marquez and pitcher Ernie Nevel.

The Yanks refused to reveal the purchase price, but expressed the belief that Blackwell would prove as important an acquisition as Johnny Mize, Johnny Hopp and Johnny Sain. Those three players were plucked out of the National League in the last three years near the end of the season.

If Backwell, winner of only three games against 12 losses and currently plagued by a sore arm, should do an about face with the Yankees, there are sure to be several red faces in the National League.

THINK HE'S THROUGH

Explaining why Brooklyn Dodgers left Blacky out of the league, General Manager E. J. Bavasi said:

"We may be wrong but we don't think Blackwell has it any more. Besides, he has a sore arm."

Other comments:

Fred Saigh, president of St. Louis Cardinals—"We've got a lot of good young pitchers we think are much better. We want to go with them for a good finish this year and, principally, for a good start next year."

A Pittsburgh spokesman—"The Pirates thought Blackwell was through."

George Fletcher, publicity director of Philadelphia Phillies—"We are well fortified with righthanded pitchers right now."

Blackwell—"Boy, oh boy, oh boy!"

The plane, a refuelling craft heavily loaded with gasoline, developed engine trouble and was attempting to make an emergency landing when it fell a mile short of the runway and burst into flames.

Dublin Printers Settle Strike

DUBLIN (Reuters) — Dublin newspaper printers settled a strike yesterday which has kept papers off the city's streets for the last six weeks.

The dispute was over a demand for a wage increase of 30 shillings a week by the compositors and electrotypers' and stereotypers' trade unions, who had previously rejected an offer of 12 shillings and sixpence.

Present wage of operatives in these branches of the newspaper industry range around £8 a week.

The operators agreed to pay increased wages approved by a labor court ruling.

The increases are 16 shillings a week to craftsmen and 12 shillings and a penny to unskilled men.

Gen. Grow Assigned To Historical Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Robert W. Grow, 57, was assigned to the Army's historical office Thursday—one month after he was convicted by a court martial of writing secret information in his personal diary.

The diary fell into the hands of Soviet agents and it was used as the basis of a propaganda attack earlier this year. The army said it was taken from a hotel room in Frankfurt when Grow was on a visit.

Grow was U. S. military attache to Moscow at the time the diary was spirited from his hotel room.

Wants Immigrants Warned Of Skunk

OTTAWA (CP)—Bus driver Alphonse Robert thinks Canada's immigration people ought to tell immigrants about skunks.

Driver Robert noticed a strong, strange but easily-identifiable odor about a recently-arrived displaced person who entered his bus yesterday. So did all the other passengers.

The odiferous, unidentified D.P. finally got off. But before he did driver Robert got, in broken English, the story of how he'd patted a cute little cat with white stripes down its back as he walked to the bus stop.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Donald Carrell, 16, of Welland, yesterday helped recover from a hotel swimming pool the body of a companion who apparently had been drowned.

The dead boy was identified as Kenneth F. Hollander, 16, of Rochester, who with Carrell and others was attending a convention of a high school fraternity, Upsilon Landda Pi.

July Travel Heavy

OTTAWA (CP)—A five-per-cent increase in the number of vehicles entering Canada on traveller's permits during the last seven months was reported yesterday by the Bureau of Statistics. Entries during July set a record for the month of 501,174 compared with 489,058 during July of 1951. In the seven-month period, 1,219,169 vehicles entered compared with 1,156,751 during a similar period a year ago.

Urges Weekend Care

TORONTO (CP)—The increasing number of traffic accidents on Ontario highways is "shameful," Commissioner William H. Stringer of the Provincial Police said yesterday. He asked motorists to be extra careful the Labor Day weekend. Last year 18 persons were killed during the Labor Day weekend in Ontario.

Spanks Child, Convicted

VANCOUVER (CP)—A doctor, who spanked a child patient twice during a pre-school checkup, was convicted yesterday of assault and fined $10. Dr. R. D. Rush was summoned to court on the complaint of the mother, Mrs. Victoria Boyko.

New Drug Cures Leprosy Tried Out In South Africa

By JOHN WORRALL.

CAPE TOWN — (OFNS).—Remarkable results in the cure of leprosy have been achieved in South Africa by using the new American "wonder-drug" sulphone.

Details of this achievement were given here on Saturday by Dr. A. R. Davison, Medical Superintendent of West Port Leper Institution, Pretoria, who is leaving the Union on a mission of hope to millions of lepers in the Far East. His seven weeks' trip is sponsored by the Leonard Wood Memorial (American Leprosy) Foundation, which has initiated test treatment of lepers in the countries he will visit. These countries include the Philippines and Japan.

Dr. Davison will take with him reports of remarkable cures in South Africa with sulphone used in combination with isinicotinic acid.

Tests have been carried out in leper institutions in the Transkei, Pondoland and Zululand native reserves. On a recent tour of these institutions Dr. Davison examined two thousand cases treated with sulphone. Of these, 795 have been recommended for discharge.

CANNOT RESTORE LIMBS

"No one stricken with leprosy need despair of a cure, provided he is physically sound and not seriously mutilated," Dr. Davison said. "We cannot restore lost limbs, but we can cure the disease by treatment with sulphone and other drugs. The cure may take five months or it may take five years."

Dr. Davison said that formerly chaulmoogra oil was used and was effective in curing the nerve type of leprosy. Sulphone cured both the nerve and skin types of the disease.

Sulphone's effectiveness was discovered acidentally in America when scientists were using it as an anti-tuberculosis drug. It was found to attack the leprosy bacilli.

"We are still trying to find a more rapid remedy," said Dr. Davison. "I believe the key will be found in a combination of drugs. At present we are experimenting with six groups of drugs in combination, but it is too early to say which is likely to be fastest and most effective. I am sure, however, that we shall find it."

According to a World Health Organization report, between six and seven million people in the world are suffering from leprosy. The principal centre is Asia, with one million cases in India and one million in China. There are two million cases in Africa.

Labor Day Now Celebrated In Atmosphere Of Amity

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada will pause Monday for a welcome holiday to honor the man who carries her destiny on his ample shoulders — the laboring man.

Labor Day, providing the last long week-end of a summer that has been torrid in many areas, will see its full quota of fun-making and ceremonies. And there'll be no eight-hour limit on the picnics and celebrations.

But the modern holiday scourge of accidents on highways and elsewhere can be expected to bring its circles of sadness from coast to coast.

Practically all Canadians share with organized labor in the holiday. In contrast with the bloodletting traditions of May Day in Europe, Labor Day in North America is celebrated in an atmosphere of amity and carefree carnival.

59TH ANNUAL

Taking the lead in speech-making, meetings and parades will be leaders of Canada's 1,000,000 trades unionists. It will be the 59th observance of Labor Day, which became a statutory holiday through a bill introduced in the House of Commons by a Conservative Prime Minister.

Prime Minister Sir John Thompson personally piloted the measure at the urging of Alexander W. Wright, a dynamic labor journalist who was a native of Markham township, Ont.

Wright, editor of an influential American labor journal, also was largely responsible for the United States deciding on the September observance. One faction of American labor favored May 1, but Wright stubbornly opposed the date common to European countries.

Though Labor Day originated on this side of the Atlantic, the idea of such a holiday is an old one. Records show that in the Middle Ages processions were organized by trade guilds in England and other parts of Europe. The parades showed the medieval working man's pride of craftsmanship and stressed his position in Society.

THE BEAUTIFUL SIDE OF LIFE used to be so simple but it's getting pretty snarled up now. For instance, there's Gunseli Bazar, the new Miss Europe, at left above. She competed as Miss Turkey, but she wasn't born in Turkey. Then there's Judy Bren, who is Miss England. She was born in New York. The last item above is fairly simple. It's Maria Tistler, 1952's one and only Miss Sweden, who actually comes from Stockholm.

Europe Appears Prosperous With Tremendous Crops R. R. Discovers in Trip

On the surface, Europe looks prosperous. There is a tremendous crop of cereals, fruits and field crops this year. Employment is at a high level. There is less talk of war in Europe than there is in Canada or the U.S., and Europeans are going about their business without giving any apparent thought to their country's ecenomic problems.

These are some of the impressions that Quaker Oats president, Reginald R. Faryon brought back with him after a six-week motor tour of the United Kingdom and the Continent with his wife and 15-year-old son, Richard.

The Faryons sailed from Montreal on the Empress of Canada and returned on the Empress of France, arriving back in Peterborough the first week in August, after a semi-business and pleasure trip which took them through the cities, villages and rural areas of England, Scotland, Holland, Belguim, France and Switzerland.

OFF BEATEN TRACK

Mr. Faryon explains that the reason many of the places they visited "were off the beaten track was chiefly because we did not want to go to tourist resorts. We wanted to see how the people lived, worked and played."

However, their trip also took in London and Paris. Mr. Faryon was "most impressed with the magnificent job of cleaning up and repairing bomb damage that has been done in London."

As for Paris, the Faryons were "unimpressed" with the French capital. "In our mind, it hasn't the character of London and is greatly over rated. Prices are extremely high and we got the impression it is strictly a tourist town."

They were in Paris on July 14, Bastille Day, and viewed the French army parade which took four hours to pass. Mr. Faryon, a veteran of the First World War terms it "the best organized military parade I have ever seen in my life. If it is indicative of the French army, it certainly looked very good."

Throughout the tour, Mr. Faryon says they seldom heard war mentioned. The reason Mr. Faryon believes is that Europeans "are living under the actuality of it. It is so real to them, they perhaps don't bother about it (the tense international situation) because they want to forget about it."

"The scenic attractiveness of rural England "looks more like the result of expert planning rather than agricultural efficiency. In British parks, the most striking feature was the absence of any litter, garbage, or any kind of waste paper, in contrast with Canadian and American parks.

ENJOYING THEMSELVES

"The people appeared bright and alert, well dressed and appeared to be enjoying themselves. There was plenty of food, although there are no steaks and not many roasts. While England is neat and tidy, it falls down when you get inside. Theig sanitary conveniences are antiquated and in many cases, down right dirty. There are no window screens anywhere on the other side of the Atlantic."

This last fact, plus the lack of refrigeration meant that flies were seen every day, swarming over fish and meat displayed in open counters in the broiling summer sun.

In England, the Faryons were frequently mistaken for Americans, and on the Continent, they had to explain that they were not English, but Canadians. "Everywhere, we found a very good feeling towards Canada and when the people learned we were from Canada, they were very friendly."

The Faryons had no difficulty with languages. Mrs. Faryon can speak French, and Mr. Faryon can follow conversations in French, but in any case, language problems were minimized by the fact that "every high school student we met spoke good English." In this connection, Mr. Faryon comments that in Canada, where both English and French are official languages, he has "yet to meet a high school graduate who can speak French."

ONE GREAT FARM

The impression one gets from a tour through rural France and the Low Countries is that Europe is "one great farm. It is immediately obvious that their yields are much higher than ours. England is much more highly mechanized than Canadian farms and English farmers have more help than Canadian farmers.

There are still lots of farm laborers who live in villages and go out to work in the surrounding fields, and land girls are apparent all over the country. In France, thousands of acres are still harvested by hand, with everyone including grandmothers going out in the fields to harvest every straw and every head of grain.

The high cost of living is worse in Europe than it is here. English wage rates are much lower than ours, but while prices are lower, they are not comparably lower. The average Canadian worker is away better off than workers in Europe or the United Kingdom."

Mr. Faryon found that most European small towns had one feature in common, they go in for beautifying their communities with attractive parks and public buildings. "You don't see the mushroom growths of houses, spreading out from cities and towns. New buildings are very well planned, so they fit into the whole picture. The people seem to be more concerned about the appearance of their country.

YOUTH HAPPY

The youth of Europe are having a far better time than the youth of Canada," in Mr. Faryon's opinion. Every weekend, they start out on tandem bicycles and can be seen along the highways in thousands. "They seem to have a more mature idea about the niceties of living than we do over here and younger people are creating their own forms of group amusements. There is none of the apathy of Canadian youngsters who sit around wondering what there is to do."

As for Switzerland, the Faryons consider the few days they spent there "worth the trip". It is prosperous, beautiful and the people are scrupulously clean and tidy. The Alps are not as spectacular as our Rockies but they are more picturesque. Swiss valleys look like they have been tinted, clipped, watered and painted."

Now Mr. Faryon says if he had a choice of where he would like to live, it would be a toss-up between three places: the south of England in Somerset or Devon, the Selkirk Hills of Scotland or one of the valleys of Switzerland.

THE BARE FACTS on how to beat the heat are right here in the photo. You carry your bathing suit and head for the beach. Friend dog can't shed woolly coat so easily but he's goin gright along with the young nudist.

Bachelor Cousin Of Farouk Heir Presumptive At 77

CAIRO (Reuters). — Prince Mohamed Aly, 77, bachelor cousin of ex-king Farouk and perennial heir presumptive to the throne, was Thursday once again confirmed as first in line of succession to the King of Egypt.

The white bearded prince, famed for the rakish angle at which he wears his fez, was heir presumptive to Farouk until the baby prince Ahmed Fuad was born to former Queen Narriman last Friday. He then dropped to second place in the line of succession. But now that Farouk has been ousted and his seven-month-old son proclaimed King Ahmed Fuad II, the prince has again become heir presumptive.

Prince Abdel Moneim, Farouk's cousin and Aly's nephew, carried the news to his uncle at his Arabesque Palace of Manial on Rodah Island, in the Nile near Cairo.

Moneim is president of the three-man regency council set up by the new regime of Gen. Mohamid Naguib, Egypt's strongman who forced Farouk off the throne. It will act for the infant king until he becomes of age.

Aly will receive about £11,000 a year as heir presumptive to the throne. But money is no problem for the elegant prince, who inherited a fortune from his mother, the widow of the Khedive Tewfik.

Likes To Work Has Long Hours

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ed Snelgrove, 30, of Vancouver is regarded by many in northern British Columbia as uncommon—in fact, he's something of a legend.

He feels unhappy if he's not working hard. He doesn't like to quit at the end of an eight-hour day, feels cheated if he doesn't arrive home dead tired.

He became a legend on the Alaska Highway. He liked to drive heavy trucks the hard way—three days and three nights without sleep.

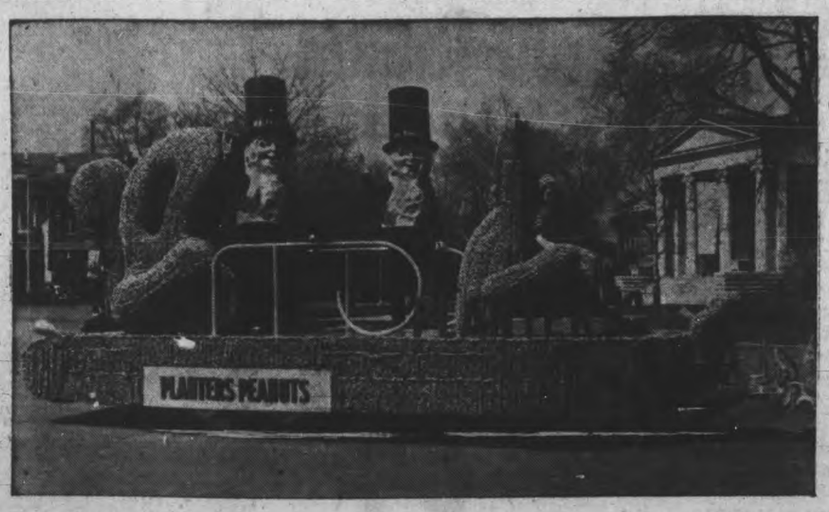
Although Ed says he doesn't work a lot of overtime for the money, he's not unhappy about the nest egg he has in the bank—money he earned by hard work. He hopes to buy a $30,000 tractor and go into business for himself.

Right now he's probably back where he likes to work, the Aluminum Company of Canada project at Kitimat. They let him work 14 hours a day on week days and 16 on Sundays.

Legal Gambling Would Save Inquiry

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice Francois Caron, presiding at Montreal's vice inquiry, said yesterday an amendment to the Criminal Code legalizing gambling and betting would have saved Montreal from suffering "the cancer eating at it."

Mr. Justice Caren also suggested that the silence of "good and honest citizens" hampered the police department in its fight to wipe out vice.



"If members of well-known and well-to-do families had been arrested and kept in jail for participating in illegal gambling and good honest citizens had not been so reticent to give information, the police would not have been so hampered in their effort to enforce the law," he said.

Mr. Justice Caron made the statements during yesterday's hearing of the inquiry into alleged police toleration of vice in Montreal over a 10-year period.

Fears Seaway Will Ruin Ship Building

MIDLAND. — Unless some action is taken to protect Canadian shipping after the St. Lawrence Seaway is opened, many ships being built at the present time will be left idle, Gordon C. Leitch, president of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Co. Lt. said Thursday.

He made this prediction at a reception here after the launching of the 664-foot freighter, S.S. Gordon C. Leitch. Two other businessmen joined him in urging government action to protect the Great Lakes for Canada and the U.S. They were his partner and vice-president of the shipping company, James Norris, and T. R. McLagan, president of Canada Steamship Lines and the Midland Shipyards Ltd.

This matter will be brought to a head at the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway, but it should be brought to head now, Mr. Leitch said. "This threat applies to any transportation—trucks or railroads—and the results could be very serious to Canada as a whole."

HEAVILY TAXED

"Shipping companies pay 55 cents out of every dollar they make in taxes. Foreign boats pay no taxes and, generally speaking, their wage structure is so low as to completely undermine our present relatively high Canadian standard of living.

"I am sure," he added, "it is to the best interests of all Canadians to see that our Canadian shipping is fully protected from the intrusion of outsiders who in no way contribute to the welfare of Canada. I think the time has come for everyone to give serious thought to this situation."

VITALLY INTERESTED

Mr. Leitch said every one connected with shipping or transportation was vitally interested in the question of allowing foreign ships to trade in Canadian waters.

Mr. McLagan told the reception, which was attended by more than 600 prominent Canadian and U.S. guests: "Not long ago skeptics said we couldn't build ships this side of the Atlantic. You have seen this great ship launched here, and you know 30,000-ton tankers are being built in Quebec. Larger ones are to follow. But if the coastwise laws are not changed before the St. Lawrence seaway goes through the Canadian shipyards will go to grass.

"I ask Mr. Leitch and Mr. Norris to use their influence as owners to support the shipbuilders in seeking government action."

Mr. Norris declared that the St. Lawrence waterway is "the concern of everyone in Canada."

"Foreign ships," he said, "can carry cargoes for one-third what we can. Their wages are next to nothing and their food is terrible. Their power is low and their costs are cheap. Eventually, unless some action is taken, they will ruin every ship owner and shipyard in this country. I don't know a single inland waterway any place else where foreign ships are allowed to trade. The Great Lakes waterways should be the heritage of Canada and the U.S. Let's keep it that way."

LONG AND SHORT—When seven foot, one inch Murray Tannenbaum strode into City Police Headquarters with his five feet, six inch friend, Bertram Brodsky, pop-eyed officers decided something ought to be done about the heat. Tannenbaum went to report the loss of his wallet. Both from Bronx, N. Y., they are in Montreal on vacation.

Smaller Muncipalities Removing Rent Controls

TORONTO (CP)—Rent controls will be removed from 77 per cent of Ontario municipalities March 2, 1953, unless the municipal councils concerned ask that controls be retained.

Travel and Publicity Minister Cecile announced yesterday that the provincial rentals committee had sent a list of 708 municipalities to be decontrolled and 215 on which controls will remain.

Although rent controls will be removed from 77 per cent of Ontario municipalities, these municipalities are generally smaller towns and villages. Toronto, Hamilton and other most large centres are continuing controls. Most Ontario residents will remain under controls.

The move came as a result of an unanimous decision of the all-party select committee of the legislature. At its last meeting, the committee listed municipalities on which they thought controls should be kept or abandoned. Letters were written to the councils telling them the committee's opinion and giving them an opportunity to comment.

The letters were worded in such a way that if there was no reply, the council knew that the committee's designation would be recommended to the cabinet. Only 49 of the 928 questioned requested a change, 33 asking that controls be left on and 16 volunteering that controls be removed.

The Order-in-Council was passed by the Cabinet yesterday but the municipalities have six months in which to change their minds, at the end of which the order, amended if necessary, will go into effect.

SOME SURPRISES

The biggest surprise in the list was announcement that the Toronto suburbs of Leaside, Port Credit, Pickering township and Forest Hill Village had requested to be decontrolled. he remainder of the Toronto area will remain under controls.

Among centres to be decontrolled are: Chesley, Port Elgin, Southampton, Wiarton, Hepworth, Lion's Head, Lucknow, Mildmay, Paisley, Ripley, Tara, Teeswater, Tiverton, Aylmer, Port Burwell, Vienna, Dunham, Mesford, Thornbury, Chatsworth, Dundalk, Flesherton, Markdale, Neustadt, Shallow Lake, Caledonia, Cayuga, Jarvis, Seaforth, Blyth, Brussels, Hensall, Chatham, Erieau, Erie Beach, Highgate, Thamesville, Wheatley, Forest, Alvinston, Arkona, Grand Bend, Oil Springs, Thedford, Watford, Wyoming, Grimsby, Beamsville, Parkhill, Strathroy, Ailsa Craig, Glencoe, Lucan, Wardsville, Delhi, Port Dover, Port Rowan, Waterford, Tillsonburg, Embro, Norwich, Tavstock, Stratford, St. Mary's, Listowel, Mitchell, Millverton, Ayr, Bridgeport, Harriston, Mount Forest, Palmsteron, Drayton, Elora, Erin, Fergus;

Orangeville, Grand Valley, Shelburne, Beaverton, Cannington, Port Perry, Bolton, Port Credit, Streetsville, Hawkesbury, Rockland, Vankleek Hill, Alliston, Stayner, Beeton, Bradford, Coldwater, Creemore, Elmvale, Port McNicoll, Tottenham, Victoria Harbour, Wasaga Beach, Bala, Bracebridge, Gravenhurst, Huntsville, Port Carling, Port Sydney, Windermere, Kearney, Parry Sound, Powassan, Trout Creek, Burk's Falls, Magnetawan, South River, Sundridge;

Desoronto, Brancroft, Deloro, Frankford, Madoc, Marmora, Stirling, Tweed, Bath, Newburgh, Campbellford, Brighton, Colborne, Hastings, Millbrook, Lakefield, Picton, Bloomfield, Wellington, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Omemee, Sturgeon Point, Woodville;

Richmond, Almonte, Carleton Place, Lanark, Prescott, Athens, Cardinal, Kemptville, Merrickville, Newboro, Westport, Arnprior, Barry's Bay, Braeside, Cobden, Killaloe Station, Chesterville, Finch, Iroquois, Lancaster, Maxville, Morrisburg, Winchester.

GETS PULSE CHECKED—Henry W. Grunewald, the "mystery man" of Washington tax scandals, has his pulse taken by his physician, Dr. John Curry, as he is called to give testimony in the U. S. District Court in Brooklyn, N. Y. Grunewald appeared before a grand jury probing tax matters after being warned he might get a jail term if he failed to show up. He had contended he was too ill to come to Brooklyn from Washington.

Stalin Master Plan Seen In Middle East Turmoil

Stalin's apparent aloofness to the convulsions in Iran and Egypt veils a long-range Kremlin plan to take over revolutionary movements sparked by Middle East "Kerensky," United Nations World magazine says in its September issue.

Moscow's moderation, the magazine says, indicates that the ousting of Farouk and the dictatorship of Mossadegh do not yet "qualify as revolutionary situations in which power could be seized by a well organized minority," but that by "fermenting mounting chaos and confusion," without direct intervention, the Communists are working toward such a state of despair and turmoil that they can take the reins "by default".

"The only alternative to a Communist coup," the magazine says, "would be a genuine democratic revolution. Paradoxically, in this region the West rather than the East would benefit by an overthrow of the establishd order." But this requires far-reaching economic reforms, it continues, and "the big landowners, the sheiks and effendis, the pashes and beys, have a vested interest in the status quo, in the ignorance and illiteracy of the fellahin." And, unlike the revolutions in Europe in 1848, there is no strong and politically prepared middle class in the Middle East.

Thus, the Russians see in the Middle East the nationalistic eruption that dominated Europe in the 19th century and are quietly fanning the fires of unrest "to take over the revolutionary ferment and utilize it for their own political aims by a group of Moscow-trained, hard-hitting and purposeful militants."

Give New Twist To Row In Malan Courts

CAPETOWN Reuters)—South Africa's Courts - vs - Parliament struggle was given a new twist today when the Cape Province supreme court declared invalid an act establishing a high court of Parliament.

The unanimous judgment emphasized the sharp division of opinion between Prime Minister Daniel Malan and the country's courts on who should have the final say on the validity of acts of Parliament.

At Malan's behest, Parliament, dominated by his supporters, set up the high court which claims powers to over-rule the normal courts on matters relating to legislation.

HOLD FIRST SESSION

The high court, made up of members of Parliament, held its first session this week and proclaimed the validity of an act which had removed voters of mixed blood from the common electoral role. Opposition members boycotted the session.

The Voters' Act earlier had been declared invalid by the South African supreme court. It was this judgment which prompted Malan to set up the high court of parliament.

UN Unit Develops Formula To End World's Depressions

Governments are moving toward organized international cooperation to neutralize economic slumps before they become depressions, United Nations World reports in its September issue.

Even "the tremendous problem of converting industrial countries to peacetime production when the present armament race is concluded" can be met without incurring a major recession by adherence to a program evolved by the United Nations Economic and Social Council, the magazine says. Action through the international organization to maintain full employment in times of stress is now possible because of the tremendous expansion in the activities of the various governments in the last few years —to the point where these governments "possess a dominating influence over their economies."

Starting with "the fact that unemployment in industrial countries is the result of insufficient or unstable demand," the magazine says, the ECOSOC experts "spelled out in detail how governments could buttress purchasing power at home"—by using the power to tax and the power to spend, by government stimulation of private investment through special credit facilities or tax inducements, and by preplanned public works projects.

In the international phase, ECOSOC condemns quantitative controls over imports and restrictions on exchange which would reduce trade between countries, and it urges governments to continue buying from and lending to other nations, and to maintain a reserve of foreign currencies and gold on which they can draw during slumps, the magazine says.

To bolster these actions, ECOSOC urges the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank to lend effective quantities of money to ailing nations, the magazine says, adding that "nations are like businessmen: they need credit in times of stress, yet in times of stress their credit is poorest . . . Just as American businessmen were saved—and the country along with them—by $50 billion of loans from the government Reconstruction Finance Corporation, so nations must be saved—and the world along with them—by loans from an international, a United Nations, finance corporation."

Seven Men Face Liquor Charges

Seven men appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter today on liquor charges.

Leo Emery, no fixed address talked himself out of a three month jail term when he succeeded in getting a third offence drunk charge reduced to a second offence. Emery argued the first offence alleged was more than a year ago and won his point.

He said he would be willing to pay a fine of $50 and $2.50 costs, but Magistrate Baxter said it was not a case for the minimum penalty and fined him $75 and $2.50 costs or one month in jail.

Arthur Gordon, 19, 266 McGill St., and Wilfred Finn, 32, 305 Margaret Ave., pleaded guilty to charges of having liquor in a place other than a residence. They were each fined $15 and $2.50 costs or 15 days.

John Walsh, Hastings, was given a two-week adjournment on a second offence drunk charge and Henry Jones, 740 Howden Ave., was granted an adjournment for one week on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place.

Frank Johnson, 32, of Lakefield was remanded in custody for one week on the same charge and Kenneth Johnson, 37, 381 Grady Ave., was remanded for a week on bail of $200.

Tension Growing Over Nazi Clemency

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—The Roman Catholic newspaper Het Volk said today that Justice Minister Joseph Pholien had been recalled from a vacation because of growing political tension over clemency granted to condemned wartime collaborators of the Nazis.

Earlier this month, J. de Bodt, sentenced to death for torturing and killing prisoners during the occupation of Belgium, had his penalty changed to life imprisonment.

Yesterday several Brussels papers said that Col. Adrien van Coppenolle, wartime gendarmerie chief also sentenced to death for collaboration, had been released conditionally.

Explosion Kills Bush Lot Owner

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—One man was killed and a second critically injured in a dynamite blast late Thursday in North Korah township, two miles from here, where they were clearing a drainage ditch.

Provincial police who still have the accident under investigation said Albin Kinnonen, 72, owner of the bush lot, was apparently killed outright. George Renfors, 43, a transient worker whom Kinnonen had hired on Thursday, is too badly injured to be questioned.

The two were clearing stumps and clay from a drainage ditch. Kinonen's wife became worried when they failed to return last night. A brother and friends discovered the accident at midnight.

An inquest was ordered.

Sudbury Band Places Third At Exhibition

TORONTO (CP)—Sudbury 58th Regimental Band under T. Clegg, bandmaster, yesterday placed third to take a prize of $125 in the class for all-brass bands at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Top band in the class, winner of the Boosey-Hawkes Trophy and $350, was the Metropolitat Silver Band of Toronto. Oshawa Civic and Regimental Band was third, winning $250.

Pax Romana Told State Should Boost Education

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Desy, head of the international service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and former Canadian ambassador to Italy, said today that as education is of primary concern to public welfare, the state should promote, encourage and complement it when shortcomings appear.

In an address to the 22nd world congress of Pax Romana, he said, however, that the state must vacate the field of education, where it should normally only exercise functions of supervision and assistance, once any shortcomings have been overcome.

Pax Romana is an international federation of Catholic student and intellectual associations. Theme of the congress, "the mission of the university," is being expanded in a week-long series of lectures and study sessions.

700 DELEGATES

Some 700 delegates representing more than 40 countries are attending.

Mr. Desy said the modern university can only exist with a large student body and generous financial assistance and the state should furnish the universities with intelligent and generous support with no other purpose than the common good.

"To check on expenditures, to get reports, without undue interference in the purely scholastic affairs of the university, to encourage progress, to protect the independence of professors, to assist the most talented and also the most needy students, all these are the prerogatives of the state," he said.

The state has no authority over principles and techniques as such, but "keeps an eye" on their application and practice.

James Phillips

WARKWORTH — (ENS) —Funeral service was conducted Thursday at the Allen funeral home for James Phillips, a farmer for many years in the Morganston district. Mr. Phillips, 72, died Tuesday after a long illness.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, a son of Adam Phillips and Jane Brodie, he came to Canada while a child, and has lived 68 years in Cramahe township. His farm was near Cramahe Hill. Mr. Phillips retired to Morganston eight years ago.

Surviving are his widow, the former Gladys Vanblaricom, two sons and a daughter, William of Belleville, Grant of Morganston, and Mrs. Harold Arnott (Sabra). There are six grandchildren and a brother and sister, Thomas Phillips and Mrs. Wallace Turney (Jennie), both of Morganston.

The Rev. J. E. Griffith, of Morganston United Church conducted the service. Burial was in the Christian Church cemetery at Morganston.

Pallbearers were all nephews: Douglas Turney, Russell Stewart, Owen Clarke, W. Grant Allen, Gordon Wellard, and Van Darling. Flowers bearers were neighbors William Beggs, John Darling, William Turney and Donald Massey.

Give $10,000 Trophy To Leafs

TORONTO (CP)—A $10,000 trophy, the J. P. Bickell Memorial Cup, has been set up by the directors of Maple Leaf gardens. It will be presented from time to time to an outstanding Toronto Maple Leaf hockey player. With presentation of the cup goes a $500 miniature to be kept.

Gardens officials said the first award will be made to a man from last season's team.

The cup will perpetuate the memory of the late Mr. Bickell, Toronto mining magnate who was the first president of the Gardens and later chairman of the board.

Gardens officials said the award would be made to a Leaf player "for performing with such a high standard of excellence that he would be a truly great member of the team." It could be won for one tremendous feat, a season of spectacular play or for remarkable service over a period of years.

The unusual award is a 14-carat gold cup with a quartz base.

Magistrate Reproves Special Constable

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ottawa Transportation Commission special constable, who witnesses said tossed another man 10 feet in the air off a platform at the Ottawa Exhibition last week, was ticked off by Magistrate Joachim Sauve yesterday for "going a little too far."

The magistrate dismissed a charge of causing a disturbance against Edward Blake by the special constable, William Bangs.

Bangs, a one-time wrestler, was said by witnesses to have grabbed Blake and thrown him off the platform to the ground and then pulled a blackjack and threatened to hit him. The altercation arose because Bangs apparently hadn't the required ticket to get into a bus terminal compound where the argument took place.

Happy Wells Wins Webster Trophy

WINNIPEG (CP)—Happy Wells of Chilliwack, B.C., last night was awarded the Webster Memorial trophy, emblem of supremacy among amateur fliers.

The Pacific zone representative from the Chilliwack Flying Club was adjudged best of the six regional representatives competing in the tests at Stevenson Field here.

Charles Vaughn of St. Catharines Fly Club, central zone representative, was runner-up. He received the Sanderson shield.

Index Point Lower

OTTAWA (CP)—Wholesale prices for vegetable, textile, wood and chemical products led the general index of wholesale prices one point lower during July, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday

The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, dropped to 225.5 from 226.5 in June.

Take Beer Vote

CARLETON PLACE (CP)—Voters in this Ottawa Valley town will decide Nov. 12 on the question of beer sale in hotels. At present beer is sold only at a retail store. Alternatives on the vote will be sale of beer for men only, for men and women, dining room licence only, or complete rejection.

NOTES SUMMER'S END

In spite of the weather, an advertisement in Thursday's paper makes it seem the end of summer is not far off. Superintendent of schools K. S. Wightman announced that P.C.V.S. students would make their initial appearance next Tuesday morning. It's certainly summer's end for students.

SWEATY SESSIONS

If the enduring mettle of candidates for the Collegiate rugby squad is indicated by the energy and zeal they have been putting into morning workouts all week their business future should be blazoned with success. On the ground in front of the school they have been running the ball from formation while line men have been hitting the canvas without regard for heat and humidity, knocking off at noon for home with grand appetites, according to one of their dads, who remarked today that he would gladly change place with his lad, providing he could have the benefit of the experience he himself gained since he played Collegiate football.

Neighbor Enters Garden In Contest, Wins First Prize

Winner of a first prize in the lawn and garden competition of the Peterborough Horticultural Association, Mrs. E. A. Kettle, 660 Gillespie Ave., did not know that her home was an entry until E. A. Hick of Lindsay arrived there in his round of judging. The class was for lawns and flower gardens of houses built since 1947.

One of Mrs. Kettle's neighbors was so impressed with the accomplishment in beautification and in lawn-making that she thought her own rating would be endorsed by the judge.

"It was a great surprise to me," Mrs. Kettle commented today. "My husband and I are both interested in horticulture and in improving the appearance of our premises. He does the heavier work. The judge kept looking at our lawn and especially noted the absence of weeds. Any time I saw one, I uprooted it, and that, I suppose, explains why it was free of weeds."

Mr. Hick's report of the judging was dated to W. C. Wilks, secretary of the Peterborough Horticultural Association, Monday, Aug. 25.

His official report was as follows:

FACTORIES

Class 1—First place: De Laval Company. The lawns and flowers were found to be in exceptionally fine shape. In fact, it is hard to find room for improvement. The lawn was in particularly fine condition and shows interest on the part of the management. The extra flower boxes and the plantings of evergreens all added to the beauty.

Second place: Western Clock Co. The beds showed extra care and were well designed. The grass could stand for more attention, particularly to eliminate weeds.

Third place: Canadian General Electric Co. The beds and lawns here show improved care over past seasons. Actually there was little to choose between this and the second place winner.

Fourth place: Nashua Paper Co. The lawns and evergreens are attractive, but some flower beds added for color would improve the features immensely.

Factories, class 2: 1st, Canada Packers Ltd. We noticed considerable improvement here. The flowers were attractive and made a nice sight for the people passing.

2nd: Peterborough Bus Lines. The flowers and lawn here are improving every year.

3rd: A. Wander Ltd. (Ovaltine): The lawns and shrubs are the main feature here. They are well cared for.

Class A: (House built any year, no professional help): 1st: L. G. Dunstan, 740 Hurley St., attractive flowers, lawns and trees make this residence outstanding.

2nd: Miss C. Millard, 424 Stewart St. Well cared for lawn and flowers added to the beauty of this residence.

3rd: R. Delahaye, 852 George St. north.

Class B: (Houses built since 1947): 1st: Mrs. E. A. Kettle, 660 Gillespie Ave., which extends westerly from Monaghan Road to Erskine Ave. We thought this place exceptional. They have improved their place with lawns, flowers and shrubs in a very short time. It all showed very great care and extreme neatness. A very worthy winner.

2nd: Mrs. J. O. Meehan, 727 Lock St. Flowers and lawn were most attractive.

3rd: Mrs. S. H. Perks, 509 Cambridge St.

Class C: (Rock Gardens): No entries.

Class D: (Pools): 1st: Mrs. Meehan. While the only entry in this class, it is definitely worth a first.

Class E. (Vegetable Gardens): 1. Harry Gabbutt, 533 Chamberlain St.; 2. Mrs. Meehan; 3. Mrs. A. C. Simmons, 250 Euclid Ave.

Class F. (Window Boxes): 1: H. Gabbutt.

EXCELLENT JOB

Commenting on the entries in the factories section of the competition, Mr. Hick said: "Some of the factories of Peterborough are doing an excellent job in the improvement and care of their lawns and in the planting of shrubs and flowers. The results must be a satisfaction to management, and appreciated by the employees. It is an example to them and to all the citizens in the fact that everybody likes to see these decorative effects in green grass and bloom, and also attractive shrubbery.

I think the management of those industries are to be commended in maintaining this beauty from year to year; and a word should be said of the groundsmen.

Factories are often plain grounds and buildings, but trim lawns and flower beds greatly relieve that industrial aspect. I am sure visitors will remember Peterborough from the beautification of industrial premises. Some of them particularly are a credit to the city and to their companies."

STUFFED FULL of marshmallows, hot dogs and pop, children had a first rate weiner roast in the centre of the city at Fleming Place playground at Brock and Aylmer Sts. Thursday night. More than 100 turned out for the big event, the last of the 1952 season for the city playgrounds which closed today. Most of the other playgrounds had similar events. Seen toasting their marshmallows in the picture at left are (left to right) Charles Sorrie, Ron Spinks, Harry James, Ann Main and Leona Davis. Making a mighty effort to get one more down in the photo above are Sandra Davis and Susie Lane. Supervisors of the playground are Mary Craw and Harry Carleton. —(Choate Studio Photos)

Children Win Swim Awards

Marking the end of the season at the Lions Club swiming pool at Riverside, a swimming party was held there Thursday.

Children in the various age groups competed in races and staged a number of stunts. Prizes were awarded to the winners.

Mrs. J. P. Watts, representing the Red Cross, presented Red Cross life saving awards to 82 children, most of them girls. Total enrolment at the pool over the summer was 825, with 650 of those being children beginners.

Representatives of the Lions Club present were Douglas Anderson and James McCulloch. Miss Betty Merrett, swimming instructress, organized the splash party.

To Begin Negotiations

Local 1450 of the Carpenters and Joiners Union (A.F. of L.) has been certified as the official bargaining representative for carpenters employed by Hardy Construction Co. and Arnold Steele Construction.

Contracts between the union and the two firms have not been worked out, but bargaining is expected to start soon.

Petition Started Seeking Provincial Investigation In Memorial Centre Delay

Six points of grievance concerning the proposed memorial centre are raised in a petition being circulated at present in the city. Sponsor of the petition is Maurice Ketcheson. The petition is circulated with a view to an eventual investigation of the matter by the public trustee of the province of Ontario. Such an investigation is made possible under the Charities Accounting Act, as amended in 1951.

The act says that any person may complain as to the manner in which funds are solicited or about the manner in which funds have been dealt with. Such a complaint must be delivered in writing to the judge of any county or district court.

In this case the petition is addressed to Judge John de Navarre Kennedy, newly appointed judge of Peterborough county court. He was named to the bench after the death of Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

GRIEVANCES

Following are the grievances listed in the words of the petition:

1. This building has not been built or construction begun.
2. A private bill was requested by the Peterborough city council and passed by the Ontario provincial government. Also a bylaw was passed in conjunction with same, although subscribers were not advised this would be done.
3. Subscribers were promised the building would be under construction and finished within a few months. Afterwards the private bill was passed which does not stipulate when construction would be started or finished.
4. The building should have been built before the prices of building materials and labor costs had advanced and as same are still advancing, we protest against further delay in construction.
5. Citizens have been deprived of the use of the building for purposes of which the building was to be used.
6. The money was subscribed to build a memorial community centre but instead the money raised has been used to buy bonds with part of same and the balance placed in a bank bearing interest.

In 1944, the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre committee was organized, and with the consent of city council raised money to build the memorial centre.

A good deal of bickering and indecision over the site was apparent, and lack of a site was the main reason given for not starting construction.

On another occasion, Mr. Ketcheson asked for an investigation into the use of the funds. That was early last fall, and nothing came of it when Mr. Ketcheson decided against pressing the request after talking it over with Judge J. A. McGibbon, of Lindsay.

Should the judge to whom the petition is presented decide that the public interest can be served by an investigation, he may make an order directing the public trustee to make whatever investigation seems proper.

In making the investigation, the public trustee would have and could exercise any of the powers given him by the Charities Accounting Act or those given a commissioner under the Public Inquiries Act.

The report of the investigation, when completed, would go in duplicate to the attorney-general and to the county court judge who ordered the inquiry. The cost of the investigation would form part of the expenses of the administration of justice in the province.

22-Pound Lake Trout

MARMORA (ENS) — While fishing on Big Salmon Lake near St. Ola on Wednesday afternoon, Harold Naylor had the good fortune to hook and land a 22-pound lake trout. It measured 36 inches in length and had a girth of 21 inches. The fish which took approximately 20 minutes to boat was caught on a brass wobbler.

No Help

Visiting drivers have had to find their way out of the city toward Lindsay without the help of at least one sign all week. Early Monday morning a sign post was broken when two cars collided at George and McDonnel Sts. The sign post is still lying on the lawn of George Street United Church and drivers will have to look elsewhere for help until a new post is installed.

Glaciers Retreat Before Heat People Stick

It's warm isn't it? And it's getting warmer all the time by all the signs of science.

Not only is perspiration flowing more freely down scorched faces as the temperatures hover around the 90s these days, but the ice fields of the world are melting.

Men and women of Peterborough wearing sticky shirts and dresses may get some slight consolation from the fact that birds of Europe —one of every four species—have been forced to move north to escape the worst blasts of heat.

Of course humans cannot migrate so easily and most of them can merely hope for a cooling off period. Thursday and Wednesday the temperatures hit 88 and today at 9 a.m. the thermometer, starting its climb early, registered 76.

Is the world going to become cooler soon? Some scientists believe so. They feel that the world may enter a colder period within the next 10 years.

But, Dr. Hans W. Ahlmann, Swedish Ambassador to Norway, and a foremost specialist in glacier science, told a meeting of the American Geographical Society in Washington recently that the world has been getting warmer.

He said the northern hemisphere in particular has become progressively warmer in the last century and accelerated since 1900.

FISH MOVE NORTH

Startling changes in animal and vegetable life give the evidence. Eskimos in Greenland are catching cod for the first time in history, while Icelandic schools of herring are getting smaller because of the warm-up of the surface of the ocean.

Man's most sensitive thermometers of climate are glaciers. Dr. Ahlmann said that almost all glaciers in the northern hemisphere and some in the southern, are now receding.

This "glacier recession" has been observed in Scandinavia, the Alps, Iceland and North America.

Another sign of the retreat of the cold is the appearance of evergreen tree seedlings in Scandinavia to timberline where there have been no new seedlings for about 100 years.

In Iceland, 37 new species and sub-species of birds have appeared since 1936, and the entire landscape of the central plateau of that "land of fire and ice" is changing.

However, take heart, showers and slightly cooler temperatures are predicted for Saturday.

Man Found Dead By Bulldozer

Heart Attack Fatal Near Bethany Found 2 Hours Later

BETHANY (ENS) — Frank Hastings, 44-year-old Windsor construction worker, was found dead beside a bulldozer he was operating on Highway 7A a half mile east of Bethany.

Bethany is 19 miles west of Peterborough.

Dr. G. M. Longfield, of Bethany, was called and said Hastings died from a heart seizure. There will be no inquest.

Hastings was operating a bulldozer for the construction firm which is repairing Highway 7A.

He had gone to work apparently in good health, and it is believed he had been dead about two hours when he was found by other workers.

Plowing Match North Monaghan

Peterborough county plowing match has been set for Wednesday, Oct. 1 at the farm of Fred Campbell, North Monaghan, near Brealey's School and the home of the president, Henry Batten.

Previously the plowmen and Holstein people had picked the same date for their affairs, the one being the Central Ontario Black and White championships.

Vern Campbell's group usually have their big day at the middle of October, and perhaps it was felt the plowmen would shift their match and remove the conflict.

Mr. Batten announces a new feature which may be chiefly for the machinery club members. Twenty dollars will be the top prize. Teams of two boys each will be required to take their plows apart, put them together again, and plow some land. It places some extra emphasis on the mechanics of plowing.

The young men will hear more of the details in September.

NARY A WEED—Mrs. E. A. Kettle pounced on any weed that ventured into her garden or in the lawn of her home at 668 Gillespie St. and then was surprised to find that she was entered in the Peterborough Horticultural Society Competition. An admiring neighbor sent her name in and Mr. and Mrs. Kettle learned about it when a judge made his first visit of the summer to have a look. The Kettles won first prize in the Class B for homes built since 1947.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Durham County Entries Dominated The Big Holstein Show At Ottawa — Robert McCubbin, M.P., Says Federal Government Should Re-assure Beef Breeders — Great Cattle Show at C.N.E. — Alberta Farmers Buying Granaries

Central Ontario Breeders of Holsteins must be gratified by the outstanding success of Durham County entries at the Ottawa Exhibition.

Nineteen exhibitors paraded 127 head as compared with 99 last year. In that company, James T. Brown & Sons of Newcastle, were awarded both grand championships and also the Premier Breeder honors.

(It is expected that the Brown herd will be represented at the Peterborough Exhibition.)

The judge at Ottawa was Prof. A. R. Ness of Macdonald College.

Glenafton Futurity, owned by the Central Durham Bull Club, and shown by J. T. Brown & Sons, was first in the aged bull class, and went on to the senior and grand championships.

The imported bull, Pabst Walker Ollie, also owned by Central Durham Bull Club, headed the senior yearling class and was also junior champion. Sons of the grand champion stood first and second in the bull calf class.

The dry aged cow class provided the grand and reserve grand champion females, both Brown entries. The grand ribbon went to the ten year old cow, Diana Pietje Fayne; and the reserve grand to the Marksman daughter, Glenafton Laurel Maud C, six years old.

Entries of J. T. Brown & Sons topped the milking aged cow class, the dry three year olds, milking two year olds and the graded herd classes.

An innovation at Ottawa last week was a class for female herd, calling for three senior and two junior females. The winner was the James T. Brown entry; second prize was taken by R. H. McIlquham of Lanark, whose entries were close contenders throughout the show; and third went to Stackhouse & Minion of Cumberland, Ont.

Alberta Granary "Ads"

Significant of the western grain growers' problem of storage for the big crop they have begun to harvest is the display of lumber company advertisements of materials for building extra granary space.

Beaver (Alberta) Lumber Co. offers 4x6 skids, 2x6 T. and G. flooring, 2x6 studs, drop siding for walls, shingles, material complete for 12x14 by 8 ft. high, $212.10.

Farmers Lumber and Supply Co. offer 12x16x8' studs, capacity 1,200 bushels, $264.00. Those are only two of the advertisements that have been running for some weeks in the Calgary Herald, especially when it became evident that Alberta was going to reap a record harvest.

Indicating practice is this advertisement of Revelstoke Sawmill Co.: Open field bin 12x16 by 7 ft. in height, 1,100 bushels, $60.30, nails included. Round open grain bin, 16 ft. in diameter, 8 ft. walls, 1,240 bushels, $74.18.

Red Deer, High River and Stavely districts are mentioned in the Calgary Herald news columns as tackling bumper crops.

"Space to handle this heavy crop is a most serious problem. Farmers lack bin and granary capacity. Elevators will not be able to take care of one-half a bushel per seeded acre. Alberta Pacific Grain and Searle companies are going to start building an annex each. Grain cars are expected to be in good supply.

"Ducks are plentiful and permits to farmers will be issued. Greatest danger from hail damage is generally considered past.... Since the lifting of foot and mouth bans in Canada it is likely that many feeder cattle will be delivered into the Stavely area. Many local farmers are going into this remunerative business each year....The cover crop has proved a great boon in holding the light top soil in this district from blowing, as it did so badly prior to the practice of planting of cover crops.....The presence of wild oats is becoming increasingly serious and will affect grades."

✦ ✦ ✦

Myxomatosis

Wool men in Australia have set up a four-sided race between the rabbit, the sheep, the mosquito and a virus called myxomatosis. They may increase the wool crop if the last two win.

All four entrants were imported. Rabbits arrived in 1788, five strong, on a continent where few natural enemies disturbed them. By now, Australia has a rabbit population that sheep men count at two billion.

Sheep came next, and entered into direct competition for grazing rights. Each sheep eats as much grass as seven rabbits. But reproduction rates ran against them. With a pair of rabbits producing 534 offspring a year, according to Business Week, the sheep were destined to lose out.

The new importations are the virus myxomatosis and a carrier mosquito to take it to the rabbit burrows. Hit by it, the rabbits obligingly succumb, leaving more grass to sheep.

This program sets reproduction rates working for them rather than against them. Mosquitoes and viruses produce at rates that make a rabbit's record look like an elephant's. But there is a danger in productivity uncontrolled. What if the mosquito and the virus run out of rabbit victims? Will they turn on the sheep or on the wool men? We itch to know.

✦ ✦ ✦

Assure Beef Farmers

Robert McCubbin, M.P., parliamentary assistant to Hon. J. G. Gardiner, said in an address to St. Thomas Kiwanis Club that he felt the Dominion government should give some assurance that six months from now those farmers who hold their cattle and feed them would not be faced with a glut and serious price drops.

"I am sure the U.S. embargo will be lifted," Mr. McCubbin said. It might be as early as October 19, after the foot and mouth disease was declared ended by Ottawa; but the Americans might wait until next winter or spring.

He discussed the four-way arrangement between Canada, Great Britain, New Zealand and the United States as an expedient in the trade dilemma resulting from the foot and mouth disease outbreak in the west.

Canada is supplying 60 million pounds of beef to the British market, and the 50 millions of New Zealand beef that ordinarily would have gone to Britain is going to the U.S.A. through Canada.

The Canadian government, through the Canadian taxpayers, is making up the difference of what is paid on the dollar basis and what is received on the sterling basis for red brand beef.

Mr. McCubbin said there had been an unsettled market last week, but he felt confident it could be prevented again if farmers continued orderly marketing, and did not rush their beef in panic movements. Nearly 47 million pounds of the beef was shipped to Britain by last week.

With about one-quarter of the consignment to be shipped between now and November, Mr. McCubbin hoped the Canadian market would be able to take so much per week without creating a surplus or glut.

Junior Grain Club

The 4-H grain club has completed its first term of two years, and Mr. Best is now recruiting members for the 1952-43 club.

Organization meeting is called for Thurs. Sept. 4 at 8 p.m. at the office of the Department of Agriculture.

This club is open to boys and girls from 12 to 21. Each is required to sow at least one acre of registered wheat, either Cornell or Dawbul. They are also expected to treat the grain for disease, and keep a record of the cost of production.

In their first year they sow at least one acre, and in the second year at least three acres. Rules will be fully explained to prospective members.

One of the objects of this Wheat Club is to demonstrate the value of good seed, the practice of good cultural methods and finally disease control. Another purpose is to develop personal leadership and to foster community co-operation in production and marketing problems.

The 4-H Club is the kindergarten of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Big Dairy Ring

Getting nearer to Peterborough Exhibition, Tuesday Sept. 9, Charles E. Moore stresses the dairy cattle judging beginning Thursday morning. All the breeds are appearing in the same ring, Mr. Moore says. Last year, Guernseys were shown separately on Wednesday. The change calls for them to be led out with Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires, and Dual Purpose Shorthorns.

A big ring is being laid out at the southeast corner of Morrow Park.

Mr. Moore said he would be disappointed if the cattle show is not much stronger than since the revival of the Exhibition after the war, and farther back, too.

Steers Bring 33c

The Ontario Red Triangle baby beef show and sale brought out 36 steers in Kent last week. Average price was just over 33c a pound; price of the grand champion was 44c.

Bred sows are changing hands at $45 to $60 at Wellington county auctions, and weaning pigs $5 to $8, as reported in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Pastures in Huron are excellent with beef producers reporting good gains on beef animals. Halton has surplus registered Cornell wheat seed. Cutting of second crop alfalfa is general in the western counties. Durham and Hastings report many farmers having finished first round of after-harvest cultivation.

Can Control Smut

"I wish to emphasize again that ball smut in wheat can definitely be controlled by treatment of seed to be planted," writes Q. C. Moffat, of the federal inspection branch at Chatham in a trade circular.

"Winter wheats have no resistance to ball smut whatever, and it is recommended that wheat planted each year should first be treated with one of the mercury compounds . . . Once again I would stress that you advise all growers of fall wheat to have their seed treated before sowing."

Field Crop Results

Elwood Dunford was the winner of the field crop competition in Beaver oats, sponsored by Lakefield Agricultural Society. There were eleven contestants, and the judge was Allan Curle, Campbellford, R.R. 1.

Earl Rosborough was in second place, one point less than Mr. Dunford's 82. Other results were: C. W. Lee 80 points; Ross Wiles 79, Roger Charlton 78; Reg McMullen 75; Clarence Mann 74 and Carmen Bell 73.

$25,000,000 a Year

The Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association handles produce worth $25,000,000 annually, said M. M. Robinson of Burlington, secretary-treasurer, in a talk to Whitby Rotary Club this week.

"Bobby" Robinson is the city of Peterborough's gift to this important branch of Ontario agriculture. He was once a boy on Westcott St., and received his early education here.

The Fruit and Vegetable Growers, he said, finance their organization by a compulsory check-off toll system amounting to one per cent of invoice price. Though many members oppose the check-off on principle, they have been forced into it by modern business methods.

HAS 14,000 MEMBERS

Of 20,000 commercial fruit and vegetable growers in Ontario, 14,000 are members of the association in its 53 branches. Its affairs extend beyond price control to import and export duties and to control of trucking licenses.

"Biggest of our problems are not agricultural at all," Mr. Robinson said, "but are attached to distribution. In recent years we have found it necessary and good policy to stress sales promotion. It pays off."

More than 30 products are under contrdol of the association. One unique venture is at the Holland Marshes at Brantford where 600 growers are members. The board meets daily at noon to set minimum prices.

CONTROLS TRUCKERS

The association controls the licenses of 1,800 truckers who transport fruit and vegetables. This is to prevent adverse trade practices by trucking agents. Mr. Robinson visualized the day when more refrigerated trucks would be carrying produce great distances, making more sales for the growers.

Standardization of packaging fruits and vegetables is another of the affairs of the association, altogether, it is a progressive and thriving industry, Mr. Robinson said,—one which is bringing prosperity to its members, and giving good service and value to the consuming public.

Great Cattle Show

"The biggest Holstein show on the continent" is one description of the display of Black and White cattle at the C.N.E. This breed tops the Exhibition with 380 head.

The cattle show is the largest in the 73 years' history of Toronto Fair. Visitors will be able to see beef and dairy cattle on exhibit at the same time. Dairy animals arriving Wednesday this week will be in the barns until Wednesday, September 3; and beef will arrive on Friday, August 29, and remain to Saturday, September 6.

4-H Clubs' Meeting

Members of three of the 4-H Clubs are asked by Ken Best to attend a joint meeting at Department of Agriculture office Friday, September 5, at 8 p.m. They are grain, swine and beef calf clubs.

The notice says: "The meeting is called in order that club members may complete the examination on questions previous to Achievement Day. This will be necessary in order that changes can be made in your Achievement Day program to allow you to get some additional information with which you are ordinarily concerned."

✦ ✦ ✦

Black and White Day

Jack Fraser of Streetsville, one of the leading Holstein breeders in Ontario, will be judge at Peterborough county Black and White Day at Keene, Saturday Sept. 6. This show is held in the afternoon. Expectations are for a big entry list as indicated by the show rings at Ottawa and C.N.E. The public is invited.

Jersey Cattle Sale

Ten Jersey cows averaged $265 at a St. Thomas sale last Friday. The attendance was the largest ever seen at a Jersey cattle sale at the Shore Brothers arena.

Tough Plowing

Peterborough seed cleaning plants are busy these days getting wheat ready for fall seeding. Farmers wound up the harvest pretty well satisfied with the yield.

Stewart Bowman called at the J. T. Brown farm near Newcastle this week where a new Graham plow was in use for deeper cultivation. Lack of rain has left a soil top almost as hard as if it were nickel plated.

"This plow reminds you of a spring-tooth cultivator. It gets down to 14 inches breaking up the subsoil. Mr. Brown had to start at the two-inch depth of ordinary cultivation, then down to six inches; from there to 10 and was finishing at 14. He had been over the 12-acre field four times with the heavier of his tractors."

"One of the advantages of deeper plowing was to provide better drainage in some areas of the field where water was slow in getting away," Mr. Bowman said.

Cost At Kemptville

Approximate cost of one year's course at Kemptville Agricultural School is $264 for juniors and $267 for seniors.

The calendar for 1952-53 is off the press and may be obtained from the school or from Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Some of the items of cost are: tuition $10; board and room ($8 a week) $188; accident and health insurance $9; athletic fee $3; caution deposit $5; texts, note-book supplies, about $10.

Fall term opens Oct. 14. Peterborough county council has been offering a $100 scholarship to assist a boy from the county attending the first year of the two year course.

✦ ✦ ✦

Woodstock Holsteins

Oxford county Black and White Day brought out 166 Holsteins shown by 33 breeders. Total last year was 149. A feature of the show was a class for 100,000 pound cows, with three in the ring. The winner was Norloch Colantha Kay owned by Norloch Farm, Beachville. She was reported in grand form considering her 14 years and the fact that she has a lifetime production of 160,000 lbs. Kay is the Canadian champion for lifetime production in 305 days with 147,074 lbs. John Powell writes from Brantford that she looked every inch the champion as she stood at the head of her class. Township herd class went to East Oxford.

GUERNSEY CATTLE were few in Peterborough county when Harry Milburn, whose farm on Chemong Road is nearer than ever to the encroaching city, started his herd with four purebreds in 1939. Increase in the number of breeders has been slow compared with the attention this dairy breed is gaining elsewhere in the province, and notably in Central Ontario. Some of the owners of Guernseys who can be named off hand in Peterborough are John Stewart of Otonabee, just east of the Mark Burnham place, Harry McIntyre, also of Otonabee, and Norman McConkey of Lifloc Farm. The Milburn herd is perhaps the only one yet in Smith.

These "golden" cattle were willing to call it a day when this picture was taken late Wednesday afternoon. They had been grazing in the field of clover, and were inclined to favor the way leading toward the gate at the road.

Guernseys are now included in the show classes at most of the exhibitions. Peterborough provided a new barn for this breed since the "Ex" was returned by the military authorities to the directors. It was reduced to ashes late last spring, but is being replaced by a barn which G. A. Gillespie reports is now under its roof, ready for painting, and will be completed for this year's show, Tuesday, Sept. 9 to Saturday, Sept. 13. Incidentally, Mr. Milburn is the father of Vivian S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture since its institution, and also secretary of the Peterborough Milk Producers' Association.

Chopped, Wilted Alfalfa Most Efficient Ensiling

The U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry presents their findings in the harvesting and storage of hay at Beltsville, Maryland, which farmers may be interested in comparing with their own experience.

Their summary is that it took most labor and machinery to harvest a ton of dry matter from rain-damaged field cured hay, which, incidentally, was the poorest in feeding value.... There was little difference between the labor and machinery required for making wilted silage, barn cured hay, and field cured hay in good weather conditions.

Over all results showed that harvesting alfalfa as chopped, wilted silage and ensiling it in tower silos was the most practical and efficient of the methods studied. About the same amount of dry matter was preserved, but more carotene was preserved when the crop was barn cured.

Barn curing with or without heat was the next most efficient procedure, followed by field curing with no rain damage. As for feeding value . . . tests showed forages cured by the various methods were all about equal, except the rain damaged field cured hay.

Big Show

FREDERICTON (CP)—The 1952 New Brunswick livestock show, one of the largest dairy cattle shows in Eastern Canada, will be held Sept. 3-4 at Douglas field, four miles north of here. At the 1951 show a total of 376 animals were exhibited by 45 breeders.

Tractor Rodeo

DRESDEN, Ont. (CP)—Some 3,500 persons turned up to see the first tractor rodeo here, sponsored by a service club at the fair grounds. The program included five classes of entries, a free-for-all pulling competition, a tractor race and a tug o' war.

The Canadian Farm Loan Board now may make loans to farmers up to $10,000 on first mortgages.

FARM HELP WAGE

Average wage of male farm help in Canada at May 15 was $4.90 a day with board.

The Flight Of The Honey Bee

How many bee-hours of labor go into the production of one pound of honey?

Bee expects have been trying to find the answer to this question for almost half a century and all of them have come up with a different answer. One father and son team, after 40 years of observing bees under varying conditions, credit each working field bee with an average day of eight hours gathering honey at the rate of 20 flowers per minute and 20 minutes an average trip.

Another authority rates bee activity slightly lower. He states that a bee often visits 10 to 20 flowers per minute and makes only 10 trips a day. If it were possible for a single bee to gather all the nectar for one pound of honey at this rate, it would have to work 365 days a year for more than eight years.

Bees have been observed gathering honey at all hours. Some have been seen leaving clover fields at 9:22 p.m. Others worked basswood from 4 to 5 a.m.—just before sunrise. From other similar observations it was concluded that a bee's working hours were determined by the time of day flowers surrounding the hive yielded the most nectar. Some yield most of the day while others such as buckwheat, only part of the day. Some blossoms close early in the afternoon and do not open until late in the morning.

Sugar content of nectar varies in different kinds of flowers or in flowers of the same species from season to season or even in the same flower from day to day.

The distance of the source of nectar from the hive is another important factor in honey production. Bees will go 80 miles if they cannot find nectar nearer home. But because of lost time and reduced load, this is not profitable and bees prefer to work a source of nectar with a low sugar content near the hive before they will fly to flowers with a sweeter nectar much farther away.

Farmers Invited To Join 50-Bushel Wheat Club

Wanted: By the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association, 20 farmers for this season's 50-Bushel Winter Wheat Club.

Farmers know the story, and the Association is reminding them that a new membership list has been opened.

This Club is interested in growing fall wheat of quality. Members have to grow five acres or more of registered seed. Varieties are Dawson's Golden Chaff, Cornell or Dadbul. The membership fee is one dollar, and twelve club prizes begin with $20. Total distribution is $100. Top three in the club results are eligible for the Royal Winter Fair of 1953 where first prize is $75.

Crop Improvement Association is not emphasizing the prize money. Their main objective is to stimulate interest in good wheat and good cereal farm practice.

Farmers Reap Volunteer Crops

REGINA (CP)—Prairie farmers with possibly the greatest harvest in history on their land will also reap "volunteer" crops of wheat and coarse grains which may run into hundreds of thousands of bushels.

The "volunteer" crops are the result of the wet harvest season last year, when millions of bushels of grain had to be left on the ground. Some of this grain sprouted and in many cases has developed into a crop as good as any seeded by the farmer.

There is always some "volunteer" growth on western farms but few farmers can remember anything to compare with this year's proportions.

One Saskatchewan farmer has 175 acres of "volunteer" wheat and expects to get 20 bushels an acre.

Mistress Mine Opens Labor Day

Terrence Rattigan's brilliant international comedy success, O Mistress Mine, opens on Labour Day at the Peterborough Summer Theatre. The extra week of the season will be presented in the Queen Mary Auditorium as usual, and curtain time is eight-twenty.

O Mistress Mine tells the story of a charming and attractive Olivia Brown, and her beau Sir John Fletcher, a cabinet minister in Winston Churchill's government. Mrs. Brown's husband, a doctor, died a few years previously, and her son Michael was sent to Canada to complete his education outside of war-torn England.

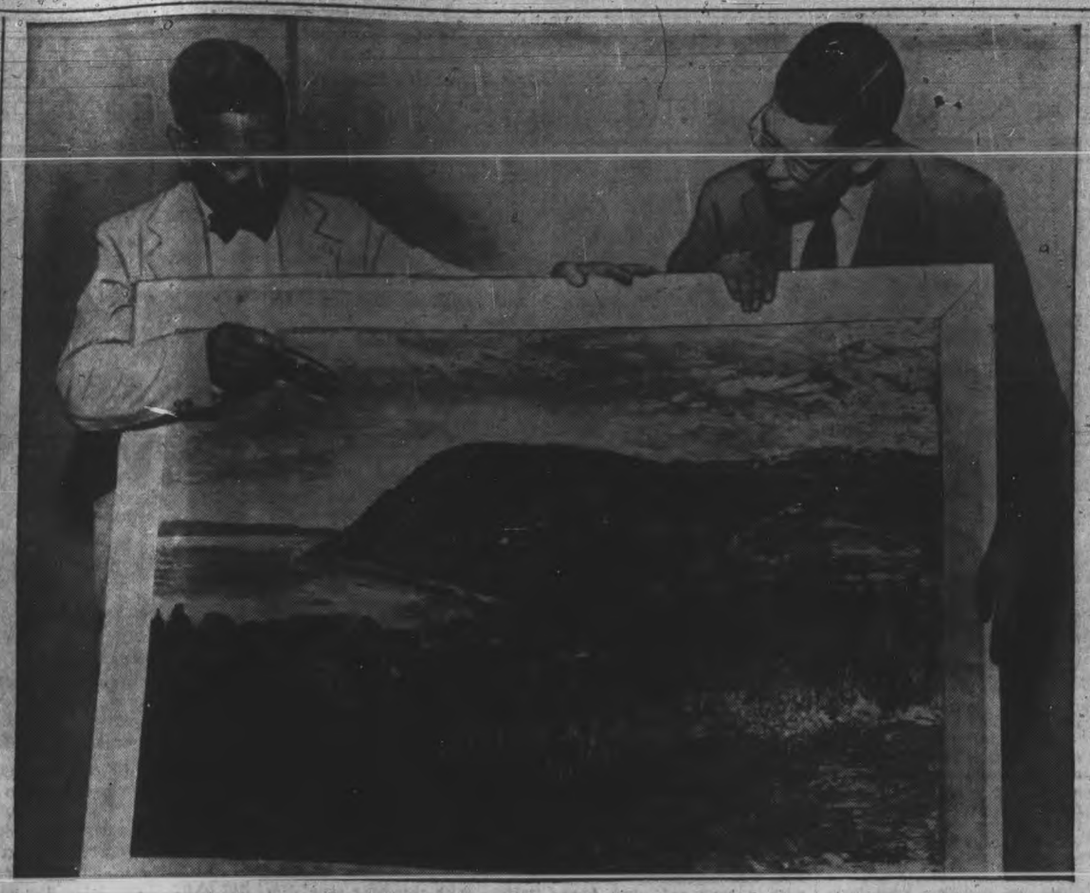
LUXURIOUS MAYFAIR

The play opens with the unexpected return of Michael to England. Instead of finding his mother in their old flat at Barron's Court, he discovers her happily ensconced in a luxurious Mayfair apartment. In no time at all he fathoms out that his mother's beautiful new home belongs to Sir John, and then the sparks begin to fly.

At first Michael decides to behave like Hamlet much to the annoyance of his mother and Sir John, and he does everything he can to get rid of the cabinet minister.

Things become even more complicated as Sir John has given Michael a job in the meantime in his department at the Ministry.

The play is gay, delightful, and highly amusing, and builds up to a wonderful scene in the third act when Sir John shows the younger Michael how to stroll nonchalantly into the Savoy Hotel Grill and completely snub his girl friend who is dining with another young man.



N.Y., LONDON SUCCESS

O Mistress Mine ran for three consecutive years in London at the close of the war, followed immediately by another three years on Broadway. It is Terrence Rattigan's most successful comedy, ideally suited for a pleasant summer evening's entertainment, and for the closing of the summer season.

Betty Leighton plays the part of Olivia Brown, and Bill Hutt has returned to Peterborough for the role of Sir John Fletcher. Jerry Campbell plays Mrs. Brown's son Michael, and others in the cast are Patricia Moore, Ron Bailey, Beryl Braithawite, and Elizabeth Child.

Find Two-Yolk Egg

BROCKVILLE (CP)—One egg shell inside another with two good yolks turned up this week at Lansdowne Fair. The egg weighed 5½ ounces. It wasn't until it was accidentally knocked to the floor that fair officials noticed the oddity, brought to the fair by Nelson Genge of Lansdowne.

PAINTING FOR QUEEN—Air Vice Marshal A. L. Morfee, C.B., C.B.E., left, president of the R.C.A.F. Association, and R. H. Hubbard, curator of the Canadian National Art Gallery, selected this painting by Montreal artist Goodridge Roberts, as the best of 30 entries in a contest by past and present R.C.A.F. personnel. The painting, called "Port Au Persil on the St. Lawrence" is a landscape painted near Murray Bay. Now in display in Ottawa, the painting is to be sent as a gift to Queen Elizabeth, Patron of the R.C.A.F. Association. Mr. Roberts is the son of the Canadian novelist Theodore Roberts and a former student of the Ecole des Beaux Arts.

Predict Prosperous Conditions Continue For Fishing Industry

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A continuation of generally prosperous conditions for the fishing industry is foreseen by "Canadian Fishery Markets," published by the Department of Fisheries.

The 46-page publication gives a review of 1951 and says various factors make 1952 less of a "seller's" year than was 1951. But this, says the publication, is countered by maintenance of high levels of economic activity. It adds:

"The market for the fresh, frozen and shellfish branch lies almost entirely in Canada and the United States.

TRADE COMPETITIVE

"Here consumer spending at high, perhaps record, levels will provide a great opportunity for increased sales, but these will have to be made in the face of increased competition from other suppliers, more ample supplies of other food opposition to some fishery imports by certain groups in the United States and a somewhat anomalous food-marketing situation in Canada due to the embargo on cattle imports into the United States.

"These difficulties must, however, be seen against the fact that very large groups of the population in both Canada and the United States are potential, but not yet actual, consumers of fish and that the market for Canadian fresh, frozen and shellfish therefore can yet be substantially expanded."

"It is the canned fish trade which will feel most keenly the newly-imposed import restrictions in overseas markets; and a considerable readjustment of its market pattern will be necessary. . . ."

In its review of 1951, the publication says the products of Canada's commercial fisheries in 1951 had a marketed value of nearly $200,000,000, an increase of about $20,000,000 over 1950.

Total value of exports was $124,600,000, or $6,000,000 above 1950. The U.S. was the big buyer, at $85,200,000, but in one form or another, Canadian fish went to many parts of the world, including Malaya and India.

Canadians ate about 255,000,000 pounds of fish or about 13.69 pounds a person in 1951, an increase of 5,000,000 pounds over 1950 and of 25,000,000 pounds over 1949.

Army Camp Ghost Town As Troops Take To Wilderness

By JIM SHERBANIUK

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—Canada's largest army training camp looked like a ghost town today with most of its 6,000 troops bedded down somewhere in a 140,000-acre wilderness.

Exercise Buffalo 3, one of the largest army manoeuvres since the end of the Second World War, has brought into action almost every able-bodied man in the huge military camp. Other groups involved in the scheme include a special corps of signal cadets from Vernon, B. C., and catering personnel from Esquimalt, B. C.

Near-freezing temperatures at night and a chilling rain made hastily-dug slit trenches a far cry from the comfortable living quarters the men had known for the last three months.

Yesterday Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, commanding officer of the 25th Canadian infantry brigade replacement group, gave his men the order for the last major night manoeuvre—a withdrawal to a new position more than 30 miles from the camp proper.

'GOOD FOR TROOPS'

In an interview at brigade headquarters, Brig. Pangman said: "The outstanding lesson to be learned from this kind of exercise is the realization of physical privation experienced on the battlefront.

"Living in all kinds of weather, moving only at night and a change of living quarters help to make seasoned troops from green recruits. Wainwright army camp is an excellent training ground in this and all other respects."

Action last night involved troops under Brig. Pangman and the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry under Lt.-Col. Jim Stone, "enemy" leader.

A brief visit was paid the battlefield yesterday by British Maj.-Gen. M. M. A. R. West, new general officer commanding the British Commonwealth division in Korea. Gen. West is en route to Korea.

Among observers at the exercise are two United States army officers and a military leader from Britain.

Outbreak Of Polio Halts Troop Shifting

OTTAWA (CP)—Movement of troops in and out of the big artillery training centre at Camp Shilo, Man., and the paratroop training centre at Rivers, Man., have been halted because of outbreaks of poliomyelitis, an army spokesman said yesterday.

He said at last reports the Rivers establishment had two cases of polio among troops and there was one reported at Shilo.

See Triplet Saucers

LONDON (AP)—Britain came up yesterday with something better than a flying saucer—a report of a plane that gives birth to triplets. Three friends reported to the Ministry of Civil Aviation that they saw a high-flying plane disgorge one small plane, then another and finally a third over London. The Ministry said: "We have no information of anything in the air today which could bear any relation to the report."

Hit Song Makes Big Difference Actor Learns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What a difference a hit song makes.

At least it changed the life of Ross Bagdasarian. He's the guy who was responsible for "Come Ona My House," which was driving the country buggy a year ago. His cousin, William Saroyan, also got credit for the composition, but his contribution was reported to have been slight.

Anyway, the song completely altered the life of Bagdasarian, whose career had long wavered between show business and grapes.

Ross—let's call him by his first name—is one of the Americans of Armenian ancestry settled in the warm San Joaquin Valley. He is a happy extrovert, full of the joy of living.

SOUR GRAPES

The lad abandoned the family trade—grapes—to follow his famous playwright cousin. Ross appeared in two Saroyan plays on Broadway: "Time of Your Life" and "Love's Old Sweet Song." Then came the war.

"After I got out of the service, I decided I would settle down in Fresno and raise grapes," he related. "I lost everything. So I came to Hollywood."

Ross began pounding on music publishers' doors. He had written "Come Ona My House" 10 years before, but had never been able to interest anyone in it.

Finally he sent a record of the song east with a friend, who was instructed to play it for Kay Arman. Later he learned that Arman had recorded the song, and so had a new singer named Rosemary Clooney.

HOT NOW

"My luck changed," Ross said. "In the past year, I've had two hit songs (the other: 'What's the Use,' recorded by Johnny Ray) and acted in six pictures."

Ross said the film roles resulted from his fame as a song writer.

Although thriving in his present profession, he hasn't forgotten his old one. He manages to get the word "grape" into the lyrics of any song he writes.

ATTACKS "OVERZEALOUS" PATRIOTS—Democratic presidential candidate Gov. Adlai Stevenson responds to an ovation before addressing the American Legion national convention in New York. Behind Stevenson is National Commander Donald Wilson (dark hat) of Clarksburg, W. Va. Stevenson urged the Legion to help protect the country against "overzealous" patriots who menace free thought in their crusades against communism.

Aussie Blue Baby Chopped To Death

PERTH, Australia (Reuters).—Norman Sweeney, 22, a "blue baby" who fooled the doctors by living, was axed to death here Wednesday shortly before he was to undergo an operation that might have cured him.

His 55-year-old mother, Mrs. Annie Agnes Sweeney, also was bludgeoned to death in her boarding house.

Gordon William McNamara, 56, a laborer, was charged with their murder. He appeared in court today and was remanded for eight days.

No motive for the crime was indicated. Perth taxi drivers had raised funds for Sweeney to go to Sydney for his operation and the Red Cross Society had arranged for his mother to accompany him.

Truman Supports Acheson On Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman yesterday replied to the American Legion's demand for the dismissal of State Secretary Dean Acheson by calling him the best man for the job in the United States.

Truman told a press conference Wednesday criticizing Acheson was got up by some young boys.

Swansea Retires

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian frigate Swansea, which sank three U-boats in the Second World War and made the longest tow in R.C.N. history, has been decommissioned and will be put in reserve. Launched in 1943, Swansea once towed the R.C.A.F. supply ship Malahat 1,100 miles from Hudson Strait to Goose Bay, Labrador.

Barbecue Roast Pork for Zippy Flavor

Roast pork hits a new high for tantalizing flavor when you barbecue it in a rich tomato sauce. Celebrate the first fall days with a luscious platter of pork fixed this irresistible way.

Just the right recipe for the sauce is half the secret to successful barbecuing. One sauce is sure to make all partakers smack their lips. It's a sharp-rich blend of rosy tomato soup, chopped onion, vinegar and lively seasonings. Tastes good enough to make even an "old cowhand" give a cheer.

Serve the barbecued pork from a handsome platter at your table. Or slice and enjoy it sandwich-style at a picnic or backyard supper.

OVEN-BARBECUED PORK

1 5-pound pork loin
⅓ cup finely chopped onion
⅓ cup finely chopped celery
½ clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 can (1¼cups) condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice and vinegar
4 drops Tabasco sauce

Place pork in a shallow pan and roast in a slow over (325° F.) for 2 hours. Combine sauce ingredients; mix well and pour over roast. Continue cooking for 1½ hours basting frequently. Serve hot barbecue sauce over pork slices. Makes 8 servings.

TRY SPICY PORK AND BEANS

Bubbling with spicy flavor is a pork and bean casserole made with chopped apple, sausage and spices. First pour one 1-pound can of pork and beans into a baking dish. Cut a medium-sized apple into bite-size pieces and stir it into the beans; add ¼teaspoon cinnamon. Dot the top with 1 large link sausage, cut into coin-slices.

Heat to bubbling in a hot oven (400° F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

SPAGHETTI AND OLIVES ARE HAPPY DUET

Bright slices of stuffed olive turn the trick when you want an extra-elegant dish from cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Open and heat the spaghetti as usual. Gently fold in about one-quarter cup of sliced olives while the spaghetti heats. The 15-fluid ounce can of spaghetti will make 3 good servings fixed this way.

TEAM SOUP WITH MILK

Good hot soup is a perfect feature for school lunch boxes. How youngsters do enjoy a thermos filled with such a hot savory combination. And the soup teams so well with milk, another valuable item to include with lunches. The whole array of condensed soups are good bets for the thermos bottle. To prepare any of them with milk, simply blend a can of soup with a can of milk before heating.

Platinum Replaces Gold For Making Modern Tiaras

LONDON (CP)—British jewelry designers are fashioning tiaras and magnificent jewelry suites for formal wear, to be worn in Westminster Abbey at the coronation next June and to other state occasions in connection with the crowning of Queen Elizabeth.

The coronation is also responsible for preparation of many designs with a coronation motif to be sold at home and abroad as symbols and souvenirs.

Pearls and diamonds are combined to make some unusual tiaras. One London jeweler has designed a tiara on a base of three rows of pearls, with the addition of larger pearls and diamonds. This one is light and can be worn comfortably for long periods.

PLATINUM FAVORED

The modern tiaras are set in platinum, in contrast to older designs that were always in gold or silver. Lacy designs seen at previous coronations are also out of date. Fringe and sun-ray fashions now are fashionable.

One London jeweler is producing tiaras with a dual purpose. They may be converted in a few minutes to be worn as diamond necklaces. In turn, the necklace can be split into a double clip and earrings.

The crown motif, of course, is a comfortable one for costume jewelry to be sold in Britain during coronation year. Crown brooches worn on the lapel of a jacket, or even in the hair, will be in pearls or rhinestones.

Among coronation souvenirs silver will be used for tiny hairbrushes, cocktail sticks, tankards and sauce boats. For children there will be silver porringers with a fleur-de-lis design, and hairbrushes decorated with miniature crowns.

There will also be cake and sweets dishes in similar designs, letter-openers shaped like swords, and a host of others. For the younger woman there will be powder compacts with a crown design or the portrait of the queen

And for the woman who is not fusy about an obtrusive souvenir, there are tiny charms shaped like crowns and swords, to add to a bracelet.

Myra Cowper Wed Harold Taylor At Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING—(ENS)—St. George's on the Hill was scene of a candlelight wedding Wednesday evening, when Myra Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cowper of Coldsprings was united in marriage to Harold Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Taylor, also of Coldsprings. The Rev. A. W. Smith, rector, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Garnet Isaac, Harwood, was the organist and Miss Barbara Bates sang The Lord's Prayer, just prior to the bride's arrival and "O Sweet Mystery of Life" during the signing of the register.

The bridal procession was headed by the two ushers, Ross Timlin and Ronald McKinley, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Helen Cowper, the bride's sister, Miss Audrey Down and Miss Lillian Barker, bridesmaids. The bride looked very charming in a white satin and lace gown, with fingertip veil and carried red roses. She was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaids' gowns were in bouffant effect of mauve tulle over taffeta and they wore bandeaus and carried nosegays. The groomsman was Mr. Cecil Jibb of Coldsprings.

The church was effectively decorated with large baskets of pink and white gladioli placed throughout the chancel, with the pews tied in white satin ribbon with a single gladiolus bloom through the knot.

The bride's mother was in navy blue crepe gown with white hat and groom's mother was also in navy blue. About 50 guests attended the reception which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bates a few miles east of Harwood.

The bride and groom left on a brief honeymoon and will live in Port Hope on their return where the bride has accepted a position in the public school staff.

Laura Davidson Weds Thos. Solmes In Marmora Church

MARMORA (ENS) —The wedding took place in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, on Saturday afternoon of Laura Anne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of Marmora and Thomas Solmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Solmes of Springbrook. Canon J. M. Brownlie was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Cecil Neal, was attractively dressed in turquoise blue nylon over taffeta with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses and fern.

Miss Edna Solmes, sister of the groom was bridesmaid, attired in pink nylon with matching hat and corsage of roses.

The duties of best man were discharged by Sam Davidson, brother of the bride.

The church was decorated with gladioli and other summer flowers.

Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. L. R. Rundle, who during the signing of the register joined her husband in singing a duet.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Cecil Neal. About 60 guests were received by Mrs Margaret Tompkins, sister of the bride, wearing navy blue and Mrs. Bert Solmes, mother of the groom, wearing a grey dress.

Guests were present from Belleville, Trenton, Springbrook, Millbridge and other points.

The honeymoon was spent in Sudbury and other northern Ontario points. They will reside in Marmora.

Variety Important

"This livelihood is not only profitable commercially but nutritionally as well. . . As compared with many cuts of meat, fish is a relatively cheap source of protein-giving food."

Fried smelts: Heads and tails should be left on the cleaned smelts, which are then rolled in flour and fried in fat. They also may be dipped in egg and crumbs and deep fat fried. Serve with mashed potatoes and tartar sauce.

Fried roe and bacon: 1½ pounds roe; 12 slices fried bacon; cooking fat; one egg; cold water; crumbs; seasoning.

Wipe roe dry and dip in crumbs. Dip again in slightly beaten egg to which two tablespoons of cold water have been added. Roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat. Serve with strips of bacon.

For a new kind of omelet: One cup cooked fish (flaked); one-half tablespoon flour; two tablespoons butter; one cup milk; five eggs; salt and pepper.

Beat eggs slightly. Add all ingredients except butter. Place butter in pan. When hot turn in mixture. As it cooks prick with fork until it is of crumb consistency. Cook as quickly as possible. Serve on hot plates.

MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The new executive of the Home and School Association met at the home of the president, Alex Gilbert on Tuesday evening. The following conveners of committees were appointed: membership, Mrs. J. T. Crowley; social, Mrs. Wilfred Elson; program, Mrs. Bruce Dawson, Mrs. Bruce Ingram; publications, Mrs. Homer Ouellette. General conveners appointed for the family fun night to be held in the fall were Percy Hamilton, Ed. Nattress and Alex. Gilbert.

A plan of topics and speakers for the year was drawn up.

It was decided to present a recommendation to the general meeting that in the future only tea or coffee and one food should be served at each meeting.

Jersey Has Assured Place In Fashions For Autumn

Jersey, it's clear by now, has an assured place in fashion for fall and winter.

But the jersey story takes on new aspects when orlon is added, thus producing a fabric that cannot sag or stretch. It is a fabric, further, that needs very little ironing and is washable with ordinary care. Where there are pleats, they stay in. Hemlines will not become uneven; cuffs and necklines keep their smooth fit.

Such fashions are of special interest to the college girl and to her career-girl counterpart. Neither have unlimited funds for clothes nor for the upkeek of their wardrobes. Anything that fabric and fashion people can do to give them clothes that are fashion-right and practical, too, is in the nature of a real service.

The popular middy (left) is in a soft jersey that's orlon-and-wool. Sleeves are three-quarter length. There's a high, round neck to be used as a jewelry foil. The hipline is finished with a snug cuff, just above the permanently pleated skirt.

The same fabric is used (right) for a dress with wide-ribbed band at the waist. Cuffs are ribbed, too, and skirt has permanent pleats.

Buckhorn Host To W.I. Branches

BUCKHORN (ENS) —The Women's Institute of Buckhorn had as their guests, members from South Smith, Westwood and Nephton branches on Tuesday evening.

The community hall was filled to capacity and a very enjoyable evening was had.

Mrs. T. Mason, the president of Buckhorn branch presided and called on the three other presidents to introduce their members. Mrs. Harry Shearer welcomed the guests and Mrs. N. W. Ross conducted a get-to-gether animal game.

Following community singing with Mrs. Rea McPhee at the piano, the guest speaker, the Rev. J. Arthur Stead, M.A., B.D., of Lakefield, delighted the ladies with his humorous account of his experiences while an evangelist.

The Nephton orchestra, composed of Messrs Lowery, Hildebrandt, and Waldon rendered several setections and encores.

Westwood's contribution to the program was an interesting demonstration on lacquering window panes by Mrs. Graham.

A dainty buffet luncheon was servevd by Mrs. W. Pearson, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Wood with Mrs. R. Montgomery pouring tea.

Miss Elsie Able Bride Of H. L. Palmer

The marriage of Miss Elsie Gertrude Able of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Able to Mr. Harold Lawrence Palmer, son of Mrs. J. Palmer of Wellington and the late Mr. John Palmer, was solemnized Saturday in Murray St. Baptist Church.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore a gown with lace bodice and skirt of nylon net over satin fashioned with inserted fans of pleated nylon net on each side. Her headdress was a crown of lace with a fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of red gladioli.

The bride had four attendants. Mrs. Madeline Todd, sister of the bride, was gowned in yellow taffeta with lace bodice, nylon net over taffeta skirt and matching cape. Her headdress was a bandeau of yellow flowers and she carried a bouquet of mauve gladioli.

Miss Margaret Forbes wore a blue gown fashioned with a lace bodice and nylon net over taffeta skirt. Her headdress was a bandeau of yellow flowers and she carried a bouquet of peach gladioli.

Miss Ethel Baird wore a gown of yellow taffeta, a headdress of yellow flowers and carried a bouquet of multi-colored gladioli.

Miss Clarabelle McFaul was gowned in pink nylon net over taffeta, with matching cape. Her headdress was of nylon net and she carried a bouquet of multi-colored gladioli.

Mr. Douglas McFaul, brother-in-law of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Garfield Baird and Mr. Orliff McFaul.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Lansdowne hall. The bride's mother received in a mauve dress with black accessories. The groom's mother assisted and wore a figured grey crepe dress with black accessories.

Later the bride and groom left on a short wedding trip. For travelling the bride chose a tan suit with navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will live in Peterborough.

Miss Canada Uses Rolling Pin To Take Off Fat

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Harvey Reddick's rolling pin is busy rolling out a pie these days—a cutie pie, that is.

Mrs. Reddick is the mother of Miss Canada, Marilyn Reddick, 18, who leaves this weekend for Atlantic City, N.J., and the Miss America contest.

At the Miss Canada contest, Marilyn's measurements were just a bit off perfect. The rolling pin is seeking to correct matters by taking off some excess fat on her thighs.

Miss Reddick is steeped in Canadian history. Her great-great aunt was Laura Secord, the heroine of Upper Canada who warned British troops of an impending U.S. attack along the Niagara frontier during the war of 1812. A cousin is Hon. George Prudham, federal Minister of Mines.

Marilyn also is a descendent of John Smith, a United Empire Loyalist who fled New Jersey in 1786 and settled at Grimsby. Her great-great grandfather, Thomas Ebenezer Pickett, was the first saddlebag minister in Canada, making his circuit from Lake Simcoe to Lake Erie.

MarmoraManWed In Toronto Church

MARMORA (ENS)—A wedding of local interest was solemnized in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Toronto, on August 16, when Frances Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, Toronto, was united in marriage to William McInroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInroy of Marmora.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was attired in an Alice blue floor length gown and carried a bouquet of summer flowers. Her bridesmaid was Connie McMullen of Windsor who wore a gown of sheer pink chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of flowers.

The best man was Hugh Summer of Toronto.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The young couple have taken up residence in Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInroy, parents of the groom, attended the ceremony.

Going Back To School Trying To Small Fry

GOING BACK TO SCHOOL may be a lark for the college girl, but it's a real trial to the small fry, whether she's returning or just getting started. That's why, for the small girl on her first day at school, a dress that's fun to wear, in which she feels pretty, is a great aid to morale. It will, just as in the case of her big sister, give her confidence and help her to get through the day with ease. The little girls shown here have been dressed by their mothers according to this very sound principle. Small girl (left) wears a green cotton by Kate Greenaway that includes some gentle apple-polishing in its design. The bodice has an appliqued "For Teacher" and two red apple pockets. Crisp white pique is used to band the puffed sleeves and form the collar. Her friend (centre) wears a quilted button-on bib jumper from this same house. It's in school-book print cotton over a simple, short-sleeved blouse. Small artist (right) likes separates. She wears a three-piece outfit that combines pleated plaid skirt, white blouse and red pique sleeveless jerkin that is gathered at the back waistline by means of a buttoned belt.

Report Autumn Silhouette Not Too Full Nor Too Slim

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The 1952 fall and winter silhouette, as decreed by French fashion experts, is a compromise that should suit most figures: It's neither too full nor too slim.

Hems have dropped to 12 inches from the floor.

First pictures of the new creations are being released this weekend, a month after the first fall showings in Paris. This release is set by designers here to minimize copying before the Paris fashion experts have finished their foreign sales.

Women who like tight belts will have to turn to Christian Dior this season. Other designers leave the waist loose and low for a middy effect.

NECKLINES LOWER

Daytime necklines are modestly high, but they get lower and lower on cocktail, dinner and dance dresses.

Dark and sober colors lead the field.

Rough tweeds are favorites for suits and coats, often trimmed with beaver or other fur collars and cuffs.

Griffe puts a blanket veto on all buttons and belts. Balenciaga creates the most barren effect of all with collarless and lapel-less jackets and coats. Costume jewelry is mostly small and discreet. Hat trimmings follow the same trend.

In evening dresses the designers have been influenced by the coming coronation of Britain's Queen. Ball gowns have billowing Elizabethan skirts and voluminous cloaks or stoles go with them. Often enough, they're made or trimmed in royal purple.

PROLIFIC POET

More than 6,000 compositions have been credited to Hans Sachs, the German shoemaker-poet who died in 1576.

DOROTHY DIX

Helpful Sister Offers Aid In Student Brother's Home

DEAR MISS DIX: Ten weeks ago my brother's wife had a baby. My brother works hard but when he comes home his wife, who has had a day of leisure, expects him to make dinner, giving the baby as an excuse. My brother is also working for his Ph.D. and since he is so worried at home, his marks have been getting lower. How can I tell his wife to organize her home better? I am willing to help her.

CAROL D.

ANSWER: Judging from your writing, you are a very young miss, and should be highly commended for your concern over your brother's welfare. Are you sure you are judging the situation fairly? The mother of a 10-week-old baby really doesn't have much time for leisure, although she should be able to prepare dinner for two without much difficulty.

I'm sure she would appreciate your offer of assistance. Why not go over and see what you can do for her? The experience will be helpful to you, and will aid your brother's family over a period of adjustment to the new baby that is sometimes quite difficult.

An infant and a Ph.D. aspirant in the same household are quite a handful, and I'm sure your efforts will be very useful in smoothing the domestic machinery.

✧ ✧ ✧

LET MOTHER DECIDE

DEAR MISS DIX: The man I go with is 21, and I am 17. He is divorced. We like the same things and get along very well except that he doesn't believe me when I tell him certain things. He claims he has been lied to so much that he can't believe anyone. I don't think that's fair. My family objects to him because he has been married before and I don't think that has anything to do with our present or future.

S. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: First of all, whether you approve of your mother's decisions or not, she is the one to be consulted on your problems, since at 17 you haven't the experience to figure everything out for yourself. A single boy, closer to you in age, would be a much more suitable companion than a divorced man.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls of 13. Another friend, Vera, who is 12, has dates, uses lipstick and thinks we are cowards because we don't do the same. We don't believe in things like that until we're 16. Who is right?

A. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are right! You have a code of conduct entirely in keeping with your age, and don't let anyone tease, or ridicule, you out of it. Vera does not seem to be a good friend for you, and I agree with your mother that the less you see of her the better.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For five years I have been going with a boy who has said he was in love with me. We planned to marry when I finish college. Lately, however, he hasn't gone out with me and has told several people he doesn't go with me anymore. What must I do?

P. Q.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have been given a cue to make a graceful exit. The boy hasn't the courage to tell you frankly that he doesn't want to go with you, so has taken the ungentlemanly course of getting the information to you via third parties. Make sure your information comes from a reliable source and, if possible, verify it directly with the boy. The chances are that his attentions have wandered, and I advise yours to do likewise.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: All the relations on my husband's side call me skinny. My husband says I am pretty close to the average Miss America figure and, though I think I'm just about right, I feel so self-conscious around his relations.

LOU

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: From the measurements you give, I, too, would say you're just about right. Perhaps hubby's family is inclined to avoirdupois and are envious. Take their remarks good naturedly and stop being self-conscious.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I would love to have a dog but my mother and father say that the city is no place for one. I am 12 years old.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A dog is a wonderful companion for a boy, and I wish you could find someone who would persuade your parents to get one. Of course, a large dog is out of place in the city, but the smaller breeds do very nicely, even is a small place. But remember, Ronnie, if mom and dad do finally agree to the dog, it's your job to take care of him. One reason why parents don't like the idea is that dad usually gets the job of walking the dog, while mom has all the feeding and house care to do.

What's Right

A married daughter is introducing her mother to one of her acquaintances, who does not know the mother's name.

WRONG: She says, "This is my mother"—not mentioning the mother's name.

RIGHT: She says, "Mother, this is Mrs. Green. My mother, Mrs. Black."

THE NEW HATS FOR FALL and winter are real hats. They are deep, many of them covering the side and back hair completely. The cloche is back; so are helmets and turbans. Laddie Northridge does a deep cloche of soft taupe felt (upper left) patterned with an embroidery of jet half-moons. Deep-fitting bonnet (upper centre) of dusty plum velours is a Chanda design. Crown has deep folds; is accented by a ridge of spruce green grosgrain. Sally Victor's deep cloche in brilliant turquoise angora felt (upper right) typifies this silhouette. For dinner and dancing, there's Walter Florell's profile beret of iridescent white sequins marked by a pair of full-blown pink silk roses. Or, there's Laddie Northridge's glittering golden evening hat of feather-light plastic beads (lower centre) on a crescent silhouette. The model wears a multi-strand bib of the same beads. Emme's little jewelled beret (lower right) in pink kid leather is studded with garnet stones and accented with inset band of garnet velvet. Accent is on depth plus a soft look.

Bigger, Better And Smarter New Millinery Keynote

This fall and winter, you'll get more hat for your money. Deeper crowns, more draping, bigger brims. The whole effect is a softer one, soft in silhouette and soft in fabric.

The cloche is, of course, the hat. It's enjoying its biggest revival since the '20s. This time, though, it's done in fuzzy angora or soft, brushed felt. It's often cut shallow at front and back and deep at the sides. It pulls well down on the head and sometimes is worn pulled down on one side. There's very little trimming for this hat, if any.

Of the other new silhouettes, the turban and the helmet count most. Sometimes, the two are rolled into one, making a helmet-turban with dramatic depth and draping. The helmet, as well as the cloche, appears in a soft angora yarn, novelty wool knits, jersey and velvet.

The beret is back this year, chiefly in soft angoras that are in the pastels, white or black. Some of these are sparked by opaque paillettes for added glamor.

Reverse velours, beaver, suede, wool challis and kid on velours are all being used by designers to achieve the desired softened effect.

As for color, there are the bright ruby reds, the turquoises, soft rosy reds, muted emerald greens, deeper forest greens, tawny spice browns and always, the smartness of unrelieved black or gleaming white.

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

Note: Please don't despair. I know you want pickles and I am giving them to you by mail and in this column as fast as two hands and one head can work.

Questions from Mrs. George B., Mrs. H. L. E., Miss Mary R., Mrs. H. L., A. M. E., and Betty O., are either wholly answered or partially answered in the first recipe which follows.

MIXED SWEET PICKLES (Quick process)

Four medium sized heads cauliflower (6-inch), 2 quarts 1-inch onions, 6 sweet red peppers, 50 2½-inch gherkins. Wash the cauliflowers and separate into small flowerets. Peel the onions; cut peppers in ½-inch rings and cut these in halves crosswise after removing seeds and ribs. Wash the gherkins by scrubbing and rinsing. Soak all of these prepared vegetables in brine overnight—3 tablespoons salt to each quart water. In morning drain well, cover with cold water and bring just to boiling point and immediately drain. Boil 2 quarts mild vinegar with 2 lbs. brown or white sugar, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 stick whole cinnamon bark. Immediately pour this over the prepared parboiled vegetables which should be packed into sterile jars ahead of this. Fill to near overflowing and seal.

NINE-DAY PICKLES (For Mrs. H. L. and Mrs. G. B.)

Gather or buy 7 lbs. 4 or 5-inch cucumbers, wash well and cut into ½-inch slices. Soak in brine in proportions of ¼ cup salt to each quart water, for 3 days. Drain. Add fresh brine each day for 3 days longer, rinsing off old brine each day. On 7th day pour over drained cucumber slices a weak vinegar mixture, ½ vinegar and ½ water, to cover, and containing ½ oz. alum. Let this stand, after pouring it over boiling hot, until it is cooled to room temperature. Prepare 6 cups full-strength vinegar, 2½ lbs. sugar, 1 oz. each celery seed, whole allspice, stick cinnamon. Tie the spices in cheesecloth bag. Pour this over the drained cucumber slices, bring just to simmering point, then pour into clean 2-gallon crock. Cover with plate, but be sure vinegar syrup covers all the cucumber slices. This is ready to eat in 1 week but improves with time. It does not require sealing but should be kept cool and in a dark place.

KOSHER DILL PICKLES (For Mrs. Frank W.)

The difference between dill pickles and Kosher dill pickles is the garlic that is used in them. A popular brand of Kosher dills also contains onion and peppers—either in natural form or their extracted oils. Use about 1 6-quart basket of dill-size cucumbers—4 or 5 inches in length. Wash well and dry. Prick each end with silver fork. Put flower of dill in bottom of sterile quart jars, also a clove of garlic. Pack full of washed and pricked cucumbers. Put dill flower and another clove of garlic on top. Make a mixture of 1 pint vinegar, 1 cup salt and 2¼ quarts water. Bring this just to boiling point but do not boil. Pour over cucumbers in jars and seal at once. Ready in 4 weeks. Keep in dark cool place. Slices of onion and tiny red peppers may be added to jars too if desired.

MILD CORN RELISH (For Mrs. Marion L.)

(This is a very old recipe and has all the ingredients mentioned by Marion L. that her grandmother's pickle contained. I hope it is suitable).

One 2-lb. head of cauliflower, 2 bunches celery, 4 largs cucumbers, 2 cups gherkin-size cucumbers, 6 chopped green peppers, 12 large ears fresh young corn boiled 3 minutes and cut from cobs, 1 large onion, ½ cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 1-lb. can sweetened condensed milk, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 cups vinegar. All of the vegetables are sliced thinly except peppers which are chopped, and corn which is cut from cobs. Mix together the flour, sugar, canned milk, mustard, salt and paprika. Put in preserving kettle and add vegetables and stir until vegetables are coated with this mixture, then add vinegar, bring to hard boil and pour into about 8 sterile pint jars and seal at once.

Answers to readers' letters will be continued tomorrow.

Lift Controls On Radios, TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government yesterday suspended price controls on radios, television sets, record players, carpets and bedding.

It also abolished price controls on vitrified chinaware, hand-made household glassware, silverware and jewelry.

Ellis Arnall, retiring director of the Office of Price Stabilization, explained that suspension orders are being issued for manufactured goods which are selling well below their price ceilings. Full decontrol is being authorized for items "unimportant to the cost of living or the continued control of which is not feasible."

At the same time Tighe E. Woods, who will succeed Arnall as price boss next week, told reporters that if he finds the people don't want price controls at all he will ask President Truman to do away with them.

WEST POLIO TOLL MOUNTS

EDMONTON (CP)—The Western Canada poliomyelitis toll continued to mount yesterday with deaths in Alberta and Saskatchewan raising the fatalities to 71 and late reports swelling to 1,111 the number of confirmed and suspected cases. Schools in 20 centres in Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan have postponed openings.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Variety Is Most Important In Preparing Lunch-Pail

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

As sure as that's the school bell ringing, it's time again to think about what goes into little Johnnie's lunch-pail.

Variety is most important, says the booklet "Good School Lunches" from the Ontario Agriculture Department.

"Introduce new foods gradually and children will accept them," it says. "Vary foods from day to day. If the school program does not provide one hot dish, you may include soup, cocoa, or a main dish in a vacuum bottle."

Essentials for every lunch are: Milk, to drink or in food; fruit or vegetable or both (raw or cooked; use tomatoes and oranges often); meat (or cheese, egg, fish, beans or peanut butter); whole wheat bread (or muffins or tea-biscuits made with whole wheat flour, wheat germ, bran or rolled oats).

Suggested lunch: Vegetable soup; sandwiches (whole wheat bread—minced beef and pickle or salmon and celery; carrot strips; whole orange; oatmeal cookies; milk.

Fruit may be carried in a container and may be baked apple or applesauce, stewed apricots, mixed fruit cup or fresh diced pineapple.

FISH FANCIES

The Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland and Labrador have compiled a booklet of fish recipes perhaps little known in other parts of Canada, but for a long time popular dishes in the Atlantic province.

"Many Newfoundlanders have earned their livelihood through generations by pursuing the fishing industry," says the introduction.

6—In Memoriam

FAIERS—In loving memory of Mrs. Jane Faiers who passed away 1 year ago, August 28, 1951.
Resting where no shadow fall.
In perfect peace she awaits us all.
—From her sister, Mrs. A. McGovarin.

MEREDITH, William, Sr. — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather who passed away September 21, 1950.
Two years have passed away and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home and earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon his grave
May wither and decay
But the love of him who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by son Don, Helen and grandchildren, Catherine, Bobby and Diane.

PERRITT.—In loving memory of Mrs. W. Perritt, who passed away Aug. 29, 1950.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
—Every remembered by Husband and Family.

7—Card of Thanks

Mrs. Harold Bolton and Ann wish to thank the Rev. H. K. Wright, attending doctor, friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during their recent sad bereavement.

Mrs. Thomas Soles, Lakefield, would like to thank the Sisters and Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, and the Doctors who attended her during her recent illness. She also wishes to thank the friends and neighbors for the many flowers and gifts.

Would-Be Thief Shot In Foot

TORONTO (CP)—Clifford Maracle, 28, was wounded in the left foot by a bullet fired by police who broke up what they termed an attempt to blow the safe in a theatre candy firm.

Police said they arrested Maracle on a nearby street after he had been shot by Constable Murray MacDonald. A second man escaped.

Houston Man Gets Foot Back

HOUSTON (AP)—A tender reunion between a Houston man and a 3,000-year-old right foot had police agog yesterday.

When it was all over, Arthur B. Tennant, 50, picked up his foot and went home.

Mystified police received several calls yesterday saying that a newsboy was running around with a mummy's foot and a curved dagger.

Police picked up the 12-year-old boy, who explained that he got the foot and the dagger out of a cedar chest on a porch.

Today Tennant identified the foot as a 3,000-year-old mummy's foot from Egypt—one of a number of sentimental mementoes his father brought back in 1904.

Cowboy Gunman Loots Vault

TORONTO (CP)—A cowboy-garbed gunman last night locked four employees in a soft-drink firm's office vault and made off with $3,430, the day's receipts. He wore a cowboy shirt and blue jeans.

The masked gunman forced two salesmen, a helper and a woman cashier into the vault and locked it.

Employees who saw the gunman released them after the cashier called out the combination.

Marmora Schools Have Staff Changes

MARMORA— (ENS)— Schools re-open here on Tuesday. There will be some changes in the teaching staff of the three local schools.

At the public school, Miss Margaret Roushorn has been engaged to succeed Mrs. F. Hannah who resigned at the end of the school year, and Mrs. James Heath will succeed Miss Georgina Cole who also resigned.

At the separate school, Kenneth Hulsmans is the new principal succeeding Mrs. James Loveless who has taken Deloro separate school and Miss Jean Cook will succeed Miss Florence Auger.

Unless the vacancy on the high school staff caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Brady, has been filled before then, the high school will re-open with only three teachers.

Taking No Chances

CLARK TOWNSHIP, N. J., (AP) —Schools Superintendent Frank T. Hehnley yesterday asked mothers of all children starting kindergarten to place a tag with name, address and home telephone number on each child. Seems in previous years they've had trouble with youngsters getting so excited on the first day, that they forget where they live, or else get frightened and clam up completely.

Pravda Blasts Eisenhower For Legion Talk

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda gave its top editorial position today to a blistering attack on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech this week before the American Legion convention in New York.

The organ of the Soviet Communist party termed the Republican party nominee the "most energetic propagandist of the hate, contempt and enmity of the American aggression and warmongers."

Democratic party nominee Adlai Stevenson has been attacked similarly in the past.

Pravda said Eisenhower announced his intention of "including in the American empire" Soviet Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, as well as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary- Albania, Eastern Germany, Eastern Austria, China, the Mongolian Peoples' Republic and the Korean Peoples' Republic.

WILL BE SURPRISED

"Fascists of Hitlerite persuasion ought to open their mouths in amazement," Pravda asserted. "their appetites were enormous enough but even they did not decide to include among their 'flesh and blood' the Mongolian, Chinese and Korean peoples."

Eisenhower in his speech on Monday said the United States should tell the Kremlin: "never shall we rest content until the tidal wave of aggressive Communism has receded within its own borders)."

Investigate Possibility Ice House Fire Arson

LAKE WILCOX (CP)—Police are investigating the possibility of arson following a fire that burnt a wooden ice house near here.

Nearby residents said they heard a car leaving the scene just before the blaze was discovered.

The house, owned by charles Crawford, stood in the middle of a large bush and flames set fire to several trees. Firemen stood by to prevent a major bush fire.

Lake Wilcox is 25 miles north of Toronto.

Hastings Accepts Bid Of $99.12 For Bonds

HASTINGS (ENS)—The council of the village of Hastings has accepted the bid of Wood Gundy Co. Ltd., on their issue of 20-year debentures for $90,000, bearing five per cent interest at $99.12.

The following bids were received: Wood Gundy $99.12, R. A. Daly $99, J. L. Graham $96.35.

These debentures are being issued to cover the costs of the construction and equipping of a new 4-room public school.

Must Watch Language

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters) —Australian politicians were warned today to watch their language in the House of Representatives—for all they know they may be on the air. Speaker Archie Cameron said he was receiving "most alarming reports from all over Australia" about the interchanges between members during broadcasts of Parliamentary proceedings.

Sorry About Dog

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—Betty Worthington, 8, was identified yesterday as the owner of a black cocker spaniel killed yesterday by Governor Adlai E. Stevenson's speeding auto cavalcade. Stevenson said he was "exceedingly concerned" about the accident and had issued orders that local police officials are to be told that motorcades must not make excessive speed.

Huks Kill 900

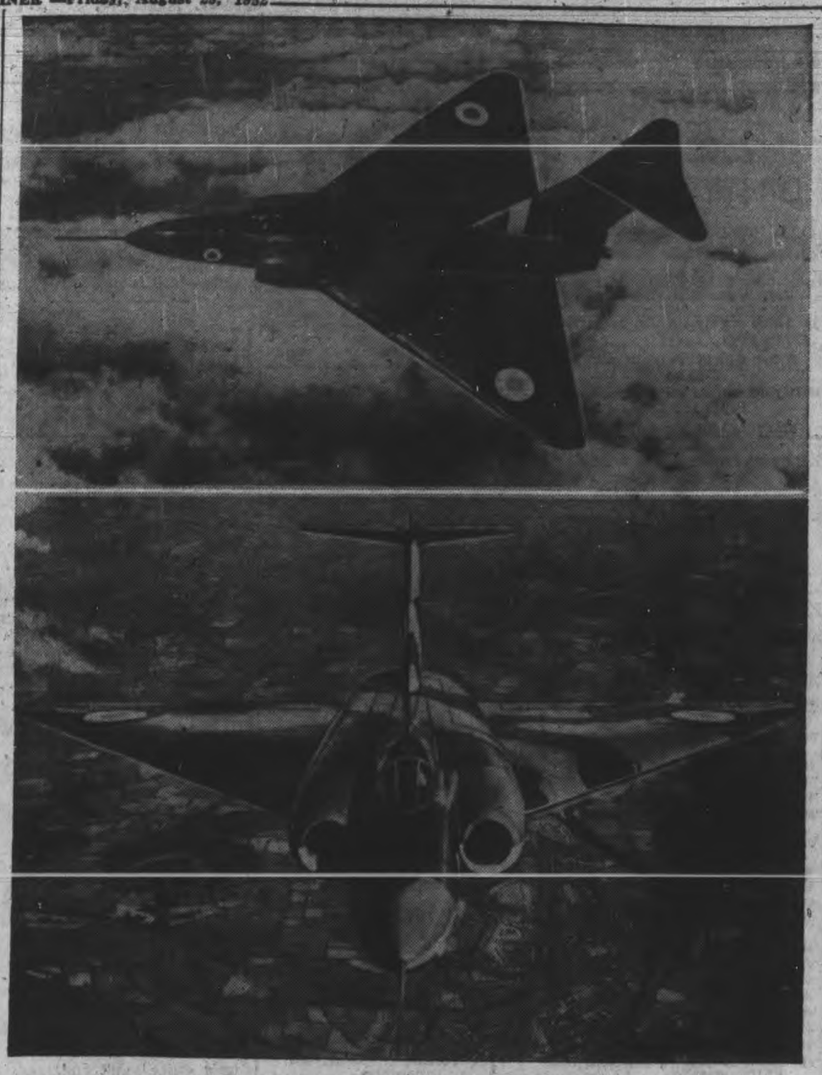
MANILA (AP)—Close to 900 persons have been killed through Communist Huk violence this year. Observers here said the Huks are still able to strike at will, despite army claims it has the Huks under control.

Charge Justice Department Interference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigators today turned from charges that justice department officials interfered with a tax-scandal probe to the way in which the department handled war-fraud cases.

A judiciary sub-committee of the House of Representatives called four government lawyers to produce files dealing with a war-fraud case that began in Detroit in 1944 with an indictment and ended in 1951 without a prosecution.

The decision to take up the Detroit case came after ranking members of the sub-committee lambasted justice department officials for trying to "whitewash" a tax case inquiry by a St. Louis grand jury early in 1951.



Representative Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. N. Y.) told reporters:

"This effort at a whitewash of a smelly situation by the grand jury was frustrated only by the patriotic perseverance of an upright federal judge who could not stomach such shenanigans and by a stalwart band of honest men and women who comprised the grand jury.

SHOCKING STORY

"But it's still a shocking story of an attempt by the justice department, apparently from political motives, to throw a grand jury off the scent and prevent prosecutions of favorably-placed law violators."

Earlier Chairman Frank L. Chelf (Dem.-Ky.) said he agreed with District Judge George H. Moore and the grand jurors that the department of justice had made "a deliberate attempt" to stope the inquiry, which ultimately led to the indictment and conviction of a friend of President Truman.

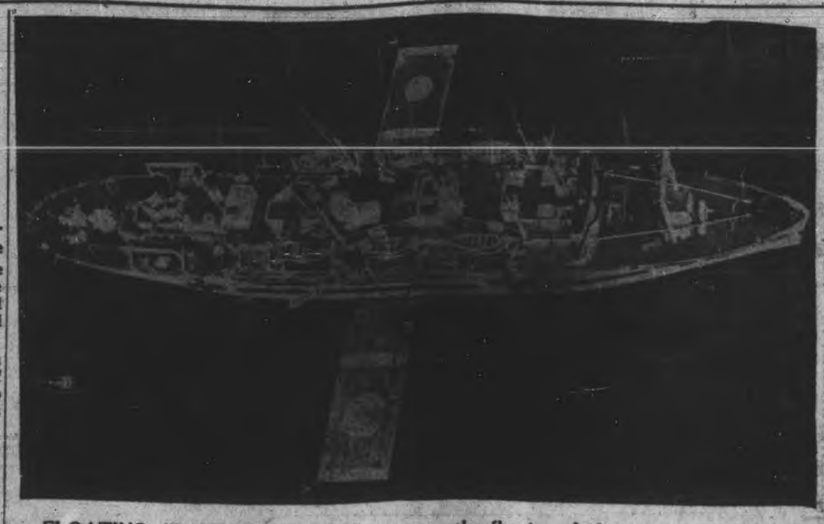
FLYING TRIANGLE — These are two views of the Gloster Javelin, Britain's new jet flying triangle, which was described officially recently as faster than sound and "the most effective fighter in the world." The plane is the world's first twin-engined jet fighter of the delta, or triangle, wing design. With its complicated radar equipment it can operate in any weather, day or night. It is 57 feet long and has a wing span of 52 feet. The tip of its tail stands 17 feet from the ground.

Early Labor Day Strikes Blow At Tourist Trade

TORONTO—Ontario resort owners are not complaining about the "suddenly enhanced value of the Canadian dollar" as much as the early Labor Day this year, Travel and Publicity Minister Cecile said Thursday.

Mr. Cecile released figures on the tourist traffic to the end of July that indicate Ontario may do a $250,000,000 tourist business this year.

The inexorable calendar, he said, which makes Labor Day fall on Sept. 1 this year, lops off the last few days of the summer tourist season.



Resort owners would suffer a loss of as much as six days' business, representing more than five per cent of their total season, he said. It meant "millions of dollars to the province," he added.

Vehicle permits issued during July set a new record for the month at 313,798. This is just short of the record set last August when 325,419 U.S. automobiles entered the province.

The seven-month total stands at 732,654, a 4.6 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

If visitors are spending at the same rate as last year, revenue should be roughly $120,000,000 already, he estimated.

It would appear the total number of tourists will be close to 10 per oent above last year, setting a record for the eighth consecutive year.

FLOATING "LANDING FIELDS" — Part of the record-breaking job being done in Korea in bringing casualties safely to hospitalization is due to such ingenious devices as the floating platforms seen moored to a hospital ship. Helicopters, carrying U.N. wounded from the battlefields, land on these and the casualties are quickly taken into the ship's hospital quarters.

Urges Banning Foreign Ships On Great Lakes

MIDLAND (CP)—James Norris of Lake Forest, Ill., Canadian-born industrialist whose interests include arenas, steel, wheat and shipping, said yesterday he would like to see all foreign shipping banned from the Great Lakes.

He told a reception following the launching of the 663-foot bulk carrier Gordon C. Leith that if foreign tonnage is permitted to ply the Great Lakes after the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway, it would result in the "spoiling" of United States and Canadian business.

"These waters are the heritage of the U.S. and Canada," he said. "Let's keep it that way."

He said foreign merchantmen could undercut North American operators by one-third at least because of their low wages and operational costs.

The Gordon C. Leith, launched at the Midland Shipyards Limited, is named for the president of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company, whose wife sponsored the vessel.

Says Churchill's Father Challenged To Duel By a Prince Of Wales

LONDON (AP). — Winston Churchill's father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was once challenged to a duel by the Prince of Wales who later became King Edward VII.

The incident is related by Sir Shane Leslie, author and godson of Lord Randolph.

In an article in the Roman Catholic periodical, The Month, Leslie says Lord Randolph's reply to the challenge was "superb —that of a Christian and chivalrous gentleman."

"He sent Lord Falmouth to say he was prepared to meet anyone deputed by the prince and fight him anywhere on the continent, but that nothing would induce him to lift a hand against his future sovereign."

Leslie said little to elaborate this latest revelation about the fighting Churchills, but apparently the trouble was way back in the 1880s and—like so many similar shindigs—was over a woman.

PRINCE REBUKED

Leslie, attributing his account to some unidentified documents, described the lady in the case as a countess "equally admired by the prince and Lord Randolph's elder brother.

"Lord Randolph's part was purely fraternal and very honorable," Leslie said, "for he had never known or approached the lady himself, but he rebuked the prince in a manner that could be considered injurious as well as insulting."

Leslie omitted to say what the rebuke to royalty was, or what led to it, or whether a duel took place. The incident is not mentioned in the biography Winston Churchill has written about his father.

Another incident in which the Churchill fighting spirit nearly led to a duel was more fully described in Leslie's article.

This time Lord Randolph himself was the challenger, and Lord Hartington the challenged. Lord Randolph had objected to some remarks allegedly made by Lord Hartington, but withdrew the challenge on being assured they were not intended to apply to him.

St. Laurent Leaves On Western Tour

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent left yesterday on a 16-day meet-the-people tour that will take him to the west coast and back.

It will be the 70-year-old Prime Minister's longest trip since the election campaign of 1949.

The Prime Minister has brief stops scheduled for three Ontario points of the westward journey—at Orillia, Midland and Penetanguishene.

Need More Librarians

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Need for more public librarians was stressed here during a visit by Peter Grossman, director of libraries for Nova Scotia. Mr. Grossman said New Brunswick has only 14 professionally-trained librarians, of whom 12 are employed by universities or the government.

Britain Finds Country Short Of Prisons

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Hard-pressed in other fields, Britain now finds herself in urgent need of more prisons.

The disclosure, made in a recent parliamentary report, has brought a demand for improved accommodation and a full-scale inquiry into allegations of "appalling" conditions of overcrowding, understaffing, lack of discipline and violence in the country's penitentiaries and jails.

The survey, prepared by a House of Commons select committee on estimates, places the present prison population at about 25,000—highest for more than 60 years. Available accommodation, however, normally would house no more than 12,000 offenders.

In February of this year, 4,500 male prisoners were sleeping three together in cells designed for one, a practice condemned by witnesses as "unhealthy and disgusting." At Wandsworth jail, which reported the severest overcrowding, more than 500 prisoners were sleeping three to a cell.

"While there is no evidence that this situation has resulted in any deterioration in health, the danger of rapid spread of epidemics grows more acute as overcrowding increases," the report says.

COSTS £7 MILLION

The committee discloses that the cost of operating the country's chain of prisons during the current financial year will come to some £7,000,000. It recommends however, that new prisons should be built without delay.

Pending their completion and as a temporary expedient, it is suggested military hutments should be taken over and converted into prison camps. The home office has agreed to test the plan.

It was found that in most prisons there is a hard core of trouble-makers, diagnosed as "aggresive psychopaths." Special security measures were necessary to cope with breach of discipline encouraged by these ring-leaders.

LIFE TOO ATTRACTIVE

As a result the working week in some prisons was reduced as low as 18 hours with an inevitable drop in production.

E. Wathall, secretary of the Parkhurst Prison Officers' Association, reported special privileges were extended to some prisoners under an old act. Their cells, he said, were not locked until 8 o'clock at night and they were allowed what is called a "fry up," from meat and potatoes saved from meals served during the day.

Evidence was given that prisoners spend as much time in leisure, just sitting around, smoking, playing cards, listening to the radio or reading newspapers, as they do at work.

"Prison life is far too attractive," Mr. Wathall observed.

The governor of Parkhurst Prison, P. A. Marriott, said that flogging had never been abolished in jails. It was rarely ordered, however, and the "regular boarders" were aware of that.

Asked if attacks on the staff had become more frequent as a result, he replied: "Yes. Prisoners now would not hesitate that would have hesitated before."

British Tea Ration Raised Half Ounce

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons learned yesterday that their weekly tea ration will be increased Sept. 7 by half an ounce to three ounces.

The ration for those over 70 will be 3½ ounces, also a half-ounce increase.

The Ministry of Food said the increases are due to an improvement in import stocks. The Ministry added that rationing may end soon, if stocks continue to improve.

Cheese, butter, margarine, shortening, sugar, candy, meat, bacon and eggs still are rationed.

End Church Parley On Note Of Faith

LUND, Sweden (AP)—Church representatives from 40 countries ended the third world conference on faith and order last night, still seeking the key to Christian unity.

"Our task is not accomplished," said Dr. Douglas Horton of New York, representing the United States Congregational Christian Churches, "but the Lord judges us by the work we have done."

On Guard, Girls!

WOODFORD, Eng. (CP)—The vicar of Woodford, Rev. D. C. Mumby, suggests in his church magazine that parish girls guard against letting girls from other districts romp away with the men. "Although we have lots of attractive girls we have only one or two weddings each quarter," he complained.

Red Tape Stops Air Travellers

MONTREAL (CP)—The International Civil Aviation Organization is faced with another giant task—a world-wide crusade against red tape.

R. J. Moulton, chief of ICAO's air travel facilitation division, will lead the battle against unnecessary formalities which often takes up more of the air traveller's time than the actual flight. Mr. Moulton will preside over the air transport committee sessions which start here Sept. 8.

An idea of the task facing I.C.A.O., of which 57 countries are members, may be seen in the fact that until a convention in Chicago in 1949 no fewer than 560 forms were required by various agencies of government on both sides of the Pacific for a single flight from San Francisco to Sydney, Australia.

While many improvements have been made, Mr. Moulton said there still are many countries where the visas, consular invoices, health certificates and other documents takes the speed out of air travel.

MIDDLE EAST MUDDLE

The worst muddle for civil aviation is in Latin America and in the Middle and Far East, he said. Pilots sign hundreds of forms in Spanish, Arabic, Hindustani and such languages without hesitation and without understanding the texts, simply because they want to cut down the stop-over delay.

Prints Found On Fudge Traps Thief In North Bay

NORTH BAY. — A would-be confectioner had his recipe go sour on him Thursday, when he was charged in police court with breaking into, and theft from, the North Bay Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

Police said that Gerrard Ruddy, 28, of Sault Ste. Marie, broke into the school on July 15. They based their contention on fingerprints taken from a doubtful plate of fudge found in the domestic science department. Ruddy, they said, was the cook, and a poor one at that. The fudge proved unpalatable.

Ruddy, presently serving time at Burwash for another offence, pleaded guilty to the charge, which alleged that he stole from the school $900 in non-transferrable bonds, $70 in silverware, plus other articles. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Police said he told them where the loot was cached in Toronto. School authorities allowed that Ruddy's other culinary activities in the domestic science kitchen were passable. But the fudge — ugh.

Plan TV Film Of 27th Brigade

SENNELAGER, Germany (CP) —Training exercises of Canada's 27th infantry brigade are to be recorded in a television film, marking a precedent in Canadian military history.

Following preliminary experimental work, the public relations unit under Maj. Alex Stirton of Calgary will produce a 16-millimetre film depicting phases of training. Camera man will be Sgt. George Gadde, formerly with the Canadian defence department in Ottawa.

Lieut. Michael Gausden of Montreal, of the public relations staff, said it is hoped the film will be shown in the CBC's new television service.

LOBSTER CATCH

The average annual lobster catch in Canada amounts to 30,000,000.

Quints Will Leave Soon For School In Quebec

NORTH BAY (CP)—The 18-year-old Dionne quintuplets will soon be leaving their Corbeil home to continue their schooling in Quebec.

Within the next few weeks the quints will enrol in the Nicolet Convent, located in Nicolet, Que., and operated by the Sisters of Assumption. Nicolet is on the south shore of the St. Lawrence across from Three Rivers.

The quints—Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne—received their junior matriculation diplomas last spring. Up until now they have taken all their schooling at Notre Dame Convent, a private school on the Dionne grounds.

University subjects will be available at Nicolet. However, the quints at this stage do not intend to seek university degrees, their father said.

POLISHING UP

"They are going to take just those subjects which appeal to them," Mr. Dionne added. "They are going to Nicolet merely to polish up in preparation for future life."

The fact the quints are going into a convent does not mean they intend to become nuns, Mr. Dionne said.

"They have not indicated in any way yet what careers they intend to adopt," Mr. Dionne stated. "Mrs. Dionne and I will leave the choice entirely up to them."

DON'T WANT BIG CITY

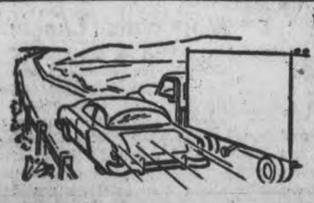
"We did not want them to go to a big city where there would be less chance of them enjoying privacy," Mr. Dionne said. "Nicolet is just the right size town. They will be able to mingle with the people of the town without much danger of being annoyed."

"What they need more than anything else right now is outside experience and they will get it at Nicolet."

"I sincerely hope that people will now help us to permit the girls to live a normal life," Mr. Dionne said. "They don't want to be celebrities. They want to be left alone and given an opportunity to live as nearly a normal life as possible. "They want the same chance as other girls their age and we hope the public will co-operate."

RANKIN DEFEATED—Rep. John E. Rankin (right) conceded victory to Rep. Thomas G. Abernethy (left) in the Mississippi Democratic primary. Rankin, 70, was seeking his 17th term, while Abernethey, 49, has served in Congress 10 years. The race was necessitated by the consolidation of their districts.

Report 5th Polio Death



LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The second polio death at Victoria Hospital in three days, and southwestern Ontario's fifth this year, occurred last night. John Holmes, 28, Wallaceburg, admitted Monday, was the latest victim.

Fire Sweeps Cruise Ship Half Hour After Docking

SUMMER ENDS and boats lie idle. Autumn begins crowding in and holidays are finished for most people. Children and their parents have headed back to their homes and Tuesday the children will be enrolling in school. These boats are lying at the mouth of Jack's Creek as it flows through wild rice beds into Stony Lake.—(Nickels Photo)

Say Hundreds Disembark Just In Time

Believe Blaze Started In Lounge, Gained Headway Fast

HAMILTON (CP) — Fire early today gutted the cruise ship S.S. Hamiltonian, burning away most of the insides of the old steam-powered side-wheeler.

A little over half an hour before the fire broke out on the vessel at heg dock here, several hundred passengers disembarked after a cruise around Hamilton Bay. None was injured.

Hours after the fire, the ship listed at 20 degrees because of the tons of water poured into her by two Hamilton fire-boats and eight companies of firemen.

STARTED IN LOUNGE

The three-hour fire, believed to have started in the ladies lounge on the upper deck, was discovered shortly after 1 a.m. The blaze gained headway but was confined by the upper superstructure, the steel hull and the upper deck steel framework.

All the inside of the main super structure was burned away, along with most of the decking and interior partitions. Most of the fire-fighting was done from the dock, with the firemen pouring water into her.

CAPTAIN SAVES LOG

By a quirk the cabin of Capt. Goodwin Joshua Corson was undamaged. He managed to get the ship's log and his personal effects. He said he didn't think she'd ever see service again.

An estimate of the damage was not immediately available from her owners, the Hamilton Harbor Commission.

Built in Kingston in 1897, the ship could carry 450 passengers and 30 cars. Originally known as the S.S. Champion, she was operated as a ferry between Gananoque, Ont., and Clayton, N.Y., before being brought to Hamilton in 1944.

On moon-light cruises around Hamilton Bay she frequently carried her full complement of 450 passengers. Fueled by oil, she was 143 feet long, 25 feet in the beam and drew about five feet of water.

Odd Fish Story

TOKYO (AP)—This is a bearish sort of fish story. Kyodo News Service says fishermen opened a 165-pound shark off the southern Japanese coast and found a bear inside. The agency added that groups of hungry bears have been swimming offshore hunting for food.

Toronto Man Drowns Near Minden

MINDEN (Staff)—The body of Robert James Graham, 24, of 48 Hammersmith Ave., Toronto, was recovered from Gull Lake near Minden at 8 a.m. today.

Graham drowned sometime Friday afternoon in about nine feet of water. His body was recovered by Dr. J. W. Hazlett, of 496 Roselawn Ave., Toronto.

A feeble swimmer, Graham was last seen in a "floating pool," an area enclosed by oil drums and circled by a ramp, which is used as a pool for guests at the resort where Graham was holidaying.

Although other swimmers were using the pool, no one apparently saw him disappear or heard him cry for help.

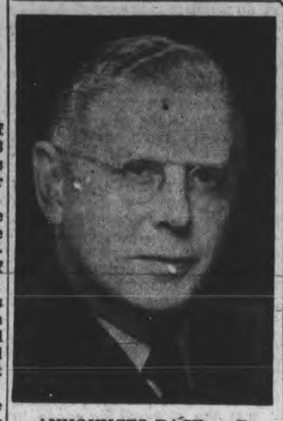
Graham was first missed by his brother, John R. Graham, who is also holidaying at the same resort.

O.P.P. Constables A. Edwards and C. A. Hardy investigated. It is not yet known if there will be an inquest.

Ontario Signs 5-Year Pact With Ottawa On Tax Fields Terms Better Than '45 Plan

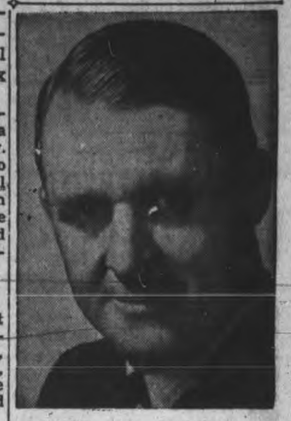
OTTAWA (CP)—An agreement under which Ontario will rent two of its major tax fields to the federal government for five years in return for a fixed annual payment was announced here yesterday by Ontario's Premier Frost and Finance Minister Abbott. The agreement, which must be ratified by the Ontario legislature, brings the province an improved version of the tax-rental plan which she turned down in the 1945-46 Dominion-Provincial conferences. Under the new agreement the province will turn over to the federal government her personal income and corporation tax fields.

In return she will receive annual payments guaranteed at a minimum of $101,800,000 yearly. The payment would amount to $137,200,000 for the 1952-53 fiscal year—but with deductions from that because Ontario will continue to collect succession duties and receive the statutory subsidy provided under the constitution.



DEAL "STOP-GAP"

Mr. Frost said under current circumstances the new tax alignment is the best thing possible, but termed it "at best a stop-gap, pending the working out of a more satisfactory distribution of tax and revenue sources."



He urged the federal government to reconstitute an economic committee which functioned during the 1945-46 conferences, when the first post-war five-year tax agreements were drawn up. Ontario and Quebec abstained from those agreements. With yesterday's agreement Ontario joins the eight other provinces which renewed their pacts with the federal government for the five-year period which began April 1 last. Quebec still has not signed an agreement.

The Ontario premier said the committee should study the entire Canadian tax structure and recom-

Malik Rejects Arms Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— Russia's Jacob Malik yesterday rejected—as expected—the western powers' proposal for a big five arms reduction conference. As usual in such rejections, the Soviet deputy foreign minister and chief U.N. delegate laid blame elsewhere for failure to reduce the world's armaments. Malik devoted most of his long speech before the 12-country disarmament commission to familiar rejection phrases and counter-attacks on the western powers. He said that Russia insists it will deal with disarmament questions only on the basis of Russian proposals.

These call for at least one-third reduction of all big power armed forces, immediate prohibition of atomic weapons, and adoption of what Malik called continuing international control of atomic energy.

He said western Big Three proposals for stage-by-stage reduction of armed forces and elimination of atom, bacterial and other mass destruction weapons was intended only to delay disarmament and avoid prohibition of the mass death weapons.

The big five are the permanent members of the U.N. security council—Britain, the U.S., France, Russia and China. The first three are known generally as the Big Three western powers, and it was their arms ideas wrapped up in a formal proposal that Malik rejected.

The Russian, changing sharply from the jovial attitude he displayed to other delegates before the meeting began, told the commission the U.S. was trying to get world domination by proposals that would delay arms reduction "and squeeze profits out of the world by its monopolies."

FRENCH REACTION

First reaction to Malik's statements was voiced by France's Henri Hoppenot, one of the principal spokesmen of the Western Powers on the disarmament plan. He said Malik had distorted, with defamation, the statements of the Western Powers.

The attitude was not unexpected, Hoppenot said, but it stops the work of the commission now. The commission plans to make a full report of its debates to the general assembly which meets here in October.

No Room In Hotels Spend Night In Plane

SHANNON, Ireland (CP)—Sixty-one delegates to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in Ottawa took off today after engine trouble grounded their plane overnight.

The delegates, from more than 20 countries and states of the Commonwealth, slept in their chartered Stratocruiser because all hotel accommodation at the airport was filled.

The plane made an emergency landing on three engines early today. Repairs were quickly completed.

Fire tenders and an ambulance stood by but the landing was made safely soon after midnight.

The trouble developed while the plane was circling the airport. Earlier its departure from London airport was delayed by mechanical trouble.

Offer Mossadegh 3-Point Oil Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain and the United States today proposed a three-point settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil crisis, including a grant of $10,000,000 from the U.S. to Iran.

The offer was made personally by President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill to Iranian Premier Mossadegh.

This extraordinary personal participation by the two western leaders stressed the gravity with which London and Washington regard the possibility of a Communist seizure of power in the strategic Middle Eastern country.

The President and Prime Minister said they "sincerely hope" their proposals for action will meet Mossadegh's approval and result in a satisfactory solution."

THREE PROPOSALS

The three proposals were presented by the ambassadors in Tehran today.

In essence they are:

1. Submission to the World Court of the question of compensation to be paid to the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company for its property in Iran, nationalized 18 months ago. The claims and counter-claims of both Iran and A.I.O.C. are to be fully considered.

2. Appointment of "suitable representatives" for the Iranian government and the A.I.O.C. to negotiate "arrangements for the flow of oil from Iran to world markets."

3. If Iran accepts the first two points, this is proposed: (A) A.I.O.C. will release for immediate sale $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 of oil now held in Iran by a sort of legal blockade. (B) Britain will relax restrictions on exports to Iran and on Iran's use of British sterling and (C) the U.S. "will make an immediate grant of $10,000,000 to the Iranian government to assist in their budgetary problem."

Police Smash Teen Age Gang

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa police yesterday broke up a teen-aged centre town gang called "the night raiders" with the arrest of its 13-year-old leader and two of his lieutenants and seizure of a miniature arsenal.

The gang members have been molesting other youngsters in the district and are believed by police to be responsible for a number of break-ins and thefts.

In a raid on the gang's centre town headquarters, officers seized several air pistols, knives, flashlights, costumes, wigs, masks and a quantity of stolen goods.

Name Kellock To Head Board In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice R.L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada was chosen yesterday to head a conciliation board to deal with the wage dispute between Canada's railways and their 125,000 employees in non-operating unions.

He is expected to meet informally within the next week with the other two members of the board which will attempt to mediate the contract dispute involving wage demands costing many millions a year.

TALKS START SOON

The judge, who acted as arbitrator in the parliament-enforced settlement of the 1950 general rail strike, will be chairman of a conciliation board which can't dictate a settlement but which will try to settle company-union differences. Talks will likely start within the next two weeks in Montreal.

Acting with him on the board will be David Lewis, Toronto lawyer chosen by the unions, and Paul S. Smith, Montreal lawyer named by the railways.

The unions are more than a dozen international and national groups representing the workers who do not actually operate trains They have asked for a general wage increase of 45 cents an hour across the board. The railways estimate this would cost around $150,000,000 a year.

WANT UNION SHOP

Other union demands are a pegging of wages to the cost of living, a union shop under which workers would have to join one of the unions, and a check-off of union dues.

The average wage now is $1.29 an hour, as decided in Mr. Justice Kellock's 1950 arbitration finding.

Informants in touch with the present dispute agree there seems little chance of another strike this time. They say the unions and railways are "reasonably close" to reconciling their positions.

They represented the two sides as being not too far apart on the wage question, but the railways were said to be holding out against union insistence on the union shop.

Severe Electrical Storm Lashes Campbellford Area

CAMPBELLFORD. (ENS)—One of the most severe electrical storms ever to lash this district caused widespread damage and inconvenience on Friday afternoon. Torrential rains accompanied by high winds flooded many cellars and caused a number of cars to be stalled on county roads. Water ranging in depth from four inches to a foot covered some of the roads outside the town, turning them into rivers.

Many cottages along the Trent River near the town were flooded. Telephones and electrical service was disrupted in some rural sections. Transformers were blown in many spots and hydro repair crews and public utilities workers from Campbellford and telephone repairmen worked long into the night restoring service, in some areas.

A transformer in the town power house was blown early in the storm. It apparently was on a line that fed the rural districts and was not out of action long.

WITHOUT HYDRO

The English Line east of town were without hydo service for several hours on account of blown transformers along the line.

At a cottage north of the town, a bolt of lightning struck a privy, overturned it and a stream of water floated it several yards away.

At the home of Walter Irvin of Saskatoon Ave., lightning came in through an outside wall tearing a number of boards from the outside of the frame building. A joist was split for about three feet and plaster and lath were ripped from the ceiling of an upstairs hall. The bolt

Youth 16 Bilks Widow Of $2,000

DENVER (AP)—A 16-year-old boy here faces charges of "impersonating a federal officer; to wit, Harry S. Truman," and intending by it to bilk an aged, wealthy widow of $2,000.

George C. Burton, special agent in charge of the Denver office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the Basin, Wyo., youth was bound over on the charge Thursday. Bail was set at $1,500.

Burton, who declined to give the youth's name or that of the widow, said that on July 8, the youth and two other Basin youngsters went to the 83-year-old widow and said the mother of one of them was ill in Alaska and he needed $150 to go see her. The money was provided.

A month later, the youth returned to the widow's home, wearing dark glasses and carrying a stationery box. He told her he was an agent of the "U.S. secret ranger service" and needed $200 to fight communism. She provided the money.

The youngster then hitch-hiked to Plymouth, Mich. He ran out of money and signed a letter to the widow with the name of President Truman, asking for $2,000 to treat a boy with "no legs nor no arms."

SWIMS CHANNEL

CAP GRIS NEZ, France (AP)—Said el Arabi, 36, an Egyptian, reached France early today after swimming the English Channel from Folkestone in 18 hours and five minutes. A British man and woman and another Egyptian previously swam it this season.

Monday being Labor Day there will be no issues of the Examiner published. In today's paper will be found the features and comics which are scheduled for Monday.

2 Boys Drown At Napanee

NAPANEE (CP)—Bob Follis, 15, drowned with his eight-year-old nephew in the Napanee River yesterday when he dived in to rescue him.

The older boy was the son of a former Peterborough man, Harold Follis, who worked at the Peterborough Review and also at Canada Packers.

Follis and David Cheesman of Kingston were fishing near a pumping station when the younger lad fell in. Follis, who had only just started to learn to swim, plunged in to save his nephew. Both were carried away.

The bodies were recovered about an hour later.

Two grandparents of Bob Fallis live on Patterson St. in Peterborough. One, Mrs. Robert Murduff is also the great-grandmother of David Cheesman. The other grandparent is Alfred Follis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Follis moved to Napanee shortly before Bob was born.

Bob is survived by his parents and three sisters, Mrs. Woodman (Yvonne) of Stoney Creek, Mrs. Hugh Cheesman (Jean) mother of David; and Sylvia at home. David is survived by his parents and two sisters, Beverley and Marylynn and a brother John.

A double funeral for the two boys will be held Monday in Napanee.

Hit Red Headquarters In Pyongyang Raid

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Few if any United Nations planes were lost on Friday's record dawn-to-dusk strike against Communist army and political nerve centres and factories at Pyongyang, the United States Fifth Air Force indicated today.

A U.S. marine flier on the Pyongyang smash said his squadron poured 104 tons of bombs on an underground meeting place for high Communist officials, the supply area for Pyongyang radio, Red army headquarters, the Communist department of justice and other targets on the capital's main street.

U.N. planes bombed and strafed Communist targets other than the North Korean capital Friday to boost the day's total of flights to a record 1,775.

Shantz Gets Three Threatening Notes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Athletics' Bobby Shantz, leading pitcher in the American league, says he has received three threatening notes warning him not to appear on the field when the A's play in Boston next week-end.

Shantz and Manager Jimmy Dykes, regard the letters as the work of a crank.

Shantz is the second major league ball player to receive threatening letters. Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder, recently received two notes, one of them demanding $6,200 upon threat of his life. The writer failed to keep a rendezvous at which a trap had been laid.

Fierce Air Battle In Northwest Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force said U.S. Sabre jet pilots shot down at least five Russian-built jets and damaged 12 others today in violent clashes near Suiho dam and Sinuiju in extreme northwest Korea.

A swarm of 100 Red jets crossed the Yalu river from Manchuria less than 24 hours after United Nations fighter bombers in record number Friday dealt the North Korean capital of Pyongyang one of the heaviest blows of the war.

Seventy-nine Sabres engaged the Red jets — the largest Communist air armadas to appear in months.

The Air Force said one of the 12 damaged Red fighters probably was destroyed.

The fiery battle upped the U.N. toll for August to arecord of 32 MiGs destroyed, three probably destroyed and 42 damaged — the best monthly record of the war.

U.N. losses, if any, were not announced. They will be covered in a weekly summary due next Friday.

If New War Breaks Out Canada Drawn In, P.M. Says

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—The present state of the cold war "is still grave and tense," Prime Minister St. Laurent says.

The Prime Minister, on a cross-country tour that will take him as far as Victoria, warned Canadians yesterday that if another major war breaks out Canada must inevitably be drawn into it.

But he added that if war could be prevented and Canada's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was the primary safeguard against it—he foresaw a population of 35,000,000 in Canada by the year 2000.

Mr. St. Laurent talked of the security value of NATO in nine speeches throughout this Georgian Bay district. He spoke from platforms, from the curbside in small villages and once from a front porch.

In Midland town park he said grand prospects awaited Canada's youth if peace can be maintained.

"But I must tell you," he said, "and tell the American visitors who are here today, that whenever there is a big war, we cannot keep out . . . in spite of the present situation of cold war— and it is still grave and tense—if all the 14 nations (of NATO) do what they have agreed to do, we are going to have the strength to make any possible aggressor think twice before attempting war."

Mr. St. Laurent was free, easy and genial with his audiences, many of them women and children. Here and there he swept youngster into his arms for a hug and a kiss.

He proudly pointed out on one or two occasions that he is the grandfather of 16 children.

Refinery Explosion Injures Six Men

GRANGEMOUTH, Scotland (Reuters)—An explosion today tossed clouds of flaming gas over a section of a huge oil refinery here.

The blast resulted from a leaking tank. Flames spread rapidly through the refinery's petroleum cracking plant.

Six men were caught in the flames. Rescue workers brought them to safety and they were rushed to hospital.

Bloody Bill May Be Clue

MAXVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Police said yesterday a blood-stained one-dollar bill found near here may be a possible new clue in the hunt for the slayer of Leonard Z. Hurd, Maxville taxi operator shot to death and robbed Aug. 16.

The blood-soaked bill was given Wilfrid Filion in change when he bought gasoline at a service station at Monkland, 12 miles southeast of Maxville. Filion turned the bill over to police. It is being sent to Toronto for analysis to determine if its stains are human blood and police are trying to trace its origin.

Hurd was shot five times with a .22 calibre rifle by a person who robbed him of more than $1,000 and then escaped in a car.

Police have since issued a murder warrant for Henri Seguin, whose name appeared on an army discharge certificate found in the back of the death car.

4-Month Ottawa Surplus Boosted To $334,916,000

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government's 1952-53 budgetary surplus climbed to $334,916,000 in the first four months of the fiscal year. A surplus of only $9,000,000 for the year was forecast by Finance Minister Abbott.

In his budget speech April 8, Mr. Abbott estimated the year's revenues at $4,279,000,000 and expenditures at $4,270,000,000. The financial year ends next March 31.

A monthly treasury report, issued yesterday, said that expenditures, particularly defence expenditures, have been lower than estimated.

The report said that if defence expenditures in the four-month period had equalled the monthly average expenditures for which provision was made by Parliament, the surplus would have been reduced to $66,000,000.

In the period, defence and defence production expenditures totalled $439,653,000 compared with $293,544,000 in the comparative four-month period of 1951-52. Parliament authorized defence expenditures of $2,100,000,000 in the year.

In 1951-52, Mr. Abbott budgeted for a surplus of $30,000,000 and ended with one of $240,000,000.

From April 1 to July 31 last, revenues amounted to $1,376,752,000 and expenditures to $1,041,836,000. In the corresponding period of 1951-52 revenues totalled $1,203,000,000 and expenditures $826,040,000.

In July revenues amounted to $380,400,000, an increase of $44,100,000 over the corresponding month of last year. Expenditures were $307,900,000, an increase of $29,600,000.

Finance Minister Abbott expects expenditures to increase sharply in the final months of the year.

Dangerous Criminal Caught Hunting Food

ST. LOUIS (AP)—William Merle Martin, 42, one of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's 10 most-wanted men, was captured in South St. Louis early today after he came out of the brush in search of food.

Martin's arrest came a few hours after another man on the F.B.I.'s list was captured at Texas City, Tex. Taken into custody there was Joseph Franklin Bent, Jr., 25.

Martin had been the object of a two-day search in a rough region of western St. Louis county after he fled into the fields after a car he was driving was forced off the road.

Justice Statue Draped In Black At Old Bailey

LONDON (Reuters)—The statue of justice which crowns Old Bailey, London's central criminal court, was swathed with a black shroud during the night in protest against the reprieve of a deranged child murderer.

The government last night announced that a death sentence reprieve had been granted to John Straffen, convicted child strangler. He was to hang Sept. 4.

Someone clambered 200 feet up scaffolding used for a regilding job and draped a large piece of black cloth over the statue, a woman with arms outstretched holding in one hand a sword and in the other the balances of justice.

SERVE LIFE SENTENCE

The Home Office ordered the reprieve after Straffen, 22, had been denied two pleas for appeal. He will serve a life sentence.

The shrouding reflects that nationwide controversy that has sprung up over the reprieve. Straffen murdered the girl during a brief escape from Broadmoor lunatic asylum, where he was sent last spring after being found mentally unfit to be tried for the murder of two other little girls.

The reprieve, it is understood, was not based on a belief that he is insane. A spokesman said Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, the home secretary, acted on Straffen's plea for mercy partly because Broadmoor authorities were also to blame in letting him escape.

The recommendation was sent to the Queen and its acceptance is considered automatic.

Gold Increase May Be Topic

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Australia's envoy left today for the international financial talks opening in Mexico City next Wednesday, confident that the gathering will discuss an increase in the price of gold.

Dr. Roland Wilson, secretary to the Australian Federal Treasury, told reporters he would support an increase move.

The gathering is the meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank.

Wilson said that Australia is exporting gold to the U. S. at the rate of $35,000,000 a year, and as a gold producer, Australia would stand to gain much by a price increase.

South Africa, another chief gold producer in the commonwealth, has been agitating for a price increase for years.

To Slow Down Traffic May Install Lights

If city council has the money for stop-and-go lights at Monaghan Road and Lansdowne St., a prospect discussed at the finance committee this week, it might take some of the zing out of night traffic on Lansdowne St., known as the 7-A Highway link.

The lights were proposed particularly for the benefit of rush hour motorists on Monaghan Road. It was said that they might also improve protection for the new body of students who will use that street going to and coming from Kenner Collegiate.

Malik Labels Eisenhower 'A Warmonger'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik of the Soviet Union charged today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had said he would make a "mad" arms race and the "unleashing of a third world war" the basis of his foreign policy if elected president of the United States.

Speaking to the U.N. Disarmament Commission, Mr. Malik said that Gen. Eisenhower was trying to "earn the title of warmonger." Mr. Malik said that in a speech Gen. Eisenhower made to the American Legion on Aug. 25, the Republican candidate, with "cynical candor" had let it be understood that arms and war would be the foundation of his policy if elected.

In his speech to the Legion, Gen. Eisenhower said that the U.S. must use its influence and power to help the Communist-controlled countries of Eastern Europe and Asia free themselves from Soviet mastery. The general also called for a strengthening of U.S. military power.

Jewish Delegates Meeting In Ottawa

OTTAWA—(CP) —More than 350 degelates from cities and towns across Canada began arriving in Ottawa Friday for the third national convention of the Canadian Association for Labor Israel which opens tomorrow and continue through Sept. 1.

The convention, called every four years, will plan for the 1952-53 Israel Histadrut campaign, conducted by the C.A.L.I. Funds raised are used to help build up Israel and to provide medical supplies for newcomers to the Jewish state.

Keynote speaker at the convention will be David Hacohen, member of Israel's Knesset (parliament). He is flying to Canada and is expected to arrive to-day.

Other speakers will include David Croll, Liberal member of parliament for Toronto-Spadina: Yosef Nevo, Israel's consul-general at Montreal; A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and Isaac Hamlin of New York, general secretary of the national committee for Labor Israel.

Good News For Junior May Not Get Spinach

OTTAWA (CP).—Good news for junior: There's not nearly as much chance he'll get fed spinach this winter.

The Bureau of Statistics reports that the commercial pack of canned spring spinach dropped sharply this year to 54,225 dozen containers compared with 336,586 and the net weight of spinach this year totalled only 774,647 pounds against 4,133,454 last year. This is a decline to about one-sixth of last year's production.

Ottawa Man Wins Army Driving Test

CAMP BORDEN, Ont. (CP)—Craftsman L.M. Stacey of Ottawa yesterday won a skilled - driving competition here, part of a campaign to promote safe driving in the army. He is stationed at Petawawa.

Runner-up was Pte. I.D. Bellaire of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps at Kingston. They will compete in the finals in Vancouver Sept. 12-13.

...which will best serve to promote good government at all levels."

NOT SOLUTION

The agreement did not solve Ontario's tax problem nor the municipal problem "which is, in turn, dependent on a shift of taxes and revenue from the federal government to the provinces and from the provinces to the municipalities."

Ontario's rapid growth had brought heavy new demands on provincial and municipal resources. "But in the face of this expansion, the tax structure has remained immobile and out of balance with the requirements of the provinces and municipalities."

Commenting on the agreement, national Progressive Conservative leader George Drew said it "solves nothing" other than small financial adjustments for a limited period. He said that in most respects it met the proposal he made in 1946 when he was premier of Ontario and in some respects goes beyond the province's offer then.

"It is to be hoped," Mr Drew said, "that the sweeping concessions now made by the Dominion government offer some hope of a reasonable approach to the whole question of taxation and that steps will be taken which will give to the provincial governments, and particularly to the municipal councils, sources of revenue adequate for their rapidly-increasing needs."

WELCOMES CONVERSION

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader in the Ontario legislature, said that Mr. Drew and Mr. Frost had stood in the way of Liberal demands for a tax agreement. He added that Mr. Frost's "conversion even at this late date, is to be welcomed."

The new agreement will reduce the corporation tax levy in Ontario to 52 per cent from 54 per cent when the province's seven-per-cent levy is dropped and five per cent of it is incorporated into the federal tax.

Other taxes in Ontario will remain unchanged.

The Ontario agreement, covering only personal income tax and corporation tax, differs from the agreements with the eight other provinces, which have also rented their inheritance tax fields.

The annual payments by the federal government are figured on a formula involving population and the value of gross national production.

ANNOUNCEMENT SURPRISE

The announcement at a joint press conference by Mr. Frost and Mr. Abbott came as a surprise. A few weeks ago Mr. Abbott said he did not think Ontario and Quebec would sign agreements when the other provinces were renewing theirs. The new agreements provided increased annual payments to all of them.

Mr. Abbott said he does not plan to approach Quebec's Premier Duplessis on the agreements, but will talk the matter over if the Quebec government offers to negotiate.

The agreements were begun during the Second World War to help the federal government finance its heavy expenditures. After the war the federal government proposed to continue them in the interest of a uniform tax structure and for the benefit of less industrialized provinces.

BETTER OFFER

Mr. Frost said the new tax arrangement was better than the previous offer "but we are far from convinced that it is the best arrangement that can be devised."

"Ontario has consistently sought an arrangement which would recognize fundamental differences between the provinces and meet the needs and the wishes of our sister province of Quebec and of all the provinces without, at the same time, raising the cost to the federal government."

The premier reviewed the complex background of federal-provincial discussions on personal income tax. He said the key to solving the over-all problem of tax relations between governments was that the federal government fulfill in a practical way its proposal to make available to the provinces the revenue from a personal income tax of five per cent of federal collections.

In 1946 the Dominion income tax act was amended so that Ontario—which did not enter the tax-rental agreement then—could levy a personal income tax of five per cent of federal collections in the province without raising the level of taxation. Five per cent would go to the province and 95 per cent to Ottawa.

"Ontario had hoped that the federal government would collect this personal income tax for the province as it had done from 1936 to 1941. This, they would not do. Nor would they rent this field, except as one of the components in a package agreement."

If Ontario made her own collection, Mr. Frost said, the administration costs would absorb a "considerable proportion" of the $20,000,000 obtained.

There were other difficulties in that the federal government in some cases was collecting at the source up to 99 per cent of income tax as the income was earned and the province's share would have to be rebated. These complications made it "impracticable" for the province to collect its five-per-cent share.

North Koreans Protest Action

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior Red armistice negotiator, today protested in a letter to the United Nations the death of one Communist and injury to 26 others in U. N. prison camps since Sunday.

The letter accusing the U. N. of mistreating captured Reds was delivered by staff officers to Panmunjom. U. N. officials said the letter would be forwarded to higher authorities, presumably in Tokyo.

The United States Eighth Army Friday reported that the death and an injury occurred Sunday when falling rocks set off a dynamite charge at a work site near Masan, Korea. Twenty-five prisoners were injured in brief clashes with U. N. guards.

The deadlocked truce talks are recessed until Thursday.

50 Tax Questions Will Be Discussed

TORONTO (CP)—Some 50 tax questions, including one on how high can taxes go, will be discussed here next week at the 45th annual conference of the National Tax Association.

United States tax scandals are another topic to come before the 1,000 government tax experts, representatives of private enterprise, accountants, professors and lawyers. Most of the delegates will come from the U.S., but many Canadians will also attend.

US Navy Investigate Homosexuality Case

BOSTON (AP)—The first United States Naval district said last night it is investigating reports of homosexuality involving the commanding officer of a ship and approximately 24 enlisted men at the Newport, R. I., naval base.

The Navy spokesman did not identify the individuals under investigation. He emphasized that no charges had been placed against any of the men.

Can't Afford To Cut Down Defence Plans Gregg Says

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada cannot afford to cut down on defence preparations, Labor Minister Gregg said yesterday in his annual Labor Day message.

The best that can be hoped for, he said, is for another year of international high tension. However, that need not bring major disruptions to the Canadian economy.

"But we must not become complacent," Mr. Gregg declared. "No new factor has appeared in the international scene to suggest our defence efforts could be cut back."

RENEW'S STRIKE PLEA

The minister, who suggested to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in Winnipeg last week that labor go easy on strikes during the defence-production period, made a somewhat-modified statement along the same line yesterday.

"No one knows what the coming months will bring," he said, "but of one thing we can be certain, a continuance of the spirit of responsibility and co-operation on the part of the two great partners in production (labor and management) will be essential if we are to maintain our high living standards and at the same time increase our military strength.

"That the Canadian worker will continue to accept his full share of this responsibility, as in the past, is a foregone conclusion."

OTHER MESSAGES

Labor Day messages also were issued by Percy R. Bengough, president of the 502,000-member T.L.C., and A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, which has 350,000 members.

Mr. Bengough said some Canadian laws are "class legislation" and have contributed to unemployment in the past year. The congress wanted government action to hold down "recurring unemployment which brings suffering to our people and loss of production."

The T.L.C. chief also called for the early inauguration of a national health insurance plan.

For the C.C.L., President Mosher made an appeal to bring help to under-privileged countries as a means of averting war.

"While we must be ready to defend ourselves as a nation and to associate with other nations for this purpose," he said, "defence is primarily a negative tactic. . .

"If war is to be avoided or averted, the most effective action directed towards this end is to raise the standard of living for the hundreds of millions of dispossessed peoples in backward nations."

Canada Bans Imports Of U.S. Swine

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada yesterday imposed a strict ban on imports of United States swine and pork products to prevent the introduction in Canada of an American swine infection which "closely resembles foot-and-mouth disease."

Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general, announced that the action was taken because of the prevalence in about two dozen American states of "vesicular exanthema."

He described this disease as "a highly infectious disease of swine, which if introduced into Canada could cause serious damage to the Canadian swine industry."

RESEMBLES F-M

"Vesicular exanthema closely resembles foot-and-mouth disease," he said, "but it is entirely confined to swine, whereas foot-and-mouth disease affects cattle and sheep in addition to swine."

Dr. Childs, who played a hand in the stamping out of foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan, said Canada has never had an outbreak of vesicular exanthema.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ANNIE S. O'CONOR-FENTON

Mrs. Annie S. O'Conor-Fenton, widow of Rev. T. J. O'Conor-Fenton, formerly rector of Christ Church (Anglican), Norwood, died at Trenton Memorial Hospital Friday. The family was quite well known in Peterborough.

Surviving members of the family, daughters Dulcie and Leonie, and sons Charles and Osmond. One other son Nigel is deceased.

The service will be at Trinity Church, Colborne, Monday at 11 a.m., and burial in the afternoon at St. George's Church, Grafton.

ERNEST J. PARKER

Born in Peterborough, and a veteral of two world wars, Ernest J. Parker, 57, died on Friday in Sunnybrook Hospital, near Toronto, after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Parker was a son of Mr. Thomas J. Parker, Lakefield, and the late Mr. Parker. A member of St. Luke's Church in Sudbury, Mr. Parker served with the 93rd Battalion in the First World War, and also served in the Second World War. For the past three years he has been treated at Sunnybrook.

He moved to Sudbury about 20 years ago, where he was employed with the National Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Mr. Parker married twice, the first time to the former Elizabeth McCarthy, who died five years ago, and later to the former Kathleen Wells, who survives.

Surviving are his wife, one son Thomas J. of Sudbury, three daughters, Mrs. J. Korenhan (Marion) of Finland, Mrs. William Doughty (Doris), London, Ont., and Mrs. Earl Corbett (Clara) of Marysville, Mich.; one brother Fred K. Parker, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; three sisters, Mrs. M. H. Moher (Laura), Toronto, Mrs. J. Gordon Bastedo (Isabelle), Toronto, and Mrs. William R. O'Brien (Buddy), Lakefield, and seven grandchildren. A second son William was killed in an acident two years ago.

The body will be sent to Sudbury after a short funeral service in Toronto today for burial.

JAMES SHEARER

A native of Otonabee Township James Shearer died in a Vancouver hospital Monday. He was 65.

Mr. Shearer was the youngest son of the late Andrew Shearer and Chrirstina Stark. He was educated in the Sixth Line Public School in Otonabee Township, and went to British Columbia in 1909.

He enlisted in Vancouver in the First World War, served overseas, and in the Second World War he served with the Veterans' Guard in this country.

He is survived by three brothers and two sisters: William Shearer of Otonabee, John of Edmonton, and Christopher of Spokane, Washington, and Mrs. Agnes McIntyre and Miss Alice Shearer of Otonabee.

The funeral was held in Vancouver on Wednesday.

Casualties For U.N. Reach 262,421

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Casualty figures for United Nations forces in Korea are climbing steadily, reflecting bitter fighting waged during the deadlocked truce talks, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Dead and wounded for the 17-country force now total 262,421, an increase of 29,288 since April. Over-all casualty figures, including dead, wounded and missing, total 384,609.

The April survey—based on figures supplied by delegates of countries fighting in Korea—gave total casualties as 419,456. South Korean officials since have revised their list of missing, dropping 63,000 from the April roll.

The South Korean figures do not include the hundreds of thousands of civilians that have fallen victim to the war.

In comparison with the U. N. totals, the last United States army estimate of Communist Chinese and North Korean military casualties —issued in June—gave an over-all figure of 1,623,404. There was no attempt to break this down into dead, wounded and missing, however.

KOREA HAS MOST

The Republic of Korea has had the most dead and wounded of any of the U. N. countries—37,167 dead, 112,427 wounded.

The U. S. is next with 18,301 dead and 85,298 wounded, based on this week's defence department report. The U. S. also lists 1,611 known prisoners and 11,042 missing, bringing its current casualty total of 116,252. This is an increase of 1,403 U. S. killed and 7,062 wounded since the April tabulation.

Here are the latest available figures for the 15 other U. N. members in Korea:

Britain—total casualties 3,250: 513 dead, 1,601 wounded, 939 prisoners, 197 missing.

Turkey—total 2,560: 516 dead, 1,645 wounded, 234 prisoners, 167 missing.

Canada—total 951: 173 dead, 768 wounded, one prisoner, nine missing.

Australia—total 921: 187 dead, 707 wounded, 27 missing.

France—total 896: 150 dead, 740 wounded, six missing.

Thailand—total 615: 64 dead, 547 wounded, four missing.

Netherlands—total 402: 88 dead, 310 wounded, three prisoners, one missing.

Greece—total 344: 96 dead, 247 wounded, one missing.

Philippines—total 333: 59 dead, 219 wounded, 16 prisoners, 39 missing.

Colombia—total 182: 50 dead, 132 wounded.

Ethiopia—total 176: 37 dead, 139 wounded.

Belgium-Luxembourg—total 172: 35 dead, 134 wounded, three missing.

New England—total 64; 17 dead, 46 wounded, one prisoner.

South Africa—total 33; 10 dead, four prisoners, 19 missing.

Sailors Lose Comic Books

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sailors whose literary taste runs to comic books today found their source of supply restricted.

Seven comic books, assailed as "designed to undermine morale," have been placed on a list by the 12th naval district, which advised officers to keep them out of the hands of susceptible sailors.

A Navy spokesman described the banned books as "stressing fear," but not necessarily subversive.

He cited as an example one comic showing two servicemen on a grave-digging detail. One says to the other, "all I've done since I'm out here in Korea is bury my buddies." The other replies, "better than being shot at the front."

Florida Posting Hurricane Warnings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane warnings were hoisted along a 250-mile stretch of Atlantic coastline between Fernandina, Fla., and Georgetown, S.C., today for a dangerous Atlantic hurricane moving slowly toward land.

The centre of the savage tropical disturbance was located about 110 miles east of St. Augustine, Fla., at 10 a.m. EDT.

It was moving slowly northwestward at about 10 miles an hour, packing winds of 80 to 90 miles an hour.

The advisory warned that "this is an emergency" and said tersely:

"All interests on the Georgia and South Carolina coasts should take immediate hurricane precautions."

MOVIE PRODUCER — Britain's only woman film producer, blonde 36-year-old Betty Box, is in Canada to study possible film locations in Alberta. She will try to find authentic scenic backgrounds for a forthcoming movie on the Albertan oilfields, "Campbell's Kingdom." The picture will be in technicolor and all outdoor scenes will be shot in Canada. Miss Box said Canadian artistic and technical talent will be used as much as possible.

Percy W.I. Hears Of Canada's Future

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The regular monthly meeting of the Percy Branch of the Women's Institute was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. George McCubbin and Mrs. J. Scarrow as co-hostesses.

The guest speaker was Mrs. R. D. Hurst of Toronto, choosing for her topic "Canada, today and tomorrow.

Mrs. George McCubbin was the Historical Research convener. The motto used was "He that knows only his own generation remains a child."

It was decided to send $12 to the District Secretary for A. C.-W. W. pins.

It was also decided to enter as a group exhibit at the Warkworth Fair this fall.

Say Injured Child In Fair Condition

TORONTO (CP)—Janice Brannigan, 6, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, is in fair condition after spending a restless night, hospital officials here said today.

Police said the girl ran into a truck near her home Thursday night and suffered head injuries and a broken leg. She was brought here yesterday in an ambulance that reached 80 and 90-mile-an-hour speeds.

apparently grounded on a water pipe and caused no further damage. There was no fire.

CHIMNEY KNOCKED OFF

Edwin Little's home on Wallace St., had a chimney knocked off and the bolt went into a bathroom. It followed along the wet roof to an eavestrough, and along it into the bathroom. It tore out electrical fixtures, ripped tiled from the walls and filled the home with a blue haze. Stove pipe stoppers were blown out of place and sparks flew from electrical outlets and the kitchen range but there was no fire.

Mrs. Little and her son Donald, 8, remained in the house although they were badly frightened by the lightning and its spectacular after effects.

A radio and the table on which it was sitting were burned at the home of Oscar Rannie in Seymour East. The bolt apparently entered through the hydro wires. There were no flames and no other damage.

At the corner of Bridge St. and Grand Road, R. J. MacLaren, a druggist, noticed a huge red ball of flame which appeared to originate among the wires at the top of a hydro pole at the corner. The ball of flame descended quickly to the sidewalk, where it hit with a loud explosion, like an exploding electric light bulb.

Old timers regard the storm as one of the worst that has ever hit the Campbelford area in recent years.

Rowboat Sinks Three Drowned

MONTREAL (CP)—Three men were believed to have been drowned last night when their rowboat sprang a leak and overturned in the St. Lawrence river.

Andre Gilineau, 22, who was with the men and was rescued later said the four were rowing to Laprairie, across the river from Montreal, when the boat capsized. Two of the men disappeared into the river while the third clung to the craft for an hour before giving up.

Gilineau himself hung on to the boat for three hours before he was picked up by a passing motor cruiser.

He said the men with him were D. Gesgroseillers, Henri Lagace and a third man of about 60 whose name he did not know.

Col. Cosgrave Goes To Lisbon As Counsellor

VANCOUVER (CP)—A walking advertisement for Canada has gone to Lisbon as the new Canadian commercial counsellor in the Portuguese capital.

Col. Lawrence Moore Cosgrave, former gunnery officer, served overseas in the First World War and since 1922 has worked for the Department of trade and commerce in many places, chiefly in the Far East.

For the last three years he had resided here as a foreign trade counsellor, and his new appointment takes him to Europe for the first time since 1924 when he was the Canadian government trade commissioner at the Wembley Exhibition in England.

Of his enforced absences from Canada he said here: "You go into the service with the idea of serving Canada, and when you've done that you can retire with the feeling you've done your bit to help the country you love most."

As Canadian military commissioner in the southwest Pacific during the Second World War, Col. Cosgrave signed the Japanese surrender for Canada—and thereby hangs a tale.

Each delegate signed two copies of the surrender document—one for Japan and one for the United Nations. The signature was to go on a line provided above the name of the signer's country. Col. Cosgrave somenow lapsed and signed underneath instead of above.

The next three delegates carried the error through as their turns came to sign. When the document was delivered by an aide to Mamour Shigemitsu, Japanese Foreign Minister, the Japanese noticed the error. After considerable discussion, Lt.-Gen. Walter Sutherland, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of staff, leaned over the table and laboriously ran two strokes of his fountain pen through the names of the four countries above the misplaced signatures. Gravely, he wrote the countries in below. The Japanese accepted the corrected document and peace became an official reality.

Previous to his stint as military commissioner, Col. Cosgrave was appointed trade commissioner to Shanghai, where he also served as group commander of the International Volunteer Corps which kept order there.

NOT ON THE PROGRAM—Spectators at the Red Sox-Athletics game in Philadelphia's Shibe Park got some added excitement as Boston catcher Sammy White and Philadelphia infielder Billy Hitchcock tangle on the ground near home plate in a furious fist fight and wrestling match. Surrounding the battlers are (left to right) Lou Boudreau (4); Ferris Fain (hands on hips); Tom Oliver, A's third baseman; umpire Bill McGowan; and Athletic catcher Ray Murray, being restrained by Red Sox hurler Willard Nixon (21).

30 Douk Women Demand Menfolk Freed

NELSON, B. C. (CP)—Freedom for imprisoned Sons of Freedom demonstrators was demanded yesterday by 30 Doukhobor women who remained clothed all the time they were gathered in front of R. C. M. P. headquarters here.

They also charged that their imprisoned menfolk were being shoddily treated in jail and said they were tired of waiting for the British Columbia government to find them a new home in another country.

Police said the gathering, for all its bitterness, was without the stripping, waving commonly associated with protest meetings by members of the strange sect.

Nobody was arrested and the women returned to their homes at nightfall after what they called a "day of protest" on the lawns in front of the police building.

GET SAME TREATMENT

The R. C. M. P. sent a radiogram to penitentiary officials at New Westminster, B. C., after the women refused to move. Then they read them the answer they received—that Sons of Freedom prisoners were getting the same treatment as other inmates.

There is but a handful of Sons of Freedom demonstrators still in the penitentiary, 24 of the more than 400 who packed the institution after a series of torch raids and nude parades in the spring of 1950.

Four months ago the Consultative Committee on Doukhobor Problems recommended that the 2,000 Sons of Freedom be relocated in another country. But so far neither the committee nor their leader, Stefan Sorokin, has been able to find a nation which will take the Sons.

The Sons of Freedom sect was formed in a breakaway from the orthodox and law abiding Doukhobors, who greatly outnumber the fanatics. Among other things, the Sons object to man-made laws and are opposed to formal education.

Since 1924, there have been more than 400 instances of arson or dynamiting in B. C., the majority involving Doukhobor property only.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Bouchey, Campbell Collide For Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wise-cracking, cigar-chewing Larry Bouchey, a blonde California giant, today takes on immaculate quiet-spoken Bill Campbell of West Virginia in the final 36-hole trek for the Canadian amateur golf championship.

It is the first all-American final since 1929 and the first time in three years the title has gone south of the border.

Lumbering Larry, six feet, five inches and 220 pounds, squeezed out his third one up victory in a row yesterday on the forest-ringed Capilano course in West Vancouver to reach the final. His victim over the 36-hole route was Ed Meister, Cleveland advertising man.

HALTS LATE RALLY

Campbell, U.S. Walker Cup player from Huntington, W. Va., built a five-hole lead over silent Sam Urzetta of Rocher, N.Y., U.S. amateur champion in 1950, and finally put down a late rally to win 3 and 2.

The two finalists couldn't be less alike. The 27-year-old Inglewood, Calif., bill collector has a wisecrack for the gallery on every stroke, good or bad. He is constantly practising his swing between shots, even on the greens.

Campbell, 29-year-old former West Virginia state legislator who failed this year in a bid for Congress, is meticulous and subdued. On the first tee yesterday, he stopped his backswing when he heard a camera click and said to the referee: "I want to know if this is going to happen all the way round." It didn't.

About 1,500 fans turned out for yesterday's semi-final and officials expected about 2,000 today. If there had been a Canadian in the final, the gallery might have reached 5,000, tournament officials said.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Blast Saskatchewan Roughriders 27-9

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The football competition out west is proving as rugged as everyone forecast.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers came down east this month and in a series of exhibition games mangled three of the Big Four teams, including the Canadian champion Ottawa Rough Riders.

Last night, the Bombers, somewhat frayed at the edges, won their first contest of the young Western Interprovincial Football Union season walloping Saskatchewan Roughriders 27-9. The victory, at Winnipeg, gave the Blue Bombers a win, a tie and a loss in three starts, moving them into second place behind Calgary Stampeders.

Pacing Winnipeg to its triumph was second-string quarterback Joe (Black Magic) Zaleski, understudy for Indian Jack Jacobs. Zaleski was in the signal calling spot for all but three minutes and his inspired play in the final quarters after the Bombers were down 9-8 at the three-quarter mark brought them out on top.

Len Meitzer, hard-running product of Winnipeg junior ranks, ran up 10 points on two majors. Flying wing Buddy Korchak was right behind him with nine points on a touchdown and four converts. Outside wing Mel Embree picked up the other major. Riders' lone major came from Mike Maruska.

That game opened the week-end action in the west, which will be continued tonight with Edmonton Eskimos meeting the Stampeders in Calgary and on Labor Day when Winnipeg goes to Regina and Calgary takes on the Eskimos in Edmonton.

Back east the Big Four prepared for the first league game between the perennial rivals, Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, on Labor Day in Hamilton. The league opened last Wednesday when Ottawa beat Montreal Alouettes 32-28.

The east's other senior loop, the Ontario Rugby Football Union, opens tonight with Toronto Balmy Beach playing against Brantford Redskins. On Monday Balmy Beach takes on Sarnia Imperials while Windsor Royals encounter Brantford at night.

FORMER COACH—J. Percy Page, of Edmonton, famed basketball coach, stepped from one career into another when he retired this summer after 40 years teaching. He re-entered Alberta politics as a Progressive Conservative and was elected to the Legislature from Edmonton in the August 5 provincial election—one of two Conservatives elected. An Independent member of the legislature from 1940 to 1948 and principal of a commercial high school, Mr. Page is best known as the coach of the Edmonton Grads basketball team, an aggregation of high school girls which won four Olympic titles and held a near-monopoly on international women's basketball championships for almost 25 years. The team disbanded in 1940.

Predicts S. Africa Has Most Uranium

MAFEKING, South Africa (Reuters)—Mines Minister Johannes Viljoen said today South Africa will begin to produce uranium next month and will be the world's biggest producer when production is in full swing.

He said uranium mining will be almost as great an asset to the union in the future as gold production has been in the past.

Addressing a nationalist party meeting, Viljoen said production details will be kept secret for the present.

South Africa has signed contracts with Britain and the United States to dispose of the uranium.

Spinster's Spite

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Married women are no match for the unmarried when it comes to throwing rolling-pins, it was indicated at the Cape Breton county farmers' picnic. Miss Florence McKeigan almost knocked the head off a "dummy" man to win the contest.

HUNT BUFFALO BOSS

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Freddie Hunt, Buffalo Bisons right winger who coached the team for the last month of the 1951-52 season, yesterday was named general manager of the American Hockey League club.

Hunt, a native of Brantford succeeds Art Chapman who resigned. Hunt said he would announce his succession as coach shortly.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting: Jim Busby, Senators—clouted two-run homer, his first of the season, in ninth inning to lead Washington to a 3-2 victory over New York.

Pitching: Warren Hacker, Cubs—pitched Chicago to a 4-1, four-hit triumph over Brooklyn for his 12th victory.

JUNIOR CHAMP — Lea Windsor, of Halifax, won the 1952 Canadian Junior Golf Championship at Vancouver's Capilano course. The 18-year-old Maritimer shot rounds of 75 and 77, three strokes better in the 36-hole event than John McClung, of Edmonton, and Jerry Knechtel, of Kitchener, who tied for second place.

Engine Noise Cut On Plane

MONTREAL (CP)—Merlin William MacLeod, a stocky Scotsman who once carved an aircraft propeller out of a fence post, chalked up his latest triumph when someone shouted "quiet, please."

MacLeod is head man at development shop of Trans-Canada Air Lines, where he devises gadgets for improvements to aircraft. The latest device took three years of work, an engineering marvel know as a "cross-over exhaust" which is said to halve engine noise.

This development, applied to the big North Star airplanes used on trans-Atlantic and cross-Canada routes, is the high spot in Mac's career. He started in the early days of auto racing, developed in the rugged field of bush flying and continued in the highly-specialized era of passenger transport.

The first racing car he built developed amazing surges of power, but his wife was not enthusiastic. He switched to bush flying where the fence-post propeller was carved after a faulty landing.

In one crash in the Manitoba wilds both his legs were broken and the pilot was severely injured. Despite his own injuries, Mac doctored and bandaged the pilot while both awaited rescue.

Things aren't quite so rugged for Mac these days, but he's busy as ever.

Crowded By Truck Hit Parked Car

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS).—About $85 damage resulted on Friday at noon, when a small English model cvar, driven by Norma Davis, 20, of Campbellford, struck the rear of a car parked at the curb.

The smaller car had made a turn off Bridge Street on to Front Street, and the driver claims she was forced to hit the parked car when she was crowded by a large truck going south on Front Street. No one apparently saw the truuck, and the driver could give police only a sketchy description of it.

The English model car received about $70 damage to the front fender, while the rear of the other car, owned by Alex Mahoney of Campbellford, was damaged to the extent of about $15.

Constable W. E. Cargan investigated.

Tommy Farr, Welshman who wasn't supposed to have a chance, stunned experts with his plucky 15-round showing against Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, at New York 15 years ago tonight. The champion had little difficulty winning the decision, but he couldn't knock out the rugged Farr.

Sunspot Flares Bombard Earth Ultraviolet Light

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will make a new try at unlocking the mystery of sunspots, a subject that has fascinated and puzzled the people of the earth for centuries.

The dark patches on the blazing face of the sun are known to stir up various influences on this planet 90,000,000 miles away. But scientists have never figured just how much they are responsible for such effects as climate and insect plagues.

Long-range studies now being launched by the Dominion Observatory may produce new evidence.

Astronomers will turn their 80-foot solar telescope on the superheated "flares" that leap out momentarily from the sunspot areas. The flares bombard the earth with ultraviolet light and electrically-charged particles that throw many terrestrial activities out of normal.

A flare patrol is being set up to catch the vagrant flashes by hitching a movie camera to the telescope. It will take a shot every three minutes while the sun is showing.

Without a mechanical watch like that nothing much can be done to record the flares, which last only a few minutes and have been likened to solar lightning bolts. They are relatively small by comparison with the dark sunspot areas, which sometimes extend 150,000 miles across.

Though the flares throw out the emanations affecting earthly matters, only recently have they come in for attention. The more visible sunspots have been an absorbing topic for the ancients and moderns alike.

A Chinese observer, Ma Twa Lin, reported in 1880 A.D. the appearance of a "bird shaped" fleck on the sun, apparently a cluster of spots. The old Chinese had more than 100 records of them, tying them in with the deaths of emperors and other important personages.

More modern observers link the spots with a wide range of other phenomena. Charts kept over many years show a relationship between their cycles of roughly 11 years and such things as storms, rainfall, lake and river levels, tree growth, disease cycles and the cycles of animal and insect life on earth.

Some have gone so far as to hook them up with stock market variations and the marriage rate.

AFFECT MANY THINGS

Dr. Ralph E. DeLury, former assistant Dominion astronomer in charge of solar physics, made a long study of these relationships and concuuded the spots do affect a wide variety of natural phenomena on the earth. He found they exert a "profound influence on terrestrial affairs."

Because of the way they hit and affect organic things, he reasoned, they must also affect economic conditions. For instance, an 85-year study of commodity prices in the United Kingdom showed a "response" to the spot cycle.

How the sunspots and their flares accomplish all this is still a matter for speculation, though there appears to be a ready explanation for one of their disturbances—the way they play hob with radio reception.

The theory is that, after their 26-hour journey to the earth, the charged particles from the flares punch holes in the ionosphere, the high layer that bounces back radio waves. The waves leak out into space through the holes instead of coming back to earth.

Left Out Of The Message

The Labour Day message of President A. R. Mosher of the Canadian Congress of Labour deals thoughtfully with broad national issues. It is well that organized labour is taking a superior, general view, since it is numerically the biggest consolidated voice in the country. In today's world, Labour cannot and should not confine its interests and activities to narrow questions of wage rates and employee benefits. These do not exist in a vacuum; they are hedged, conditioned and touched by other aspects of Canadian life and economy. As the arm belongs to the man, so working wages and conditions are part of the whole body politic and social.

* * *

Mr. Mosher recognizes that the issue of war or peace is bound to have "the greatest effect upon the lives of individuals and the history of nations." He writes of the "immense amounts of money . . . being spent in atomic research and in fantastic bombing planes, jet-propelled and radar equipped."

> "The financial burden of armaments detrimentally affects the standard of living throughout the world, and prevents the workers and the people from enjoying the benefits of the great advances in production which have been made in the industrialized countries."

One of the difficulties in a situation of this kind, says Mr. Mosher, is to think clearly, to examine the possibilities of establishing world peace, and to find practical methods of attaining it. "It is obvious that this ought to be the chief concern of governments and people in every land." One of the ways, the Canadian Congress of Labour believes, is to end exploitation of backward peoples and to increase their living standards, through such schemes as the Colombo Plan. We are glad to note that the C.C.L., through the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, is itself contributing money and goods to improve conditions in Southeast Asia.

* * *

Mr. Mosher also deals briefly with what the C.C.L. calls the "barbaric and persistent challenge of Communism to our civilization." What Mr. Mosher leaves out in his Labour Day message is direct reference to Canadian conditions; we might have expected him to touch at least on the Canadian economy and Labour's relation to it, especially when these seem again to be diving headlong into the wages of inflation. What has Labour to say on Monday's anniversary about such a basic matter as production and the high cost of living? Perhaps it is saying things behind closed doors, as new negotiations for wage increases are taking place.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler, said something pertinent last July about the direct effect of wage increases on the cost of living:

> "If ten million workers had an average wage rise of £1 a week, the cost of living would rise by about 2s. 4d. a head a week, or 9s. 4d. a week for a family of four. This probably underestimates what would really happen, because it does not reckon wage claims which would be made by another 10 million workers and the serious effects on industrial capital costs."

It would have interested us and all Canadians very much if Mr. Mosher had chosen to put into his Labour Day message an analysis such as this regarding the effect of further wage increases to the four million Canadians employed in business and industry. Wage rates are the decisive element in Canada's export prices (and the gravy to every Canadian meal is provided by our exports). Wage rates are the decisive element in the cost of living in Canada. What has Mr. Mosher to say about these wages of inflation?

* * *

It is a striking fact that generally organized labour and Union leaders are mum on the effect of higher wages on costs, yet it is Labour which is the chief domestic purchasers of the goods which high labour costs produce. It is the young man in the factory and the old man at the bench who pay the high price for lumber, rental houses, refrigerators, cars, furniture, clothing, paint, wallpaper, plumbing, meat; for labour is the chief buyer of the products of labour.

* * *

It is a windpot's tale that profits make prices high. It is high wages that make prices high. This is shown by the books of any company. Let us take just one example (in a company from which the Packinghouse Workers have just extracted higher wages and more costly 'benefits'). Canada Packers annual report for 1952 shows that net profit for the year amounted to one-half of one percent. of the total sales. Wages and salaries amounted to 7.34 percent. of the sales. Even taxes played a relatively insignificant part, taking six-tenths of one percent. of the total sales value.

* * *

In assuming its place and making its voice heard in general national and international affairs organized labour must also account to itself and to the country for its place in domestic affairs, and its effect on them. Everybody likes high pay (for himself), and since it is men and machines which produce the goods of the country, labour should have a fair share of that wealth. But what if there is none left to provide the machines, or if the wealth is dissipated by inflation? Last February the average weekly wages paid to hourly-rated wage-earners employed by the leading Canadian manufacturing establishments reached a new peak of $52.79, compared with $47.76 in February 1951, $43.87 in 1950, and $20.14 in 1939. How high can the wages of inflation go before they become the wages of calamity? How much real benefit do wage increases bring? Is the young married worker today, earning $52.79 a week able to afford as good a house as the young married worker did in 1939, earning half as much? Can he afford to pay the costs of building any house today? Can Labour afford its own wages?

Ontario Keeps Rent Controls

The emphasis given in some newspaper headlines to the rent control figures released yesterday was entirely misplaced. "708 Ontario Municipalities Slated For Rent Decontrol In March." Such a headline is misleading, although the figure is accurate. It makes one think that almost all the municipalities in Ontario are dead set against rent controls and have demanded that they be rescinded. That implication is wrong on two counts. Nearly all cities and towns have requested, or acceded to the Department's suggestion of continued rent controls.

When the Federal Government delegated rent controls to the Provinces, Ontario continued them. Several months ago it wrote the 900-odd municipalities to ask whether they wished rent controls continued or stopped. Only 49 of the 923 bothered to answer at all; the rest were quite satisfied with the decisions made on their behalf by the Queen's Park committee. Thus for the majority of municipalities, rent control is a dead issue; only by default are they to be 'decontrolled.' But the majority of municipalities in Ontario are by no means the majority of people in Ontario. Overall, the people, expressing themselves through their Councils, want rent controls continued.

Of the 923 municipalities in Ontario, only 29 are cities and 149 are towns. These are the places most concerned about rents. Some of the Province's 159 villages have rental problems, particularly those within commuting range of larger centres of population. But most of the 923 Ontario municipalities, being townships, never had, have not now, and never will have, problems about rents. There is no shortage of houses in them, and most are farming communities. So we can write off any consideration of about 700 municipalities; this number in fact almost coincides with the startling headline figure '708 Ontario Municipalities Slated For Decontrol.' They never had controls that amounted to a tinker's dam. What about the rest?

Every city in Ontario except Chatham and Stratford (both of which may have forgotten to do it or have not yet made up their minds) has asked that controls be continued. Every town in Ontario has asked that controls be continued, except Leaside, Forest Hill Village, Port Credit and Parry Sound, and perhaps one or two others.

This district is a sample of the situation across the Province: Peterborough, Oshawa, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay, Havelock, Norwood and Belleville will all continue to have rent controls. (Millbrook will have no controls unless it requests them before March.) On the other hand the whole of Haliburton will be released from them. The fact is, it is only such thinly populated areas as Haliburton which will have no controls. In these, controls were never essential because there were no acute housing shortages. And so, Ontario continues to have rent controls for an indefinite period.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The weather this week tempted us to adopt the uniform of President Peron's "descamisados" (shirtless ones).

Five workmen at Whitby claim to have seen three flying apples with tails. That won't alarm anyone, says the Windsor Star, unless it turns out the apples were Spies. Or, we add, (Mackintosh) Reds.

The Kitchener-Waterloo Record waxes lyrical over quilting and other old-fashioned bees, particularly the "jolly paring bee." The apple of our memory's eye is the jolly pairing bee.

It was thought that removing a part of the brain of a thief would cure him of thievery, but the experiment didn't work. Perhaps removing the remainder of his brain might prove effective.

Eisenhower And Soviet Congress

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S STATEMENT that the American people should, "with cold finality", indicate to the Kremlin that they recognise no permanence in the present divisions of Europe and Asia and will not rest until "aggressive Communism" has retreated beyond the frontiers of the Soviet Union, comes at a very interesting moment in the history of East-West relations. It comes at a moment when there is an accumulation of signs suggesting that Stalin is considering the advantages of an armistice in the cold war.

✧ ✧ ✧

LATELY, in the Soviet Party journals, there has been more than one suggestion that Moscow has decided to desist in its provocations, consolidate its gains, achieve some sort of a coexisting agreement with the West, and devote itself to building up the strength of the Soviet Union. Signor Nenni (leader of the fellow-travelling Italian Socialist Party) in a recent speech hinted at the same idea. The instructions to the French Communist Party to go easy and revive the spirit of the popular front point in the same direction. The calling of the nineteenth Party Congress for October itself marks the end of a chapter in Soviet history. The increased urgency and ruthlessness in the drive to Sovietise the East European satellites again suggests that Stalin is more immediately concerned with strengthening the Soviet sphere than in weakening the outside world. All things considered, it will not be surprising if, at the Party Congress in October, the Kremlin puts a new stress on the doctrine to live and let live, acknowledging a deadlock in the conflict between East and West, and ushering in a new period in the spirit of "Socialism in One Country"—with the difference that this time it will be Socialism in several countries.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS AT THIS MOMENT, and without waiting to see what the nineteenth Party Congress will bring forth, that General Eisenhower has come out with the most downright statement of cold war aims yet uttered by a responsible leader of opinion in the West. Whether he spoke to the American Legion as he did simply within the narrow framework of the Presidential election, or whether he has taken note of the signs coming out of Moscow, it is impossible to say. But whatever the reason, it is one of those statements which raise more questions than they answer.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNTIL NOW the broad aim of the Western Powers has been to put up a barrier to further expansion of Moscow Communism and to avoid a global war. The whole aim of Marshall Aid and Western rearmament has been to remove the danger of the Soviet Union attacking a weakened Europe and so embroiling the world in war. What has not been asked what happens next. What, in a word, will be done when the Western system is so water-tight, morally and materially, that Stalin would not dare attack even if he wanted to. General Eisenhower has answered that the United States will not rest until aggressive Communism has been pushed back inside the borders of the Soviet Union. And he is referring to China as well Europe.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS IS A LITTLE like Stalin himself saying that he will not rest until aggressive capitalism has been swept back behind the borders of the U.S.A. Stalin does not like capitalism and he regards the British form of Socialism as nothing more than the hanger-on of capitalism. Eisenhower does not like Communism. So what?

✧ ✧ ✧

IN DECIDING what the West is to do next, there should be some consideration of what the world looks like "from the other side of the hill." Loathing of Communism is very much confused with loathing of Stalin's methods of government: the free use of the security police; the wholesale deportations; the starving of the bourgeoisie out of existence; the uninhibited employment of judicial murder. But Stalin, as a statesman, takes his own methods for granted. He sees a picture of the world in which certain obstacles have to be overcome, certain opposed interests eliminated, before he can get his way. Police terror is his own natural method of getting his way. The West has other methods of getting its way: the most effective in the past has been a wide range of what might be called financial blackmail, employed with more or less elegance, with more or less benevolence, in the interests of its own system, and many Soviet Communists do so argue, that in the long run the adoption of the Soviet system will benefit, say, Rumania, even if many people get badly hurt in the process of adoption whereas the continuation of the capitalist system, which meant that Russia was largely run by capitalist interests outsidt the country, would never benefit the Rumanians even if it were less immediately brutal in its application and effect.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FREE WORLD, before saying that it will not rest while Communism remains outside the Soviet Union, should ask what this interesting proposition involves; Stalin will certainly be asking that question. Supposing, for example, that in due course the Soviet Union and the Western Powers were to withdraw their troops from Germany and Austria (this has already been suggested as far as Germany is concerned in the latest Soviet Note), the Soviet Union would have no pretext for keeping her troops along the lines of communication in the East European satellites. She would withdraw—unless the satellites invited her to stay. She would leave behind her a number of states with strong Communist governments, backed by powerful local police forces, controlling peoples from whom the brave and active oppositions had been ruthlessly purged. They would, on the face of it, be sovereign governments, in close alliance with the Soviet Union. They might even invite the Kremlin to establish and garrison bases in their territories—as Britain and France have invited the United States of America to do the same. Given this situation, what is the West supposed to do? Is it to declare war on Rumania because she has a Communist government in close alliance with the Soviet Union? Is war to be declared on the Soviet Union because she has allies to whom she lays down the law? Or is the West to declare war simply because the government of Rumania is Communist? If so, ought not war to be declared on Yugoslavia, too?

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE ARE THE SORT of questions that will be asked in the Kremlin; they must be asked in the free world as well. The position of the West is more complicated than it appears at first sight, and Stalin is well aware of these complications and ready to exploit them to the full.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE SEEMS to be only one conclusion to be drawn. Sooner or later the East European satellites, as China now, will be left as sovereign States bound only by ties of interest to the Soviet Union. One cannot say how they will develop; one cannot say whether in time, all, or some, will become so acclimatised to the now hated way of life that they will perpetuate the system imposed on them, or whether all or some will revolt against it.

One hopes they will revolt against it. It is the business of the West to make the non-Communist sector of the world so strong, morally and physically, that if, for example, the Czechs decided to break with the Soviet Union, the free world would, so to speak, be in a position to support them. The West may even put pressures on the Soviet bloc calculated to disrupt it. If this is what General Eisenhower meant by saying that the American people will not rest, well and good. But, it seems an unnecessarily dramatic way of stating a truism. Without a war, the West cannot do more; at the same time, it cannot do less.

The Western Powers are trying to avoid a war, without giving away more than they have done in the past. If the Kremlin shows signs of responding to their new strength by seeking to ease the cold war, the Western Powers should take every possible advantage of the situation. But if the West commits itself to aims that may not be obtainable without going to war, it will be tying its hands in advance.

PETERBOROUGH HIGHLIGHTS: photographic study by C. Selby Rickards

Letters To The Editor

KIND WORDS OF PRAISE

Sir: Last month it was my pleasure to travel in Canada for two weeks. We spent the night at a very excellent Motel. We purchased a copy of your newspaper, The Peterborough Examiner. My wife and I were immediately impressed by the dignified and interesting presentation of the news We remarked that a large part of the paper contained worthwhile reading for the average public as well as for the more discriminating reader. In comparison with the dozens of newspapers which we have read for the past few years, including well-established city journals, I find that the Examiner of your city stands out second to none. It was a pleasure to read your paper, and it resulted in a feeling of being well-informed.

We were very well impressed by the appearance of your city; we found it clean; the citizens seemed to be staunch, respectable and well-dressed.

I would like to add that I am not wont to write letters to the Editor of any kind. This, I believe, is the first letter which I have written to "the Editor". This being added, only to prove that my impression of the value of your paper, is very strong.

Excelsior.

Very sincerely,
E. A. RESWEBER,
Administrative Assistant and Assistant Professor of French
Wayne University,
Detroit, Michigan.

COUNCIL'S HOUSE IN ORDER?

Sir: Your editorial and news items in regard to the diversion of heavy truck traffic from No. 28 to No. 7-A has been very interesting and you are to be commended for them.

May I please make these comments?

1. I would sympathise with your City Council in their feelings toward the lack of co-operation of the staff of the Department of Highways Engineer if I were sure that their own house was in order in this respect: It would be nice to see and hear of Ald. Rehill demonstrating similar co-operation towards the Council of North Monaghan township by demanding in council that the health menace created by the city of Peterborough dump be completely eliminated. Or is this too much to expect?

2. For your information the Department of Highways Engineer has recently paid attention to this junction of the highways with respect to:

(a). Elimination of the hazardous condition (without cutting down the hill).

(b). The removal of the Department of Highways sand pile—one of their own self created eye-sores on an otherwise beautiful highway.

Furthermore, such action was initiated through Mr. Scott.

3. Residents along No. 7-A are perturbed about the speed of trucks and the unnecessary noise created by them. There seems to be little effort made by police to control the speed past the junction and down the long hill. The noise, we understand, is controllable by type and size of exhaust—to what extent these are controlled by law I do not know. It would seem reasonable to request that some official interest be taken in this matter.

Yours very truly,
INTERESTED.
R.R. 5, Peterborough.

Kon-Tiki

(Manchester Guardian)

Mr. Thor Heyerdahl's book on the "Kon-Tiki Expedition" is one of the classical adventure stories of our time, and his book deserved its immense popularity. But Mr. Heyerdahl had a serious purpose. He wanted to prove a theory—that Polynesia could have been peopled by daring mariners from the Americas. Now there is published (by Allen and Unwin) a missive book of 836 pages, "American Indians in the Pacific," in which he sets out his thesis and the evidence for it.

It is not a subject on which the layman will care to dogmatise. It touches many branches of knowledge—ethnology, anatomy, comparative religion, linguistics, navigation, botany. The specialists must wrestle with it and meet Mr. Heyerdahl on his own ground.

But it is a very interesting controversy. There is much that is fascinating in the argument that the neolithic peoples whom the white settlers met when they discovered Oceania were themselves originally migrants—from a stone-age culture such as existed in pre-Inca Peru and in British Columbia. Certainly there are many curious resemblances between pre-historic remains in South America and Polynesia, including the grotesque statues of Easter Island, which have some parallels in Colombia. Mr. Heyerdahl's photographs are magnificent, and his assiduity in assembling comparative material — and also his expensiveness — is in the Frazer tradition. He has certainly given scientists in many branches much to dispute about.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins . . . . And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

Then saith Jesus unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad. But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee. (Matt. 26:26-28, 30-32.)

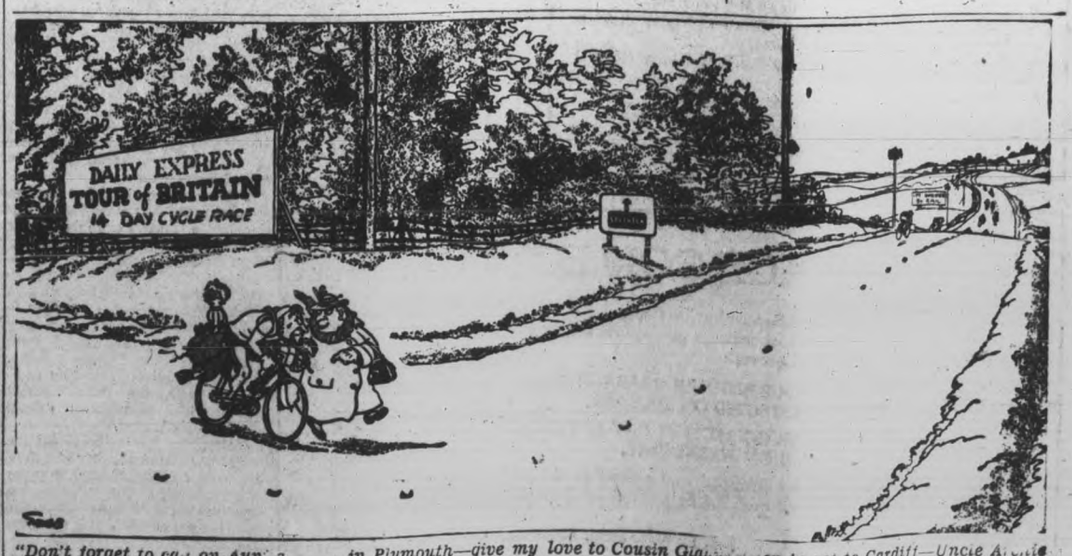
✧ ✧ ✧

The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

For we being many are bread, and one body: for we are all partakers of that one bread. (I Cor. 10:16, 17.)

Rendezvous With Death

(Ottawa Journal)



In the war Charles McKay of Toronto and John Pretner of Yugoslavia were on opposite sides, and both of them airmen. McKay fought as a pilot with the Royal Canadian Air Force; Pretner as a pilot with the German Luftwaffe.

Both survived the war—afterwards Pretner found his way to Canada, and to Toronto, and he and McKay became friends. They must have had many a good talk about their experiences.

Saturday afternoon the two went flying again, together, in a little two-seater aircraft belonging to a company for which McKay had done some work. McKay was pilot, Pretner a passenger. It was Pretner's first flight since the war.

Then something went wrong, and the machine fell, crashed into a tiny Toronto back yard and burst into flames in which the two men died.

These men had survived the war, which took so many of their fellows, but their rendezvous with death had been only postponed.

"Don't forget to call on Aunt . . . in Plymouth—give my love to Cousin Gladys when to get to Cardiff—Uncle Arthur won't like it if you don't look him up while you're in Blackpool—don't let Ronnie fall off, and remember the parcel for Aunt Kate in Glasgow, and when you get to Scarborough . . ."

1838 Map Of District: Odd Shapes

Peterborough Public Library has a Chief Librarian with an alert and knowing eye for rare and interesting items about Peterborough and early Ontario. Librarian William Graff has recently acquired two maps of special interest. Both are from the pages of old atlases, and both are in excellent condition. One is dated 1842; the other is indexed by dealers as having been printed in 1838.

The 1842 map is titled "Upper Canada"—that is, Ontario. Actually, by the Act of Union of 1840 (effective 1841), Upper Canada had become "Canada West," but for many years afterwards the old name still stuck. It shows Lake Huron, Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, and the St. Lawrence as we know them today. But Georgian Bay is called Lake Iroquois. All told, there are only a couple of dozen counties or districts.

PETERBOROUGH UNNAMED

The village of Peterborough is not marked, neither is the county of Peterborough. Both were in the Newcastle District; Peterborough did not become a county until the end of that decade. Newcastle District held the counties of Durham and Northumberland, and so they are marked; and both included most of the Kawarthas. The Newcastle District itself extends north right off the map, beyond Lake Nipissing.

The second map acquired by the Library is less extensive, but more detailed in its showing of Upper Canada. This 1838 map (reproduced on this page) shows the Districts and Counties, and names of the lakes and rivers, and most of the villages and towns—except Peterborough. Peterborough wasn't much of a place in 1838; and probably the surveys on which the map is based were made 10 years before.

East of the Newcastle District (which included Peterborough) was the Midland District. West of it was the Home District. All the southern (lakeshore) part of the Home District is York County. It is interesting, in view of the development of Peterborough, that the map does not show either Peterborough city or county, but does show Hastings County (which began at Marmora Lake) and even Lennox and Addington; all in the Midland District.

RIVER GOES NOWHERE

A curious information given about a river at the north of the Midland District, just southeast of "Lake Kashquashibook" (Gull Lake?) is this: "R. said to discharge into Lake Ontario." Lake Ontario is 60 miles from where the river mark ends. There the river is shown, a line running nowhere. Its legend shows how inadequately surveyed, and even known by white men, was the northern part of this area 114 years ago.

Details in the part of the map showing Newcastle District are amusing and somewhat amazing now. No town or village is shown north of the lakeshore.

Most of the Kawartha Lakes are indicated, under odd names sometimes, and very inaccurately placed and shaped. Rice Lake itself is fairly well delineated, as is the Otonabee River, although it is made to run right up without any widening for Clear Lake or the lake at Lakefield, into "Trout Lake." This is Stony Lake, but it is hard to guess it from the shape on the map.

"SHEMONG" NORTH OF STONY

"Shemong L." is shown west of it, and as far north as Mount Julian. Pigeon Lake and Balsam Lake are shown, and in the general area in which they actually do lie. North of them is "L. Kinashingignash."

Despite not a town, village or hamlet being named in all of this district north of Lake Ontario, there is this legend, set above the R. Trent in the vicinity of L. Marmora: "Iron Works." Which shows how large the iron deposits in the Madoc-Marmora area loomed more than a hundred years ago.

No road is shown in the entire Newcastle district except the one along the lakeshore, and one about five miles north of it, almost parallel with the lakeshore road and joining it at the R. Napanee on the east, and at "Windsor" on the west. This "Windsor" is not the one we now know, but at the place where either Bowmanville or Oshawa now stands. (These two towns do not have a recognized existence on the map.)

WINDSOR MOVED

In the area of the present Windsor no Windsor or any town there is shown, although Detroit is marked by a large circle. But Sandwich and Amherstburg are named.

Hamilton, Burlington, Dundas and Ancaster (all in Gore District) are equally inconspicuously marked in this 1838 map. West of Gore District is London District. The northern part of this, up to Bruce Peninsula, is labelled "Indian Lands." The long river flowing through Galt and down into Lake Erie at "Sherbrooke" is called the Ouse or Grand.

Strangely modern in sound is the marking on both maps of the Welland Canal, whose southwestern end is shown to be at Sherbrooke, and north-eastern end at St. Catharines (spelt that way, too, as now).

The 1838 map is from "Tanner's Universal Atlas," published by "H. S. Tanner, Philadelphia." It is the larger of the two which the Library has now acquired, measuring 12 inches by 15 inches.

1838 MAP, one of two old atlas maps of Upper Canada which the Public Library has acquired. Peterborough, a village then, is not shown on the map, and Peterborough county did not exist. The whole of this area was included in the Newcastle district. This district was not named after the village of Newcastle west of Port Hope (which is not marked on the map) but perhaps after one of the Dukes of Newcastle or the English city of Newcastle. As the map shows, there was no northern limit to the Newcastle district. The Kawartha Lakes are oddly marked and shaped. Ottawa was then called Bytown. The map was printed in Philadelphia. Most of it is reproduced above.

Destiny Of Empires Can Depend On Oldest Public Service In The World

By PHILIP SOLJAK

Many nations have contributed to the advancement of the oldest of public services, the world's postal systems. Today, the whole vast international traffic of the public mail is under the supervision of the Universal Postal Union (U.P.U.) Yet, it is only within the past 150 years that the letter post itself has been made available to people generally. Before then the post was in most cases reserved for royalty, the aristocracy and State officials.

The first recorded post was founded about 500 B.C. by Darius the Great of Persia, who used relays of horsemen to send messages throughout his vast empire, ranging from India to western Egypt. Macedonian, Egyptian and Roman rulers followed suit. Chinese emperors meanwhile devised an elaborate courier system which Marco Polo described centuries later during his journey to the court of the Grand Khan.

Among the Western countries the Romans raised the post to an efficiency surpassed only in modern times. Julius Caesar's letters to Cicero, written from Britain, reached Rome in 26 days. Letters carried along the same route were still taking a month as late as 1800.

The word "post" dates from the Roman period. It is derived from the Latin positus meaning "placed" because horses were placed at set distances to carry dispatches.

FIRST BRITISH SERVICE

In 1635 Britain's postmaster, Thomas Witherings, established a public service between London and Edinburgh. Rates, payable by the recipient, were 2d for a letter conveyed under 80 miles and 8d to Scotland. Witherings also organized a foreign service through France, with the consent of the French Government.

In 1643 Renouard de Villayer created a local post for Paris, which was run from a central office. Under this scheme, the many letter boxes set up in the streets of Paris were emptied several times daily. The postal charge (one sou) was paid by the sender, and the receipt slip accompanying the delivery thus constituted the first use of a form of postage stamp.

The regular international governmental, or official, post dates from 1670, when England and France established the "Lyons Mail" by special treaty. England provided twice - weekly mail packets across the Channel, and France furnished the overland service to Lyons. Fees to this point were prepaid, but charges for further transmission were collected from the addressee.

TO THE CONTINENT

An Anglo-French treaty of 1713 provided a basis of accounting for transit mails, which continued with little change until 1870. Letters could be franked to Italy, Spain and Turkey. Accounting between the English and French post offices was based on the total of amounts due on separate letters, mail by mail.

In North America, Benjamin Franklin expanded the inter-colonial post and in 1755 started a packet service from New York to England. The Continental Congress founded an independent American post when war broke out between Britain and her American colonies in 1775.

The destinies of empires may depend on the mails, as was illustrated during this conflict. In October 1777, British General ("Gentleman Johnny") Burgoyne was waiting at Saratoga, north of New York, for General Howe to advance up the Hudsan Valley and join forces with him. London officials sent their instructions to Howe by too slow a ship, and Burgoyne was isolated and overwhelmed by the Americans.

This victory was a turning point in the war, for it encouraged France, Spain and Holland to support the Americans openly. Bernard Shaw incorporated this incident in his play The Devil's Disciple.

By 1790 the British mailcoach service, founded by William Pitt six years before, was carrying letters and parcels at half the cost of the post-boy system, but rates rose rapidly during the Napoleonic wars.

PENNY POST

By 1835 an Englishman was paying 1s. 5d to mail a letter 700 miles. Sir Rowland Hill, urging that rates should be based on weight, not on distance carried, proposed the adoption of a uniform 1d fee, and prepayment by postage stamps. Both reforms were in force by 1840 and soon after were followed in the United States, France and Germany. Before long, Britain was also first with cheap rates for newspapers and books.

A famous pioneer service was the American "Pony Express," which carried mail in less than ten days over a distance of 2,000 miles from St. Joseph (Missiouri) to San Francisco during 1860 and 1861. This relay of 80 riders and 400 horses covered the distance in one third the time taken by stage coach. Braving blizzards, floods and attacks by Indians, these horsemen won a renown which time has not dimished.

As international mails expanded, more postal treaties were concluded. But due to the many differences in rates and procedures in various countries, rapid and accurate handling of the mails became almost impossible. In 1863, at the suggestion of the United States, an international conference in Paris agreed on a code to improve and simplify international postal relations.

WARS INTERFERE

Progress was delayed by the American Civil War and the Franco-Prussian War. During 1870-1871, besieged Parisians organized a pigeon and balloon post to Tours. This was the first regular airmail. Three hundred and sixty pigeons carried micro - photographed dispatches. During the same period balloon postmen made 63 ascents, transporting over 3,000,000 letters and 91 passengers, despite attacks by high-firing German guns.

Meanwhile Dr. Heinrich von Stephan, German postmaster-general, was preparing a plan for an international postal union. In 1874 Switzerland convened at Berne a congress at which all the European countries, the United States and Egypt were represented. The result was the International Postal Convention which came into force in 1875.

This treaty provided for uniformity in treatment of correspondence, simplification of accounts and reduction of rates within limits. Rates were to be based on weight rather than distance.

UNIVERSAL UNION SET UP

The agency thus founded was named the Universal Postal Union in 1878 and by 1900 included almost every country in the world. In 1948 the union became a Specialized Agency of the United Nations.

The basic principle of the U.P.U. is that, for postal purposes, all member states form a single territory. Each member undertakes to transmit mails entrusted to it by the best means of communication it uses for its own mails. Thus each country today enjoys full use of the railway, shipping and air mail services of the whole world.

Organization of the U.P.U. is simple but effective. Most questions are settled by the countries directly concerned, but for matters concerning all members an international bureau is maintained at Berne to collect and publish information and to help settle international accounts. These are based on a return, taken every three years, of one month's correspondence.

REVISED EVERY FIVE YEARS

The Universal Postal Convention is revised every five years by the U.P.U. Congress, to which all members send delegates. The U.P.U. Congress which was held this year in Brussels during July,

Why Plums Drop, What About Berries?

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Many letters received by this gardener asking for help in solving problems are of such general interest that they are worthy of inclusion in an article. Here are a few of the most interesting ones from last week's mail.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—I would like to know why my plum tree does not keep its fruit on? The droppings are either wormy or exuding a gummy substance—B. A.

A—Worminess in plums is generally due to attack by curculios, stinging insects which lay their eggs under the skin of the fruit. In time more or less gum collects at the punctures before the fruit drops to the ground. Spray twice with a solution of lead arsenate, 2 tablespoons lime, ½ cup to a gallon of water will keep the curculios under control. The first application is made a week after the flower petals have fallen—and repeated in two weeks.

Q—Our new brick home stands out in marked contrast to our neighbors' wood houses. What vines do you recommend which are not too vigorous in their habit of growth?

A—Well - chosen and well - grown vines mellow and soften a brick or stone house as nothing else can. For the front of the house, which is in sunlight, plant Boston ivy, parthenocissus tricuspidata veitchi, one of the best clinging vines. On the shady sides of the house plant Baltic ivy, hedera helix baltica. While the Boston ivy will grow in the shade, the Baltic ivy will not withstand a sunny location in the winter. The smaller leaved Low's ivy, parthenocissus tricuspidata lowi, is less vigorous in growth than Boston ivy.

Q—What treatment should be given raspberry plants now that they are no longer producing?

A—The canes which bore fruit this year should be cut off at the ground line and burned to reduce danger of diseases over-wintering. These canes will never produce again but will take up the moisture and plant nutrients from the soil needed to develop next year's crop.

Q—Will you please give me information about growing ivy as a house plant? I have been snipping off runners and putting them in water. Some of them sprout and form roots but more often they shrivel and die.

A—Ivy may be started by layering, that is, covering portions of the vine. After roots form at the covered area, this portion of the plant is severed and treated as an independent plant. Or cuttings may be taken now from firm shoots and planted in pots. The best medium to root cuttings is in coarse, clean river sand. They may later be transplanted into ordinary clay pots and grown in a medium consisting of approximately one-third leaf mold, one-third sand and one-third sandy loam.

Taking Salt From Sea Water Cheap Method Developed

By MAURICE GOLDSMITH

A new, simple and economical method for taking the salt out of set-water is being patented in the United States. Its significance for mankind is revolutionary. If this development fulfils its promise, it may transform the world's desert wastes by supplying an unlimited quantity of fresh water, and may assure to many industrialized countries that their economic condition is not threatened by rapidly increasing demands for more fresh water.

The new process was developed by Dr. Walter Juda, of the Harvard Medical School, and his associates. It is based on what is known technically as "ion exchange."

Certain substances in their dry form do not conduct electricity. Salt, for example, is one: dry acetic acid is another. Dissolve these substances in water, however, and a current can flow through them.

We know why this happens from the work of the Swedish chemist, Svante Arrhenius. In 1887, he showed that when salts are dissolved in water, some if not all — of the molecules are separated into groups of atoms. These carry positive or negative electric charges, and are known as ions.

ELECTRIC CURRENT USED

When dissolved in water, the salt molecules separate into sodium and chloride atoms. In the process, the sodium group of atoms loses an electron to the chlorine group. The sodium is left with one excess positive charge, and the chloride with one excess negative charge. When an electric current is passed through the solution, these ions are attracted to the oppositely charged electrodes (that is, the positive or negative conductors by which the electric current enters or leaves the solution).

In this way, salt can be removed completely from the solution, but to do this on a large scale has been prohibitively expensive.

The new process does this by using special ion exchange materials, developed during the last few years. These are used in the form of membranes, continuous films of inexpensive synthetic plastic, less than forty-thousandths of an inch thick. They are made largely of cheap coal-tar and petroleum chemicals.

When an electric current is used with these membranes, positive and negative electrical charges are interchanged, leading to the separation of certain minerals and salts according to the electrical charges they carry. The process is simple because there are no moving parts, no artificial heat, and no chemicals except the natural salt.

TWO STREAMS EMERGE

When a stream of water is fed to a unit using the membranes, it emerges in two forms — a fresh-water stream made up of two-thirds of the original feed and containing practically none of the salt; and a brine stream, containing the salt and other chemicals. The fresh water may be used in the home, in industry or in agriculture; and the brine stream may be further treated to yield salt, magnesium or other chemicals obtained from sea-water.

The flow of water is continuous, and can be speeded up indefinitely by increasing the amount of electric power use. This, however, increases the cost. "At relatively low flow rates," according to an expert, "energy consumption can be as low as twenty kilowatt-hours per 1,000 gallons (3,785 litres). In many areas, where the water problem is acute, electrical energy is available very cheaply. Therefore, the membranes make possible production of fresh water from the sea in such areas for a power cost of only 6 cents per 1,000 gallons, to which must be added the cost of equipment.

"By comparison, industrial water supplies from fresh water sources may cost up to 10 cents or more per 1,000 gallons. Irrigation water is sold in the West (U.S.A.) for from 2 to 20 cents per 1,000 gallons. Once the membranes are in mass porduction, the total cost of sea-water purification with cheap power can be brought to the range of 10 to 20 cents per 1,000 gallons."

LESS SALT, LESS POWER

Power consumption decreases with a decrease in salt content of the feed water. Therefore, power costs for treating brackish water, which has as salt content 10 to 20 per cent that of sea-water, may be as low as one cent per 1,000 gallons.

These costs, it is claimed, are one-half to two-thirds less than the most economical process now in use, that of vapour compression evaporation. (Attempt at large-scale de-salting of sea-water have usually been based upon distillation. The water is heated until it turns into steam, leaving the salt behind. It has been hoped possible to use the waste heat produced in great quantities by atomic piles for this purpose.)

The "ion exchange" system has a number of great potential uses in industry. It can be used commercially to purify solutions of sugar, glycerol, organic compounds and mill products. It may be used to recover by-products, chemicals and other materials from industrial waste waters. Under examiantion are possible uses in basic biological and medical research. The synthetic membranes, although differing chemically from the different body membranes which transfer salt, have many properties in common with them.

As study is made of the implications of this new development in the attempt to supply man with this one great need—fresh water—world experts under the guidance of Unesco's Advisory Committee on Arid Zone Research are considering the many problems involved in making fertile the world's arid zones. In April, in Ankara, Turkey, some 30 scientists frob 15 countries conferred on the hydrology of the arid zone, with special reference to underground water. During May, an international symposium on desert research, organized in co-operation with Unesco, was held in Jerusalem. The object was to stimulate the development of desert science, and thereby contribute to the reclamation of the arid areas. (UNESCO).

A·F·I·E·L·D with Nick Nickels

We outdoor writers are voices crying in the wilderness as far as preaching conservation is concerned. But at times we get a momenatry lift — and they are few and far between — when we talk to men who have the same ideas as ourselves and have tried to do something practical about them. I am speaking of that Sage of Gannon's Narrows, Perry Alexander.

I call him the Sage. Many others call him a crank, a kill-joy, an old fuddy-duddy who lays down stringent camp rules at his Oak Orchard resort.

We talked the other day about the resort operators' role in the conservation scheme 'till the phone wires burned red hot. He has fought against the plunder of Kawartha game fish and bad fishing methods since before I was born. He sees a dim future looming up and lives in dread of the day in the not-too-distant future when his place will be "a roadhouse with a jazz band, and other resorts will have been turned under by the plough.

Perry fought the encroachment of fast mile-eating fishing coverage by outboard fishermen until a short two years ago. For a quarter of a century before that time he would not allow guests to fish from anything but canoes. But he has bowed to the times. As it is now, he suggests the use of canoes and, believe it or not, 70 per cent of his guests take his advice.

Fishing, consequently, has not been so hot, Perry admits, but he is still trying to preserve a few fish for every guest during his stay. Daily bag-limit fishermen at his place are given the front office "no reservations" stare.

There are not many places operating along these lines nowadays, but they will be in business until the bitter end and longer, than most.

• • • •

Ebullient Westclocker Stan McBride leaped up the newsroom stairs the other day to tell me that he had been visiting a spot in the Pymatuning Lake region of Ohio where the fish are so thick that ducks walk on their backs.

Such a fable coming from anyone else except Big Train McBride I would challenge with closed fists — but you know how big Stan is. Okay, show me. Which he proceeded to do.

This man-made lake-reservoir of 26 square miles on the Ohio-Pennsylvania border has become infested with carp to the extent that souvenir booths and bread companies with stale wares do a roaring business to tourists who come to see and feed the devilfish.

Stan threw a loaf upon the waters himself and said the fish boiled up in swarms and dribbled the loaf across the lake like a basketball. Authorities put on a netting drive once a year or so but apparently the carp population is so well rooted that their numbers never seem to decrease.

Here's an idea for Kawartha promotors to keep in mind: our district is too heavily fished to stand the pressure much longer; so, the carp could have their day.

MAN-IN-A-BATHTUB-BOAT McBRIDE

A sober note of warning to all resort operators and guides who are planning the district fall deer hunt with American visitors.

Though the Canadian government has declared the country free of foot-and-mouth disease — which applies to and affects all cloven-hooved beasts including deer — the American government are not ready to lift the import ban on Canadian beasts until after their general election on Nov. 4; they are afraid the issue might be used as a political football before that date. It would be a very safe bet to assume that no immediate American action will be taken right smack after their election to allow the ban to be lifted in time for deer carcass exports during our fall hunting season this year.

You planners may have to write any guests with whom you have made deer dates and for all future dates tell hunters to check with U.S. Fish and Wildlife offices for information about the last week in October. Their offices will be in the know and it will save a long trip to the Kawarthas and a lot of disappointment.

Too bad things are as indefinite as this when we have an abundant deer crop on the way.

Kawarthas Win By A Pound And Three-Quarters

It would seem like a good idea for outdoor writers to pool their big fish data so that each and every one might be well informed.

This week a Toronto daily went overboard with a 3-column page-length blowup picture tagged the "second largest muskie taken in Southern Ontario this season." This is not correct.

I have a fishing contest entry with photo to back it up of a 36¾-pound 'lunge taken a few weeks ago in the Trent River by Floyd Paulus of Kent, O.; this fish is 1¾ pounds heavier, one inch longer and of deeper girth which makes IT take second place, so far.

Let's get together, scribes, and keep the record straight.

BRANTFORD GETS DEK

TORONTO (CP)—Brantford Redskins of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union will be allowed to use Al Dekdebrun as their quarterback this season, Toronto Argonauts announced last night.

Bob Moran, president of the Big Four club, said that if Dekdebrun returns to the Big Four next season he will be obliged to come back to Argos.

Argos thus ensured that Dekdebrun will be able to complete his required four years in Canadian football to qualify next season as a non import.

Dekdebrun, who led Argos to their 1950 Grey Cup championship, was dropped by the club in mid-season last year because coach Frank Clair said his passing arm had "gone dead." Argos refused to release him until now even though the other Big Four clubs had waived on him.

The former Cornell player said at his home in Buffalo he will definitely play for Brantford if released.

MONEY DISPUTE

TORONTO (CP)—Mal Whitefield, the United States Olympic track star who was due to appear in track meets at the Canadian National Exhibition today and Monday, came here yesterday but he didn't stay long.

The Olympic 800-metres champion from Columbus, O., spoke briefly with a C.N.E. representative shortly after his arrival and soon after was on his way home.

Officials said the U.S. Air Force technical sergeant's appearance here was cancelled through a disagreement regarding "expense money". They declined to say what amount was involved.

The officials said Whitefield had been refused extra money earlier in the week. They said he apparently came to Toronto hoping the C.N.E. management had changed its mind.

McGREGOR ILL

FOREST HILLS (AP)—Favored stars boomed through their opening matches in the United States tennis championships with ease yesterday while officials fretted over a stomach ache belonging to Ken McGregor, champion of Australia.

McGregor, who is ranked second only to his stalwart teammate Frank Sedgman on the foreign seeded list, said he intended to play his first-round match today against alvin MacCracken of Tenafly, N.J., but he held out little hope he would be able to serve overhand.

Sedgman squashed Alvin Bunis, a scared youngster from Cincinnati, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Of the three Canadians entered in the men's singles, only Brendan Macken, seeded No. 12, saw action. Macken defeated Joaquin Reyes of Mexico, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. Henri Rochon of Montreal and Lorne Maine of Vancouver play their first-round matches today.

HAMILL AGAIN COACH

GALT (CP)—Galt Black Hawks announced yesterday that Robert (Red) Hamill has been re-appointed coach of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A team.

Hamill, former member of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, last year coached the Galt team to third place in the 10-team circuit. Hawks lost out to Toronto St. Michael's College in the playoffs.

Working with Hamill will be Bob Wilson, chief eastern scout for the Chicago team. Wilson will make his headquarters in Toronto, and divide his time between Galt and the Belleville Hawks, Chicago's junior B farm club in eastern Ontario.

The Galt team this year loses six players through the age limit and all are expected to get a trial with the Chicago club at its Pembroke camp. They are Pete Conacher, Mike Buchanan, Jack Price, Jack Hill, Tom Fyles and Bill McIntosh.

ULTIMATUM TO MAXIM

LONDON (AP)—Promoter Jack Solomons yesterday gave Joe Maxim 15 days to name a date for his defence of his world light-heavyweight title against Britain's Randy Turpin.

If the champion from Cleveland does not come through, Solomons said he will apply to boxing commissions throughout the world to declare the title vacant and name another opponent for Turpin.

Maxim was suspended indefinitely by the New York Athletic Commission last Tuesday for not honoring a contract to fight Turpin Sept. 23.

TWO WORLD RECORDS

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A world's record for trotters was broken twice yesterday by a pair of stablemates—Star's Pride and Florican. Both horses are owned by Arden Homestead stables of Goshen, N.Y.

Florican, driven by Del Miller, turned the first mile of the $5,000 free-for-all trot in 1:57 2-5, beating the mark of 1:57 3-5 made by Victory Song of Springfield, Ill., in 1947.

On the second trip, Star's Pride, with Harry Pownall in the sulky, sped home in 1:57 1-5 to break the record for trotting stallions, either in a race or against time, and the mark for trotters of either sex.

NIAGARA SAILOR SECOND

TORONTO (CP)—Tom Allen of the Buffalo Canoe Club yesterday won the Canadian lightning class sailing championship at the Canadian National Exhibition. He piled up a total of 66¼ points in the two-day event, taking one first, a second and a third.

Second place went to Bob Siemer of Niagara Sailing Club, Niagara, Ont.

Yorks Wallop Hamilton 18-10 Take 1-0 Lead

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto West Yorkers last night whipped Hamilton Tigers 18-10 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five senior Ontario Lacrosse Association quarter-final series.

Toronto led 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, 8-4 at the half and 15-10 at the three-quarter mark.

George Masters, Jack Dorney and Tommy Love topped the Hamilton scorers with two goals each while Dorney, Love and Masters each tipped in two for the losers.

The St. Catharines at Peterborough game, also scheduled last night, was postponed to tonight because of rain.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Can't tell at this writing what the weather will be over the last summer holiday weekend of the year. If it's okay, a number of sports' attractions will be offered those who stay in town. Junior O.B.A. playoff this aft at 2:30 in Riverside, Kingston vs. Young Petes. A. C.O.B.L. contest there at night, Kingston Monarchs vs. the Petes at eight to settle first place as the schedule ends. Also one or two girls' P.W.S.U. intermediate "B" playdown tussles at the Bowl, Newmarket vs. Lindsay. The Burtol game with Hamilton is off, pending hearing of a protest early next week. A cricket match this afternoon at the Oval, Port Hope vs. the P-W club. And the Petes' senior lacrosse game in St. Kitts on the holiday.

* * * * * *

It has been many years since our junior and senior baseballers were engaged at the same time with Kingston clubs. One must go a long way back to recall when Law Lebarr's classy juniors, the Lakeviews, when Frank Whitehouse was in flower, opposed the smart Circle Six squad of the Limestone City. Our present juniors—after a good season in the intermediate Lakeshore Loop—are pretty classy, too, and should give the present K's a real run for it in this O.B.A. playdown series. Senior Kingston ballsters have been showing here regularly all year, but this time the Stewart squad must take it to clinch top spot in the C.O.B.L. Two interesting diamond duels on tap.

* * * * * *

With a Nod To the Bees

Coach Bob Thorpe of the Petes' Timbermen told us a rather interesting thing the other eve. Said that Eric Mason had made frequent donations of cans of honey in the latter part of the lacrosse schedule to the team, some 48 cans by now, and many of the players took a spoon or two before a game or betwixt periods. To give 'em an extra lift in energy. They wound up their schedule with a terrific drive of 13 straight wins at home and abroad, so perhaps the honey helped. It's no secret that honey has been used for years in gruelling grinds by Channel swimmers, marathon runners, etc., as an energy-builder when one is almost ready to collapse. It really does provide a temporary lift—and the Timbermen appreciate this. The postponed senior lacrosse match is slated for Miller Bowl tonight.

* * * * * *

Many fans no doubt were bitterly disappointed last evening when that untimely heavy downpour in the afternoon ruined the dirt floor of Miller Bowl, forcing a postponement of the lacrosse tilt. Heavy rain in the early aft alone wasn't enough to wash it out, but a second cloudburst shortly before three really did the trick. The field was a quagmire and there was nothing to do but notify St. Kitts to stay home. The playoff will be staged here tonight, weather permitting, as the rules for Eastern Canada playdowns are that a rained-out game must go the next night, if weather permits. And tied tussles must be played to a decision. The Timbermen then trek to St. Catharines on Monday.

As Jimmy Jumps Ump

Jim Conlin of the U. E. softballers has been suspended for the remainder of the City Softball League final series. Seems he roughed up Umpire Wimp Borland the other eve on a close play at first base, when the ump ruled adversely against Jim after conferring with Umpire Herb Payne. Usually an even-tempered chap, Jim blew his top and got the heave-ho from the game. The men's executive met and discussed the matter with the result that they suspended Conlin for the rest of the series. The same squads tangle again next Tuesday night and Seabrooke's have a 3-1 margin in the best-of-seven finals. In connection with the Labor Day "do" over east, U. E. has an exhibition with a colored club at eight p.m. in the Bowl.

Saw an item from New York yesterday calling Detroit ball fans the most loyal followers in the big time. They set a season's record the day before in welcoming home the last-place Tigers after a road trip. The piece says: "An incredible crowd of 53,988, largest of the year in Detroit, and largest anywhere in the majors this year, except at Cleveland, turned out." It was always rated just about tops in baseball towns, as many local fans know—folks who have oft wended their way down past the honky-tonks along Michigan Avenue to Trumble where sprawls Briggs Stadium, formerly Navin Field.

Walcott Bears Down For Fight Sept. 23

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, world's heavyweight boxing champion, will move into Atlantic City Sunday to start heavy training for his title defence against Rocky Marciano at Philadelphia Sept. 23.

Walcott winds up three weeks of preliminary workouts at Hawkinsville, N.J., this week-end.

Walcott said yesterday: "I have put in my hardest licks for the fight. I ran three to five miles every morning and walked five to seven miles every day after dinner.

"My legs are in excellent condition and that is all I have to worry about. I weigh about 201 and expect to weigh 195 for the fight.

"Chopping down over a hundred trees has also strengthened my arms and toughened my hands."

Rochester Drops 6-5 Decision To Toronto Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League pennant race was down to a two-team affair today, and Montreal Royals need only three victories to clinch their second straight flag.

Rochester's Red Wings lost their last opportunity of catching the Royals last night when they dropped a 6-5, 11-inning decision to Toronto while Montreal was trimming Baltimore 6-1 and 1-0 in a doubleheader.

Meantime, Syracuse Chiefs kept alive their faint hopes by also winning two. They downed Springfield Cubs 4-2 and 13-2 for their 11th doubleheader sweep of the season.

Royals lead the Chiefs by 11 games with 15 to be played Syracuse has only 11 games remaining.

OTTAWA BEATS BISONS

In the other league game, a double by Stan Jok scored the winning run as Ottawa's Athletics whipped Buffalo Bisons 6-3. Lou Limmer hit his 20th homer for the As and Jok added a four-bagger to his double. Pitcher Al Yaylien and Frank Carswell homered for the Bisons.

Montreal's double win, achieved with Johnny Podres hurling a two-hitter in the opener and Tom Lasorda a three-hitter in the second, ruined Baltimore's hopes of climbing over Toronto into fourth place.

Bob Keegan's seven-hit pitching for his 19th victory was backed up by Al Pilarcik's three-run homer in the Chiefs' twilight triumph. Jack Griffore also hurled a seven-hitter in the second contest and drove in four runs on a triple and a single.

Pete Pavlick's 11th-inning double gave the Maple Leafs their triumph and ended the pennant hopes of Rochester.

Out At The Kawartha

A most enjoyable evening, Thursday, was provided by the men members for the business Girls' group. About 100 teed off, starting at 5.30, in two-ball foursomes. Following supper, prizes were given as follows: For the best score on the front nine holes, Ruth McKee and Bill Moulton won with 40; for the best on the back nine, Ernie Gregson and Gen Murray won with 48. Ev Scott and Murray Metcalfe were given the prize for the honest golfers' score on the front nine, as was Joyce Bridcott and Andy Fowler for the back nine.

Tony Burns, the master of ceremonies for the evening, was introduced by Fred Welford. Tony, accompanied at the piano by Doris Ackford, sang some fine songs which everyone enjoyed. Barbara Siddall, captain of the B.G.'s, voiced the thanks of the girls for the splendid get-together.

Ladies' section: In the nine-hole players' section, Mrs. J. Gatfield had low net and was credited with a point; Mrs. J. Bolton had second low net and won the china, with Mrs. A. Mattucci having the best score on the hidden hole and winning a ball.

Mrs. R. Miller, of the 18-hole players' group, had low net and was given two points and a point for most pars; Mrs. Howard Woodcox had second low net, was given a point for that as well as a point for most pars competition. Mrs. Adam Sands won the china and the ball.

St. Peter's Beaten

Immaculate Conception took a 14-5 Parish Softball League win over St. Peter's on Thursday on the latter's grounds. They counted four runs each in the first and fifth frames, and three apiece in the sixth and seventh innings. The Saints scored two in the second, adding one next time to bat and two more in the fifth. Teams:

I.C.: Donoghue, Towns, Bacon, Shaughnessy, Sullivan, Guerin, Heffernan, Kelly, Guilfoyle.

St. Peter's: Quinlan, Board, O'Toole, Garvey, Russelle, Plumpton, Doris, Legros, Ryan.

BATTLE FATIGUE — Glen Flanagan, on top, and Tommy Collins lay on the ropes from sheer exhaustion in the last seconds of their 15-round Boston battle. The home-grown Collins won a unanimous decision from the St. Paul featherweight.

Cleveland Snubs Tigers 4-2 As Athletics Take Twin Bill From Sox

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians, separated by only one game in the gruelling American League pennant race, today were casting a wary eye over their shoulders at Jimmy Dykes' Philadelphia Athletics. Jimmy's darlings are up to their usual late-season shenanigans. In the past they got hot too late but this time they have a chance to go all the way in the stretch run. Yesterday, as Cleveland reduced the Yanks' lead to one game by beating Detroit 4-2 while the Yanks bowed 3-2 to Washington, the A's swept a doubleheader from third-place Boston Red Sox, 6-1 and 7-5.

SIX BEHIND YANKS

The sweep moved the Athletics to within 1½ games of the fading Red Sox and six of the Yanks. Six games is not so big an obstacle when you have a pitcher like Bobby Shantz.

Shantz, the major's top winner, is not the only ace Dykes has. Harry Byrd and Carl Sheib are lending a helping hand on the mound while Ferris Fain, Gus Zernial and Eddie Joost are sparking the attack.

The As have 28 games left to play, including nine with the Yanks and three with Cleveland. Nine are at home and 19 on the road.

Scheib turned in his 10th victory in last night's first game, permitting only seven hits. Allie Clark knocked in three runs on a double and two singles and Fain accounted for a pair with his second home run of the season. The Athletics pulled the nightcap out with a three-run rally in the eighth inning.

Bob Lemon turned in his 17th victory for the Indians in beating Virgil Trucks at Detroit. Lemon granted six hits. The Indians led 2-1 until the sixth inning, when Luke Easter iced the decision with a two-run homer.

Home runs by Gil Coan and Jim Busby ruined the Yankees. Coan whacked his third of the season in the eighth inning to tie the score at 1-1 and Busby banged his first of the year in the ninth with Floyd Baker aboard to win the game.

Chicago Cubs defeated the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers in the only National League game. Warren Hacker checked the Dodgers on four hits, including Roy Campanella's 20th homer in the seventh.

Why We Need A New Bible?

17th Century English Modernized In New Version Of The Bible

By FRANCES DUNLAP HERON

NEW YORK (NEA). — The Egyptian housewife of A.D. 100 wrote down a new bread recipe in simple, everyday Greek words. So did the farmer writing his neighbor a receipt for grain, and the merchant dictating his last will and testament. Their Greek was quite different from that of Plato and Socrates.

It's not surprising that their Greek was also used by Paul and the Gospel writers. For certainly the teachings of Jesus were concerned with the behaviour of men and women in the market place, toward their neighbors, in their homes, at their places of worship.

For hundreds of years, however Bible translators did not recognize the humble character of New Testament Greek. They tried to apply the classical Greek rules of grammar, word order and idiom.

It was not until the dawn of the 20th Century that archeologists digging into tons of ancient papyrus uncovered startling evidence that changed their whole outlook. Research revealed the truth—that the everyday "people's" Greek was the same as that which Paul and the Gospel writers used.

MORE ACCURATE TRANSLATION

Likewise Biblical research based largely on archeological findings during the last 50 years, has resulted in clearer or more accurate translation of certain Old Testament passages.

The first revision of the Bible to feel the effect of all this recent research is the fortheoming "Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible," authorized by some 40 Protestant denominations. Its scholars had archeological discoveries and manuscript resources, such as no group ever had before, to help them discover age-old shades of meaning in the original Hebrew and Greek.

* * *

That was one part of their task. The other was to replace more than 300 English words in the King James version that have changed meaning completely.

The new knowledge of Greek usage that the current revisers possess naturally colors the whole of the Revised Standard Version (RSV) of the New Testament. At many points new insights contrast with those of the King James Version.

Striking to the average reader will be the replacement of more than 300 words that have changed meaning since 1611. If there were no other reason for the revision of the King James than that, it would be sufficient.

Consider some of the significant transformations of meaning that come from bringing K.J. up-to-date:

There's the psalmist chanting in Ps. 119: 147 (K.J.), "I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word." Such a declaration doesn't make much sense, but many a reader has thought, "It's in the Bible so it must be all right." But in 1611 the word "prevent" meant "go before" or "prevent".

Rephrasing that verse accordingly, the revision committee now gives us in R.S.V.:

"I rise before the dawn and cry for help;
"In thy words I do hope."

Now the picture is clear—the pious Hebrew getting up early to begin the day with meditation and prayer.

The words "thought," "carefulness" and "careful" in the 17th Century were all sound translations of the Greek word for "anxiety".

When Jesus, therefore, advised "take no thought for the morrow" (Matt. 6: 34 K.J.), he was not advocating a happy-go lucky attitude. Instead, as R.S.V. translates, "Do not be anxious about tomorrow."

The word "virtue" as used in Luke 8:46 (K.J.) had nothing to do with moral character. It signified "power". Jesus, realizing that someone has touched him, says in R.S.V.: "I perceive that power has gone forth from me."

The sacredness of individual personality seems denied in the King James rendition of Acts King James rendition of Acts 10: 34, which reads "God is no respecter of persons." But in the days of Elizabethan drama, "persons" was still close to its derivation from the Latin "persona," the mask an actor wore.

Thus the reference was to externals, which God does not count important. R.S.V. translates this sentence: "God shows no partiality."

As the record-breaking first edition of 1,000,000 copies of the "Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible" is released Sept. 30 readers can continue this word adventure for themselves. They will find in accurate, lucid, idiomatic English, the Word of God for their own lives.

Israel's Affairs At Low Ebb When David Became King

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

David's career began as a shepherd boy killing Goliath in sight of Israel's threatening foes and her own trembling army. David's ascendancy to power came as Israel's affairs were at a very low ebb. King Saul lay a suicide on the battlefield and the defeated army of Israel was in flight at the end of the First Book of Samuel.

The Second Book is concerned chiefly with the reign of David. He became king after a "long war between the house of Saul and the house of David" (II Samuel 3:1). This situation follows King Saul's death and was only a continuation of the thing confronting David earlier when Saul sought to kill him. Forced to flee, David became the virtual leader of an outlaw band in the Cave of Adullam (I Samuel 22:1 and 2).

Reading of David's constant peril during this period gives a vivid impression of his strength and firmness of character.

A powerful ambition must have moved him, or he would have taken the easier way of solitude and escape. He appears not only as a man of heroic quality, but as a leader inevitably designed for great and striking achievements.

It was as a leader in Israel that his greatness was attained. The kingly experiment, begun with Saul, had failed but now firmly established upon the throne, David saw his enemies overthrown and the Kingdom of Israel on a strong foundation. The strength of this appeared when King Solomon extended and consolidated the heritage David left him.

Full effect of this can only be realized when we understand the semi-organized, tribal life of the Jews. They were always in peril from hostile people surrounding them from the time they left from Egypt till the actual building of their people into a nation.

Noteworthy, and perhaps symbolic of this new national and racial strength, was David's founding of a new capital for Israel. Using his soldier-judgment, he established the capital at Jerusalem.

Jerusalem! When we realize all the name implies politically and religiously, that act alone marks him as a great originator and founder.

Scattered in travel, trade, or exile throughout the ancient world, generations of Jews have prayed with faces toward Jerusalem.

It is the "Holy City" for Christians as well. Throughout its glory mingled with tragedy, its description still has the ancient charm: "Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is Mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King" (Psalm 48:2).

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CV. No. 51 SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

FAIRS LABOR DAY

Marmora and Port Perry fall fairs are listed for Labor Day. Ontario county's Black and White Day has become a feature of the Port Perry show.

DOLLARS REJECTED

Because her Canadian money was not acceptable in Alabama, a Peterborough girl who is temporarily in the state had to write home to her father this week to wire her some funds.

FERTILIZER TO BE SOLD

Lindsay is offering fertilizer from its sewage disposal plant for $1 a load to anyone who will take it away. Peterborough, with a similar sewage disposal plant, decided it wouldn't pay to prepare the fertilizer for sale.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Provincial police on traffic patrol in Haliburton today reported the heaviest Labor Day holiday traffic on record. Cars travelled all through the night to resorts and cottages in the great highland area.

THE WEED STATUTE

Percy Gooding, Northumberland county weed inspector, has published a notice to property owners that if they neglect to keep weeds in control the county may enter on their lands, have the weeds cut, and charged in the tax bills. He stresses poison ivy and ragweed as requiring vigilant attention.

CAR PRIED OPEN

An auto break-in artist who broke into a car on a downtown parking lot during the night was in for a surprise when he pried open a sewing machine box. It was filled with baby food. In addition to the carton, the thief got away with several articles of men's and women's clothing.

FALSE ALARM

The siren heard wailing through the downtown area at 10:30 a.m. today was not a fire engine on its way to a fire, or a traffic policeman on his way to an accident or a robbery. It was constable William A. Scott hurrying to the police station to cut off the siren on his motorcycle which had stuck.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

For the 36th consecutive day, no change is reported in the condition of Clare Keown, 23, of Woodville. He has remained unconscious at Civic Hospital since July 25, when he was critically injured in a head-on collision on Springville hill. The accident claimed the lives of two young women and seriously injured four people, including Keown.

Theatre Stars Head For TV

When Peterborough Summer Theatre-goers sit back this fall for a leisure evening watching the new Canadian TV shows, they'll see many familiar faces. In fact those faces will be many of the theatre's actors and actresses during the past season at Queen Mary school while a few others appeared here in past seasons' performances. Already four members, Barbara Hamilton, Patricia Moore, Gerry Sarracini, Peter Mews, Frank Perry and Bill Zaharuk have landed parts in Canada's new TV broadcasts. Others are considering this new medium for their careers.

So far Peterborough's theatre troupe have been signed mostly for variety shows, featuring music and comedy, the latter seemingly emphasized this year in weekly performances. Only one, Patricia Moore, has landed a serious role. Besides these weekly musicals most of the actors and actresses plan to free lance for other roles, in plays more along the line performed at the summer theatre.

CITY ARTIST

Peterborough's only representative with the company, Bill Zaharuk, 321 Dalhousie St., will be working in Toronto on the T.V. art staff. During the past two months, the College of Art graduate has been stage manager for the theatre.

Zaharuk, upon graduation in June, joined the summer theatre group to pick up experience with stage work specializing in college in fine art. Joining his art and stage work, Kaharuk hopes eventually to be a T.V. set designer.

Audience-pleasing Gerry Sarracini, Peter Mews and Barbara Hamilton will be combining talents also on T.V. shows, the musical-variety type programs.

Theatre veteran Sarracini will perform for the first time over T.V. on September 12 from Toronto with the show, Stopwatch and Listen. He will be working with Miss Hamilton, Alfie Scott from Montreal, and Joan Fowler who appeared in Peterborough four years ago.

Sarracini for the past four years has made many appearances with the C.B.C.'s Wednesday night's drama program. Now he will be combining both radio and T.V. work, through which he hopes eventually to reach the legitimate theatre.

OWN SHOW

Talented Miss Hamilton will be appearing with Peter Mews beginning September 8 on a weekly one-hour variety show. Peter who captured audiences in One Wild Oat and You Can't Take It With You will be supporting Doug Romaine and Mildred Moray; both have appeared in Peterborough with commercial Sunday night shows.

About a month ago Mews went through a dry run, especially written for him, called Pete and Pat. First tried as a 15-minute show, basically music, mixed with humor, it will likely be lengthened to a half-hour for a sponsored show.

Orillia and Mariposa will receive considerable publicity as T.V. presents Stephen Leacock's Sunshine Sketches, a weekly half-hour show. The theatre's Frank Perry will make his first appearance in "Sketches" as Mallory Tompkins, the cub reporter, in either the second or third show.

The only dramatic part has been assigned to Pat Moore. She will appear in T.V.'s first large drama presentation, Justice, by John Galsworthy, on September 18, as Ruth Honeywell, the only woman in the cast.

Miss Moore is a newcomer to the Canadian theatre, coming to this country in May. Her first job was on a C.B.C. broadcast after only three weeks in Canada and then she came to the summer theatre.

All five are excited at the prospect of taking part in Canada's first fling at TV and hope they will be as successful as television has become in the United States.

Peppermint Not Horse Soup New Flavor Put Into Glue

Remember how, in other years, when you licked the sticky flap of an envelope and the stickum tasted like horse soup?

Before the invention of postage meters that seal the envelope and stamp it automatically, office boys and women office workers walked around with tongues that felt like old pieces of dirty felt.

There were doubtless a lot of people who wished to see the days of sealing wax back again. Indeed, there were a number who refused to associate themselves with the goo on an envelope flap.

ALL CHANGED

That's all changed. Them days is gone forever.

Sound the trumpets, beat the drums, peppermint has been added to stickum to make it a joy to lick!

Think of Christmas (yes, just think of it in this weather) and all the envelope licking that gets done then. No longer will the farmer sob as he thinks he tastes Old Nell's hoof on his greeting card envelope.

No longer will children shrink when faced with the once-dreary task of licking envelope flaps. Their round little faces shining with joy, they will slavor prolifically when their parents set them to the job.

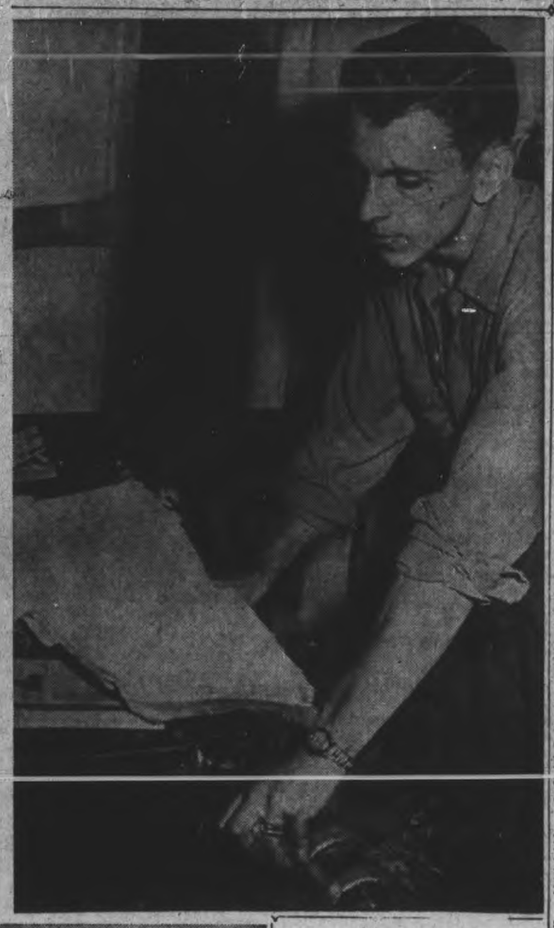
Even pay envelopes have been included in the new order. The older order has changed right down to that weekly bundle of joy. I tasted one today and it was downright pleasure, in spite of the fact that there was nothing in it—for me or for anybody.

There's an unfortunate possibility looming in the future. Envelope makers may turn their product out with multi-flavored flaps. They may even—horrid thought—turn to radio to peddle their newly-delicious wares.

ALWAYS A DANGER

You can hear the syrup-voiced announcer now:

"Ladies . . . have you tried Spitties, the envelopes with the flavored flaps? . . . Hmmmmmmmm? Your kiddies will just jump with joy when they taste them in their seventeen delicious flavors.



"Think of it . . . orange, lemon cherry, lime, banana, chocolate, vanilla, raspberry, strawberry, apple, and seven other wonderful, favorite flavors including corn likker.

"And men, there's one for your mother-in-law to use, too. An entrancing taste delight! A hint of arsenic, a suspicion of strychnine, and perfumed with lavender. Simply beautiful!"

That's what we may be up against, and it's not a pleasant thought, although it seems to me that the advantages overcome the disadvantages.

There remains one sticky field to conquer — postage stamps. What with the cost of living nudging up to new and untried heights, and the income tax being higher, and the international situation being not so good, the government might make an effort to make one thing palatable besides the old age pension.

I've got a flavor to suggest for stamps: distillate of marijuana. That's so we can forget our troubles every once in a while.

Aunt, Uncle Sorry To Send U.K. Boy Home

The aunt and uncle of a 10-year-old British immigrant boy were sorry to send him home, the aunt, Mrs. George Sidley, said Friday.

A Reuters dispatch Friday told of the boy's arrival in Liverpool, and of his promise to return some day to Canada The boy is John Sidley, of Bromley, Kent.

John came to Canada early this summer after bidding England what he thought was a permanent goodbye. Shortly after his arrival here, George Sidley was told he would be transferred to the United States by his firm.

"He liked it very well here," said Mrs. Sidley, who comes originally from Peterborough, England. "He was a friendly boy and got along very well with the children near here (the Sidleys live on Cameron St.) The Sidleys have two daughters of their own.

"We didn't want to send him home; in fact we felt rather badly over it. But we would have had to adopt him legally before taking him to the United States."

FATHER DIED IN WAR

John's father died during the Second World War, and his mother felt he needed the companionship of an older man in the house. So, John was sent to Peterborough.

He spent two months here; happy months for him. He made friends, but to tell the truth, said Mrs. Sidley "He was the youngest in the family and I think he was just a little bit homesick."

Until he is old enough to strike out for himself and return to Canada, John will live in Bromley with his mother and four sisters; he has no brothers.

Jaycees Hope 35,000 Will Take TB Chest X-rays

Arrangements for the Tuberculosis survey being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce this fall were discussed at a meeting in the Library Thursday night.

Carne Bray of the Ontario Department of Health was on hand to explain how the survey should be organized in order to ensure its success.

The Jaycees are hoping that 35,000 people will take advantage of the free survey and they are emphasizing the value of the chest clinic to the health of the community and the county.

It will be held from November 3, to December 5. The T.B. clinic will be visiting all industries and workers will be X-rayed by a mobile unit. Other residents will be examined by a portable unit.

The survey is being paid for by money collected through the annual Christmas Seal Campaign, and is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Peterborough County T.B. Association.

This is the second general T.B. survey of the city that the Jaycees have sponsored.

Frank Booth is general chairman of the committee arranging the survey and James Heffernan, president of the county T.B. association is assisting the chamber in getting it organized.

The committee chairman are: organization, Tony Burns; publicity, Gerry O'Neill; high schools, Wilf Zohr; industry, Don Kingdon; canvas, Ron Balaam, with a clinic secretary and chairman still to be appointed.

Central Mortgage Approves Of New Subdivision Speeds Building Loans

Financing Made Easier For 126 New Homes In Queen Elizabeth Area

Type Of Home Determined For Each Lot

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has approved the Queen Elizabeth subdivision north of the city for loans. That information was relayed Friday afternoon by City Clerk Outram. It lifts the last delaying impediment to the housing project which the city council has been promoting for some months. The 126 lots in that area north of Dumble St. have been allotted to thirteen applying builders. The detail of financing has held up the preliminary progress since the properties were bought and surveyed by the city and offered for purchase by builders.

Finance committee of the council this week declined to alter the down payment item requiring $50 on each lot. It has been suggested that these payments after the $50 was paid on a first lot be reduced to $10 a lot according as they were purchased by a builder.

Approval of the Queen Elizabeth subdivision signifies that the entire project is acceptable to Central Mortgage, and does not have to be approved in single lots as they are taken.

CAN ARRANGE LOANS

Builders of blocks of houses may now arrange for loans from lending agencies, and as is the practice, the mortgages are transferred to the eventual purchaser.

Lots were distributed by the simple method of drawing numbers from a hat. Central Mortgage has adopted another detail or direction after reference to the City of Peterborough's master plan. They have indicated the type of house to be built on each lot, a bungalow here, a storey-and-a-half house there, and so on through the entire 126, or thereabouts.

That plan provides diversity of appearance such as would probably ensue from individual ownership of the lots.

PRICES SET

The lots themselves have been variously priced according to value determined by the city. Preparatory work has been done in the subdivision by City Engineer Chalmers' department, and it was said the other night that it was expected that work on at least 46 houses would be under way as soon as possible.

These houses were planned for sale by the builders to homeowners. As Ald. T. D. Miller remarked, none of them will be "custom-built." People who are interested in them can obtain information at once as to the types of building that will be available, and probably initiate eventual purchase. The land has been priced at virtual cost to the city as an aid in affecting price to the buyer of the completed house. Provision was made to prevent speculation in the lots. As far as possible, the council endeavoured to protect the interest of the buyer who intends to move in.

1.35 Inches Rain Floods City In 2 Cloudbursts

In two cloudbursts Friday afternoon and evening 1.35 inches of rain fell on Peterborough and temporarily plugged drains, but no serious damage was reported.

North of Burleigh Falls the highway which is being constructed and as yet has no top surface was washed out and traffic was slowed up.

The road was washed out in several places, but most serious were two spots near Burleigh. Workers of the construction company building the road turned out to direct traffic through the danger spots in the evening.

Cars were able to get through without being stuck; serious trouble was avoided.

The storm was apparently confined. Apsley received only a few drops.

The first rain storm with a few flashes of lightning swept the city clean for about an hour starting about 2:30. The second just as heavy pelted down from 8:30 to 9 p.m.

The storm was too much for the driver of Bobcaygeon lumber truck, so he pulled off Highway 28 about a mile west of the Central Smith Cheese Factory. It rained so hard, and the shoulder became so spongy, the heavy truck sank in a mire of mud. It took two tow trucks to pull it out on the highway again.

During the heavy rain storm, water flooded the lawn of Herb McFee at the corner of Mark and Hunter St., and opened a gaping hole, about six feet square and three feet deep.

Accident Victim, 14 Condition Improving

Condition of Ernest Trotter, 14, R.R. 4 Peterborough, who was seriously injured Wednesday morning is said to be improved today, and he is undergoing an operation.

The boy was riding his bicycle cut of a township road onto Highway 28, when he was struck by a car. His one leg was broken and he also received serious lacerations on his scalp and abdomen.

It Works

A false alarm sent the fire department on a rush call to Civic Hospital at 7 a.m. today.. It is reported that an employee in the boiler room was showing another employee how the alarm system worked, and it did.

Famous British Scientist Credits Canadian University

By JACK GOLDING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Sir Charles Goodeve, the Winnipeg-born scientist who took much of the terror out of enemy minefields in the Second World War, gives the University of Manitoba a large share of credit for his achievements.

Sir Charles recently was awarded

WINNIPEG SCIENTIST—Sir Charles Goodeve, 47-year-old scientist, formerly of Winnipeg, has achieved a distinguished career in English scientific circles. He developed a wartime method of detonating enemy mines for which he was awarded the O.B.E. Sir Charles, who was educated at the University of Manitoba, later produced an economical method of degaussing (demagnetizing) ships against magnetic mines, saving Britain an estimated £10,000,000. For this he recently was awarded £7,500. He now is director of Britain's Iron and Steel Research Association.

£7,500 by the Royal Commission on Awards and Inventions for his efforts against the menace of magnetic mines. But the 47-year-old scientist, who sailed for Canada aboard the Empress of Scotland Aug. 26, says he could not have perfected his system known as "wiping" if he had not studied water and electric current at the University of Manitoba. At that time he was studying for his master's degree in science.

In an interview, Sir Charles said he would like to get one thing straight—there is no truth in the reports that he invented the "degaussing" method of demagnetizing vessels.

MINESWEEP VICTORY

What he did do was develop the "double L (longitudinal) sweep," whereby minesweepers could detonate enemy mines harmlessly. That was early in the war. The Germans didn't catch on until 1943, and some scientific journals claim this anti-mine weapon was the Allies' first major victory over the Germans in wartime science.

Sir Charles got an O.B.E. for this.

Then, on his own time, he produced an economical method of degaussing ships in the days before Dunkerque. In four days, 400 small ships were fitted with the anti-mine device. This is said to have saved the British government more than £10,000,000, and brought Sir Charles his £7,500 award.

"But I did not develop the degaussing gear for ships," Sir Charles said with modest emphasis. "I did produce the word 'degaussing.'

"It happened one night after a very good dinner. The term 'demagnetization' had been selected to describe the magnetic mine antidote but I felt the Royal Navy would never accept it.

"FRIVOLOUS SIGNAL"

"After all, the army had its 'delousing'—so I coined the word 'degaussing' (from a man named Gauss who developed physical theories regarding units of magnetization). I sent a frivolous signal to the admiralty—and they accepted the designation."

Sir Charles obtained most of his scientific background at the University of Manitoba, leaving there in 1927 to go to Britain "because it was the centre of the scientific world." He was created a knight in 1946 and now is director of Britain's Iron and Steel Research Association.

He sailed from England this week to attend the first meeting of the Faraday Society ever held in Canada. About 200 top scientists from Canada, the United States and other countries will attend the two-day session in Toronto as guests of Canada's National Research Council.

Their subject is "the reactivity of free radicals," which doesn't mean a political study. It concerns the actions of fragments of molecules.

Air Force Sergeant Reaches Family

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—An air force sergeant was joined with his tragedy-stricken family last night after an accident-marked relay race by air to speed him home.

Sgt. Charles R. Buggy, 28, arrived here after a Coast Guard mercy plane lifted him from the troop transport Gen. Alexander Patch 500 miles at sea in the Atlantic Ocean earlier in the day.

Buggy's four-year - old son Charles, Jr., died of polio Tuesday. His other child, six-year-old Kathleen, is in hospital with polio. She is reported in good condition.

Mrs. Buggy, 26, is awaiting critical surgery for a spinal ailment.

Will Hold Hearing On Flood Damages

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The United States engineers announced yesterday a public hearing would be held in Rochester city hall Sept. 16 to hear property owners who claim to have suffered flood damages from high levels of Lake Ontario between Youngstown and Rochester.

The hearing will consider the nature and extent of damages and recommendations for protection. The engineers said it would not take up damage due to erosion or lake level control.

$45,000 Fire

TORONTO (CP)—Two suburban Islington firemen received minor injuries last night in a blaze that swept through a shopping centre west of the city and caused an estimated $45,000 damage. Fire chief Howard Wellwood of Etobicoke township suffered cuts from broken window glass and fireman Brian Mitchell was burned about the hands and arms.

How To Die

CALGARY (CP)—Flash, a leopard in the Calgary zoo from 1939 until last year, came home to die. Flash was sold to a circus last year and died while the show was here recently. He was 23.

London Actor James Donald Forms Company

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Montreal's James Donald, a lanky Canadian with a relaxed, almost off-hand acting style, starting his own stage production company.

So far it comprises only director and secretary—Donald and his dark-eyed English wife, Ann. But soon they hope to be "in the business" as firmly as such stars as Sir Laurence Olivier, Yolande Donlan, Canadian-born Raymond Massey and Shakespearian actor John Gielgud.

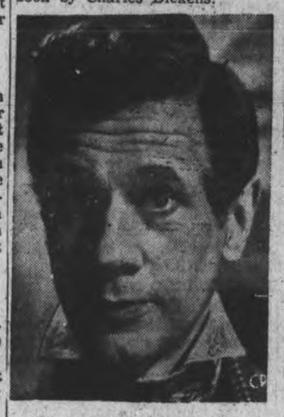
"We're reading plays until our eyes fall out," said Mrs. Donald with a laugh. "James isn't getting much of a holiday."

WORKING IN FILMS

The new company got under way during Donald's two-week vacation from Pinewood studios, where his latest assignment is "The Net," a story about an aircraft research station. The cast includes Phyllis Calvert, Herbert Lom and another Canadian, Robert Beatty of Hamilton.

The 35-year-old Donald, actor son of the late Rev. George H. Donald of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Church, Montreal, starred recently in "Gift Horse," naval epic of a wartime raid on St. Nazaire. He plays a Canadian first lieutenant—"Jimmy The One,"—aboard an over age American destroyer.

The Donalds' first producing venture will be a play by Noel Langley, well-known author and playwright who spent his wartime year in the Canadian navy. It is called "The Gentle Rain" and deals with a Cockney couple in London whose boarding-house provides a rough-cut kindness which makes it an oasis in a desert of lonely city streets.



Production plans are still indefinite. The Donalds don't know when the play will go on.

BORN IN SCOTLAND

Meanwhile James and Ann are hard at work in a small room just off the entrance hall of their Queen Anne house in Highgate Village.

Donald was born in Aberdeen but went to Montreal in 1925, at seven years of age. His two brothers and stepmother are still in Canada. He made his acting debut at McGill University in Noel Coward's "Hay Fever."

His recent films include "White Corridors," with Googie Withers, and the soon-to-be-released "Pickwick Papers." Lionel Murton, another Montreal, also has a part in the latter film adapted from the book by Charles Dickens.

MONTREALER STARS — James Donald, formerly of Montreal, plays the role of Winkle in the British film version of Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers." Donald has had a number of London stage roles and appeared in such British films as "White Corridors" and "Gift Horse." He plans to start his own stage production company.

LARGEST FISHING

From a monetary standpoint, salmon provides the largest fishing industry in Canada, followed by lobsters and cod.

FLAMING ONIONS — These are new-type napalm rockets, called "flaming onions" by Royal Australian Air Force men in Korea. Although only a fraction of the size of the napalm tanks used by UN fighters, they are regarded as more economical against some targets.

Branching Out

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—Saskatchewan's most northerly motor licence bureau has been opened at this new site on Lake Athabasca, 680 miles north of Regina. With some 60 vehicles operating in the area, there have been nine applications for taxi licences.

Cheap House

HAILE, England (CP)—Builder Philip Oakes claims he can build a £2,000-type house for £650 by erecting a shell of metal sheets, joined by sliding rods and keys. Cheap filling like broken bricks, stones and rubble can be poured into the cavities to form an air-blanket.

Hope To Recover Rest Of Gold From Cruiser

LONDON (CP)—The 14,000-ton cruiser Laurentic was torpedoed 12 miles north of Lough Swilly in 1917. She was carrying £4,997,000 in gold bullion to New York.

Between 1918 and 1924, admiralty operations saved most of the treasure despite vicious tides and bad weather conditions. But £100,000 in 20 gold bars still lies amid the battered wreck, now 35 years old and 120 feet straight down.

New equipment has been developed which makes location of the wreck an easier task though conditions in which the divers must work are still dangerous. They must operate head down, under great pressure, often attacked by giant dog-fish and never sure when a surge of water may trap them in the twisted steel.

The salvage ship Topmast 15 is on the spot now. Other treasure has been recovered in the form of two eight-ton bronze propellors worth £1,500 each.

The Laurentic hulk has long been a great challenge to salvage experts. Now the treasury has made a deal with a London firm to search for the balance of the gold.

Among the problems will be reaching the strong room of the sunken ship and eliminating the high-voltage sting of enormous jellyfish caled "Medusa."

Toronto Buys Cars

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Transportation Commission yesterday announced the purchase of 48 used street-cars from the Birmingham Transit Company of Birmingham, Ala.

Build Road To Save Fish Cut Off By Big Rock Slide

HAZELTON, B.C. (CP)—A road hacked 60 miles through wild country near here in a desperate attempt to save millions of fish from destruction is paying off.

The road leads to the big rock-slide on the Babine River that constituted one of the most serious threats ever to face the northern British Columbia fishing industry.

The slide came down a lonely canyon nearly a year ago, blocking hundreds of thousands of sock-eye from their natural spawning grounds in Babine Lake.

The federal Fisheries Department pushed a road through practically unknown country to get at the slide and to devise some means of getting the fish through. The fish do not change their spawning habits, and if they can't reach their natural spawning area they will batter themselves to death in the attempt.

Fish were only "trickling" into Babine Lake earlier this year, but from the slide area to the lake fisheries official now report salmon are completing the five-day run at a rate of more than 3,000 a day.

"It appears certain that at least the vast proportion of the run will get through safely this season," said one official.

A crew at the slide dynamited pools in the river, creating natural fish ladders. At one point they had to get the fish past a 12-foot fall.

Biologists and engineers are seeking a way to clear a permanent channel for the fish. This may mean dredging a new channel or constructing big permanent fish ladders.

Canada Has Large Stake In Prime Minister's Parley

TORONTO (CP)—Canadians have a large stake in the November conference of Commonwealth prime ministers, G. K. Sheils, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

He told a directors' luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition, "we sincerely trust" that out of the conference may come "some concrete proposal for the improvement of our trade with the United Kingdom and the balance of the sterling area."

Despite efforts of Canadian manufacturers to sell goods in the U.S., "it is doubtful if that country will buy from us many of the manufactured goods formerly sold by Canada to empire markets."

MAKE SAME GOODS

"The United States is by far the largest producer in the world of the same kind of goods which we make."

He said "despite its promise at Geneva in 1947 to do so," the U.S. still has not moved to simplify its customs procedure, "a very formidable barrier to the movement of manufactured goods into that country."

"The United States has violated the general agreement on tariffs and trade, to which it is a party, by resorting to the forbidden practice of import quotas."

Canadian manufacturers "are watching with much concern proposals now before Ottawa to open our markets to a flood of low-priced imports from Japan by the extension to her of most-favorable nation tariff treatment.

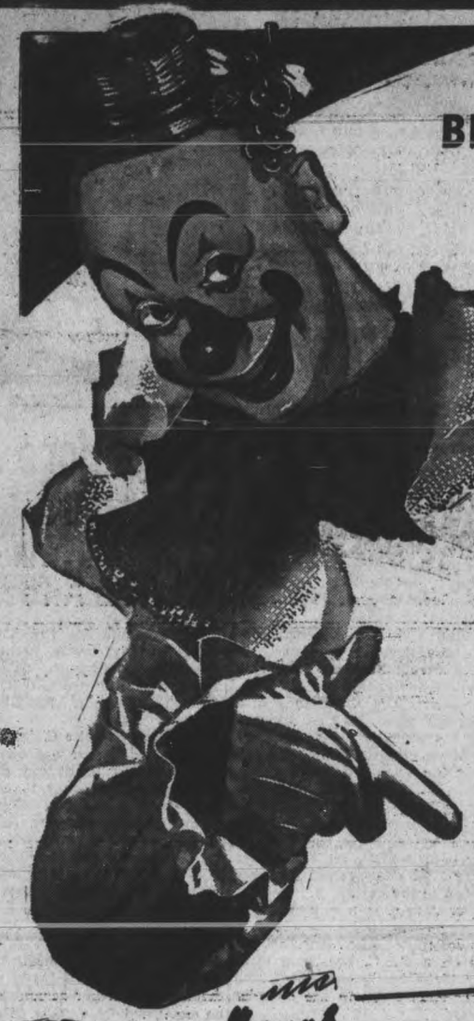
"Japan is not, and will not be, interested in buying our manufactured goods. All she wants from us is our raw materials which, after processing by cheap Japanese labor, she will return to us at prices which, without adequate protection, our Canadian wage rates will not permit us to meet."

WELCOMES INVESTMENT

Mr. Shiels welcomed investment for other countries. Net foreign investment in Canada, "considered as a mortgage on our national wealth," has decreased during the last generation from "19.2 per cent of Canada's wealth to less than five per cent."

Regarding taxation, he said if government considered capital investment as manufacturers do, in terms of "creating jobs for men," they might take a "little more serious view" of a situation under which Canadian companies pay an average of two dollars in tax for every one paid to shareholders.

Mr. Shiels advised labor not to "fumble the ball at this moment of great national opportunity."



Why Your Car Needs Service NOW!

Hot weather driving, blown dust and pollen, have all played hob with your car. The air cleaner needs washing... the oil filter a new cartridge... the crank case a good cleanup. Cooler weather means a new set of adjustments are needed on carburetor, ignition and valve clearances.

This can greatly increase your miles per gallon of gas. Proper periodic care of your car can add years of its life and trade-in value. You'll find our service expert, our prices fair and square.

Polio Outbreak Still Raging Through West

EDMONTON (CP)—Western Canada's polio outbreak shows no signs of slackening. Eastern Canada is experiencing a comparatively mild year.

Already, British Columbia is on the verge of its worst polio year, equal to the count at the end of August in the record year of 1947. Yesterday its case total was 185, August in the record year of 1947. There have been 17 deaths in B.C. so far this year, five more than in 1947.

The outbreak, reaching epidemic proportions in the B.C. Kootenays, the Calgary and Saskatoon districts and southern Manitoba, has put a crimp in many children's activities.

SCHOOL OPENING DELAYED

It has forced the postponement of school openings in 22 western centres, and closed swimming pool Sunday schools, playgrounds and theatres to many children.

It has even affected two of Canada's big army training camps in Manitoba. Troop movements in and out of the Rivers paratroop school are prohibited. There have been 16 polio cases there, two of them fatal. The ban also applied for a time to the Camp Shilo artillery camp but it was lifted yesterday.

An example of how the east has fared better than the west is Ontario, the most heavily populated province. To date there have been 285 cases and nine deaths in that province, compared with 855 cases and 31 deaths at the same time last year.

Warsaw Women Plan October Fowl Supper

WARSAW (ENS)—The August meeting of the Women's Association of the Warsaw United Church was held in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Harold Ray, in charge.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The roll call was answered by a verse containing the word power. Mrs. Parcels gave the report of the flower treasurer. Mrs. G. Taylor and Mrs. Arthur Payne are to be responsible for flowers for the month of September for the church.

The business part of the meeting was making plans for a turkey dinner to be held the Wednesday night following our anniversary services in October. The following committees were appointed: door keepers, Gordon Payne and Allan Edwards; top of stairs, the Rev. George Dyson and Clarence Payne; outside door, Harold Ray and Allan McCracken; tea, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Payne; water, Thomas Hampton; kitchen conveners, Mrs. William Darling and Mrs. Norman Payne; table conveners, Miss C. McCracken and Mrs. Harold Payne, Mrs. Gordon Sharpe and Mrs. E. Bell, Mrs. C. Parcels and Mrs. Clarence Payne; canvassing committee, Mrs. Roland Payne and Mrs. H. Digweed.

Mrs. Digweed and Mrs. Sherwood Payne were appointed to buy turkeys. Mrs. Clysdale and Mrs. Harold Ray were to see about fixing the tables.

Miss C. McCracken had charge of the devotional period. Lunch was served by Mrs. C. Payne, Miss Anna Dewart, and Mrs. G. Taylor.

Anxious Moments

LONDON (CP)—For three hours onlookers watched a four-engined airliner circle the field with 57 passengers aboard at London airport. The plane had developed under-carrier trouble and had to use up fuel before making an emergency landing.

Utility's Surplus

SASKATOON (CP)—The City Electric Utility's surplus for the first six months of this year was nearly $500,000. Officials expect the surplus will pass the $1,000,000 mark before the end of the year, establishing a record.

Large Numbers Of Wild Ducks Endanger Crops

Saskatchewan has a "terrific crop" of wild ducks that could do a great deal of harm to the grain crop. E. L. Paynter, game commissioner of that province, says there are now three ducks for every one in Saskatchewan last fall.

That is something for shotgun sharps to envy. Mr. Paynter said this week several factors had contributed to give the province the far greatest increase in duck population by province or state in in North America. Water was abundant, and there was early feed in the crops that lay under snow all winter and went unharvested until spring.

Drought conditions prevailed all year in the U.S. and ducks migrating from the south to the Dakotas and Montana kept right on until they were joined by others from dry Manitoba.

The normal number and the many other ducks from other areas nested and reared their young in ideal conditions, and with fewer fatalities than usual.

The result: Saskatchewan is teeming with ducks, with the greatest concentration down the west side from the North Saskatchewan River to around Maple Creek and Swift Current.

SCARECROWS

Ducks do the most damage to swathed grain, spreading it around and trampling it down in addition to what they eat; Mr. Paynter said. He advised farmers to set up ten scarecrows to a quarter section where ducks appeared in any numbers, and to discharge his shotgun around them in the early morning and evening to scare the birds away.

Farmers are permitted to shoot birds in order to protect their crops. In applying for permits he must describe his land and list names of men who would assist him in shooting the ducks.

5 Priests Receive Papal Honors

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Five priests and 10 lay members of the Roman Catholic diocese of London have received papal honors, Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of London, announced yesterday.

The five priests have been made monsignors. They include Very Rev. William S. Morrison, St. Thomas, and Very Rev. Edward A. O'Donnell, Chatham.

Lay awards included: Hon. Justice Maurice King, of Stratford, supreme court of Ontario, named Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great; Mrs. P. Michael Dewan, Ingersoll, pro ecclesia et pontifice medal.

Kid's Club

MONTREAL (CP)—Police Director J. Albert Langlois announced that an anonymous donor has given a "beautiful" 100-acre site to be used as a summer camp for members of the Montreal police juvenile clubs. The estate 75 miles northwest of Montreal is termed an ideal spot for young boys to camp out.

For Long Service

HALIFAX (CP) — Charles A. Gough, who became known to thousands of travellers during his 20 years as a sleeping car porter on the Canadian National Railways, has been awarded the Imperial Service Medal. He retired last year after 34 years on the line.

Car Survey

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The per capita distribution of motor vehicles in Sweden is one car for every 17 inhabitants, the Automobile Industry Association said following a survey. This would give Sweden seventh place among the motoring nations of the world.

Knowedge Of Heating Fuels Will Aid Correct Choice

House heating fuels fall into three main classifications—solid, liquid and gas.

Solid fuels include wood, charcoal, coal, coke and miscellaneous other carbon-containing material such as sawdust, wood shavings and chips, peat, etc.

Coal is the principal fuel in percentage of total fuels used for this purpose in Canada. It is the result of vegetation of prehistoric forest which were engulfed in large quantities under enormous pressures and extremely high temperatures, while air for combustion was excluded. The product of this action is found today as coal, lignite, peat, etc., depending on the particular materials, pressures, heats, and time of action involved.

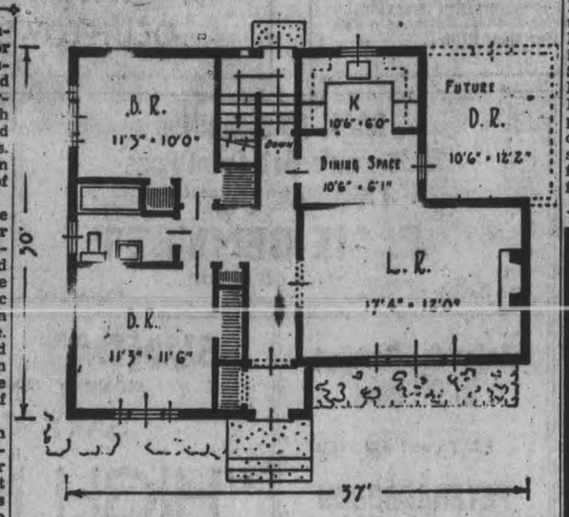
The two principal types of coal are anthracite and bituminous, the difference between these types being that the bituminous contains a high percentage of volatile gas (hydrocarbons) in relation to the percentage of fixed carbon uncombined with hydrogen or oxygen; while the anthracite consists almost exclusively of fixed carbons. Both types have percentages of non-combustibles such as water, rock and slate, and ashes contained in their mass. These percentages range from very small up to nearly a third of the weight.

Generally the more expensive larger sizes of coal are used for hand-firing while the less expensive smaller sizes are best adapted for automatic firing. Thus, the use of small sizes in automatic firing produces some savings in addition to greater convenience. The highest economies and efficiencies are obtained when the firing device and furnace are designed for the type and size of coal to be used.

Coal coke is the fixed carbon and ash of coal, the volatile matter having been distilled off for use as gaseous fuel, leaving most of the fixed carbon as a porous solid fuel. It produces very little smoke, burns freely, and is a favorite for domestic heating in certain section of the country.

Petroleum coke is a byproduct of the petroleum refineries. This fuel comes in two general classes, "coking-still" coke and "crackling-still" coke. The first is a clean, dry, glossy material containing very little volatile matter; while the second is a dull, oily friable material, containing as much as 10 per cent by weight of volatile matter. These cokes produce little smoke, burn very freely and can be burned very satisfactorily in the ordinary furnace.

Wood and charcoal (which is a sort of wood coke) are used in a considerable number of household heating plants. However, their general use for heating is in fireplaces and stoves, or for starting fires in coal-burning apparatus.



Liquid fuels or fuel oils are the heavier oils remaining after crude oil or petroleum is distilled and the naphtha, gasoline, and kerosene removed. The lightest fuel oil is No. 1, the heavier oils being Nos. 2 through to 6. Nos. 5 and 6 are commercial grades, highly viscuous and unsuitable for burning in any but expensive apparatus. The light oils, Nos. 1 and 2, give the best performance in household apparatus, especially with on-and-off cycles of firing.

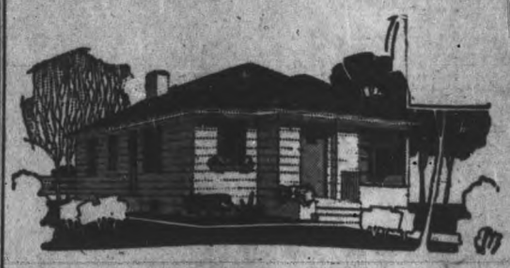
Gaseous fuels are either natural or manufactured, and must be brought to the house by pipes or in containers. Natural gas is generally found underground near the crude oil deposits and is collected at the source and piped to the customers. It has a high heat value and is delivered to customers many miles from its source through piping systems.

Manufactured gas is made by any one of several processes involving the incomplete combustion of chemical breakdown of coals. The chemical composition and heat value of such gases vary considerably according to the process and the coal used. The gases contain varying amounts of carbon monoxide, hydrogen, and hydro carbons which act as fuels, and some percentages of carbon dioxide and nitrogen which are akin to the ash in coals.

Bottled gas is also used in many locations where gas distribution by piping system is unavailable. Liquid butane, propane, or pentane is stored in containers and permitted to vaporize to supply the household equipment through individual systems.

HOUSE NO. 61-51—Facing west, exterior walls are of stucco on metal lath, with the bedroom wing and outside flower box faced with rustic pink Stoney Mountain stone. Roof is rustic red. The plan provides for the addition of a dining room when desired. Bedroom windows are placed high on the wall to provide additional wall space for furniture arrangement. Not shown in the sketch plan below, a 14' x 20' garage is attached to the rear of the house. Other features include an electric fireplace in the living room, a laundry chute on the stair landing, fluorescent lighting in both kitchen and bathroom. The basement provides for a good-sized recreation room and fruit cellar. Cubic contents about 16,600 cubic feet, excluding garage. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Reds Launch Most Blistering Attack On US



VIENNA (AP)—In a broadside against the Austrian government, Soviet Lt.-Gen. V. P. Sviridov gave the Allies a view yesterday of how Moscow feels about western moves to give Austria full independence and end the occupation.

At the regular meeting of the four-power allied control council, the Russian high commissioner launched the most blistering Soviet attack here in seven years on virtually every aspect of the Austrian government from its members down to its school system.

Observers speculated that this was the foundation for the Russian line, should Austria succeed in getting her plea before the United Nations for a state treaty returning her to full sovereignty. The Soviets have blocked all efforts by Britain, the United States and France to end the occupation and permit Austria to rejoin the family of free nations. Austria has said she will try to get the matter before the U.N. general assembly this fall.

NO SYSTEM OF TAXES Under the French regime in Canada there was no general system of taxation.

What Happens After Labor Day Question On Toronto Market

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The question being asked around the Toronto stock market this week was: "What's going to happen after Labor Day?"

Labor Day, psychological end of the summer, usually marks a change in the market. Most traders agree that the volume of shares traded will rise as summer holidays come to an end. This has been the experience in the past.

In an effort to assess the trend, brokers and others now are trying to figure out the second half-year earnings of companies listed on the market.

REPORTS NOT COMPETE

All the reports are not yet in even for the first half-year, but Greenshields and Company of Montreal, says indications are base metals, oils and utilities have done well while papers and golds have registered small declines. However says Greenshields, it would appear that most Canadian corporations will cover by a safe margin their current annual dividends.

International affairs are bound to affect price predictions.

On the Toronto exchange this week, the index for industrials went through a decline and a rise, closing slightly lower than it started. Base metal and western oil indices followed much the same pattern while the gold index drifted irregularly higher.

In Toronto Monday the slight decline started with golds resisting for a small gain. In Montreal, papers gained and industrials held firm. By Tuesday, Montreal papers and industrials had joined the Toronto decline.

SLIGHT RECOVERY

Wednesday saw a slight recovery in Toronto except for western oils but in Montreal the decline continued. Both Toronto and Montreal reported advances Thursday as western oils started to recover at Toronto. Yesterday, prices slipped at Montreal while in Toronto, industrials moved downward. However, western oils, base metals and golds were unaffected on the Toronto market and rose Friday.

Prices started low in New York and the market reported light trading that lasted all week.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto stock exchange indices showed industrials down .56 at 329.19, golds up 1.30 at 95.09, base metals down .12 at 196.49 and western oils down 1.57 at 137.96.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .34 at 31.44, utilities up .02 at 87.40, industrials down 1.8 at 217.2, combined down 1.1 at 173.9, papers down 5.12 at 718.03 and golds up 1.96 at 71.70.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 80 cents to $108.40.

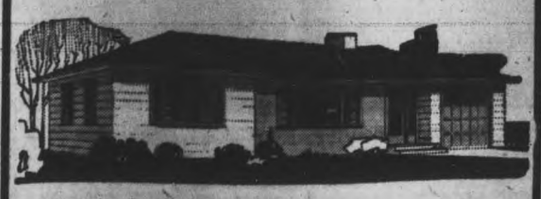
Couple Decide Kiss, Make Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Armand Le Tourneau kissed and held hands in the county jail yesterday and announced they have become reconciled.

The woman, a 28-year-old divorcee who made a 10,000-mile auto trip through several states with 17-year-old James Sherwin, a neighbor, is awaiting sentence on a charge of contributing to his delinquency.



"We intend to start a new life and forget all about the past," Mrs. Le Tourneau told newspaper men.

The couple has a 10-year-old son. Mrs. Le Tourneau took the boy with her on her trip with young Sherwin.

Asked if they were planning a second honeymoon, Le Tourneau smiling told reporters, "it'll be a third one for her."

Reprieve For Slayer

LONDON (Reuters)—Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe yesterday saved child-slayer John Straffen from the gallows by granting a reprieve. Straffen, 22, was to have been hanged next week for the murder of a five-year-old girl during a brief period of escape from the Broadmoor criminal insane asylum.

Inspect Your Home Before Moving Into It

Buying a new home is the largest single investment the average family makes in a lifetime. Because it is such a major event, it is important that an owner be happy and satisfied with his purchase now—but even more importantly, in the future.

A good home is built to last, and the builder has had to comply with rigid standards set forth by various building codes and regulations.

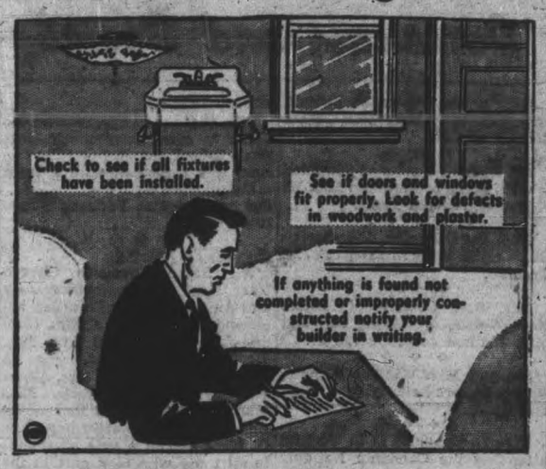
However, every new home—like an automobile — requires careful "breaking in" by the buyer. A few continuing obligations are the builder's, but in general it's up to the buyer to take over this complicated assembly of materials.

You should know your new home as well as your automobile. Its long life and your continued comfort are in many ways dependent upon this knowledge.

Should any minor repairs, due to poor workmanship or defective materials, be needed in the first few months of occupancy, report them to your builder immediately, the association recommends. Within a reasonable length of time a reputable builder will make the necessary repairs.

Home builders do not generally maintain "service departments" and cannot provide personal service on a moment's notice, but will have the plumber, electrician, plasterer, etc., take care of your legitimate requests. Co-operate with your builder.

3,000 PARTS IN NEW HOME



There are some 3,000 component parts in a new home. A general working knowledge of those items is a "must" for every buyer. It will enable the owner to understand more fully the normal results of heat, cold, humidity, expansion, contraction— conditions which affect every new house, wheather the price is $7,000 or $70,000.

After taking title to a new home, take time for a complete inspection of the structure before moving into it. See that everything has been completed as agreed upon. You will be satisfied, and the builder's contractual obligations will be completed.

If items are discovered that, through an oversight by yourself or the builder, have not been completed, these items should be promptly called to the attention of the builder. It is always best to do this in writing. Telephone calls, verbal statements, rough memoranda can often go astray.

For home building has become a large-scale, mass-production industry. The time has passed when all new homes were one-man building operations—the "builder" a combination carpenter, mason, roofer and jack of all trades. Sometimes he was master of none.

Today's "merchant builder" is part of an expertly organized industry, which utilizes the results of constant research for new building materials and designs which add to the beauty, quality and durability of new homes.

ANY ITEMS that have not been completed in your new home should be promptly called to the attention of the builder in writing.

Legion W.A. To Meet

BROCKVILLE (CP)—The annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion begins here Oct. 6. Between 400 and 500 delegates, representing centres all over Ontario, are expected to attend the four-day sessions.

Bad Characters

LONDON (CP)—The Home Office reports crime in England and Wales on the increase. With 524,506 indictable offences, last year's figures are higher than ever before In 1948 the total was 522,684 compared with 283,220 in 1938.

Ontario Soldier Wins Rodeo

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—L.Cpl. L. J Derkatz of Bissett's Creek, Ont., won a "rodeo" contest which proved him tops in his Canadian army service corps unit in handling a truck on Korea's treacherous hills. Then he began to wonder whether it was such a good idea after all.

The "prize" was so heavy he couldn't carry it away. It consisted of an artillery shell mounted on a steering wheel, surmounted by a fly-wheel and an American-type steel helmet. Surrounding the helmet were a collection of wrenches, chisels and other mechanics tools.

But he also got five days leave. That was okay.

Raymond Massey Will Miss Premiere

LONDON (Reuters)—Raymond Massey, actor brother of Canada's Governor-General, Vincent Massey, will miss the London premiere of his first play "The Hanging Judge" next week.

Massey has to return to Hollywood within a few days to start a movie.

He has been in London for several weeks attending rehearsals of the play, which had a successful tryout in Manchester this week.

The Massey play is based on the novel "Let Him Have Judgment" by Bruce Hamilton.

Wouldn't Quit, Fired

TORONTO (CP)—Charles LeBer was fired yesterday as superintendent of Lambert Lodge, city home for elderly persons. Mayor Lamport said he was dismissed for "general incompetence" after being given a chance to resign. Investigation had shown the lodge run "in a most unsatisfactory manner."

Arrest Murder Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced the arrest of Joseph Franklin Bent, Jr., 24, one of its 10 most wanted men, in Texas City, Tex. Bent is wanted in San Diego, Calif., for armed robbery and attempted murder.

Lathers Get Boost

TORONTO (CP) — Lathers in major Ontario cities who have been on strike nine weeks will return to work Tuesday with a 15-cent-an-hour pay increase. Settlement of the strike was announced yesterday.

Western Weather Ideal For Grains

Weather throughout the Prairie provinces has been nearly ideal this week for hastening crop maturity and harvesting operations, C.N.R. reported from Winnipeg Friday.

Yields generally appear to be higher than expected, and some outstanding returns have already been mentioned. Harvesting is well along in Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but wheat harvesting will not be general in Northern Saskatchewan and parts of Alberta for another few days. Central Alberta estimate is 15 to 45 bushels an acre. Half the farmers are straight combining and the others are swathing. There is no blue note in this week's survey.

Destiny Of Empires

took decisions which will lead to a wider application of lower international postal rates for newspapers, magazines, books, maps and printed music. These concessions, based on recommendations by Unesco or inspired by its aims for the free flow of information:

1. Allow all newspapers, books and magazines sent abroad to enjoy a 50 per cent reduction in rates, regardless of sender.
2. Ensure that rates for publications sent abroad will parallel the favourite rates for publications posted within a country.
3. Allow literature for the blind to be mailed free of charge.
4. Broaden an existing scheme permitting payment in national currency, at local post offices, for subscriptions to foreign newspapers and magazines, and their dispatch at low rates.

This service will be greatly simplified, so that many more countries may be able to participate.

Today the Union's members handle over 60,000,000,000 letters annually. Their airliners speed across the skies with tons of mail. This is a far cry from the turbaned horsemen of ancient Persia, the cross-Channel cutters of Queen Elizabeth's time, or the reckless riders of Caesar's day or those of the Pony Express. Yet all who have served the post have been inspired by the same objective—to transmit news and information to the furthest corners of the earth.

Brisson Shows TV Tryout Smart Move

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood thought Frederick Brisson was slipping when he gave a future movie a try-out on television last year. But the producer now says the experiment was a success.

Brisson and his wife, Rosalind Russell, had a film project called "Wave at a WAC." They put the story on TV in a live broadcast for the Playhouse of Stars. Now they are engaged in making the film version for theatres.

"The TV try-out proved of great value," said Brisson. "we got the kinescope, and by running it over and over we could see the flaws in the plot. We changed the entire story line.

"I don't see why the major studios couldn't do the same thing. They have hundreds of stories that have never been filmed. If they would allow these stories to be shown on TV, they could find out which ones would be suitable for movies."

DISCHARGED DON

"I'm through with the service," says Don Taylor. At present he is portraying a Navy man in "60 Saddles for Gobi." He just finished "Pleasure Island," in which he was a Marine. He was in the sub service for "Submarine Command," the infantry for "Japanese War Bride" and "Battleground," marines for "Flying Leathernecks" and the Air Force for "Target Unknown" and "Winged Victory."

"You've got enough points for a discharge, boy," one wit remarked.

THE FIRST DAY AT SCHOOL is always an event ever to be remembered in the life of the child, yes and in the life of the parents also; so suitable clothes are a great help to overcome that strange feeling and make them happy with that day.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Preparing To Start School Take Care Selecting Dress

By NANCY CLEAVER

"I have made Caroline a smart yellow smocked dress for her first day at school," Mrs. Brown told her neighbour proudly. "It's expensive material and has been a lot of work, so she'll just have to take care of it. What is your Junior going to wear?"

Mrs. Cameron hesitated a minute, "I would like to send him off in his new sailor suit, but he wouldn't be a bit comfortable in it. He insists it is just for Sundays. On his first day at school Junior will wear a little wash play suit the same as the other little fellows in our block. As a matter of fact, he vastly prefers his old clothes. Children are funny."

PARENTS ALSO PUZZLING

Children may be funny, but when it comes to clothing a little child for school, parents are sometimes even more puzzling. Of course, mother wants to be proud of her child's appearance on this very special day. Likely she will take a snapshot of him going down the walk, or with a little playmate to keep as a record of how he looked. But it is really much more essential, as Mrs. Cameron knew quite well, that a child should feel at home in his clothes, than that he should don a brand new outfit.

The last thing a kindergarten or first grade youngster wants is to be "different." If his clothes make him feel conspicuous or ill at ease, he is "out of things." He needs to feel that he belongs, and so it is a help for him to look like "the other kids." Boys especially dread the taunt of being, "Mother's pet," or "A sissy."

From the teachers point of view, she likes to see the children in clothes which are attractive and practical. Mother has only one or two or perhaps three small youngsters in her home, but the teacher's "family" comprises twenty or thirty little folk.

HELP TO TEACHER

It is a great help to her if Junior's clothes are made so that he can manage his own zipper or buttons when he goes to the toilet. On rainy days, the teacher will be thankful if the majority of children have large enough rubbers, marked with their names, and if they can take them off and put them on themselves.

Clothes in September are usually fairly simple. But when it comes to winter time, the teacher hopes her small charges will have snow suits and goloshes which they can remove and dress in themselves, without any assistance. After all, she has only one pair of hands, the time for recess or even the noon break is brief enough. If the scholars are independent, the teacher has more free time.

This first day of school will be much more satisfying for a child if mother talks about it beforehand as an experience which he will enjoy. A good mother hides the little tug at her heart that her "baby" is a baby no longer but entering into a new phase in his life. Teacher shares a place in a child's heart along with mother and dad from now on, if she is a likeable person.

A BIT TERRIFYING

Mother wants her child to look forward to school, to playing and working with other children, to learning new ideas and discovering how to do different things. By anticipating a happy experience, the mother prepares a son or daughter to enter wholeheartedly into this world of school.

The unknown is always a bit terrifying. Mother will want to take away some of this fear of the strange adventure ahead. She will tell little stories about when she started to school, little friends she knew, teachers she liked.

A few days before school opens, Mother will walk to school with the child and remind him to stop at the corner, listen and look both ways and wait till the way is clear before crossing. Just in case he should get lost or be in an accident, he should be able to repeat clearly his name address and phone number. Mother will also try to make sure that her child knows at least one other youngster who is starting to school in the same class.

A physical check up by the doctor and dentist, and the eye specialist too if necessary, are also important. Many a child is handicapped in school by some small physical defect. There are many ways of preparing a child for school.

Is your child ready for his new adventure?

What's Right

You make an error that makes you feel ridiculous and you are afraid you will be laughed at.

WRONG: Try frantically to cover up the mistake.

RIGHT: Laugh at yourself, knowing that if you do so others will laugh with you, not at you.

✧ ✧ ✧

When a member of a friend's family dies the family asks that no flowers be sent.

WRONG: Send flowers anyway.

RIGHT: Express your sympathy in some other way. A note telling of your sincere sympathy would be appreciated.

Scottish Girl Awarded Scholarship

GLASGOW (CP)—A Scottish girl, 29-year-old Margaret Clerk of Glasgow, has been awarded a scholarship to the United States by the International Research Fund to study the problems of left-handed people.

Herself left-handed, Miss Clerk is one of the leading Scottish experts on this subject. She has lectured in Denmark and Sweden, and while in the United States will do research work and discuss with teachers her discoveries and conclusions.

Miss Clerk says that writing is the biggest difficulty for the left-handed person. She found that a surprisingly large number of teachers force their pupils to write with their right hand.

Ample Figures Find Favor Still In Russia

MOSCOW—Russians still prefer ample figures with full curves.

Although women's styles have changed a great deal in this country, they seem to want no part of the tall, thin, narrow-hipped and generally flat-chested silhouette so often favored in some parts of the west.

Nowadays the women in the cities have high-heeled shoes, manicures, permanent waves, silk and nylon stockings and the skirt lengths often change with the years.

Russian women don't go in much for girdles, and artificial fronts are as unheard of as polar bears on the downtown streets. The bra, however, is in common usage and usually of simple design.

Taxes Too Heavy To Sell Paintings

LONDON (CP)—Sir Alfred Munnings, noted 74-year-old artist who specializes in painting racehorses, says he turned down an offer to paint the Aga Khan's Tulyar, this year's Derby winner. He declined the commission because while it's hard enough to paint a horse, it's harder to avoid surtax on the proceeds.

His paintings in the Leicester galleries in 1947 sold for £21,000, but Sir Alfred says the tax was so high his net gain was hardly worth mentioning.

"Yet the problem may be a blessing in disguise," he says. "If I decide to keep rather than sell a picture, I may, on seeing it later with a fresh eye, discover a multitude of faults and while attacking bad passages I am able to realize the wonders of taxation. Art is long, life is short."

Newfoundland Handicrafts Rouse Interest

TORONTO (CP)—Some 20,000 daily visitors are finding a little bit of Newfoundland at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Handiwork of fishermen's wives —hand-woven scarf rugs, hooked rugs, baskets and hand-carved ivory figures—are on display in the Grenfell Mission exhibit.

Life on the island province is mirrored in the rugs—gay and sombre by turn. Carefully worked designs show wild geese in flight against a stormy sky, schooners, fishing dories and village homes.

Prices on the work run from 50 cents to $25, and Dorothy Plant, director of the handicrafts centre at St. Anthony, says that more and more outlets are being opened across Canada.

Miss Plant, whose home is in Niagara Falls, Ont., says that just holding a needle tires her but says this does not handicap her in administrative duties.

Grace E. Millage Becomes Bride Of Wallace Finnie

Miss Grace Evelyn Millage, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Millage of Lakefield, became the bride of Mr. James Wallace Finnie in a quiet ceremony at the bride's home today.

Only members of the immediate families were present.

Mr. Finnie is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Finnie, Charlotte Street, ePterborough.

The marriage was performed by the Rev. Steed of Lakefield, and Mrs. T. Chaplin played the wedding music.

The bride chose a pale dusty rose suit with navy accessories, and wore a corsage of gardenias and pink roses.

Mrs. K. W. Morris, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a light grey suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Finnie left for a short wedding trip. They will live in Peterborough.

Fall Meeting Of Hadassah

TORONTO. — The full national executive of Canadian Hadassah will hold its first meeting of the season in Montreal, September 15 and 16. National president Mrs. D. P. Gotlieb of Winnipeg will preside.

The National Council of Canadian Hadassah will convene Tuesday afternoon, September 16. Speaker will be Mrs. A. P. Schoolman, U.S. Hadassah leader and co-chairman of the Youth Aliyah management committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

A series of Hadassah regional conferences will be held in various sections of the country in the early fall months. First of these will be a combined conference of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan regions, to be held in Winnipeg, September 7 and 8. Speakers will include Mrs. Avraham Harman, member of the Israeli delegation to the United Nations and wife of the former Israeli Consul-General in Canada, and A. M. Klein, author and lecturer.

Alberta Hadassah regional conference will be in Edmonton, October 19 and 20, and on November 1 and 2 the Maritimes, including Newfoundland, will hold a combined conference in Fredericton.

Set Up Registries Mary Baker Dies

LONDON, Ont., — (CP). — Mary Madalene Baker, 51, Reg. N., who organized the central nursing registries of Ontario and Prince Edward Island, died suddenly Friday of a heart attack while vacationing at Port Stanley.

A graduate of the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing here, and an early president of the hospital's Nurses' Alumnae, she was secretary of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario.

Born at Cranbrook, Ont., she had lived in London for the past 35 years and was a member of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church.

She leaves three sisters, Sister M. St. Anthony of St. Joseph's Hospital; Mrs. Bert Bowsfield, Fort Kent, Alta., and Mrs. L. F. Killoran, Edmonton.

PUTS LOVE ABOVE PARTY—University student Mary Johnson, 23 (right), quit her alleged membership in the Communist party at Ratcliffe on Wreak, England, when the party demanded that she renounce her fiance, Tony Matthews, 21 (left). Matthews had been revealed as an anti-Red spy for Scotland Yard. The Daily Worker carried a picture of the young lady, advising party members that she had been expelled from Red ranks.

Eastern Ontario Institute Holidays At Kemptville

The first Eastern Ontario Women's Institute holiday was held at Kemptville Agricultural School this week. The visitors were welcomed by A. M. Barr, principal of Kemptville Agricultural School, Miss Ruth Rorke the school's Director of Home Economics, and by Mrs. R. G. Purcell, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, and Miss Anna P. Lewis, director of the Ontario Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service.

The opening event of the holiday was a "hayrack ride," a tour of the School Farm in a hayrack drawn by a tractor, to inspect the experimental plots. In the evening there was a play party, a session of singing followed by games and folk dancing led by Miss Orphie Orr of Community Programs Branch, and with Mrs. Halpenny of Lanark at the piano. There was another most enjoyable evening when Miss Rorke and Miss Lewis gave a showing of colored pictures taken on their trips abroad.

In the interest groups that featured the morning programs — "Design in Homecraft" conducted by Miss Audrey Spencer, "Design in Furniture" by Miss Jeanne Armour, "The Appreciation of Poetry" by Miss Ethel Chapman, all leaders from the Women's Institute Branch, the women entered wholeheartedly into the discussions.

They were also ready with questions for their guest speakers, Mr. W. M. Croskery, agricultural representative for Carleton County, who spoke on "Farmstead Improvement."

On the last afternroon the women were taken to see the forestry station near Kemptville, and the district forester, Mr. W. E. Steele, discussed with them how the Women's Institutes can help in the provincial conservation program.

GUARDED from Birth

Doctors and nurses in Canada's leading maternity hospitals rely on a tested weapon with which to protect both mother and child from the risks of infection. They use 'Dettol' the modern antiseptic.

. . . in the home as in the hospital . . .

DETTOL REG'D
The Modern Antiseptic

THE REASONS
which prompt the use of 'Dettol' in the hospital apply equally to the home. Here is why 'Dettol' should be kept on hand as
'YOUR FAMILY ANTISEPTIC'
1. 'Dettol' is a ruthless killer of the germs that cause so many infections.
2. 'Dettol' is non-poisonous. Important where there are young children.
3. 'Dettol' is kind and gentle to human tissues.
4. 'Dettol' is safe: so safe that it can, in emergency, be used at full strength.
5. 'Dettol' does not stain either linen or the skin.
6. 'Dettol' is the 'all-round' antiseptic: for use in major illnesses, and for use when minor injuries such as cuts, scrapes and bruises need immediate attention and protection.

DOROTHY DIX

Must Make Boy Respect Her Convictions

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I have been going with a boy 19—four years older than myself. He, of course, has been around more than I have. What can I do when this boy parks? I like him, but not well enough to neck and pet with him. What can I do as I would like to continue seeing him, but still would like to keep petting out of our friendship?

ANXIOUS NORA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The petting problem makes its appearance in the early stages of practically every boy-girl friendship, and it is a wise girl, indeed, who learns how to handle it. Such wisdom is by no means dependent on age. Lassies in their twenties prove themselves completely incapable of dealing with its complexities, yet 15-year-old Nora evinces strong inclinations to keep petting in the background.

In this, as in practically all teenage problems, your mother would be your best counsellor, Nora. It is too bad that so often a barrier exists between mother and daughter that precludes confidences of this sort; it is the fortunate girl whose mother has never let the barrier arise.

GIRL SETS STANDARDS

By the time a girl is old enough to date—which should be about the age of 15—she should be old enough to realize her responsibilities in handling the petting problem. For on this point, you may be absolutely sure, it is the girl who must set the standards. That is one of her inherent responsibilities.

Since it is easier to forestall than to handle it full blown, the best way to keep control of the petting situation is not to let it get out of hand in the first place. Learn to say a firm "no," on which your escort realizes there will be no compromise. The right type of boy will respect your convictions and defer to them. The wrong type of boy—for you, at least—will indicate quite clearly his unworthiness to be included in your circle of friends.

One thing I would advise, Nora. Apparently your difficulties occur in parked cars. One way to avoid this particular dilemma is to avoid riding with boys, especially at night. If your particular young man persists in parking, simply advise him that henceforth you won't ride in a car with him. He will change his tactics quite speedily, I assure you. Continue to show that you expect courteous treatment on a date, and it will assuredly be given you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17 and like a boy 18. However, we can't date because he plays on a baseball team, and the manager says "no dating!" ANNE G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since the baseball team is your friend's livelihood, he has no alternative but to obey the manager's rules. You too must abide by them until the season is over. It's no fun, but after all you have the thrill of knowing a baseball hero, and it's such sacrifices as yours that make a winning team!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been a widower for six months and am very lonely. There is a widow in the apartment house where I live. I asked her to go for a ride in my car and she refused, but said I should ask her again. I would like to offer her the use of a vacation cabin I own (which I cannot use this year). Do you think she would accept? LONELY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A gracious offer should always be graciously considered, so I'm sure your widow would appreciate your thoughtfulness. Perhaps she is not in a position to accept the cabin, but she could not take exception to your kindness. She, undoubtedly, is very lonely, too, so I hope she accepts your next invitation to go out.

DEAR MISS DIX: Although I am 18, I don't look more than 14. How can I make myself look older? BARBARA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There isn't much you can do to alter the looks God gave you. Perhaps a trifle more sophistication in your clothes will do the trick, but don't exaggerate the glamour.

FOR MONDAY, SEPT. 1

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: Find your recipes delicious. I wonder if you could give me fruit cocktail for canning . . . also devilled spareribs made with catsup or tomato juice. — Mrs. James B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

CANNED FRUIT SALAD

(This is the only recipe I own for what you want. It is not in any cookbooks that I have or know of So if other readers are interested in this I would be grateful if you would clip it now. The mail is very heavy and I have very little time or space for repeats.)

One-half 6-quart basket EACH finest peaches and pears, 5 oranges, 1 grapefruit, 5 cups water, 5 cups sugar, 1 medium-sized bottle maraschino cherries. Make a syrup of the water and sugar. Peel and cut up peaches and pears in shapes as you would for fruit salad. Cook in syrup, about 5 minutes before they are tender add the peeled and sectioned and membraneless oranges and grapefruit. At the last minute add the drained cherries which have been cut in halves. Pack in sterile jars (about 5 quarts) and seal. If desired a 20-oz. tin canned cubed pineapple and its juice may be added when oranges are. When this is opened serve as it, OR add sliced bananas and seeded imported or green seedless grapes.

DEVILLED SPARERIBS
(Also Called Barbecued)

In bottom of deep baking dish place layer of short meaty spareribs, cover with layer of sliced onions, then pour over some barbecue sauce (see below). Repeat these 3 layers. Cover tightly. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 2 hours, uncovering during last ½ hour.

Barbecue Sauce: Mix together ½ cup catsup, 1 cup water, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce, ⅛ teaspoon chili powder, ½ teaspoon mustard, 1 tablespoon brown sugar. This sauce may be used on loin or shoulder pork chops in the same way, but cooking time is shorter.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: (From Mrs. Marion L., whom I answered yesterday with the corn relish recipe . . . also wants pickled pears and suggestions for uncurdling scalloped potatoes.)

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

PICKLED PEARS

Seven lbs. medium-sized winter pears (preferably Beckel), 2 cups sugar, ¾ cup light corn syrup, 1 cup spirit vinegar, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon whole ginger, 1½ teaspoons whole cloves, 1 cinnamon stick broken. If pears are very small pare but do not core or stem them. If large pare, halve, core and stem. Place immediately in water to which you have added ¼ cup vinegar to prevent browning. Combine remaining ingredients and heat them to boiling. Drain pears and add to vinegar-syrup and bring to boil and boil 3 minutes. Fill into hot sterile jars, filling to overflowing with boiling syrup. Seal to within ⅛ turn of tight and process in hot water bath at boiling point for 15 minutes. Drain and cool out of draughts at once.

Two things reduce curling hazard in scalloped potatoes: (1) soak the sliced potatoes for ½ hour and drain them well before adding flour and salt and milk: (2) do not use flour and bake uncovered at 275 deg. Fahr. for 2 hours with milk covering surface of potatoes for ½ inch when started. The slow long cooking with added butter is my method — but potatoes from some areas will curdle in spite of all your care.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Have you a recipe for pickled watermelon rind . . . we used to live in dear old Winnipeg so got a kick out of your trip.—Mrs. F. H. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am so glad you enjoyed me mentioning Winnipeg. I have ever so many nostalgic notes from readers who had or do live in towns I visited.

PICKLED WATERMELON RIND

Cut white skinless rind of watermelon into 1½ inch pieces —you need 6 lbs. Cover with water, boil 15 minutes and drain. Combine 2 cups sugar, 1 and one-third cups light brown sugar, 1 cup pale corn syrup, 2 cups spirit vinegar, 2 cups water, 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon, 1 teaspoon each allspice and cloves, 2 lemons sliced. Heat to boiling, add drained watermelon rind, cover and boil until rind is clear —about 30 minutes. If desired spice oils may be used in place of ground spices, to taste —add sparingly and green vegetable coloring to color. Pour into about 6 pint jars which are sterile and seal.

6—In Memoriam

FORBES—In loving memory of a dear dad, George J. Forbes, who passed away August 30, 1949.
Dear Dad you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Bertha Bothwell, Donald Bothwell and children.

GOODWIN—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, H. H. Goodwin, who passed away August 30, 1949.
Time goes on with many changes
Joys and sorrows, smiles and tears,
But the memory will be cherished
With the passing of the years.
—Lovingly remembered by the family.

McMANUS—In loving memory of Mrs. Ruby McManus who passed away August 30, 1950.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

McMILLAN—In loving memory of my mother, who passed away September 1st, 1948.
It's lonesome here without you, mom,
and sad the weary way;
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
If we had all the world to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more
To hear her voice and see her smile,
And greet her at the door.
So you who have a mother cherish her with care;
You'll never know a heart-ache
Until you see a vacant chair.
—Always remembered by daughter Jean.

RENDELL—In loving memory of our grandfather, Sidney Rendell, who passed away August 30th, 1950,
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Sadly missed by granddaughter, Norma, husband Ernie and great grandson Johnny.

RENDELL—Sidney, In loving memory of father, who passed away August 30, 1950.
The rolling stream of life rolls on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
—Always remembered by son, Leslie and family.

RENDELL—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Sidney Rendell, who passed away two years ago today, Aug. 30, 1950.
You're not forgotten father dear
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by daughter, Marjorie, granddaughters, Barbara and Faye.

RENDELL—In loving memory of a dear husband, Sidney Rendell, who passed away two years ago August 30, 1950.
Peacefully sleeping resting at last
His weary trial, and troubles are past
In silence he suffered in patience he bore
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Sadly missed by wife Florence.

Balloons Gather Data On Cosmic Rays

OTTAWA (CP)—Seventeen miles above the earth balloons equipped with complicated apparatus are gathering scientific data on one of the mysteries of the ages—cosmic rays.

National Research Council scientists here say the rays are not really rays in the common sense. They are particles of matter smaller than atoms, but charged with billions of volts of energy.

They are believed to come from the sun or the stars, and travel at speeds approaching that of light —186,000 miles a second.

Little is known about them.

INTERNATIONAL QUEST

For the last three years scientists here and in other countries have been sending up free balloons equipped with photographic and geiger-counter equipment in an attempt to learn more of the rays' secrets.

Dr. Eric Pickup, 38-year-old British scientist in charge of cosmic investigations for the Council here, said that although the particles have energies beyond anything yet produced by man, it is doubtful if they can ever be harnessed for man's use. Some way would have to be found to focus them in a steady stream down to earth.

The balloons used are of rubber and about six feet in diameter. On reaching the stratosphere, they expand to about 35 feet and then burst, dropping their equipment by parachute. The ascent takes about two hours and the balloons float around in the stratosphere five to six hours before they begin to fall.

From impressions on their photographic equipment, scientists measure the intensity, speed, composition and other data about the cosmic particles.

Sometimes the balloons are never seen again. But many farmers pick them up in their fields and report them to the Council.

Recently, Dr. Pickup said, a cosmic investigation balloon sent up from the Ottawa laboratories was tracked by radar across the United States border where it eventually came down after being investigated by United States Air Force planes.

Robs Cashier, Gives Her Kiss

WINDSOR (CP) — A man walked into a crowded downtown restaurant last night, forced the cashier to give him $150, kissed her, and strolled out unmolested.

The man handed the cashier, Marcia Hogan, 21, a note which read "Give me the money or I'll kill you."

Miss Hogan told police the man held his hand in his pocket as though he were aiming a gun. She handed him loose bills from the cash register.

The bandit, she told police, then stepped behind the counter, kissed her soundly, walked out and was lost in a stream of passers-by.

She said she was too startled to scream.

Public Accountant Forms New Party

MONTREAL — (CP) —A 45-year-old Montreal public accountant announced Friday the formation of a new political party called the Canadian Democratic Party.

He said it is interested in sponsoring candidates for election in the municipal, provincial and federal fields.

In a statement, Romuald D'Aoust said he believed his party has the answer to tthe problem of "happier living" through the extension of free enterprise, principally by greater decentralization of government services.

His 10-point party platform included proposals that income tax exemptions be increased, a government loan service be established and the 10 provincial premiers become members of the federal cabinet.

D'Aoust's statement did not indicate the size of his group's membership.

1812 ON PARADE — With over 6,500 people attending, university students employed as guards and guides at Old Fort Henry, Kingston, Ont., during the summer, stage Formal Guard Mount and drills in competition with personnel from the Royal Canadian Artillery. The Old Fort Henry Guards were dressed in uniforms worn in 1812 and drilled and carried out ceremonial functions according to standards for British Infantry in 1812. The Royal Canadian Artillery troops drilled and mounted guard according to the latest Infantry Drill Regulations of the Canadian Army. The occasion marked a period of 61 years since the fort was previously garrisoned by regular or permanent force troops.

Many Cattle Expected In Fair

While trying to keep up with fuel orders in these days of the halcyon and to do something through council in putting a brake on nocturnal truck drivers, Ald. H. T. Rehill has also on his hands the publicity job for Peterborough Exhibition.

And, he isn't declining any help, either. Intimation to him from G. A. Gillespie's office expects the biggest cattle show since Johanna Rag Apple Pabst was a sucking calf. That's quite a while as Stan Wood knows.

Holstein cattle entries have already passed the 100 mark, and the list of Guernseys has reached 60, to say nothing of the Ayrshires, Jerseys and milking Shorthorns.

Word comes from Jim Brown of Newcastle that when he gets back in his own Central Ontario league he does not expect to do so well as at Ottawa Exhibition last week.

Jas. T. Brown and Sons with some of the Central Durham Bull Club animals as extras had 17 or 18 entries at Ottawa, and picked off the major championships and an array of other prizes, cutting quite a swath through the Holstein division of the Capital show.

J. T. Brown's Holsteins are already booked for the Peterborough 'Ex". They comprise just one of the Black and White entries.

Robert H. Goodfellow

A funeral service was held on Friday in the Comstock Funeral Home for Robert Harvey Goodfellow, 59 Wright Avenue, Toronto, who died Wednesday at his home, in his 69th year.

Mr. Goodfellow was born in Peterborough and lived here many years before going to Toronto. He was a son of Robert Goodfellow and Sarah Ann Wilson, both deceased.

He is survived by his widow, the former Edna Jeanette Willmott, and a daughter, Mrs. W. B. Thomas (Jean) of Ingersoll.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas officiated at the service. Pallbearers were Walter Chatterson, Harold Faulkner, George Goodfellow, Harry Barrett, Jack Sinclair, and Robert Goodfellow.

Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

And Provide Music?

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—This west coast Newfoundland town has imported 300 frogs for a horticultural job. The croakers have been distributed in flower-filled areas to keep down insects.

A TINY DEER, a week old and only six inches tall, nuzzles the face of veterinarian Glen G. Crosbie at the San Diego, Calif., zoo. The fawn is a Chinese Muntjac deer and even when it is fully grown will stand no higher than 12 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Clarke from Chicago have been visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Clarke.

M.O.H. Warns City Parents

An injury to a small boy in Jackson Park this week from a metal tipped arrow has prompted acting Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Harry Wright, to remind parents of the danger in permitting children to have weapons such as bows and arrows, B.B. guns and sling shots.

"People just don't realize the danger of allowing children to play with them," said Dr. Wright.

Fortunately, the youngster was not seriously hurt; the arrow struck him in the cheek. However, it could just as easily have cost him the sight of an eye.

Dr. Wright points out that a great many children are seriously injured in such accidents which can be avoided.

What may be regarded as a toy by both the children and their parents, can be a potentially dangerous weapon if the children who use them are not aware of the danger of shooting bows and arrows, air guns and sling shots where there are other small children around.

Truck Driver Jailed For Thirty Days

HAMILTON—Clarence Sholer, 28, who disappeared after an accident on Main St. W. Tuesday, was sentenced to 30 days in jail Friday.

Sholer, driver of a truck which precipitated a four-vehicle rear end collision, pleaded guilty to charges of driving while his license is suspended, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and careless driving.

Magistrate Hugh Arrell imposed sentence of 30 days on the first two charges and seven days on the third charge. The sentences are concurrent.

Organized Labor Wins Skirmish On Union Shop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized labor last night won a big skirmish in its fight for the union shop by persuading eastern railroads to agree to the compulsory union-membership provision.

Long negotiations between the eastern carriers and 17 non-operating unions ended with an agreement giving the unions their demands.

Spokesmen said that there were important qualifications to the agreement, letting some groups of workers out of the requirement that they become union members. The extent of these exemptions was not immediately determined.

ONLY PORTION AFFECTED

A number of the eastern carriers already have the union-shop agreement. This means that only a portion of the estimated 400,000 non-operating employees of the eastern carriers now will come under the union-shop proviso for the first time.

An emergency board, named by President Truman, recommended several months ago that all United States railroads negotiate an ironclad union-shop agreement with all the non-operating unions in a single set of negotiations.

However, the southeastern railroads refused to discuss the matter. Talks between the unions and the western carriers broke off a few days ago.

Battling Skunk Brings Trouble

WALKERTON (CP)—A skunk's revenge had a somewhat lasting effect on a Walkerton resident.

The man battling the skunk invasion set a trap and caught a skunk. He called a photographer to record his catch, and, as the two men fired—one with a camera, and one with a .22 rifle—the skunk fired first.

The trapper's troubles then began in earnest. He went home for a change of clothes, but his wife wouldn't let him in. However, she was sympathetic, and handed him some clothes through a window.

He went down to his store, but he was again friendless, and was refused admittance.

The Sauguen River was the next stop, he took off his clothes, jumped in, and soaked for two hours.

Then Magistrate Otto McClevis took the man to a store, and sprayed him with two bottles of perfume.

His wife then let him in.

Coe Hill Minister Called To Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Rev. J. R. Wheeler, pastor of the United Church, Coe Hill, has accepted an invitation to become pastor of the churches on the Roseneath charge. The congregations on the charges include: Roseneath, Fenella and Centenary.

There has been a vacancy on this charge since the last of July when Rev. R. C. White tendered his resignation and accepted a call to Bobcaygeon charge.

The Rev. Wheeler expects to take up his duties on Sunday, October 5, when anniversary services will be held in Roseneath United Church.

Doctor Has Stormy Trip

BOSTON (AP)—A New Zealand physician bound for graduate study at Harvard has arrived in Peru with his family after a stormy 6,750-mile voyage from Wellington in his 48-foot ketch Miru, the university said last night.

Dr. Thomas A. R. Davis battled hurricane winds in the Pacific and arrived last Monday in Callao. The craft's diesel oil tanks were empty and the food supply had dwindled to a lone can of bully beef.

The Miru managed to make the last few miles into port by running the auxiliary engine on kerosene from the vessel's galley stove.

With the doctor are his wife Lydia, their two sons, John 5 and Timothy, 10, and two New Zealand crew members. The journey from Wellington began May 31.

The next leg of the voyage here is about 3,000 miles.

Falls Worker Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Duro Duranovich, 46, of Toronto, yesterday died in hospital after being struck on the head by a piece of loose rock in the Chippewa tunnel, near Niagara Falls, five days ago. He suffered a fractured skull.

Guard Disciplined

TORONTO (CP) — John Armstrong, a Don Jail guard who allowed prisoner Thomas Cunningham to walk away from a work party, was given a 10-day suspension without pay.

Railway Makes Its Last Run

BROCKVILLE (CP)—The old Brockville and Westport Railway today makes its last run from here to Westport on the 45-mile track it has been operating over since March 4, 1888.

To the Canadian National Railways it is another short line not paying its way. It has run up deficits of $400,000 during the last six years. Last year alone it was down $83,035.

It was originally designed to connect Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie with the Northern Pacific line, but it never went beyond Wesport.

Two Drowned

MONTREAL (CP)—Two men were drowned yesterday when the roof of a 400,000-gallon water tank on which they were working collapsed. Yvon Aubin, 24, of nearby Pont Viau and Charles Bouchard, 23, of Montreal were shoveling earth on the tank to protect it from frost when the cement roof caved in, hurling them into the water.

Mine Sinks Tug

TOKYO (AP) — The 205-foot United States navy tug Sarsi struck a mine and sank within 20 minutes off the east coast of North Korea at midnight Wednesday, the navy announced here today. Two crew members were killed and three are missing.

N.W. Territories Tea-Talk Topic

OMEMEE (ENS).—An interesting feature of the afternoon tea and parcel post sale sponsored by two groups of Christ Anglican Church Guild Wednesday afternoon, was a talk by Miss Audrey Weir.

Miss Weir, who is a daughter of the late Rev. A. T. Weir, a former rector of Christ Church, has just returned from spending a year as teacher of a Federal Government school at Tuktoyaktuk, N.W.T. She gave an interesting account of her trip there by plane from Edmonton, and life in that Eskimo town in the land of the midnight sun.

Tuktoyaktuk is situated on the Arctic Ocean near the mouth of the Mackenzie river. There, said Miss Weir, the sun never shines from December 1st to January 15th, but even on the darkest day there are two or three hours of daylight. The sun never sets from May 1 to August 1. When asked if one could sleep as well in daylight she said "Yes, they simply pull down the blinds. Their sleeping hours are not too regular, but the lowered blinds indicate the occupants are in bed and you call later." To sleep in was a quite legitimate reason for being late to school.

The Western Eskimos nearly all have some white blood but they are still nomadic to a certain extent. They do not live in igloos but usually in log houses. They live by fishing, trapping, hunting and working on Hudson Bay Co. boats in summer.

There are no trees on the Arctic coast but many shrubs and flowers, and long grass. Miss Weir thought it a beautiful country, both in winter and in summer, and said she spent a really enjoyable year in spite of the fact that there were only eight whites at the post. She did church work on the side, about which she will report later when her illustrative material arrives with her trunks.

The freighter, which will carry 20,850 tons of ore or 625,000 bushels of grain, was named after the president of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Co. Ltd.

Hampton Man Exhibits Sheep Champion At C.N.E. Livestock Show In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Television moved in on Press, Radio and Advertising Day at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday.

Mavor Moore, CBC television producer, told the daily directors' luncheon that Canadians must make the new medium the servant and not the master of their times. He said CBC television, which officially starts in Toronto Sept. 8, aimed at reaching a middle ground between education and entertainment.

The day's attendance was 156,500, 14,000 more than on the corresponding day of 1951. Total for the first seven days of the exhibition stands at 1,310,000 compared to 1,282,500 a year ago. Officials hoped today might bring a record. The high for a single day was established last year with 294,000 on the correponding day—the second Saturday, Manufacturers and Athletic Day.

Among the guests at the luncheon were: Allan Holmes, publisher of the Galt Reporter; Roy H. Thomson, president of The Canadian Press; Cliff Wingrove, sales manager of radio station CKTB, St. Catharines, Ont.

SHEEP STAR

Sheep were the stars of yesterday's livestock show.

Dorset Horned, Suffolk Downs, Cheviots, Oxford Downs, Shropshire Downs, Lincolns, Hampshire Downs and Cotswolds paraded through the small sheep judging ring.

William Clarkson and Son of Weston took the grand champion ram and ewe titles in the Suffolk class. Reserve championship ram was exhibited by Boyd Ayre of Hampton in the Oshawa district and the reserve champion ewe was owned by Tasker Grant of Stayner.

Mr. Ayre made a clean sweep of awards in the Cheviot judging. He displayed the grand champion and reserve rams and ewes and took firsts in every section of the competition.

Chief winner in the Hampshire class was R. B. Glaspell of Bowmanville who won the grand and reserve ram titles, the grand champion ewe award and captured five firsts.

Grand champion ewe and reserve champion ram in the Cotswolds were also exhibited by Mr. Glaspell. Charles J. Shore of Glenworth, near St. Thomas, took the grand champion ram and reserve champion ewe titles. Mr. Shore also won five firsts.

SPLIT HONORS

Arnold J. Gardhouse of Weston and H. M. Lee of Highgate, near Chatham, split honors in Lincolns. Mr. Gardhouse displayed the grand champion ram while Mr. Lee was owner of both the reserve champion ram and grand champion ewe.

Emke brothers of Elmwood in the Owen Sound area cleaned up in the Oxford Downs class. They displayed the grand and reserve champion rams and grand champion ewe, while Fred W. Trewin of Nestleton Station, near Oshawa, took the reserve champion ewe title. Emke brothers' sheep took firsts in nine sections.

Dorset horned judging was dominated by P. E. Dearing and son of Exeter. His sheep were declared winners in every section and took the grand and reserve ram and ewe awards.

Top winners in the Shropshire judging were George S. Brien and son of Ridgetown and Raymond B. Comfort of St. Ann's in the Niagara Peninsula. Mr. Brien exhibited the grand champion ram and reserve champion ewe. Mr. Comfort was awarded the reserve ram title and F. W. Gurney of Paris exhibited the grand champion ewe.

HONOR TO COW

Livestock officials broke with tradition to honor a champion Holstein cow.

Spring Farm Juliette owned by veteran exhibitor J. M. Fraser of Streetsville, was awarded both the grand champion female title and the Murphy tropy for best unddered female. This is the fourth consecutive year that the animal has taken both awards and officials decided to give the annual award, to Mr. Fraser permanently and replace it for next year's competition.

Peel took first prize in the county herd competition, while Holton was second, Waterloo third, Grey fourth and Wentworth fifth.

The Holstein class this year with 84 exhibitors showing some 380 head of cattle is said to be the largest at any show in North America.

Senior and grand champion Ayrshire female was Alfalfa Bank Snow's Purity owned by Walter B. Collver and Sons of Wellandport, Ont., while Sellwood Beulah, the entry of Stansell brothers of Aylmer was senior and grand reserve titlist.

Stansell Brothers also exhibited the junior champion female, Sellwood Cora II.

Bank President Suicides After Charging Swindle

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Bank president William H. Abel, 45, shot and critically wounded himself yesterday, two days after charging a woman business executive with swindling his institution of $450,000.

Abel had been expected to come to the district attorney's office yesterday for questioning in the swindle case but failed to appear.

The reason for the suicide attempt was not made clear to reporters who spoke with district attorney Frank Gulotta after he visited Abel in hospital.

The prosecutor said he had learned new facts in the case but he did not reveal them.

Abel sent his wife and their two 'teen-aged sons, to the beach earlier in the day. When they returned they found Abel in the cellar, a wound in his chest and a .45-calibre revolver nearby.

Mrs. Lillia B. Robinson, 47, was charged Wednesday with forgery on Abel's complaint and held in $10,000 bail.

She is president of a building supplies firm.

Abel, resident of the Central National Bank of Mineola, told authorities Mrs. Robinson falsified loan applications and certificates of home improvement jobs during the last four years to get money from the bank.

Divergent Views Expressed On Spreading RC Teachings

By MAX McMAHON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Delegates to the 22nd world congress of Pax Romana have expressed divergent opinions as to where a Roman Catholic professor or student can best learn and spread the teachings of the church.

Some have suggested this best can be done at a non-sectarian university. Others say a Roman Catholic university is better.

The varying views were expressed in the five days of lectures and study sessions which conclude here today. The delegates now move on to Quebec for two more days of meetings at Laval University there.

Pax Romana is an international federation of Roman Catholic student and intellectual associations. The theme of the congress—the mission of the university—has provided the basis for the discussions.

VIEWS DIFFER

The differing views generally came from delegates representing different nationalities.

For example, Germany has only state universities, but with faculties of Philosphy and theology as integral parts of the institutions. German delegates said they want to keep it that way.

The French also have state universities but must study philosophy and theology at Catholic institutions. Students must pass examinations set by the state universities to get their degrees.

French Catholics would like their own universities, if they could furnish a complete education but feel they can impart a superior Christian culture to neutral universities by studying and teaching there.

North Americans Catholics, on the other hand, stress outright church universities. Where students must study at non-sectarian institutions, they feel an effort should be made to give them philosophy and theology, which Catholics consider the basis of culture.
